A Marvellous Result.

Mr. A. R. took out ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy No. 6332 in Canada Life Co. for Five Thousand Dollars in the year 1868. He was then 25 years of age.

The Premium paid was $181 a year for 10 years.....$1,810.

Notice the Result.

The total profits added to the Policy to end of 1894 and for which he holds a certificate amounts to the enormous sum of.....$3,281

The holder therefore has been credited not only with every cent paid for premiums, but also Fourteen Hundred and Seventy One Dollars in addition, besides receiving a fully paid up policy for the original Five Thousand Dollars, which still participates in profits.

Now This is What we Want to Know!

This is a Peterborough Policy! Is there any citizen of Peterborough with an ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy either in Canadian, British or American Co, which shows anything like as large profits as this one?

If there is, we should esteem it a great favour if we are allowed to see it, as we have been looking for such a one for years and so far have not been able to find it.

EYES TO SEE AND SEE NOT.

That is the case with many people. They need spectacles, and the strange part of it is the same folks never know how bad their eyes are until they have them tested. Have been going through life without seeing as much as they ought to see—perhaps suffering from headaches and tired eyes.

Explanation.

In connection with a paragraph which appeared in Wednesday's issue referring to the narrow escape of Rev. J. J. Rae while stepping on the train moving to Lakefield, the reverend gentlemen writes from Stony Lake stating that the "narrow escape" was purely in the imagination of the writer of the item, as his foot merely slipped while springing up the steps. However, to those upon the platform it looked more serious.

Will Exhibit in Toronto.

The Peter Hamilton Agricultural Implement Works have secured a large space in the manufactory building of the Industrial Fair, Toronto, and will make a display of their splendid agricultural implements there. The business of this company has extended so largely through the West during the past few years that it has become necessary to make an exhibit in order that their fine machines can be placed in competition with the best makers in Canada.

KNOCKED OVER BY THE TRAIN.

Mrs. William Mason has a Very Narrow Escape.

Mrs. William Mason, mother of Mr. Frank Mason, florist, was seriously injured this afternoon by being struck by a freight car on the spur line running up to Blythe Flour Mills.

It appears that Mrs. Mason was walking down the track just in the rear of Mayor Kendry's residence, when a freight car backed down on her and striking her on the shoulder threw her violently down the embankment. Being very deaf the old lady did not hear the train approaching until it struck her.

Mrs. Mason was carried into Mr. Kendry's where Mr. Frank Mason was instantly summoned, as was Dr. Fife.

An examination showed that the unfortunate old lady's collar bone had been dislocated and that she had been very seriously shaken up. In fact the shock of the blow was such as to deprive her of the power of speech for some time.

Her physician states that a complete rest of a few days will do much towards restoring her to health again, although the nervous shock may prostrate her for some time.

Later in the afternoon Mrs. Mason was removed to the residence of her son, Argyle street.

Rosa's Bridge.

The committee having in charge the construction of the new bridge across the Otonabee at Rosa's is in town to-day consulting its engineer, Mr. J. E. Belcher. It appears that at one side of the river the bed is of a quicksand nature, which necessitates a change in the contract and an increased expense to provide for piling. This, however, does not delay the other portion from being completed, and the contractor is pushing it forward with all possible expediency.

The Biggest Fish Yet.

The Hastings Star says:—"The Campbellford Herald rises and speaks. Did we not know Bro. Vosper to be a sincere, truthful man, and that he saw it himself, we'd feel like covering it with salt and pepper, as we know a maskinonge when cleaned loses one-third of its original weight. This one would have been 90 lbs. We'll sit down. Bro. Vosper's lunge takes the cake."

To which the Herald retorts:—"We have something better than that to tell Bro. Scriver. Some years ago we saw a maskinonge that weighed sixty pounds when dressed for the table. It was landed after a two hours' struggle by Mr. John McAvilla, near Hickory Island, in the Trent, about five miles from Campbellford. The monster measured about six feet, and was said to have weighed 70 pounds when taken from the water.

Peterborough Central Show.

Everything seems to look forward this year to one of the most successful and popular exhibitions ever held in Peterborough. The management during the past few years, have been doing their utmost to draw a large attendance and secure a class of exhibits that would compare favourably with larger and more pretentious fairs, and last year more than did credit to themselves in this respect, and are determined that the show in every respect will be as pleasant and popular a place to enjoy a holiday as at the so-called larger fairs, whose attractions are more on the bill boards than in the actual reality. The citizens of Peterborough are lending their aid in every way to make it a success, and their efforts cannot but meet with approval by the general public. The most favourable railway arrangements are being made, and the dates, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Sept. 23rd, 24th and 25th, should not be forgotten.

PRESENTED WITH A DIAMOND RING.

Mr. George Kemp Remembered by his 'Prentice Boy Friends.

The local Lodge of the Protestant Association of 'Prentice Boys, at their last meeting, made a presentation of a beautiful diamond ring accompanied by an address to Mr. Geo. Kemp, one of the brethren, who was leaving town.

The address was read by the Secretary of the Lodge, Mr. R. S. Burley, as follows :

PETERBOROUGH, July 18th, 1895.

DEAR FRIEND AND BROTHER,—It is with the deepest regret we have learned of your intended departure from amongst us and we will deeply feel your loss to our lodge, you having filled to the utmost satisfaction the office of Financial Secretary for a long time.

We feel that we cannot let this opportunity pass without in some way showing the esteem in which you are held by your brother members.

You will please accept this ring, not for its value but as a remembrance of the many pleasant hours which we have spent together. Wherever your lot may be cast, we hope that you will always have a warm feeling towards Peterborough. (signed)

R. S. BURLEY, Secretary. A. A. MONTGOMERY, Deputy Master

Mr. Kemp, in the course of his remarks, thanked his lodge brethren heartily for their kind expressions of regret at his departure, and assured them that he would value their present above any other of his possessions. He stated in conclusion that he would never forget the many happy hours spent with his comrades within the precincts of the lodge room.

Mr. A. A. Montgomery, Deputy Master, who was present, also made a few appropriate remarks.

THE CANOE RACES.

They are Witnessed by a Big Crowd of Citizens.

Burnham's Point was visited by hundreds of the citizens last evening, as being the point of vantage from which the Otonabee Canoe Club's races could best be witnessed.

On account of the slowness with which the entries were filled the races did not begin until almost eight o'clock, instead of at seven as intended.

Only two races were paddled, being those of the double and single canoes, which resulted as follows :

1 Double canoe—Members of O. C. C.—Pair of cherry paddles (to be won twice)—1, J. Connal and F. Ferguson ; 2, Richardson and Brownscombe.

Single canoe—Open—Free rack, canoe insurance, and membership ticket, O.C.C., for one year (to be won twice)—1, J. Connal ; 2, Watt.

There was quite an exciting finish to the first race. Richardson and Brownscombe, who were several canoe lengths behind, making a magnificent spurt closing up on Connal and Ferguson to such an extent as to be only defeated by about three feet.

Mr. R. M. Roy acted as judge and Mr. T. Barrie as starter. The illuminated parade did not take place after the races, but all the canoes wishing a tow were given one by the Rob Roy and Libellula.

A MAGNIFICENT SALES ROOM.

Mercer & Co's New Store is a Model of Beauty and Elegance.

Mercer & Co. announce that their handsome new store, the refitting of which has been watched with so much interest by the citizens, will be formally opened to-morrow for the inspection of the public.

The front of the store is imposing and no tailoring establishment in Ontario can compare with it for beauty. The frontage on George street is thirty feet and the magnificence of the plate glass windows is most striking. The door is in the centre and the vestibule is formed by the use of curved glass for the corners, creating a far more handsome effect than the simple square corners. The vestibule is beautifully floored with inlaid coloured tiles in which the firm's name appears to advantage.

If the outside of the store presents a view of the interior is even more impressive. The floor is of hardwood, finished in oil, and the shelvings are of white enamel. A metallic ceiling, handsomely embossed, attracts the eye of the visitor immediately by its unique beauty, the effect being increased by the handsomely designed paper on the wall, which was ordered through A. H. Stratton & Co. from Boston, and especially designed to meet Mr. Mercer's requirements.

The store is seventy feet in depth, making it one of the very largest in town. At the rear a fitting room is portioned off with white cathedral glass and being handsomely furnished and carpeted, as well as being fitted with bevelled plate glass mirrors, it greatly adds to the general pleasing impression created by a glance into the the interior of this beautiful store.

The office, fitted up with cherry finishings, is just in rear of the fitting room and the whole back of the store is opened up to allow plenty of light to penetrate into the interior. In order to cut off any view of the yards in the rear the windows are of chip glass and in their pretty design effectually carry out the purpose for which they are intended and at the same time allow a flood of light to enter by the rear into the big cutting room. The glass is something new in Peterborough and

IS GREATLY ADMIRED.

The workrooms are all up stairs and are commodious and furnished with plenty of light and air.

Heat is provided through a combination of water and hot air, and by the perfect arrangements made the comforts of the customers and clerks are assured for the coming winter. Mr. Adam Hall had the contract for the plumbing.

Light is furnished by means of combination gas and electric light fixtures, placed in position by Messrs. Greer and Bradburn. They are most handsome indeed.

The papering and painting was looked after by the firm of Cook, Mitchell & Cook, and well may they term themselves the artistic triplets, as they have made a most perfect job of this portion of the work.

In Mr. Clinkscale's competent hands the whole store has undergone such a complete renovation and refitting that the original plans have been so altered as to make the place unrecognizable.

Much credit, too, is due Mr. J. E. Belcher, who drew up the plans for the work and at whose suggestion many of the handsome effects were produced.

The business energy of Mr. Mercer in sucuring such large and magnificent premises for his business is to be highly commended, as it adds not a little to a town's name for enterprise to be able to show to strangers such an establishment as that which he now occupies. He is deserving of the fullest patronage which the citizens can bestow upon him, and he will be pleased to welcome all his old customers and many new ones at his present elegant new shop.

LACROSSE.

The Port Hope Times says: The Athletic Lacrosse Club, of Peterborough, which is an amalgamation of the two teams—Shamrocks and Peterborough's—that represented that town last year, came to Port Hope on Wednesday to cross sticks with the Ontarios. About one hundred supporters accompanied the visiting twelve, and these made themselves heard whenever the northern club made any material or brilliant play during the progress of the match. The supporters did not approach in numbers those who came in to see the famous game of July last year, nor was there any comparison between the amount of pecuniary substance risked on the two teams. Little betting was indulged in, principally because the outside supporters were a little dubious of the ability of the Peterborough team.

It was nearly four o'clock when the opposing twelves lined up. The Ontarios looked the lighter team, while the northerners were a well-balanced and fairly heavy team. Many familiar faces, as well as a number of strange ones, were seen on the Peterboroughs. The home team was the same as that which played Cobourg with the exception of Jack White, who took the place of Frank Tutton. The absence of Weir was much regretted by all and his services were much missed.

Port Hope secured the ball on the opening draw, and worked it on to the Peterborough defense. A rapid interchange took place between the opposing defenses culminating in the home goal being besieged. The White brothers, with the assistance of Richardson, transferred operations to centre field. The sphere was nicely kept among the Ontario home. Burt Tutton, Colmon and Sullivan worked some pretty combination, while Foster and Tod Hayden held the Peterborough inside defence well checked. After a number of trials the eastern flags were successfully negotiated and Port Hope had the first game after ten minutes' play.

Game number two opened with a scrimmage at centre field. Phelan, for the visitors secured the rubber, and sprinted up the field. His pass to McDonough was muffed, and an opportunity to score missed. The ensuing play was of end to end description. The checking was hard and close. The visitors had their goal well choked, whil the home defence were a little too scattered. The Peterborough home were none to sure in their catching, and there seemed to be no one to do the needful. Gradually the ball was brought down to the Ontario home, and out of a bunch of sticks and players the ball was shot through and the second game came to the locals. Time, eight minutes.

The visitors secured the next game, although it is questionable whether their good play or the Ontarios allowing themselves to be drawn out was accountable for the scoring. The play was the hardest and roughest in this game. The Peterborough men were minus their breath for a few moments, the result of hard body checks. The visitors were mainly on the defence throughout the game, although on several occasions Peterborough home did nice combination work. At last the northerners succeeded in getting the local defense out and scored the third and their only game. Time, twenty-seven minutes.

The remaining few minutes was played out without either side scoring, leaving the Port Hope club victors by a score of 2 games to 1.

Unquestionably the match was the best played here this year. No one went to the fence for rough play though a few of the participants might have benefitted by a sojourn there. The teams were very evenly matched as the score would indicate, the locals outshining the Peterboroughs in stick handling and sureness.

A week from to-morrow the III Peterborough will play their first match of the season with the Beavers, of Port Hope. As the boys have not taken much interest in lacrosse this season, and having but very little practice, they are requested to turn out every practice night from now until the game, in order to be in good condition to meet the Port Hopers.

CRICKET.

To-day's Globe says: The Peterborough cricket club will visit Parkdale to play Joe Clark's eleven a match next Thursday.

THE WHEEL.

The meeting of the Peterborough bicycle club in the rooms of the Catholic Association was largely attended last night notwithstanding the many counter attractions. Mr. Alex. Gibson, the President, occupied the chair and the matter of the selection of suitable club rooms was discussed at length.

A committee composed of Messrs. Robt. Fair, Frank Dobbin and Gus. Gough was finally appointed to look over the many apartments which were suggested.

Messrs. Alex. Gibson, Miles Henry and Herbert Walker will form a committee to canvass the town cyclists to ascertain how many are willing to become regular members of the club at a fee of five dollars. It was decided that if club rooms were to be kept up, the membership fee could not possibly be fixed at a smaller sum.

The club adjourned to meet next Wednesday evening at the same hour and place.

THE TRIP OF THE CANTON.

The Members Returned Last Night Thoroughly Pleased With Their Outing.

The members of the Peterborough Canton have returned from the meeting of the Grand Cantonment at Picton and are as loud in their praise of Picton's hospitality as were the officers and men of the 57th Rangers.

The local Canton left on Tuesday morning and took dinner in Belleville where they were joined by the Belleville brethren who looked well after their comfort. At three o'clock in the afternoon all embarked on the steamer for Picton, which was reached at about seven o'clock, when the Peterborough contingent was escorted to the Hotel Tecumpseth by the Citizen's Band.

In the evening all the visiting cantons accompanied by a large number of citizens went for a pleasant moonlight trip on the picturesque Bay of Quinte. The boat stopped at Glenora, where a grand hop was held in th Pavilion, the steamer returning to town at about midnight.

On Wednesday morning a number Cantons arrived from a distance and were escorted to the different hotels, where they were billetted by the band. The Peterborough boys spent the morning visiting the Sand Banks, with which summer resort they were greatly pleased.

At 1.30 p.m. a procession was formed on the market square and marched through the principal streets to the park in the following order:

Marshall.
14th Batt. Band, Kingston.
Canton J. W. Stebbins, 2, Capt. John C. Moore, 45 swords.
Canton Oswego, Capt. C. A. Bentley 28 swords.
Canton Toronto and Mount Royal, Major Willis, 18 swords.
Canton Belleville 8, Capt. F. M. Clarke, 21 swords.
Canton Peterborough 7, Capt. Jos. Kidd, 18 swords.
Canton Kingston 6, Capt. Alex. Arthurs, 21 swords.
Citizen's Band.
Encampment members.
Subordinate Members.

On reaching the Park an address of welcome was extended to the visitors by Warden Nelson Rose on behalf of the County, and W. Boulter on behalf of the Lodges, and replied to by Col. R. J. Faulknor, after which the several Cantons were put through the sword manual and marching exercises. Sports and games were also carried out.

During the morning a Department Council was organized, of which the following are the officers: R. J. Faulknor, Pres.; Wm. Barton, Vice Pres.; Geo. Ross, Sec.; F. Daniels, Treas.; F. M. Clarke and Joe. Kidd, Auditors.

In the evening a trades procession took place and was a grand success, almost every industry in town being represented, and it took 30 minutes to pass a given point.

The town was elaborately decorated for the occasion, several arches being erected and many flags flying to the breeze.

RIVER AND LAKE RIPLETS.

An Eddy of News from the Otonabee—Breezes from Rice Lake.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Mr. Archie Fulton, of Jubilee Point Hotel, Rice Lake, had an adventure the other evening in the vicinity of the hotel. While engaged with a lady friend in fishing for the gay and festive catfish, which are quite numerous, the lady whilst handling her line, suddenly became aware that something out of the ordinary was at the other end of it. The line, which she held rather slack, became apparently alive and in a moment was whizzing through her fingers as if old Nick himself was on the hook. Archie endeavoured to stay its outward flight and had the satisfaction of seeing the end of the tussle reached in quick order. The catch proved to be a rather large-sized mud hen. On bringing the feathered creature to the surface of the water, it took to its wings taking with it the red flannel hook and part of the line and suddenly disappeared below the surface of the water again. Archie says that there is no washout story about this as it was witnessed by a dozen guests of the house on the dock. Beat that if you can.

"May the generation of fish catchers never grow less" was the remark passed by one of the fairer sex, who stood on the dock watching those participating in wrestling with the mud hen.

Sunday morning in the earlier hours a couple of the Point's American guests went fishing in the vicinity of the mouth of the river. They not being "early birds" retired after a half hour's outing into dreamland, with rod and line securely fastened to their canoe. While taking a snooze to themselves they quickly drifted out and when awakening found themselves in a weed bed four miles down the lake. On pulling in their lines each had a beautiful rock bass, the largest of which weighed 4½ lbs, while the other, being smaller, tipped the scale at 2¾ lbs. Both the fish were drowned evidently from the distance they had drifted. The boys stated that was the right way to go fishing. It is doubtful, however, if they will venture on an outing again of this sort as they were drenched through with spray.

Loading fish with sand to make them weigh more caused a general kick at the Point the other day. The Americans camped on Long Island purchased a 'lunge from a guide for dinner and on opening the same found it to be full of sand to the extent of, as they say, five pounds.

A clever fellow, with a Keene eye, remarked, on reading what THE EXAMINER had said regarding anglers and their big catches in and about Rice Lake, that he was satisfied personally that as a fishing ground it could not be beaten as he snared several black and yellow bass from the dock at Jubilee Point, with rod and line, himself.

Fishing is good at the "Forks." Jimmie Blaine, the genial stewart of the City of Peterborough, spent a few hours at the Point, and while out in his shell captured a huge 'lunge, which weighed 24 pounds. On examining the monster it proved to be a rarity indeed, being totally eyeless. Jimmy had a white feather in his hat, and said he could do up the best angler in these waters. Mr. E. J. Hartley being at hand the challenge was accepted. Edg. did him up in short order, catching a number of 'lunge, weighing in all forty-seven pounds. Poor Jimmie struck a sunken saw log and lost his bait. At first he calculated it to be a thirty-four pounder. Jimmie is quite an angler, but there are others.

The umpire's decisions were most rank, so say the Hiawatha baseball team, regarding the game lately played on the Jubilee ball grounds for a silver cup. They state he did things up as he saw fit in Lindsay's favour. The return match will be played in Lindsay after the harvest, which they expect to reap as well as cradeling the Lindsayites.

It is expected that the Hiawatha's will meet the Cobourg's, of Cobourg, Thursday next, 25th inst,. on the Jubilee ball grounds, they having received a challenge from that club.

The Hiawatha's received a challenge from the Chemong Indians through Mr. Will Whiting of that place, stating they would like a game with them at Jubilee Point at some future date. They preferred the game to be played on the Jubilee grounds with a straight nine innings too at that or no game.

On the 25th inst. the City of Peterborough will run an excursion from Millbrook via Goodfellow's Landing, to the Point, when no doubt there will be a large audience witness the ball game as well as the other sports on that date.

Between five and six hundred excursionists visited the Point Wednesday last, under the auspices of the Methodist Sunday school of Millbrook. The excursion was via. the G. T. R. to Harwood thence der steamer City of Peterborough with barge in tow to the Point, where they remained several hours indulging in games of all sorts on the excellent grounds, which were thrown open to them gratis. They left at five o'clock for home. The 46th Reg. band, under the leadership of Prof. R. Smith, played an excellent programme throughout the entire day, playing noon and evening attracting large crowds about the pavillion. Perhaps the coolest place on that date was Jubilee. The committee having charge of the excursion deserves the thanks of all present for the excellent manner in which they handled the excursion. Everyone apparently enjoyed their day's outing.

The steamer City of Peterborough hitched on to a block of 35,000 logs at the Forks, Rice Lake, Saturday morning. There being a fair wind down the lake they made great progress, making Humphrey's bar, where they cut loose, by next day.

The steamer North Star made her maiden trip down Saturday evening last, with Capt. Charles Calcutt at the wheel. She also ran an excursion from Hastings to Harwood, where she was met by the steamer Daisy (Capt. Clare Calcutt) from Peterborough where they embarked on the train to the Cobourg horse races. The train was in charge of Jim Dunk with ten well filled coaches. "Jim" being handsome and ot the same time obliging, the excursion was well patronized by the fairer sex.

Mr. Wm. Edminson, of Gore's Landing, knows a thing or two concerning how and where to fish, and has his special grounds spotted, at which place he cast his anchor the other day, and in a short time snared a rock bass weighing no less than 7¼ lbs. Not being satisfied with this he again put in his line and met with great success, using crawfish for bait, and catching a 'lunge weighing 22 lbs. The monster had to be drowned before landing. Mr. Edmison says that the finny tribe are approaching the head of the lake in shoals, and that fishing will be "out of sight" in and about Jubilee Point in a week or two. He also caught a 'lunge while still-fishing off the Jubilee pier the other evening, weighing 2¼ lbs., with frog bait.

THE FLYING MOUSE.

Discovery of a New Mammal in the Cameroon Country.

A new mammal, previously unknown to natural science, has been discovered by George Zenker, a German colonist in the country back of the Cameroon coast in Equatorial Africa. It has been named the Idiurus Zenkeri by the Berlin Museum of Natural History, in honor of its discoverer, and in English would probably be best described as a flying mouse. While somewhat resembling a bat, it certainly belongs to an entirely different species. The animal is the size of a mouse, its fur is heavy, gray and soft, and it has a wing membrane extending from the neck all around the body; this membrane is covered with fine hair lying closely against it. Two peculiarly shaped bones, extending out from behind the forward extremities, lend an additional support to the membrane, which is strong enough to support the flying mouse in short downward fluttering. The membrane acts more like a parachute than a wing, and the animal is unable to raise itself from the ground by means of its flying apparatus. A curiously developed tail, longer than the animal itself, gives it a peculiar aspect; this tail is covered by tiny horny scales between which long wimperlike hairs are growing out and it ends in a brush. Little is known about the mode of life of the Idiurus, but he feeds mostly on vegetable matter.—Illustrirte Zeitung.

A Monster Lobster.

The largest lobster in the world, stuffed, varnished and inserted in an elegant glass case, now belongs to W. J. Kilduff, steward of the St. Nicholas Hotel in Boston, who expects to realise a large fortune by placing the creature on exhibition. Mr. Kilduff is thinking of capitalizing this lobster in the form of a stock company.

He has made a rough calculation that there are 70,000,000 people in the United States eager to witness his lobster and pay 1 cent for the privilege and this, Mr. Kilduff figures, would bring in $70,000 to the company, while the expenses of transporting the lobster in its glass case would be small. But with proper advertising, Mr. Kilduff thinks these people would be willing to pay 10 cents each to see the lobster, thus bringing the profits up to $7,000,000. He says he has been "approached" with many flattering offer from dime museum men.

The lobster which has thus had greatness thrust upon it, "belongs," says Mr. Kilduff, "to the male gender." He was caught at Provincetown, Mass., in August of last year and turned over to a taxdermist for permanent preservation.

When captured, the lobster weighed from 35 to 40 pounds. He measured 40 inches in length when straightened out, and is now from 23 to 25 inches wide when measured from tip to tip, like a bird. The right claw is 15 inches long, and 18 inches in circumference on the large end.

Mounted in a stained white ash case the lobster is, says its proud owner, most beautiful to look upon, "clean and wholesome, pleasing to the eye, and well worth fifty cents or a dollar of any man's money to see." The lobster, he says, was alive when captured.—New York World.

AN INSECT DESTROYER.

Bisulphide of Carbon is Effective for Killing a Great Variety of Insect Pests.

THE vapors of this poison kill animals and plants as well as insects, indoors as well as out. It is exceedingly inflammable and a spark is all that is necessary to cause a flash. The liquid is also very volatile, and will quickly evaporate if left in an open or uncorked vessel. It should be kept in large glass bottles with tight fitting corks. When pouring it from bottles or in handling it in any manner, great care should be taken not to inhale the fumes. The preparation of this article known as fuma can be safely used for a great variety of pests. Squirted into the soil with a McGowen injector it is useful against phylloxera, cabbage maggot, etc. Put a little on a ball of waste, roll it into the hole of woodchuck, gopher, or similar animal, cover the exit with earth, and death ensues. It kills weevils in grain, if the fumes can be kept closely confined, and even my be useful in open cornribs. It will kill all forms of insect life on plants if the fumes can be closely confined thereto—by a sheet or bag about trees or large plants, or by means of covers over smaller plants. Such a cover is shown in the illustration. Take a barrel hoop, cut it in two and fasten the pieces at right angles to each other by making a hole with a brad awl through both and inserted a screw eye with the eye on the convex side, to be used as a handle in lifting. Spring the hoops to make a cover of the size wanted, notch the ends and tie a string or wire around the bottom, or a full hoop. Paste manilla or newspaper over the dome, and tie a bunch of waste at the apex (a) to receive the charge of bisulphide. Any of the chemical left after treating one hill can be carried with little loss to the next. If well oiled or covered with paste, these domes will last quite a long time with care. Vaseline absorbs bisulphide and liberates it slowly, and in this form is employed against the phylloxera in France.

Capes for Matrons.

In most European countries it is considered extremely bad taste for a matron to go out of doors without a wrap of some kind, although it may be nothing more substantial than a frill of lace or a bow of ribbon. Shoulder capes are so entirely becoming and afford so dainty a finish to an outdoor costume that their claims to recognition should never be overlooked by the middle-aged woman who needs just such pretty accessories. A lovely cape of this kind can be simply made of two frills of black escurial lace, with Marie Stuart collar and revers of jet—appliqued over black satin, the latter terminating in long ends of satin ribbon The cape should be secured at the bust with a large jet ornament, and the open space at the throat daintily filled with a soft lace bow.

REDUCED TO A SHADOW.

Saved by Strawberry Extract.

GENTLEMEN,—Feeling it my duty to give you an unsolicited testimony for the direct benefit I have received in my family from the use of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, let me say that while we resided at Fenwick, Ont., my little daughter had an attack of Dysentery or Bloody Flux, by which she was reduced to a mere shadow and became quite helpless. Fortunately my family physician advised the use of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, as he neither had nor knew of anything better for this dreadful disease, and therefore we gave it an impartial trial. I am happy to say that less than quarter of a bottle caused the flow of blood and clots to cease, and the child promptly recovered. We always have had Extract of Strawberry in the house since to be ready for emergencies common to children in summer from the effects of fruits, etc. I would just as soon think of losing my right eye as being deprived of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. This is a testimony of thanks for the untold benefit myself and family have received from this great remedy. MRS. W. H. GARROLD, St. David's, Ont, formerly of Hamilton, Ont.

BIG PROFITS —ON— Small Investments

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful Speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our Systematic Plan of Speculation

originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well-known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plain are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

ON BUTTERMAKING.

CONCLUSION OF MRS TWEEDIE'S INTERESTING ARTICLE.

The Danish Industry—Some Words Addressed to the British Farmer—There May be Something Rotten in the State of Denmark, but it is not the Butter.

The following is the conclusion of Mrs. Tweedie's article on Danish butter-making:

Having removed all the supurfluous milk from the butter, and salted it to the right amount, the butter is all carefully weighed and entered in a book. It is marvellous to see the skill of these girls in weighing. They can nearly always pick up the exact pound or kilo with their two wooden ladles. It is the exception, not the rule, for them to have to add or deduct from the pat in the scale.

Butter for the town is packed in pretty, 1-lb. china pots, and passed on to another girl, who smooths it down before putting on the dairy stamp. These pots are returned by the residents when emptied, or charged for if kept or broken. They are pretty little china pots, and the butter is usually served at table in them in Denmark.

Besides the supply of milk and cream sold from this factory, 400 to 800 lbs. of butter is made daily. About half of this is consumed by the town, and the remainder is packed for exportation.

The best sweet milk is delivered to the town in glass bottles, as explained before; the skimmed milk is sold very cheaply to the poor from large cans which are carried round the town in carts. The milk is drawn off by a tap, and as the can is sealed up before leaving the factory, the milk cannot be tampered with in any way. Buttermilk is sold separately. Besides all this, a large quantity of milk is given away every day for the children in the hospitals, or sold to public institutions at a reduced rate.

The milk is sold by the company at the following prices:

	Per gallon. s d.
Sweet milk	0 10
Buttermilk	0 5
Half-skimmed milk	0 5
Infants' milk	1 0
No. 1 cream	5 0
No. 2 cream	2 0

The half-skimmed milk, so much used by the poor, freed from all impurities, costs five farthings per quart, and this cheap rate is possible with a slight profit after all the care and time bestowed on its transport, etc.

From all this it will be seen that this is indeed a model dairy, and it has received the sincere flattery of imitation. Dairies on the same principles are in working order in Paris, Berlin, St. Petersburg, Amsterdam and Stockholm.

It's butter, milk and cream are all excellent. It gives freely to the poor, and even then it always pays the five per cent. promised in its prospectus.

Besides this, it gives work to an astounding number of persons; not only is the farmer benefited with his several hundred cows, but the crofter equally, for he sends the milk of his one, or it may be two, cows to the factory also. Then there are the laborers, the butter-makers, coachmen, etc. Hundreds are making a living, the town is getting good and cheap milk and butter, and the shareholders receive their dividends. What more could be wanting?

Danish butter has, within the last year, met with a rival in the English market; but that rival is not England herself, but her colonies.

Owing to the difference of season at the Antipodes, the winter butter coming to us from Australia and New Zealand is grass-fed. The Danish winter butter is fodder-fed, and grass butter is naturally richer and of better quality than stall-fed. Last winter's consignment of colonial butter reduced the Danish a penny a pound; but still there seems plenty of room for them both, although the results may not be quite so profitable to Denmark as formerly.

The P. & O. steamer Ballarat entered the Royal Albert Docks one day with a hundred tons of butter from New South Wales, and six hundred tons from Victoria; that is to say, about £68,000 worth!

Owing to the kindness of Sir Thomas Sutherland, I am able to give the following figures: The largest shipment of butter by P. & O. steamer from Australia was 33,073 packages, each weighing 1-2 cwt., or 827 tons. The space occupied in the ship was about 1,500 tons (of 40 cubic feet.)

Butter is generally shipped from the colonies about September or October (although in 1893 it commenced as early as July) and generally continues to arrive until the end of April.

The total quantity of butter sent from the colonies by the Orient of P. & O steamers during the winter of 1893-94 amounted to upwards of 8,000 tons of 20 cwt.), since which time even larger quantities have been shipped, as well as large consignments of bacon. The first impetus to the industry was a subsidy given to the dairy farmers by the Victorian Government on all butter exported; but now New South Wales, South Australia and Tasmania are shipping large quantities without any Government assistance. In January, 1895, £381,818 worth of butter arrived from the colonies. This butter, having to accomplish a voyage of 12,000 miles, can only be carried in refrigerating chambers specially constructed, and worked at a large expense, an even temperature from 32 to 37 degrees having to be maintained. This is no easy matter when ships are navigating the Red Sea and the Indian Ocean at the hottest time of the year. If the work were not done with the utmost possible care and circumspection, it would not be possible for the butter to arrive in a marketable condition.

Thus we see Australian butter requires specially prepared rooms for its transport; the Danish butter, on the contrary, comes over in ordinary ships, without ice. But the Danes are very particular that it should be delivered in first-class condition, and if there is any doubt on this point, it is analyzed by the representative of the Danish Agricultural Society, who lives in London.

Another lesson we might learn from Denmark is given by Sir Francis Denys, in his Report on the Control of the Danish Meat Supply. He tells us their regulations are not only sanitary but economic. The cattle, sheep, and swine have to undergo a rigid veterinary examination both before and after they are slaughtered. Before meat can be removed from the slaughter house it must be officially stamped as "first or second class food." Some unscrupulous butchers tried to efface this stamp by cutting it out, or chemically removing it, and replacing "first" for "second class"; but they were summarily dealt with, and a fine of £110 imposed, which has effectually put a stop to their tricks.

It is not only in Denmark that they mark meat (although it is done there for quality), but in Italy, the United States, the Netherlands, Belgium and Germany. A Select Committee in the House of Lords is beginning to see the advisability of the plan (which at present is only used to distinguish the meat killed for the use of the Jews), to enable the buyer to ascertain whether it is English, foreign, or colonial meat his unscrupulous butcher passes off as "the best English" at the best English prices. Perhaps, in time, our Government will superintend the slaughter-house, and mark the meat as "first or second-class," as the Danes do. This little country is now beginning to send us large supplies of butcher's meat, and a bill was brought forward in November, 1893, by the Minister of the Interior, in the "Folkething" authorising him to direct official veterinary inspection to be made of all the consignments before they are packed for England, in order to secure the export of none but the best quality. The Danes are very careful of their food supplies, and proportionally successful in their gains.

This article contains little beyond bare facts; but surely they are facts worth considering and pondering over. Of course, England has her manufactories, the great source of her wealth; but there are millions of acres of land lying almost idle, or misplaced, while they might be turned to profitable account in the production of butter, bacon and eggs. "They do not pay," is the farmer's reply. That is, alas, true, because the farmer does not know how to make butter, and therefore has to sell it at unprofitable prices, and the cottagers do not take the trouble to rear fowls. Twenty years ago Denmark was in the same position, in this respect, as England is to-day. She has since turned her land to account, and is working it at a large profit. Australia has followed suit, with equally good results.

Unfortunately, our people are not as thrifty as they might be, and while the foreign laborer's wife turns every bone or vegetable root to account our working man's spouse throws them away as rubbish unfit for food. There is more waste from bad cooking and want of knowledge, in the cottage kitchen, than in the grand cuisine of the wealthy.

All the scraps flung aside as uneatable would keep the fowls and the pigs, but our poor folk have yet to learn the best source of wealth is economy The Thrifty Society, at Finsbury Circus has done much good, but, unfortunately, it is not as much known or as much patronized as it should be. Much of this distressing waste among our peasants could be utilized in feeding the family, the chickens, and the pigs.

If the landlords would only accept the fact that they could do much for themselves and their tenants by erecting creameries, and working together for their mutual good; if the tenant would but help the landlords by undertaking to sell them cream; if the small farmers would lay to heart the experience of Denmark in rearing pigs on skimmed milk and scraps, so that nothing be lost, if the cottager would keep fowls and arrange to supply eggs to a collector, who would call twice a week, then great things might be done, and pastoral England could again hold up her head. But without energy, enterprise and co-operation, nothing will be accomplished.

Butter, bacon and eggs seem but trifles, but are not homes marred and fortunes made by trifles: and is it not such trifles as these that have brought gold to the coffers of Denmark, and may yet keep many young English lads and maids at home, instead of being banished to the colonies in search of bread, as, alas, soon bids fair to be the case? If we cannot beat our neighbors, surely we are capable of imitating their excellent example before it is too late. The matter seems worth considering.

Contradictory Statistics.

PRIVATELY DISCUSSED.

Montreal Physicians Beginning Largely to Prescribe a New Remedy.

MONTREAL, July 15.—There is still a good deal of talk here among all classes over the recent despatches which appeared in so many Canadian papers, relative to the cure of Mr. G. H. Kent, of Ottawa, from Bright's disease. Although the merits of the case have not been openly discussed at any of the meetings of the medical society, there has been a good deal of private conference and the impression which the report of the recovery has made is evidenced in the fact that a good many physicians have prescribed Dodd's Kidney Pills in their private practice. No higher testimony than this could be given to any remedy, the reluctance of medical men to admit any good in proprietary medicines being well known.

Mrs. T. S. Hawkins, Chattanooga, Tenn., says, "Shiloh's Vitalizer saved my life, I consider it the best remedy for a debilitated system I ever used." For dyspepsia, Liver, or Kidney trouble it excels. Price 75 cts. Sold by John Nugent, 389 George street

Explanation of the Company's System of Profit Distribution.

The method of profit distribution of most companies is to give a bonus or profit on the sum assured, irrespective of the premiums paid. The Sun Life of Canada allots its profits to policies in proportion to the premiums paid, which is considered to be the more equitable system. This accounts for the variations in the percentages of the accompanying results. The lower rates given below are, in most cases, on young lives. TO RE-ENTER POLITICS

Chief Justice Meredith to Resign the Ermine

AND JOIN THE BOWELL MINISTRY

A Montreal Politician Responsible For the Story That the Ex-Leader of the Ontario Opposition is Shortly To Succeed Sir Mackenzie Bowell.

Montreal, July 26.—A very startling rumor was discussed here yesterday, and one that has given high hopes to those Conservatives who have been more or less depressed since the recent Ministerial unpleasantness at Ottawa, and more especially to those who have felt all along that the discordant fires would certainly burn up afresh as soon as Parliament is recalled in January next.

"What would you French-Canadians say if Chief Justice Meredith were to come down from the bench and enter the Bowell Ministry?" a leading citizen was asked by a gentleman high up in Conservative circles, and who is certainly in touch with the powers that be at the Dominion Capital.

"Splendid," was the enthusiastic reply. "If Meredith would adopt a fair attitude in the school question, and make one of his rattling speeches in the Commons, he would charm the French-Canadian members and save the Conservative party."

The French gentleman then went on to say that it was a great mistake to suppose that the members of the Quebec hierarchy were opposed to Hon. Mr. Meredith. In the first place, he said, they realize that it is none of their business, and if it were Bishop Lafleche of Three Rivers and other prelates have expressed their appreciation of the sterling qualities and great power of the ex-leader in the Ontario House, and would be well satisfied to see the eloquent Chief Justice return to public life.

"But what is there in the rumor?" he asked, and was given the following by the English-speaking politician: "I will tell you all I know about it. You are aware that Sir Mackenzie Bowell is well to do and does not need his salary to keep the wolf from the door. It is most likely then that Hon. Mr. Patterson will go out, while Sir Mackenzie relinquishes his portfolio and retains the Premiership. This will create a vacancy in the Ontario representation in the Cabinet, and I believe that nine out of ten of the Ontario Deputies believe that this place will be filled by Chief Justice Meredith."

"Magnificent!" said the Frenchman. "And with Girouard in for Quebec, we will have a very strong Government, but will Haggart and Montague take kindly to the new shuffle?"

"Yes, I think they will, and I may tell you that I do not believe Hon. John Haggart has any desire to become leader of the Conservative party and Premier of Canada."

The gentleman who had given the above information went still further, and said: "Sir Mackenzie Bowell is no longer young, and I think that Hon. Mr. Meredith, with a successful session to his credit, would certainly go to the country as leader of the party, and to me his success would be certain.'

"Do you think he would object to entering the Ottawa arena?"

"I have reason to believe that he would not." And here the conversation ended, only to be taken up again and again where politicians are wont to assemble in the commercial metropolis.

THE FRENCH TREATY.

Government Losing No Time in Getting it Into Effect.

Ottawa, July 26.—The Government is losing no time in getting the French treaty into effect. To-day an order-in-council was passed for transmission to the Colonial Office, along with the bill of last session. The order requests Her Majesty's Government to urge France to exchange ratifications. This done, the Dominion engages to proclaim the treaty in force without delay.

Hugh Sutherland, N. Boyd, M.P., and C. C. Carlyle, lately Canadian agent in Newfoundland, had a talk with the Deputy Minister of Marine to-day on the subject of the navigability of Hudson Straits. They are anxious that some suitable craft be despatched to these waters in order to ascertain the exact length of the season of navigation that can be depended upon. Their impression is that the real difficulty likely to be encountered at late and early seasons is with the ice in the straits. As for the bay itself, they say there is evidence that it may be safely navigated a month later in the year than navigation is possible to Montreal. Should this opinion prove to be correct, it would be possible with a railway to Hudson Bay, the promoters declare, to remove the great bulk of the Northwest wheat crop before the close of navigation in the same year.

Nicholas Flood Davin was quietly married this morning to Miss Lizzie Reid, daughter of the lady at whose home Mr. Davin has boarded for several sessions. They left for Regina immediately after the ceremony.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell leaves to-morrow for the Northwest to be present at the opening of the exhibition in Regina next Monday. He will be accompanied by Hon. T. Mayne Daly, Mrs. Daly and Mr. Hayter Reed, Deputy Superintendent of Indian Affairs. It is understood that when the party reaches the Pacific coast, one of the Government steamers will be placed at the disposal of Sir Mackenzie, and Messrs. Daly and Reed, to enable them to visit several of the Indian reservations along the northern shores of the Province of British Columbia. During Sir Mackenzie Bowell's absence Sir Adolphe Caron will be acting Privy Councillor.

Korns. Korns.

There are more than one sort of korns. Some korn is planted in the ground and the other sort don't need planting; they grow quite naturally on men's toes and don't need hoeing. This kind of korn has two sorts—one gentle or tender like until Bill Jones steps on your foot, when it gets boiling mad and swears like everything; the other is hard headed and makes a row all the time, especially when your boots are on. I don't like korns, and use the extracting medicine, Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor, which removes them painlessly in 24 hours.

If you buy the cloth, you can have it cut free of charge at the mammoth Forced-to-Sell Sale of T. Dolan & Co. stock. 5,000 yds. of splendid Tweeds and other cloths clipping up at half price, and the cutting thrown into the bargain. Anything to clear the stock in 30 days! If you're too busy, send your wife to buy the stuff, then come yourself and leave your measure at Dolan's corner store. If you don't, you'll perhaps never know the real value of your loss.

Savage Reductions

Is the Policy that Dominates Every Department in the Mammoth FORCED-TO-SELL SALE of the

DOLAN BANKRUPT STOCK

Now we add fuel to the fire, and increase the roar of business. We have nerve enough to take the bull by the horns and sell the people brand-new Clothing, Cloths, Tweeds, Hats and Caps, Furnishings, &c, at

PRICES CUT IN TWAIN!

It's a case of—The More you Buy the More you make. Values have been let loose and cost of production has gone on a vacation and made a plaything of.

Purse openers like these arouse your sense of economy, makes quick selling all over the store, and brings crowd after crowd of enthusiastic shoppers, and the promise of still busier days.

Things must hum, for the goods are destined to depart, tagged with half-price tickets. We are in dead earnest—the hour has come—the time is ripe—rain or shine the bargains will be here. Although cart loads have already been taken away to the homes of happy purchasers, the bargain counters and shelves appear as full as ever.

Do you want a Suit of Clothes for the price of making it? Don't think too long, or somebody else will be wearing it for you. Here are a few startlers:—

$2.90 Buys Young Men's and Youths' Suits, worth from $3.75 to $6.50, made up in Good Tweeds, Serges and Worsteds.

$1.89 Buys Boys' Two-piece Suits, worth from $2.50 to $4.00, made up in Dressing Fabrics, well lined and trimmed, not to rip.

$3.90 Buys Men's Suits, worth from $5.50 to $8.00, made up in good Tweeds, Serges and Worsteds.

1/2 Of the former price is all we ask for about 4.000 yards of bright new Scotch and Canadian Tweeds, Serges and Worsted Cloths, Trimmings, &c. Cut free of charge to all who buy or made up into Suits to cost you about 50% less than usual.

We can fit anybody, and especially those who never had a fit in their lives. Duncan Cameron, is the Cutter. It may be, but we don't think there is a place on top of the earth where you can get better value for your money, for the next two weeks. The best makers are represented in the entire stock—not a garment but what is reliable—not an article but what we can safely recommend.

A Duck of a Bicycle Girl.

The bicycle girl in the rain may well be called the duck of a creature. It is not too much to say that she rises superior to the most drenching circumstances, and, like a thrifty rose in the damp, she is a bloomer that custom cannot wither in her infinite variety. She was out in every one of her minor types, on a hundred shore and country roads Sunday, defying the morning clouds that threatened and pushing her wheel gallantly to numberless railroad stations when the heavens opened and the floods fell. The Sunday bicycling girls are not of the fashionable sets, of course; for they stay at home or go to church on Sunday mornings, but they are good wheelwomen and nice girls, particularly when it rains and they have a chance to show their sweet tempers. Fortunately the present transatlantic fashions of making-up have not become general here, particularly with wheeling costumes. — Boston Transcript.

Buttermilk for Freckles.

Do the early summer freckles prove stubborn? There is usually a clamor for "freckle cures" about this time of the year, and the very best thing that proves reliable year after year is simply common buttermilk. Secure it as fresh as possible; it will be found that nothing can equal this fresh buttermilk for removing tan, freckles, sunburn or moth spots. It has the great advantage that it does not injure the skin, but makes it soft and white. Take a soft sponge and bathe the face, neck and arms before retiring for the night; then wipe off the drops lightly. In the morning wash it off thoroughly and wipe dry with a crash towel. Two or three such baths a week during the summer months will take off and keep off the tan and freckles and keep the skin soft and smooth.

In Reply to Oft Repeated Questions.

It may be well to state, Scott's Emulsion acts as a food as well as a medicine, building up the wasted tissues and restoring perfect health after wasting fever.

A High Valuation.

"If there was only one bottle of Hagyard's Yellow Oil in Manitoba I would give one hundred dollars for it," writes, Philip H. Brant, of Monteith, Manitoba, after having used it for a severe wound and for frozen fingers, with, as he says, "astonishing good results."

Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam cures coughs, colds, asthma, bronchitis, tightness of the chest, and all throat and lung troubles. Summer coughs are more dangerous than winter coughs.

Life is too short to become proficient in professions and half a dozen trades. If Watchmakers could see themselves, as others see them, they would stick close to their watch business. There are few businesses that pay a better profit. They remind me of a bad child always wanting to do something they know very little about. They often miss the sale of a $50.00 Watch by pretending to fit a friend with glasses. The wise Watchmaker of the present day has discontinued to sell spectacles.

Philadelphia Authorities to Surrender Holmes.

HE IS AFRAID OF CANUCK JUSTICE

He Is Charged With Several Newly Discovered Murders—One of His Alleged Victims Turns Up Alive—More Warrants and Bones on the Tapis.

Philadelphia, July 27.—The district attorney said to-day it would be at least a month before he would be able to state how the case against Holmes would proceed, but that in all probability he would be sent to Toronto, Canada, to answer the charge of killing the Pitezel children, and if a conviction falls he will be brought back here to be sentenced on the charge of conspiracy.

It is semi-officially stated that the chance of trying Holmes for murder in this jurisdiction is very remote.

Lawyer Shoemaker, the attorney for Holmes, said this afternoon that he was not aware of any important developments. He said that an effort to take Holmes from this jurisdiction would be fought, and that he would insist that he be sentenced here for the crime of conspiracy to defraud the insurance company, to which he pleaded guilty.

Quinlan in the Toils.

Chicago, July 27.—Should Quinlan, the former janitor of the Holmes building, who is held for complicity in the many crimes with which Holmes is charged, escape punishment, here, he will be taken to Texas, where he is wanted for swindling.

William Capps an attorney of Fort Worth, has arrived in Chicago with a warrant for Quinlan, who is charged with aiding Holmes in the many swindling schemes he perpetrated in that place. "The deeds which Holmes had to Minnie Williams' $50,000 property were undoubtedly forged," said Mr. Capps to-day, "and we are ready to prove it. Holmes, Quinlan and Pitezel went down there together, and, after recording these deeds, they worked people right and left. The three were confidential with each other, knew all about this swindle, and I think were all confederates in the murders."

Holmes is at least guiltless of the murder of little Cora Quinlan. To-day the following telegram was received by Inspector Fitzpatrick: "Lakota, Mich. Cora Quinlan is at Johnson's, and has been for about two weeks past. (Signed) N. S. Taylor, justice of the peace."

The Johnsons referred to are the grandparents of the little girl.

Mrs. Quinlan, who has all along maintained an air of reserve, was forced to admit to-day that she had lied to the officers on at least one point, and this had the effect of weakening her considerably. Her husband has also spent a large part of the day in the "sweat-box," and as a result of to-day's developments Chief Badenoch decided to formally hold them both for trial on the charge of being implicated in various insurance swindles. He also believes they are guilty of the crime of assisting Holmes, at least indirectly, in making away with some of his victims. The charge of fraud is sufficient to hold them, and no other will be made at present.

The missing girl whose name the police have been keeping from the press is Miss Wild, a Chicago girl, who has not been seen or heard from for two years. She was employed as a clerk for Holmes about two months before her disappearnce in the spring of 1892. She was 16 years old then. She left her home to go to work, as usual, and never returned.

Mrs. Quinlan was forced to admit during the examination that she had impersonated a dead woman, representing herself as the beneficiary of a fire insurance policy, in order to gain the money which went into Holmes' pocket.

The energies of the police, who are investigating the Holmes case, were devoted this morning to an inquiry into the fate of Miss Emeline Cigrand of Lafayette, Ind., who is supposed to be the latest victim.

Drs. B. J. and P. J. Cigrand, second cousins of the girl, were closeted with Chief Badenach and Inspector Fitzpatrick all this forenoon. They told how their cousin went to work for Holmes as a stenographer, and how she was afterwards believed to have married a man named Robert E. Phelps, who was interested in a fake copying business down town, of which Holmes was the brains.

A careful search of the marriage records made by Clerk Salmonson fails to show any record of such a marriage in Cook County.

It is the belief of the Cigrand brothers that Miss Cigrand was murdered by Holmes, and that Robert E. Phelps was no other than the swindler under an alias.

Inspector Fitzpatrick said he would not examine Mrs. Holmes, the Wilmette wife of the murderer, to-day, but would probably put her through a severe course of questioning to-morrow morning.

William Capps of the firm of Capps & Cantee of Fort Worth, Texas, is in Chicago in the interest of heirs of the Williams sisters. He has obtained copies of deeds by which they transferred their property, and he claims that their names were forged. Evidence has been collected, he says, which will prove conclusively that the girls were murdered before July 12, the date appended to the deeds. He thinks they were put out of the way about July 4. He has been investigating the property at Wilmette, and says that it is still in the name of Minnie Williams.

Thomas Freeman, agent of the Chicago Demonstrators' Association, said last night that in his opinion the bones of Holmes' "castle" in Englewood were those of persons made away with on the premises, or else those of bodies that had been shipped to Chicago. He said that all the bodies of pauper dead in the county passed through his hands, and that it would have been impossible for Holmes to have obtained a cadaver without his knowledge.

The police made another discovery in the castle of H. H. Holmes this afternoon. In the storeroom where the alleged bloody rope was found last Sunday, it was discovered that the big bench there is covered with what is supposed to be blood. The bench had been seen by the police before, but no particular significance was attached to it. To-day it was more closely examined, and it is plain to be seen that the top of the bench is stained with red. It is presumed that this discoloration was caused by blood, and that Holmes quartered his four victims on the surface.

Holmes Defies Graham

Philadelphia, July 27.—The last conference between Holmes and District Attorney Graham in the latter's office terminated in a very dramatic manner.

Holmes was apparently discomfited, physically and mentally, when the conference was opened, but before he was taken from the room his spirits rose to an abnormal degree, and he gave an exhibition of his true temper to the district attorney and his colleagues.

The examination into the correctness of Holmes' numerous statements was about being finished when Mr. Graham manifested his disappointment at the failure of the combined efforts of Mr. Barlow and himself to extract anything important from Holmes. Finally Mr. Graham exclaimed:

"Well, Holmes, as you still persist in refusing to tell the whereabouts of Howard Pitezel, or this alleged individual Hatch, I will be obliged to put you on trial for the murder of Benjaman Pitezel in the Callowhill-street house."

Holmes did not wilt under this terrific threat, but rather calmly answered: "Go ahead; that's right in my line."

"Yes, I will go ahead," said Mr. Graham, "and hang you for the murder of Pitezel."

Holmes jumped to his feet, and fairly yelled with excitement: "I defy you to hang me for the murder of Pitezel. He may have been murdered, and he may not, but you know as well as I do that you cannot fix the crime on me, and I defy you to convict me of it. You think there is an absolute certainty of my conviction on the charge of murdering Nellie and Alice Pitezel in Toronto. Well, you are at liberty to send me there, and I am anxious to go. I can easily establish my innocence of the charge of murder there, as well as in Philadelphia. Just send me to Toronto, and see how speedily I will be set free."

With this last defiance, Holmes was led from the office by the two court officers who had brought him up from Moyamensing in the morning.

Another dramatic incident of the conference was the shedding of tears by Holmes. It was when the district attorney was picturing his bloodthirsty crime of murdering the Pitezel children in Toronto.

The chief concern of Holmes now is whether his latest wife remains true to him after all the horrible charges that have been brought against him.

It is a well-known fact that Holmes was passionately in love with the woman at one time and is apprehensive that she has turned against him. Mr. Shoemaker, counsel for Holmes, said yesterday that Mrs. Howard was never a woman of a demonstrative disposition, and that she never cares to display any evidence of affection when anybody is present.

Don't you know that Hood's Sarsaparilla will overcome that tired feeling and give you renewed vigor and vitality.

JOE TELLS HIS SECRET.

Why Mr. Chamberlain Took the Colonial Secretaryship.

HIS OBJECT WAS TO PROMOTE TRADE

The Unionist Leader Wishes to Bind the Colonies and the Mother Country in Closer Trade Relations—Such Is His Own Declaration

London, July 27.—The Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, Secretary of State for the Colonies, has written a letter to one of his supporters, in which he says that he accepted his present post (1) to see what can be done to bring the autonomous colonies and the Mother Country closer, and (2) to try to develop the resources of the Crown colonies, especially to increase the trade between them and Great Britain. All his efforts, he adds, will be devoted to these ends.

Salisbury Has a Plurality

London, July 26.—With all the constituencies except two heard from, the new House will consist of:

333 Conservatives,
70 Liberal-Unionists,
164 Liberals,
65 Anti-Parnellites,
12 Parnellites.

So the Salisbury Government has a plurality.

Another Pilgrim Train Wrecked, 12 Killed

Paris, July 26.—A railroad accident, by which 12 persons lost their lives and 25 were more or less seriously injured, occurred to-day near St. Brieuc, Dept of Cotes du Nord. A train heavily laden with pilgrims returning from the shrine of Sainte Dauray, was in some manner not yet explained thrown from the track, and several cars were wrecked.

Congratulated by Dufferin.

London, July 26.—The Marquis of Dufferin, the British Ambassador of France, and at one time Governor-General of Canada, has written to the Canadian Marksman Hayhurst, congratulating him upon his success at the rifle meeting at Bisley.

He Drinks Iced Milk.

London, July 26.—A despatch from Rome to The Central News says that Princess Helene of Orleans, who recently married the Duke of Aosta, a nephew of King Humbert, is seriously ill, the result of drinking iced milk.

BULLET HOLE IN HIS HEAD.

And the Jury Didn't Waste Any Time Trying to Find Out How He Received It.

Southampton, Ont., July 27.—Shortly after noon yesterday, the body of John Cole of this place was found with a bullet in his forehead. Coroner Paterson of Port Elgin was immediately notified, and an inquest was held, when this verdict was brought in: "That John Cole came to his death by a wound on his forehead caused by a pistol shot, but whether self-inflicted or not we are unable to say."

HAMILTON PLAYS SECOND FIDDLE

Private Hayhurst to Be Given a Reception at Montreal.

Montreal, July 26.—Private Hayhurst, the winner of the Queen's Prize at Bisley, is to be given a most enthusiastic reception upon his arival here. Lieut.-Col. Hood of the Prince of Wales' Regiment, as a former member of the Wimbledon and Bisley teams, has been requested by the riflemen of Montreal to call a meeting and make arrangements. Lieut.-Col. Hood has called a meeting for Monday evening next in the Victoria Rifles' Armory, which has been placed at his disposal by Col. Stark. Hayhurst will probably be met on his arrival by Montreal riflemen, headed by a band, and will be presented with an address.

SURGERY WITH A SUCTION PUMP.

A Pull of the Piston Relieves a Depression in Baby's Skull.

New Haven, July 26.—A novel operation in surgery was performed by an Ansonia physician on the two-months'-old son of Edward Feeney of the same place, a day or two ago. The child fell out of a hammock and its skull was badly injured, so that a portion of it was depressed nearly an inch. The doctor contrived a curious and powerful little suction pump, resembling a syringe, applied it over the depression, and pulled the piston. Instantly the sunken part of the skull flew up into its proper place with a popping sound. The child, which had been insensible since the accident, regained consciousness at once, and is rapidly getting well.

Hudson Will Hang

London, July 2.—Robert Hudson, who murdered his wife and child at Helmsley Moor, Yorkshire, about a month ago, in order that he might marry again, was sentenced to death. At the time of his killing of his wife and child, whose bodies he burned on Helmsley Moor, he was advertising under the name of Hunter for another wife.

THE CROP OUTLOOK.

Reports from the wheat fields in the Northwest received here, says the Globe, indicate an abundant yield, much larger than last year's crop. The wheat is now well headed out, the berry is plump in most sections and the straw is good. If the present prices for wheat hold till the grain is marketed it will mean $1,700,000 more for every 10,000,000 bushels of wheat the farmers sell than they would have received at the opening of the crop year in 1894. This would be a great thing for the general trade of the country, and it is not to be wondered at that the wholesale trade in the east are looking forward anxiously to the safe harvesting of the wheat crop of the Northwest.

The Ontario crops are looking better since the drought has broken. The wheat, barley and oats in many sections in Ontario are said to be quite promising. A good crop of oats is expected. Wheat looks better now. Threshing has begun in some sections.

SINCE 1837 no two successive English parliaments have been of the same political complexion, with one transient exception.

CARING for the rich that they may care for the poor seems the basic principle of Conservative policy, says the Globe. It is noticeable in the alleged social-reform policy of the newly-installed British Ministry, but is more prominent in the fostering of infant industries by the Canadian Government.

THE granite to be used in the base of the statue to be erected in Kingston in memory of the late Sir John A. Macdonald will weigh about thirty-seven tons. It is being quarried at St. George, N.B. The stone will not arrive in time to permit the monument to be erected so that it can be unveiled on Labour Day. The ceremony will not take place until October.

MR. Charles Booth of the Salvation Army has compiled statistics relative to life in London, illustrating the extreme poverty that prevails in the richest city in the world. There are in London no fewer than 2,257,000 people, whose idea of home is represented by a single room. Of these, 304,000 live three in a room; 102,000 four in a room; 57,000 five in a room; 20,000, six in a room; 6,000, seven in a room; and 2,000 eight in a room. By a room is meant the apartment in which they eat, cook, sleep and dress. These figures may give a fair idea of what is meant by "darkest London."

THE SIXTH SESSION.

What it Has Cost to Carry on Previous Sessions.

(Farmers Sun.)

Of the House of Commons there are 215 members, and their extra indemnity will thus amount to $215,000, with $4,000 added for the speaker and half as much for the deputy. Their mileage fees are about $20,000 per session, although nearly all of them travel on their dead-head passes. They have also about fifty charwomen every session, and pages, flunkeys, sessional writers and extra clerks galore, all representing bills which would simply ruin a few hundred farmers if laid on their shoulders alone. Here are some of the items of that line in the last session's expenses, as found in the auditor-general's report:

Commons, salaries, etc.	$151,437.85
General expenses	19,668.77
Restaurant for M.P's	773.45
Speaker's apartment expenses	1,119.30
Stationery for session	14,838.95
Members' indemnity and mileage	220,777.80
Speaker's extra allowance	4,000.00
Deputy speaker	2,000.00

Add other incidental expenses, and, says the Farmers' Sun, the proposed extra session, merely to help tide the administration through a "misunderstanding," will represent a round half million for the Commons, and nearly half as much more for the Senate and other causes. Besides all that the Government would like to have in the meantime an extra session of the Manitoba provincial legislature, involving tens of thousands more to that new province. A round million of dollars may be needlessly spent in deciding the question whether the people of Manitoba should be allowed to enact its own school laws, as do the other provinces, or whether the existing Ottawa government shall attempt to force on that province such school laws as best meet the views of a majority of its present members. Yet a majority of the present members of our Dominion Commons and Senate openly vote to sustain such a policy, and they claim that they are representing the wishes of the taxpaying electors in so doing. Canadians can no longer afford such reckless expenditure.

The concert which took place here last Monday evening was, you are aware, a gratifying success. It was gotten up for the purpose of bringing the summer people more socially together, the proceeds going toward repairing the organ used in divine service at the pavillion. That there is excellent talent at the Park this summer is quite evident and it is proposed concerts take place fortnightly, the proceeds to be divided, say, between the hospitals of your town or some other charitable institution. This, combining pleasure with charity, which is, we feel sure, quite appropriate when we consider that the needy also may be somewhat benefitted by our pleasantries at delightful Chemong Park.

A few days ago a party of five prominent bicyclists were taking a spin down the Park, when the rear rider, whose copulant avoirdupois had a pressure of some 250 lbs., by some means collided with a pedal against a surveyor's post. Directly there was a header, a smashed machine and then after a little consultation it was proof that a watchmaker is a valuable pal in byke ramblings.

Two busses containing the altar boys of St. Peter's Cathedral drove out to the Park Tuesday, and spent the day at baseball, football, bathing and boating. Rev. Father Fitzpatrick was in charge and gave the boys a jolly time of it. Later in the day Father Fitzpatrick was joined by Rev. Fathers Casey and O'Connel.

While Mr. J. S. Knapman was one day sailing in his "Alma," he had the experience of a disagreeable phenomena in the way of a hurricane of dust which made a path over fields and lake.

A Torontonian and his wife were wheeling to town the other day, and when turning to the side of the road his wife occupied that a baker wagon might pass, had the misfortune of giving that fair lady a severe tumble, and himself likewise, as the result of a collision.

The following have recently opened cottages here: Miss Dugan, Mr. George Edmison, Messrs. Geo. Hutchinson, G. Fitzgerald, Thos. Rutherford, G. Lee, Montreal; R. Carton and J. Craig.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Horkins, Peterborough, and Miss M. Carnalean, after spending a pleasant week, returned to town on Thursday.

Mr. W. Knapman, Hamilton, Mr. J. E. Gould and Miss M. Gould, Uxbridge, are at Mr. J. S. Knapman's cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Brodie, Hespler, are at Mr. Geo. Edmison's cottage.

Rev. Mr. Davidson conducted divine service at the Pavilion Sunday last.

Miss Francis, Buffalo, is the guest of Mrs. Geo. Henderson.

Mr. Knapman, Hamilton, is visiting his brother, Mr. J. S. Knapman.

Quinque camp will open out in a few days.

Never in the history of Chemong Park was there a more lively summer.

Mrs. and Miss Sheehy, Amsterdam, N. Y., are visitors at Mr. M. O'Brien's cottage.

Miss E. Parker, who for the last two weeks was visiting Mrs. Henderson, returned to Toronto, Thursday.

Mrs. Hicks, Woodbridge, Miss Kathleen Carton and Mr. Michael Carton are at Mr. Ralph Carton's cottage.

To Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hopwood we feel indebted for the energy displayed in making the concert the success it attained.

Miss Gracie Lee, Montreal, during intermission last Monday evening danced the highland fling very nicely.

Yesterday Mr. Ralph Carton was initiating his lady friends to 'lunge fishing. No less than four of the finny beauties were brought to the boat, where all but one made their escape.

Mr. B. A. Ostrom had a novel surprise for his friends at the hotel last evening in the shape of a puppy racoon which he captured up the lake shore. The racoon is a pretty little fellow, and being accompanied by a good fish catch, drew considerable attraction. The pup was too smart for Ben, however, as it mad e its escape early this morning.

WILL ARRIVE IN CANADA SHORTLY

Alleged Forgery in Connection With the Returns of a New Brunswick Railway—The Ex-President at Ottawa Making Investigations into the Facts.

Ottawa, July 27.—The contract for the Peterboro' and Lakefield division of the Trent Canal has been finally awarded to Brown & Love, and Aylmer of Toronto, who are said to be the lowest tenderers, the contract price being in the neighborhood of $300,000. The total length of this section is six and a half miles. As originally laid out, the canal was intended to run in a direct line, which gave a distance of about three and a half miles. Examination of the line showed, however, that the work could be much more economically done by following the Otonabee River, although it almost doubled the distance. Work is to be commenced at once, so that it may be completed simultaneously with the other section, which is under contract to A. Onderdonk.

The affairs of the Tobique Valley Railway of New Brunswick, which, incidentally, received some attention at the hands of the Public Accounts Committee this session, are likely to be further ventilated in the courts. That, at least, is the inference to be drawn from the mission upon which Mr. John E. Stewart, ex-president of the railway, is now in Ottawa. Mr. Stewart spent an hour or so at the Department of Railways and Canals this morning examining the official annual returns of the company. The complaint that he has to make against his late co-directors is a serious one. His statement is that he resigned the presidency of the road on the 18th Feb., 1892, having held the position from the organization of the company in 1886, that the return of the railway's business for the fiscal year 1891 is signed "John E. Stewart," and shown to have been duly sworn to before Ald. W. D. Morris of this city on the 5th of April 1892, while Mr. Stewart claims that the signature appended to that reurn is not in his handwriting.

Stewart says that at the annual meeting in 1892, the statement of account submitted to the directors showed a sum of $25,900 as having been expended more than Mr. Stewart thought was actually disbursed on the works that year, and he accordingly refused to sign the report, and resigned the presidency. His examination of the return in the department to-day showed him the report, which bears what he calls his forged signature, includes this amount, to which he objected to certify in Feb., 1892.

Your correspondent was permitted by the Deputy Minister of Railways and Canals to investigate the records of the department this afternoon. The signature to the return for 1892 differs somewhat in appearance from the handwriting of the signature appended to the return for 1891. The ex-president says he can very easily prove that he was not in or near Ottawa on the 5th April, 1892, the date on which the signature appears to have been attested to by Ald. Morris. The latter, proceeding through not being accustomed to such notice of such notarial business as his civic duties impose upon him, has no record of the attestation, and, of course, at this date, has no recollection of it whatever. As evidence of his resignation at the time mentioned, Mr. Stewart shows a bill of injunction against the company, in a considerable amount of money which he had taken out and sworn to before a magistrate in St. John on the 18th Feb., 1892.

The Department of Railways and Canals has received a report from Cornwall announcing damage to the canal. A pair of gates were carried away by a barge belonging to the Montreal Transportation Company. The canal was accordingly closed for repairs, but it is expected to be re-opened on Monday.

The Dominion Statistician has undertaken to compile an analytical index of the report of the Royal Commission on the Liquor Traffic, which consists of seven bulky volumes. It is quite a contract, but is apparently necessary to make the report at all valuable for future reference.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell and Hon. T. Mayne Daly left to-day for the west, and this evening Hon. Mr. Foster and Mrs. Foster took their departure for Apohaqui, N.B.

Several handsome testimonials were expressed to-day from the Department of Marine and Fisheries to the British Board of Trade in London. They are intended as awards to the captain and crew of the British steamship Ivan of Liverpool for their gallantry in rescuing the people of the brigantine Prussia, hailing from Lunenburg, N.S. There is a spy-glass for Capt. Jennings, a gold watch for Mate Crosby, and silver watches for the carpenter, the boatswain and the two quartermasters of the Ivan, who composed the rescuing crew. These presents from the Dominion Government all bear appropriate inscriptions. The story of the wreck shows that the Nova Scotia vessel had a terrific time of it. She left Cuba on the 22nd Jan., this year, laden with ore and mahogany, and when only seven days out-bound north for Philadelphia a gale sprang up, which followed her for several days, till on the 11th Feb. it left her a helpless, leaking wreck. It was then that the steamer Ivan hove in sight, lowered one of her lifeboats, and at a great risk to the men's lives succeeded in taking off the crew of the brigantine.

The Allan Steamship Company have evidently not given up the agitation for a change in the cattle-shipping regulations in regard to space on the lower decks. They have forwarded to W. L. Magee, who acted as commissioner during the recent cattle-shipping inquiry, an invitation to accompany one of their cattle steamers to Liverpool and observe the effects of the proposed changes on the live stock during the voyage. This Mr. Hague will probably not be able to do, but it is likely that he will start about the 15th for Montreal and make the trip to Quebec or Father Point on one of these cattle vessels, which will serve the purposes of investigation equally as well as a transatlantic trip, the St. Lawrence being the most trying part of the voyage.

The acceptance of Major-General Herbert's resignation has at last been officially announced. It is more than likely he will be succeeded by Col. Gascoigne, commander of the Scotch Grenadier Guards.

AFTER 12 YEARS.

Arrested for an Alleged Murder in Lambton County Committed Nearly Two Decades Since.

Detroit, July 27.—Walter McDonald, an engineer, 36 years old, residing at New Haven, Mich., is confined in the Central Station and a charge of murder registered against him. The crime is said to have been committed in Port Lambton, Ont., 17 years ago. McDonald's version of the matter is that he and several other young men were fooling with one of their friends, Daniel McElmore. They threw a bag over his head and pulled him along. McElmore fell and sustained injuries which two days later resulted in his death. A coroner's inquest put the blame on McDonald, but he insists that, although he remained in Lambton over a week, he was not molested in any way. Patrolman Jacques, who knew of the occurrence and was personally acquainted with McDonald, met him on the street and arrested him. Superintendent Starkweather has written to the Port Lambton authorities, and the prisoner is held pending investigation.

ALIVE TO THEIR DANGER.

Minneapolis People Making Enquiries With Regard to a Canadian Discovery.

Minneapolis, July 22.—There has been an unusual number of deaths from heart disease in this city during the last few months and in many cases the victims were unconscious of being sufferers from the dread complaint. Post mortems have shown in several instances that the trouble was directly traceable to a diseased condition of the kidneys and people have become alive to the danger. A number of enquiries have been instituted with with regard to the best methods of cure and the new Canadian specific remedy known as Dodd's Kidney Pills has come in for a great share of attention owing to the extraordinary number of cures which have been effected through this agency.

A High Valuation.

"If there was only one bottle of Haggyard's Yellow Oil in Manitoba I would give one hundred dollars for it," writes, Philip H. Brant, of Monteith, Manitoba, after having used it for a severe wound and for frozen fingers, with, as he says, "astonishing good results."

Haggyard's Pectoral Balsam cures coughs, colds, asthma, bronchitis, tightness of the chest, and all throat and lung troubles. Summer coughs are more dangerous than winter coughs.

Scott's Sarsaparilla

ACUTE Inflammatory Rheumatism is produced by an excess of uric acid in the blood. Paralysis is merely a dead circulation produced by impure and impoverished blood. So-called neuralgia of the thigh is sciatic rheumatism; scrofulitic rheumatism is hereditary; syphilitic results from syphilis; gout is caused by high living; sluggish circulation affects the heart.

"THE KIND THAT CURES"

Thus the whole line of rheumatic diseases owe their being to an affected circulation of impure blood. No person can suffer a rheumatic pain that has a free and equal circulation of pure blood, and this accounts for Scott's Sarsaparilla curing the supposed incurable cases. It eradicates all rheumatic poisons and acids from the blood and equalizes the circulation.

A Marvellous Result.

Mr. A. R. took out ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy No. 6332 in Canada Life Co. for Five Thousand Dollars in the year 1868. He was then 25 years of age.

The Premium paid was $181 a year for 10 years.....$1,810.

Notice the Result.

The total profits added to the Policy to end of 1894 and for which he holds a certificate amounts to the enormous sum of.....$3,281

The holder therefore has been credited not only with every cent paid for premiums, but also Fourteen Hundred and Seventy One Dollars in addition, besides receiving a fully paid up policy for the original Five Thousand Dollars, which still participates in profits.

Now This is What we Want to Know!

This is a Peterborough Policy! Is there any citizen of Peterborough with an ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy either in Canadian, British or American Co, which shows anything like as large profits as this one?

If there is, we should esteem it a great favour if we are allowed to see it, as we have been looking for such a one for years and so far have not been able to find it.

ONE OF THE GRAY CHILDREN ILL.

She is in the Hospital Suffering From an Acute Attack of Bronchitis.

The four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gray, who are at present held in connection with the Scollie murder case, is very ill at the Nicholl's Hospital, suffering from an acute attack of bronchitis. The child has always been delicate and the sudden change in the climate experienced in being brought from Florida to Canada probably precipitated the attack. The parents naturally feel it a great hardship to be separated from their little one in her sickness.

Ross's Bridge.

Contractor Hayes informs us that when digging for the Otonabee abutment for the new Bensfort bridge a soft bed of blue clay has been met with which the engineer, Mr. Belcher, deems insufficient for the foundation. The committee having in charge this bridge are possessed with considerable energy and pluck and have met with many set-backs since the agitation for the bridge first commenced.

On this trip, however, the fares have been pulled down to $1.75 to Toronto, and $3.00 to Buffalo. Tickets good for 3 days. eod

The return tickets are only 65 cents for outsiders, singers much less. Come along if you want a delightful time.

A PECULIAR CASE.

Disappearance of James Holbrook, of Havelock—His Farm Deeded Over to the Wife of a Neighbour.

This morning James Sampson and his wife and brother-in-law, G. Varty, were before County Police Magistrate Edmison, charged with taking forcible possession of a farm heretofore supposed to belong to James Holbrook, in the immediate vicinity of Havelock.

The circumstances connected with the case are peculiar and have awakened a good deal of interest in the neighbourhood.

James Holbrook, who is a widower, lived on his farm and had his daughter, Mrs. Henry Weese, with her husband and children, living with him. He was very eccentric and held a number of peculiar ideas, which at times proved awkward for the family. The portion of the house in which he himself lived was visited at one time by the Board of Health, who opened it up and had it renovated in order to prevent disease being caused by its unsanitary condition. Another of his erratic notions was to take things from the house and secure them in holes dug for the purpose in the garden.

During a disagreement some weeks ago Holbrook is said to have attacked Mrs. Weese with a handsaw and inflicted a few cuts before his rage was appeased. Mrs. Weese fearing that he might do her more serious injury laid an information against him before Mr. Mathieson the local J.P. at Havelock, but when the warrant was issued Holbrook could not be found and since that time has not been seen in the neighbourhood.

Last Tuesday the case assumed an even stranger aspect, when Mrs. Sampson, the wife of a neighbour, claimed to be in possession of a deed of the farm and with her husband and brother took possession. The men immediately began to harvest the hay crop, and Mr. Henry Weese, son-in-law of Holbrook, laid an information against the alleged intruders, with the result that they were brought up from Havelock last night by Constable Archie Moore and appeared before the Magistrate this morning.

Mr. Geo. Hatton appeared for the prosecution and Mr. W. A. Stratton for the defense.

The case was adjourned until August 6th, although the defense urged strongly that some step be taken in order that the hay crop, valued at $400, be not allowed to spoil.

A "VAG" OUT ON A RAMPAGE.

He Creates a Great Disturbance in Havelock.

Thos. Williams, on a charge of vagrancy, was before the County Magistrate this morning

It was charged in the warrant that he solicited assistance from door to door in Havelock, and to this he entered a plea of guilty, but stated that he was unable to work on account of illness, and only begged for money in order to enable him to procure medical assistance. He asked that the gaol physician examine him to prove his statements.

Another charge, of resisting arrest, was laid against him. He pleaded not guilty to this.

A third charge, of creating a disturbance in Mr. Judson's barber shop, in Havelock, was also laid, and in the evidence submitted it was shown that the prisoner had struck Mr. Judson and two of his customers in the shop, threatened to snatch a razor and clear out the place, and also to draw a "gun" and "do up" the party.

On the charge of resisting arrest, Constable Cumming, of Havelock, stated how he had arrested the prisoner and was quietly walking up the street with him when suddenly Williams jumped and struck him between the eyes, causing the blood to fly from his eyes, mouth and nose. He had then grappled with the prisoner and finally conquered him after a desperate struggle. In striking him the prisoner had taken him by surprise, as he thought Williams was a cripple as he had his arm in a sling.

The tramp was then bound hand and foot and afterwards taken to the station, where a gang of tramps came up and offered $35 for the release of the prisoner, whom they stated was their leader.

The money was indignantly refused and the prisoner brought to town.

Williams was sentenced to a year at hard labour in the Central.

The Bubbles Winking at the Brim.

It is now beyond all cavil. The test has been made. The results have been satisfactory. You can have a good wine for a trifle. Wine has made glad the heart of man from time immemorial. It has made him eloquent; it has cheered him in despondency. But the masses could not get it, at least in countries into which it had to be imported. The Bordeaux Claret Co. will sell you an excellent wine at $3 and $4 per dozen quarts. This they have been doing for sometime past to the whole people. All are delighted. The orders are pouring in A sound wine, thoroughly wholesome, making blood and muscle. Address—Bordeaux Claret Co., 30 Hospital street, Montreal.

TRENT VALLEY CANAL.

Lakefield-Peterborough Section Said to be Under Contract.

The Ottawa correspondent of the Mail says :—"The contract for the Peterborough and Lakefield section of the Trent Valley Canal has been let to Messrs. Brown, Lowe and Aylmer, of Toronto, whose contract was the lowest. It is understood the contract price was under $330,000. This is the section for which tenders were called at the same time that the contract for the Balsam Lake section of this work was awarded to Mr. Andrew Onderdonk. The contract for the Peterborough and Lakefield division was not then let, as it was thought that a better route had been found than the one at first selected. A re-survey was ordered, and new tenders called for, with the result that the work has now been let for a very considerable sum less than the lowest tender received in the first instance.

"MERRIE ENGLAND" DISCUSSED — A DELIGHTFUL EXPOSITION OF SOCIALISM.

You invite contributions on Merrie England, the subject discussed last week. Let me first advise every thoughtful person to read the book. It is a delightful exposition of socialism written in the plainest of terms and with the most convincing logic. So close is the reasoning there appears to be no escape from Mr. Blatchford's conclusions, and yet the doctrines which he propounds are strange and unusual. For the modern political economist of the Manchester school he has the most supreme contempt. The law of supply and demand is "utter rot," and the law of the survival of the fittest is entirely misconstrued. But you must read his interesting chapters on these subjects it is impossible to refer to the method of treatment without going into his argument and this I am prohibited from doing.

Socialism like many another theory at the present time exists only on paper. We cannot but recognise the force and strength of the position taken, though at the same time we feel that for this generation at least, progress must be slow and uncertain. We are all free traders in theory, and yet the majority of the notions of the world find it expedient to be protectionists. Similiarly with socialism we are forced to admit the great injustice done the greater portion of mankind and the necessity for some reform, but we do not find it expedient to upset all our established ideas upon the questions of labour, capital and commerce without considering the cost.

The key-note in "Merrie England" is temperance. If we are temperate in all things, live simply, without luxury, there will be no necessity to force a comparatively small band of producers of necessaries to feed and clothe a whole nation. An immense number of persons now engaged in occupations which pander only to the vanity or luxury of the well-to-do, will be enabled to share the work now performed by the few. The result will be that by working say four hours a day, all necessaries can be produced and the remainder of the time devoted to pleasant and improving recreation and education. This seems to pre-suppose a capacity in humanity to deny itself the enjoyment of that wealth which may have been attained honestly or dishonestly with the sole object of benefitting the less fortunate of the nation. Is it possible that such a change can be accomplished? Is it within the range of probability that one class in society will be content to lower its own standard of living for the purpose of raising another to the same level. Surely if such national self sacrifice is ever found the millenium will have arrived. Christianity alone offers the world a code of ethics based on such a foundation and the modern socialist has not so far found Christianity greatly to his taste.

Mr. Blatchford is very convincing when he speaks of competition. It may be the "life of trade," but certainly has the effect of lowering wages and lengthening the hours of labour. As long as capitalists cut prices and undersell one another the working man must suffer, for it is only by reducing the cost of manufacture that one may hope to oust his rival from the market. Co-operation is better than competition. Trade unions are good things for the labourer. One large co-operative store is better than twenty corner groceries. A large airy dining room with a well cooked meal for the inhabitants of a block, is better than a hundred dirty kitchens and a hundred ill-cooked dinners. If there were twenty competing post offices what would it cost to send a letter to London? For the same reason if the Governments owned the railways how cheaply they could be placed at the disposal of the people, and so we are led on until we find ourselves admitting that the state should control all forms of enterprise, and that all the products of genius, whether musical, literary or inventive, should become the property of the state for the edification of mankind or the amelioration of his lot.

There is one problem which I cannot solve and which Mr. Blatchford does not attempt to answer. He postulates that every man work. If he does not work neither shall he eat. Work or starve is the only alternative. What, however, is to be the standard of work which will entitle a man to his support from the state? We all dislike labour and will work no harder than is necessary. The result will be that John, who is a physical giant, will do no more than Tom, who is under the average. Why should he? The only reward, which both receive is their support from the State. Then too, there is Peter, who is a loafer and won't do more than half a day's work at any time. Shall he receive only half a living? He would probably prefer it to working. If, however, distinctions are to be made and degrees of labour or of reward are to be created, we shall then be in as bad a position as ever, for the man who can do most will receive most, and the lazy man and the loafer will suffer just as they do at the present time. These are, of course, only matters of detail, which do not affect the principal underlying the argument, but is unfortunately just in such matters of detail that the success or failure of the whole movement depends, and until they are satisfactorily explained, we must be socialists on paper only.

I cannot agree with the member of the Fortnightly Club who contributed to your column last week that the view taken by Mr. Blatchford of the usefulness of the landlord is unsound. It is begging the question when Member says "that the landlord's capital gives opportunity to labour." Read Merrie England and learn that the landlord has no capital apart from labour nor ever can have.

They're coming, yes, they're coming,
With shovel and with spade,
To work upon the T.V.C.,
Where surveys have been made.

For more than half a centr'y,
This vapory enterprise,
Like mirage of the desert,
That water falsifies.

Lured credulous electors,
On politics' highway,
With tantalizing vouchments
Of Ottawanic sway.

But prospects often blighted
Soon realized will be,
If we can trust, so saith
Those in authority.

And hope looks forth exultant,
To new-found pastimes gay,
When by the C——exourting
We'll sail to Georgian Bay.

And when the ships of burden
Shall, at our very doors,
From all points of the compass,
Unlade their precious stores.

But pessimists say calmly,
Nay, boldly, now that we,
No better than our fathers,
Will never see the C——.

Asserting work will surely
Suspended be again,
Soon as is past the present
Political campaign.

And, 'stead of vessels plying
Within its mossy banks,
Schoolboys will float their rafts in Forsaken water-tanks.

Or skaters' songs of laughter,
At close of winter's day,
Will mingle with the shouts of Those who at hockey play.

And heads grown old and wiser
Look forward now with glee
To matches won on rinks of
The fragmentary C——

When, 'neath the starry heavens,
They'll have a rousing game,
With graceful stroke of besom
And whirling, shining stane.

For men may come and go, but,
Like the brook that ceases never,
And so we find the T. V. C.
The Tories' bait is ever.

is weakening. You cannot afford to fall below your healthy weight. If you will take Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda when your friends first tell you you are getting thin, you will quickly restore your healthy weight and may thereby prevent serious illness.

Persons have been known to gain a pound a day by taking an ounce a day of Scott's Emulsion. This seems extraordinary; but it is absolutely true.

INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT THIS PECULIAR TROUBLE.

A Pembroke Lady Who Suffered for Eight Years Gives the Particulars of Her Illness, and Tells How She Obtained Relief.

From Pembroke Standard.

The grateful thanks of thousands in all parts of the Dominion who have been made well is the best evidence of the sterling merit of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. We suppose there is not a city, town or village in Canada in which the good record of this health giving medicine is not known, and Pembroke is no exception to the rule. Among those who speak of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in terms of highest praise is Mrs. Fournier, wife of Mr. Peter Fournier, both of whom are held in high esteem by those who know them. To a reporter who recently visited their home, Mrs. Fournier gave a plain untarnished statement of her illness and cure. "It is now about eight years," she said, "since I began to grow ill with a pain in my back, stomach and side, and the amount of suffering which it caused me can scarcely be realized. As the days and months passed by I began to grow weaker, and I was seldom free from the intense pains. At last I grew so weak that I was obliged to take to my bed, and even then suffered from the pains which were making my life so miserable. My appetite failed me and I feared that I was doomed to be an invalid. During those days I was under the care of a skilful physician, but his medicines did me no good. He said that my trouble was neuralgia or rheumatism of the stomach. It was during those dark days as I lay an almost helpless invalid, that a friend strongly urged me to try Dr. William's Pink Pills. Although I had little faith in their efficacy at the time, I consented to try them. After using a few boxes I began to feel myself growing stronger and the pains leaving me. I continued using them until I had used a dozen boxes, and now you can see for yourself whether I look like a sick person or not. The pains in my stomach, side and back, have ceased to trouble me and I have not been as well in eight years as I feel now. My appetite which was so poor at one time is now fully restored, and I am confident that not only have Pink Pills cured me, but that they have saved me from misery and pain I would have otherwise still been enduring." Mr. Fournier, who was also present at the interview, fully endorsed all that his wife had said.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make pure, rich blood, thus reaching the root of disease and driving it out of the system, curing when other medicines fail. Most of the ills afflicting mankind are due to an impoverished condition of the blood, or weakened or shattered nerves, and for all these Pink Pills are a specific which speedily restore the sufferer to health. These pills are never sold in any form except in the company's boxes, the wrapper round which bears the full name "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People." All others are counterfeits and should always be returned. Get the genuine and be made well.

MUST HAVE FATHER'S CONSENT.

Or Attain His Majority Before He Marries.

Montreal, July 27.—Some time ago Olivier Leveille, who is under age, brought an action against his father to force the latter to consent to his son's marriage with a Miss Major of this city. The young man alleged that he was determined to marry and that his father's opposition arose from the fact that he wanted his boy's salary. Judge De Lorimier decided against the youth to-day, and advised him to await his majority.

SEASICK, HE FELL OVERBOARD.

A Son of Archdeacon Parnell Drowned at Kingston.

Kingston, July 27.—At midnight a splash was heard by one of the crew of the steamer Bon Voyage, en route from Oswego to Kingston. The steamer was delayed for two hours, but could find no trace of A. F. Parnell, Rochester, N.Y., reported missing. Parnell was the son of Archdeacon Parnell, formerly of this city, and was a naval reserve cadet en route to Alexandria Bay. When last seen he was on the upper deck and quite seasick. While lightheaded, he is supposed to have fallen overboard. He leaves a wife, and was about 24 years old.

Burglars Get $2000 in a Cornwall Store.

Cornwall July 26.—The store of J. A. Roys was entered by burglars last night and a hole was drilled in the safe. Over $2000 was taken. The work is suspected to have been done by a gang of cracksmen that follow Barnum & Bailey's circus.

Four Boys Drowned at Aylmer.

Ottawa, July 27.—A lamentable drowning accident is reported from Aylmer, Que., about nine miles from here. The victims are Walter, Alexander and Edward Brophy and Percy Winfield. The Brophy boys were sons of G. P. Brophy, vice-president of the Ottawa Electric Railway, and were from 23 to 13 years of age. Winfield was a son of Rev. W. T. Winfield, chaplain to the Governor-General. The boys were sailing on the lake when a squall arose and capsized their boat. One of the party, young Miall, son of the Commissioner of Inland Revenue, was saved.

Trolley Fatality at Hamilton.

Hamilton, July 26.—About 9 o'clock to-night a woman about 35 years old, dressed in second mourning, and whose name was not known at a late hour, fell from a trolley car, receiving injuries which may prove fatal. The car was going north in James-street, and when between Cannon and Mulberry-streets she stood up in the car and fell out on her head. She was picked up unconscious and taken to the hospital. There was nothing on her clothes to reveal her identity.

PRIVATELY DISCUSSED.

Montreal Physicians Beginning Largely to Prescribe a New Remedy.

MONTREAL, July 15.—There is still a good deal of talk here among all classes over the recent despatches which appeared in so many Canadian papers, relative to the cure of Mr. G. H. Kent, of Ottawa, from Bright's disease. Although the merits of the case have not been openly discussed at any of the meetings of the medical society, there has been a good deal of private conference and the impression which the report of the recovery has made is evidenced in the fact that a good many physicians have prescribed Dodd's Kidney Pills in their private practice. No higher testimony than this could be given to any remedy, the reluctance of medical men to admit any good in proprietary medicines being well known.

REDUCED TO A SHADOW.

Saved by Strawberry Extract.

GENTI[illegible] Feeling it my duty to give you unsolicited testimony for the direct benefit I have received in my family from the use of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, let me say that while we resided at Fenwick, Ont., my little daughter had an attack of Dysentery or Bloody Flux, by which she was reduced to a mere shadow and became quite helpless. Fortunately my family physician advised the use of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, as he neither had nor knew of anything better for this dreadful disease, and therefore we gave it an impartial trial. I am happy to say that less than quarter of a bottle caused the flow of blood and clots to cease, and the child promptly recovered. We always have had Extract of Strawberry in the house since to be ready for emergencies common to children in summer from the effects of fruits, etc. I would just as soon think of losing my right eye as being deprived of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. This is a testimony of thanks for the untold benefit myself and family have received from this great remedy. MRS. W. H. GARROLD, St. David's, Ont, formerly of Hamilton, Ont.

BIG PROFITS —ON— Small Investments

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful Speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our Systematic Plan of Speculation

originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well-known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plain are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

WRITE FOR CONVINCING PROOF, also our Manual on successful speculation and our Daily Market Report, full of money-making pointers. ALL FREE. Our Manual explains margin trading fully. Highest references in regard to our standing and success.

WOMEN RIDERS IN MELBOURNE.

The Cycling Girls Wear Costumes Almost Exactly Like Men.

Anything is possible in a democracy, and in the democratic community of Melbourne the new woman seems to have broken out badly. A few months ago we published some pictures showing how she goes a picnicing in the bifurcated garb, and to-day we are enabled to give an illustration of Melbourne cycling girls in the rational costume. The antipodean women are taking to the bicycle with much enthusiasm, and they don't hesitate to shed their skirt in pursuit of the pastime. It has become quite a common sight to see breeched females careering on "bikes" through the streets of Melbourne, and now the cycling women have a club of their own. It must be admitted, though, that the rending of the conventional female garment has in many cases brought about a rending of hearts, and domestic dissension of the most unpleasant character has followed the introduction of bicycles and breeches into the hitherto happy home. In more than one case in Melbourne has the wife preferred to get astride her safety in the double-barreled garments rather than to enjoy the serenity of connubial bliss. During the last cricket season several teams of female cricketers played what was nothing more than a burlesque of the game on Melbourne and Sydney grounds. As yet, the feminine footballer has not made her appearance in Australia, though evidences are not wanting that she is looming in the distance.—The Sketch.

A CHEERY-FACED OLD LADY.

And How Her Life's Story Was Casually Revealed..

A few days ago I found myself seated in a street car, beside an old lady, whom I had frequently seen. She was a bright, cheery-faced, energetic woman despite the fact that the frosts of more than 70 winters had left their touch upon her brow.

I was just wondering what influence in her life had brought that contented look to her face and preserved her carriage, when a fine-looking, middle-aged man, who was sitting opposite, arose, crossed over, and shaking hands with her, said:

"Miss Gordon!"

"Tom!" she cried; "is it really you? And you remember me!"

"Remember you!" replied he; could I ever forget the best friend of my boyhood!"

"Miss Gordon," he proceeded in low and earnest tones—but not so low that I could not hear—"I have longed for years to met you, to thank you again for the kind, encouraging words you so often gave me. I have always remembered you and them, after you left I determined to do my duty as you had pointed it out to me, and never do anything that you might disapprove. It is to that I owe my success in life."

The old lady's eyes grew moist as she listened to the man's fervent words, but she only shook his hand again and said:

"There, there, Tom! I always knew you would do what was right.'"

Then followed a conversation in which Tom and his friend interchanged the history of their lives during the time since last they had seen one another. He then, "the most unmanageable boy," as he laughingly quoted; she a persevering, sympathetic, kindly teacher.

I thought I knew the secret of her cheerfulness and content. Her life had evidently been replete with noble deeds silently performed. She had done what she could.

I left the car in the knowledge that there are still in the world, despite all the cynics would have us believe, trusting hearts and helping hands, kindly words and deeds and human gratitude.

New and Dainty Draperies.

Summer sunshine is merciless in showing up shabby spots which have escaped notice during the winter gloom and as our curtains have to bear the full brunt of this trying scrutiny, they are among the first things to show signs of wear. Now that the summer wardrobe is about completed, housewives are turning their attention to the home, and the majority of them are buying new curtains, so that their windows may be in keeping with nature, who has so beautifully bedecked herself in a new summer attire. To all such purchases no better advice can be given than to go at once to inspect the charming assortment of summer draperies exhibited in the shops these days. The cotton plushes in rich shapes and unique designs make beautiful portieres, and for the windows nothing could be prettier than the dainty Anatolian or blue and white lawn curtains. Besides these there is an almot endless variety of exceptionally inexpensive Chinese and Japanese draping silks and mulls.

WOMAN'S HAIR.

Sometimes Her Golden "Glory" is Paid for in Golden Coin.

Very few people really know how extensive is the manufacture of prepared human hair—this refers to woman's hair, of course. Considered artistically and industrially, Paris is the centre of the fine manufacture. A correspondent writes that aside from the houses that manufacture exclusively for the dressers and 5,000 workmen, about half of whom are engaged in the manufacture properly so called.

The source of supply of the hair may be divided into three categories. The hair of the first category if furnished by foreign countries, India, and China supplying the largest amount. The hair is exclusively black and gray and comes in boxes carefully packed. Italy, Spain, Germany and Russia give small quantities. The hair from India and China undergoes quite a lengthy preparation; it is sold to the hairdressers, who work it to their fancy, and afterward sell it at more or less moderate prices.

The finest hair, forming the second category, is that of France, and comprises a great variety of shades, something exceeding a hundred. Traveling men, called cutters, make their circuit toward spring, visiting the villages to gather their crop and collect the hair. In some localities of Brittany and Auvergne, on certain market days, the damsels desiring to sell their head of hair get on a cask, undo their tresses and let them fall over their shoulders. An auction soon begins, and every lot, as soon as cut, is delivered to the highest bidder for spot cash. This product does not pass into the bath, but is simply combed and then scoured with buckwheat flour.

The third category comprises that which it must be confessed, is classed among the most esteemed, the hair derived from the sortings and combings collected by ragpickers, who stuff it into bags just as they find it, soiled by dust, felted by water and adhering to the sweepings of houses, and sell it to small manufacturers, who undertake to utilise it.

SOUTH AMERICAN NERVINE

The Great Health Restorer of the Century.

Sickness Cannot Cope With It—Has Cured the Worst Cases on Record—Cures at the Nerve Centers, and Thus Cures Permanently—A Wonderful Specific in All Cases of Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Nervousness and General Debility—Has No Equal as a Spring Medicine.

There is a great deal of uncertainty in the methods adopted to remove disease. Doctors are not free from this kind of thing themselves. The poor patient has to put up with a good deal of experimenting. The discoverer of South American Nervine takes too serious a view of life to play pranks of this kind. He does not think that these human bodies of ours should be fooled with. He has recognized that they are subject to disease, but by scientific methods he has learned that just as the watch is to be put in perfect repair only when the main spring is kept in running order, so with the individual, he remains in perfect health, only when the nerve centers are kept healthful and strong.

What disease is more distressing than indigestion or dyspepsia? Some simple remedy may be given to cause relief for the moment. Nervine is an indisputably successful remedy for the worst cases of indigestion, because it reaches the source of all stomach troubles—the nerve centers. Indigestion exists because the vital forces have become diseased and are weakened. Nervine builds up the nerve centers, from which comes these forces, removes the causes of indigestion, and the builds up the health completely.

How many systems are run down through nervousness. A stimulant may give ease, but it will not cure nervous troubles. Nervine has cured more desperate cases of nervousness than any other medicine anywhere. And it does so for the same reason that it cures indigestion. The nerve centers are deranged, or there would be no victims of nervousness. Nervine rebuilds and strengthens the nerve tissues, and hence its marvellous powers in diseases of this kind.

In the spring of the year the strongest suffer from general debility. The blood, through neglect, has become impoverished and the whole system gets out of order. We speak of it as a spring medicine. Nervine restores the exhausted vital forces that have led to this tired, don't-care, played-out, miserable condition. No one can take a bottle of Nervine at this season of the year without disease quickly giving way to abounding health.

The moral is plain, simple and readily understood. If you would not trifle with disease, then you will take South American Nervine, which will not trifle with you.

A WET SUNDAY IN CAMP.

McCRACKEN'S
Stony Lake, July 21, 1895.

Truly the Probabilities gentleman at Toronto must have forecast an unusually dry Sunday or the clerical gentlemen introduced a new formula in their prayers for rain this morning. For not for many moons have we had such a downpour as that which pelted the "lunge" beds and granite-freckled farms of this district today. Between three and four inches of rain must have fallen within as many hours, and Paine's Celery Compound never worked more miraculous change in suffering humanity than the rain has wrought in grass and tree and shrub. This morning, nature, like one of your well-known testimonial-contributing citizens languished, with sluggish liver and dry parched skin, a burden to herself, a disappointment to those depending upon her. This evening, to speak metaphorically, she has discarded her fur coat and chamois-skin vest of dead leaf and withered sod, and stands forth renewed, as fresh and bright and vigorous as a man who has taken "four bottles." Everything in this northern land was in the sere and yellow leaf. Poplar, maple, wild cherry and many other trees were already dying. Among the outcrappings of rock and between the thickly scattered stones of clearings, which custom here designates grazing lands, the sad-eyed cattle have for weeks sought for grass as assiduously and vainly, as Her Majesty's Loyal Dominion Opposition have sought office—yet found none. Now everything looks changed—so far at least as the cattle are concerned. The grass is already showing green. The trees now rustle with new life and vigor, and even Mr. McCracken, as in Sunday shirt and with distended thumb, he directs my attention to how well "th' oats is gettin' on," looks more fresh and upright because of the rain. Mr. McCracken's three acres of oats, by the way, is the one crop he is depending on this year, and he is not depending on them as much as he could wish, either. He says it would undoubtedly have been a good crop and gone over eight and a half bushels to the acre if the "drooth hedn't set in" when it did. As it is, he said, the heads haven't filled and the straw will be so blamed short that Capt. Reynolds has offered him the use of a lawn mower to cut it with.

"Prices for all kinds of Agricultural products is so low," said Mr. McCracken to me this evening, "an' crops is so uncertain with us farmers that if it hadn't 'a ben for th' fine fishing an' scenery here I'd a closed with the feller thet wanted to buy the farm fur a stone quarry last summer." "But," continued Mr. McCracken, taking off his yachting cap and slapping it with emphasis on the palm of his left hand, "the scenery here, mister, can't be beat—na' it's a great place for takin' out ice an' tan-bark in th' winter." "A very sing'lar thing about this soil," continued my informant, is this, "Rain don't seem to penetrate no depth inter th' airth." I had observed it before. If you don't find fishworms two inches below the surface you dont' find them at all here. Below that neither spade, hoe nor fishworm could possibly penetrate, and I presume the rain would find a like difficulty. At that distance down the farm is paved as solidly and well as Yonge street, Toronto, and the work is of much more permanent character. But this is a digression. Sunday on Stony Lake is quiet. A wet Sunday on Stony Lake is more like what good attenuated Principal Cavan calls "Our Toronto Sabbath," than anything, probably, to be met with this side of the Great Silence. But in justice to Stony Lake I must say it is a good deal more rational and enjoyable. The birds sing their secular songs here all day Sunday without human protest or injunction, and I myself have heard a light-hearted camper plaintively whistling "Do do, my Huckleberry, Do," while standing within twenty feet of a North of Ireland Presbyterian Elder without evoking either groan or a lengthening of the long upper lip. There is hope and progress in all this; altho' I am not in favour of any scheme that will have for its object the annexation of McCracken's Landing to Toronto. There is scarcely enough leaven here to affect the City of the Good.

Camp meeting is a feature of Sunday here. It is held morning and evening on Big Otter Island. There seems to be a general disposition to put on Sunday clothes here among campers and natives alike. This, and the absence of fishing—open fishing at least—together with the absent steamboat marks the day from other days of the week. The paddle and oars are plied pretty much as they are on other days of the week, although you may at times descry a Dummer punt filled with Dummerites in bright raiment who swing their oars in long metre, and drift about the bay to the inspiring air, "Pull for the Shore, Sailor." I have known of but one fish caught on Sunday since I have been here—and it was only a little one. Of course last Sunday was "rough," and to-day was stormy, but that does not alter the creditable fact. To-night the wind has gone down, the sky is clearing, and

"Far up-piled,
The lazy rack moves westward
Like herded elephants."

The whip-poor-wills answer each other from clearing to clearing, and a solitary loon makes wrie mirth far out on the darkening waters.

It ought to be a good night for sleeping.

TIMOTHY.

THE TURF.

At Detroit Wednesday Robert J., with Geers in the sulky, was sent to beat his record of 2.01¼, paced by a runner. On the second attempt Greers nodded for the word. Cheerful, the runner, was at Robert's wheel as they got the word. The king of pacers passed the first quarter, going as true as a die, in 30¾; as he swept by the half the time—1.01¼—showed he was behind time for a 2-minute gait. Geers did not pick him up on the upper turn, but Cheerful was sent to his flank. As they dashed by the three-quarters in 1.34¾ Cheerful came up abreast, and Geers plied the whip and called on the superb son of Hartford for the effort of his life. With whip and word and with Cheerful neck and neck they came down to the wire. Geers was using all his power to make a new record, but it was useless, and he went under the wire in 2.02 flat, the second fastest mile ever paced in the world and the fastest of the year by a full second.

THE WHEEL.

"There's a man that is going some day to experience one of the evils caused by riding a bicycle," remarked a well-known physician the other day to a "Buffalo Express" reporter, as he pointed to a youthful male in a red sweater, who was pedalling down Delaware avenue in the familiar scorching attitude."

"Kyphosis Bicycleistarum?" queried the reporter.

"No," was the reply, "that scarce has had its day. We don't hear anything nowadays of any such affection, but there is a real danger in the position assumed by such would-be crackajacks, as that fellow, and the worst of it is, few realize it until they are so far gone that there is no hope of recovery except by painful and slow processes of cure. I refer to what I have named cyclists' paralysis. It is a most peculiar affection, and I have at present three cases of the disease under treatment.

"Why do you call it cyclists' paralysis, doctor, and how does it differ from any other form of that disease?" asked the reporter.

"I call the disease cyclists paralysis, although scorchers' paralysis would be better, because it rarely affects any but those who ride bicycles in the humpbacked position known as scorching. Yet there have been cases known where the patient had never ridden a mile on a bicycle in his life. The disease attacks the nerves of the hand and forearm, and is primarily caused by the pressure on the palm, due to the effort of sustaining the weight of the bodies on the hands. Of course similiar pressure on anything else, like the head of a walking stick, would produce the same results, but these cases are rare, because few persons use a cane enough for any deleterious effect to make itself felt. But with bicycles it is different. They will ride sometimes for ten or fifteen miles, or even more, without once lifting the body from the handle-bars, and it is this class that is most frequently attacked by the disease.

The symptoms of disease are a gradually-spreading numbness of the fingers of one or both hands, usually the left, for the reason that the left arm and hand have not been trained to do as much work as the right, but in scorching they sustain the same amount of weight, and consequently feel the strain first. This numbness may not be noticed for a long time, so insidious is the progress of the handle and the rider's attitude has been such as to tend to produce unusual pressure on the nerves and blood-vessels of the hand, the numbness will be pronounced at the end of a short ride of ten miles or so.

"Following the numbness, unless something is done to prevent further progress of the disease, comes a weakness of the principal muscles of the fingers, making the act of holding anything with a tight grip almost impossible and very painful. A trembling-like palsy follows this stage, and the sufferer ends by losing the use of the members entirely.

'There is only one way to cure this disease, and that is to prevent it. As soon as the slightest numbness, if even in only one finger is noticed after a ride on the wheel, the position of the handles should be changed or the handle bar bent in a different manner, so that the pressure of the palms will fall in a different spot. Of course it would be better to ride upright resting all the weight on the saddle, but the scorching position has come to stay, and the plan I have suggested is the only practical one. Of course, electricity, and other remedial agents can be used in pronounced cases with beneficial results, but the majority of them are practically incurable.'

LACROSSE.

The game on Wednesday afternoon next between the Athletics and the Ontarios, from Port Hope, should draw fully a thousand spectators to the Driving Park. If Port Hope can turn out 600 to a lacrosse match surely Peterborough can go a few better. There is every reason to believe that the home boys will win the game, and it promises to be a close one and one that will abound with interest, too. The spectators of the recent match in Port Hope characterized it as one of the swiftest ever played in Ontario, so none can afford to miss the return match. Port Hope is running a special train up for the occasion.

The Millbrook Lacrosse Club will play their return match with the Athletics at Driving Park on Friday afternoon. The ball will be faced at 5:30 o'clock sharp.

The two Peterborough teams which played at Campbellford will play a match at the Driving Park, Monday, at 6.45 o'clock. Mr. Lipsett would like the following men to show up for him,—Goal, Dobbin; point, Lynch; cover point, Mien; 1st defense, Brown; 2nd defense, Green; 3rd. Borland; centre, Lipsett; 3rd home, Phelan; 2nd home, Galley; 1st, Crossley; outside, Glover; inside, Wasson; field captain, H. King.

If you buy the cloth, you can have it cut free of charge at the mammoth Forced-to-Sell Sale of T. Dolan & Co. stock. 5,000 yds. of splendid Tweeds and other cloths clipping up at half price, and the cutting thrown into the bargain. Anything to clear the stock in 30 days! If you're too busy, send your wife to buy the stuff, then come yourself and leave your measure at Dolan's corner store. If you don't, you'll perhaps never know the real value of your loss.

Savage Reductions

Is the Policy that Dominates Every Department in the Mammoth FORCED-TO-SELL SALE of the

DOLAN BANKRUPT STOCK

Now we add fuel to the fire, and increase the roar of business. We have nerve enough to take the bull by the horns and sell the people brand-new Clothing, Cloths, Tweeds, Hats and Caps, Furnishings, &c, at

PRICES CUT IN TWAIN!

It's a case of—The More you Buy the More you make. Values have been let loose and cost of production has gone on a vacation and made a plaything of.

Purse openers like these arouse your sense of economy, makes quick selling all over the store, and brings crowd after crowd of enthusiastic shoppers, and the promise of still busier days.

Things must hum, for the goods are destined to depart, tagged with half-price tickets. We are in dead earnest—the hour has come—the time is ripe—rain or shine the bargains will be here. Although cart loads have already been taken away to the homes of happy purchasers, the bargain counters and shelves appear as full as ever.

Do you want a Suit of Clothes for the price of making it? Don't think too long, or somebody else will be wearing it for you. Here are a few startlers:—

$2.90 Buys Young Men's and Youths' Suits, worth from $3.75 to $6.50, made up in Good Tweeds, Serges and Worsteds.

$1.89 Buys Boys' Two-piece Suits, worth from $2.50 to $4.00, made up in Dressing Fabrics, well lined and trimmed, not to rip.

$3.90 Buys Men's Suits, worth from $5.50 to $8.00, made up in good Tweeds, Serges and Worsteds.

1/2 Of the former price is all we ask for about 4,000 yards of bright new Scotch and Canadian Tweeds, Serges and Worsted Cloths, Trimmings, &c. Cut free of charge to all who buy or made up into Suits to cost you about 50% less than usual.

We can fit anybody, and especially those who never had a fit in their lives. Duncan Cameron, is the Cutter. It may be, but we don't think there is a place on top of the earth where you can get better value for your money, for the next two weeks. The best makers are represented in the entire stock—not a garment but what is reliable—not an article but what we can safely recommend.

STONY LAKE ITEMS.

Services every Sunday morning and evening are held on Otter Island and are fairly well attended. A wharf is badly needed at this place and would be a great convenience to those who attend service.

As usual, this season will no doubt see many parties taking the trip to the mica mines and Blue Mountains, and many return home weary and footsore after their hard day's tramp and paddle. Many who go up take a long and circuitous route to these places, which might be avoided if they took the right way. The best and easiest route to take is to paddle up to Jack's Creek and start from Mr. T. Hull's place, from where there is a good road right into the mines and mountains. From here it is only about an hour and a half's walk and a good road all the way.

Korns. Korns.

There are more than one sort of korns. Some korn is planted in the ground and the other sort don't need planting; they grow quite naturally on men's toes and don't need hoeing. This kind of korn has two sorts—one gentle or tender like until Bill Jones steps on your foot, when it gets boiling mad and swears like everything; the other is hard headed and makes a row all the time, especially when your boots are on. I don't like korns, and use the extracting medicine, Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor, which removes them painlessly in 24 hours.

Superannuation Act the Surest Thing on Record.

MANY ABLE MEN RETIRED.

More Pensioners Saddled on the Country—A List of Some of the Many Who Have Paid in a Small Sum and Drawn a Competency.

Ottawa, July 29.—The Cabinet ministers have rushed away for a holiday. The Premier, Sir Mackenzie Bowell, will take his outing by a trip to Regina on a visit to the exhibition there. Several Cabinet councils were held during the last few days and a number of civil servants were superannuated.

The Superannuation Act was brought into force in 1871, when Sir Francis Hincks was Finance Minister in the Government headed by Sir John Macdonald. Had the act been allowed to remain on the statute book as it was first introduced, by which 4 per cent. was deducted from salaries of $600 and over, and 2 1-2 per cent. from salaries under $600, the fund would have been self-sustaining. But, after the act had been in force some three years, Sir Leonard Tilley, when Finance Minister, introduced an amendment to it, providing that the sum deducted from the salary of civil servants should be reduced—on salaries $600 and over from 4 per cent. to 2 per cent., and on salaries under $600 from 2 1-2 per cent. to 1 1-4 per cent. That cut down the receipts under the operation of the act 50 per cent. The result was that, owing to the large number of civil servants who were superannuated from year to year, the superannuation fund became a drain upon the country's resources, which grew worse from year to year. Here are the receipts and expenditures on account of the fund for each year during its operation:

Year.	Receipts.	Expenditures.
1871	$49,470 50	$ 12,880 49
1872	53,213 80	38,842 81
1873	54,757 30	58,026 12
1874	34,620 18	64,442 84
1875	36,678 71	71,371 85
1876	38,476 00	101,627 16
1877	40,890 26	104,826 99
1878	41,856 62	106,588 91
1879	41,959 20	118,581 63
1880	43,581 80	116,391 75
1881	44,995 80	147,362 10
1882	46,426 39	160,319 95
1883	46,372 03	186,236 67
1884	51,882 21	192,692 70
1885	52,701 33	203,636 21
1886	57,075 43	200,655 25
1887	62,600 96	202,285 85
1888	62,945 72	212,743 72
1889	63,061 46	218,933 65
1890	61,518 05	241,764 66
1891	62,824 60	241,110 49
1892	63,862 79	253,679 88
1893	64,433 27	268,710 15
1894	63,974 67	262,302 00

This shows that during the time the Act has been in force, some 22 years, the total receipts were $1,239,094.08 and the total expenditure $3,770,963.83; or a net loss to the country of $2,531,869.75. The number on the list of superannuated officers at the end of 1893-94 was 551. The gross amount paid to them is $262,502. The average amount to each is $476. The total amount contributed by those now in the civil service during the last year is $63,944.67. The total number on the civil service list last year who contributed to the fund was 4685, and the average amount contributed by those who are now in the civil service is $14.10 annually. The act has been very much abused. Had it been administered as originally intended, the amount which the country has been called on to pay would not have been sacrificed. The act, however, was only in force a few years when it was used as a means to remove civil servants from the positions they occupied and place them upon a retired allowance, in order than room might be made for others who were pressing their services on the Government. Now, to show the position in which the civil service now stands, take the figures from a return that has been placed before Parliament, of the number of civil servants in the employ of the country on June 30, 1894, and the average salary paid. It will be found that we have in the inside service in the city of Ottawa 808 employes altogether. They draw a gross salary of $1,095,723.50, or an average salary of $1220 each. Then we have the outside service, consisting of 3787 employes, who draw a gross amount of $2,830,063.30, or an average salary of $747. Taking the inside and the outside service together, the average salary of all the employes of this Dominion, on June 30, 1894, was $838. Now, the civil service are fairly well paid. There is no other class in this Dominion who get an average salary of $838 per year. School teachers do not get that much, neither do ministers of the gospel. Take the bank clerks throughout the Dominion and we venture to say that they do not get an average salary of $838. You will get no other class in this Dominion that, on the whole, is as well paid as the civil service. They have short hours, good salaries and they get three weeks holidays during the summer, during which their salaries are allowed to run. Under these circumstances, there is no ground whatever why we should be asked, in the straitened condition of our finances, to contribute not only the gross sum of over $200,000 a year, but to keep adding to the list of superannuated civil servants, and thus add to the drain on our resources from year to year. To prove that the system has been grossly abused, let us mention the fact that on the list of superannuated officials there are 84 who are superannuated under the age of 50, and a considerable number superannuated under the age of 40. It is evident that a number of those were removed to make places for others who were urging upon some members of Parliament or upon the Cabinet the engaging of their services by the country at a good round salary. We have throughout the country many evidences of the application of the system in this way. Take, for instance, the postmastership of Montreal. Mr. Lamothe, who used to be postmaster, had served a term of 12 years, and Mr. Dansereau was very anxious to get his place. Through influence he secured the superannuation of Mr. Lamothe, at an allowance of some $2000 a year, by adding eight years to his term of service. Mr. Lamothe was superannuated at that figure, and is now enjoying life in Montreal on that ample allowance, and Mr. Dansereau was appointed in his place at $4000 a year. You can go through the whole country, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and find evidences of the scandalous abuse of the act in every city and town. The Government are still continuing to use this act in a manner contrary to the interests of the people. The return provided for under this act and laid on the table of the House this year shows that on Dec. 30, 1894, the Government had, during that year, added 57 to the list. The gross amount payable to the 57 as long as they live is $22,710.33 per year. There have been gratuities given to some five in addition to the number superannuated, amounting to some $2631. Some have been superannuated who have not served the number of years provided for in the act, which makes ten years the minimum term of service in order to qualify for superannuation. In order to get over that the Government have utilised another clause of the Act which authorizes them to add years to the term of service for reasons such as efficient service, technical knowledge of some particular subject, and so on. Mr. W. G. Goulin, a culler in receipt of $500 a year—the cullers are employed only in the summer time, as there is no culling to be done in winter—served five years. He is now 37 years of age. The Government added ten years to his term of service, and granted him an allowance of $150 a year for the rest of his life. Thomas Malone, also a culler, on a similar salary, served eight years, had ten years added to his term of service, and now, at 37 years of age, he is retired on a pension of $108. Out of the 551 names in the superannuation list, the Conservatives have superannuated 429. Since the year 1880, they have superannuated 412 civil servants.

A HALF-BREED MURDER

Wants to Be Relieved of His Vows.

Montreal, Que., July 26.—The readers of The World will remember the unfortunate escapade of the Rev. Abbe Guyhot, a popular member of the Sulpician priesthood, with the wife of a well-known lawyer in this city, and the clever young clergyman's departure from the city some three years ago. To the surprise of all, the rev. gentleman arrived in the city to-day on the way to the Maritime Provinces.

Being asked how he was getting along in the States, he being a professor in a Philadelphia college, the fallen Sulpician said: "Very well; I earn my living, like yourself. I am still a priest, and will likely remain so to the end. I am, however, in correspondence with the Vatican, trying to be relieved of my vows, but I do not believe I will succeed. You can also say that half the stories told about me were not true."

Abbe Guyhot wears a long beard and a Roman collar and frock coat. He states that he will return to France next September.

Trade in Canada

New York, July 26.—Bradstreet's says: The seasonable trade reported throughout United States in most lines characterizes the changes of trade at Montreal, where less uneasiness is now felt over the possible consequences of the bank embarrassment there. The Province of Quebec is suffering from grasshoppers and needs rain.

In Nova Scotia trade is rather lighter than usual at this season.

The Sting Within.

It is said there is a rankling thorn in every heart, and yet that none would exchange their own for that of another. Be that as it may, the sting arising from the heart of a corn is real enough, and in this land of tight boots a very common complaint also. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor is a never failing remedy for this kind of heartache, as you can easily prove if afflicted. Cheap, sure, painless. Try the genuine and use no other.

THE following Conservative papers during the past eight years have received these amounts from the Dominion Government:

Mail and Empire	$41,143 12
Montreal Gazette	44,408 24
Halifax Herald	62,603 49
Yarmouth Times	23,608 47
Quebec Chronicle	32,365 61
St John Sun	88,036 08
Moncton Times	85,908 87
Charlottetown Examiner	12,377 56

Commenting on the figures the Hamilton Herald says:

This money, it will be borne in mind, was expended in advertising, patronage of this sort being one of the methods adopted by politicians in power of rewarding their newspaper friends. How much of this large sum of money is expended honestly it would be interesting to find out. We do not mean for a minute to accuse the newspapers named of being parties to dishonest transactions, but we believe that the great bulk of this advertising is unnecessary, that the Government is expending thousands and thousands of dollars annually, taking the money out of the pockets of the people, for which it gets no return.

LOOKING FOR GOLD.

Interesting Interview With Mr. Frederic Nicholls—British Columbia Mines—The Cariboo and Kootenay Districts—Hydraulic Methods Adopted in Cariboo—The Rise of Rossland—A Journey Over Rough Roads.

Mr. Frederic Nicholls, the General Manager of the Canadian General Electric Company, has recently returned to Toronto from an extended trip in the mining districts of British Columbia, taken with a view to the introduction of electrical apparatus in mining. Mr. Nicholls a day or two ago gave an interesting sketch of his trip to a reporter.

"I recently visited the Cariboo mining district," he said, "some 250 miles north of the C. P. R. We left the railway at Ashcroft, and from there to the 150-mile house the journey is made by a four-horse stage. Immediately after leaving Ashcroft the scenery becomes extremely wild and the stage road is cut out of the face of the mountain along the canyon of the Bonaparte river. When we went up, although it was the end of May, the snow had only recently left the ground and the roads were very rough and the stage riding naturally more or less unpleasant. But these roads were boulevards in comparison with what were encountered after leaving 150-mile house, when we took the trail to the Quesnelles Forks. Though the distance between these two points is only about 65 miles, it took us two long days to make the trip with two horses and a buckboard. In one place it took four and a half hours to make twelve miles.

HYDRAULIC MINING.

"We were very much astonished," Mr. Nicholls went on, "to find such great developments in hydraulic mining, and people in the east know little or nothing of what is being accomplished in that district. We stayed two days at the Cariboo hydraulic mining camp and thoroughly investigated the workings. In company with Mr. J. B. Hobson, the engineer in charge of the work, we visited the ditch now under construction for bringing the water, which has to be used in hydrauliking, a distance of about seventeen miles from the source of supply to the mine. Although called a ditch it is more in the nature of a canal, being eleven feet wide at the bottom, with banks strong enough to ride over on horseback. Pending the completing of the new ditch they are using the small supply of water that is available for a few hours each day, and with this limited supply I learned that at the clean-up of the sluice boxes, which took place shortly after we left, there was taken out about 66 pounds of bullion as the result of less than 200 hours' working. The Cariboo claim proper consists, I think, of a long stretch about a mile in length of the old river bed that has been filled up in past ages, the result of volcanic action, and the auriferous gravel is contained between the solid rock walls of the old channel to the depth of about 200 feet by a width of two or three times that distance. As I am not a mining expert I cannot estimate the possible returns from this mine when it is in proper working order, but two or three spadesful of gravel dug at random from different parts of the claim were washed out in my presence in a miner's tin pan and showed a very rich deposit of gold in the bottom of the pan in each case.

"From Cariboo," said Mr. Nicholls," we rode on horseback to the forks of the Quesnelles River, and then along the pack trail 26 miles as far as Keithley Point, where one of the mines of the Victoria Hydraulic Mining Company is located, and found Mr. T. G. Holt, of Montreal, the President of the company personally superintending operations. The gravel deposit of this mine, so far as layman can judge, appeared to give promise of very satisfactory results and since my return I have heard that this mine is now in working order. The quantity of freight being shipped into this district by mule teams and ox teams and pack mules is something enormous, and is not only providing ample work for every available animal and conveyance, but is proving a great boon to the ranchers along the road, oats selling for four cents a pounds and hay as high as $80 per ton in some of the less accessible districts. A great deal of capital is being invested; a large French syndicate, for whom Baron de Bats, of Paris, is acting as advisory engineer, has taken up several claims and and is arranging to develop them immediately.

A large English company has been formed, and is getting to work this season; when out there they were making arrangements for the freighting to the mines of $7[illegible],000 pounds' weight of iron piping to be used in hydrauliking, and when the roughness of the mountain trails to be met with in Cariboo is remembered, one can form some idea as to what the undertaking amounts to.

THE KOOTENAY MINES.

"Before returning we went on a visit to the West Kootenay mining districts, which extend from Revelstoke, on the C.P.R., across the Columbian River to the boundary line. These mines differ from those of Cariboo in the fact that they are quartz properties, and the mining operations are vastly different from the method of washing earth and gravel through sluices, and the gold separated by the force of water delivered at immense pressure. At Rossland, a new mining camp, seven miles from the American border, and an equal distance from the Columbia district, we were informed that in February last there were four houses, as against from 200 to 300 when we were there in June, including several two or three-storey hotels, with such modern conveniences as electric bells, etc. The growth of this place is simply phenomenal, and old miners state that no such indications of mineral wealth were developed in the early stage of American mining camps such as Butte, Montana, which has grown to be a large city. We went through one of the principal mines, known as the War Eagle, and were astonished at the vast quantities of gold and copper ore which were exposed in several workings. These mines were purchased last autumn by a syndicate of four for $17,000, and capitalized at $500,000; after paying, besides the working expenses, a dividend of 10 per cent. per month on the latter capitalization, it was bonded while we were in the camp for $1,000,000. Several other rich mines were visited that appeared to be working conservatively and making large profits, but, as usual, with new mining camps, the fortunes made by the owners of such a mine as the War Eagle are industriously circulated, while the many disheartening failures are kept in the background, and although we were informed in Rossland that within a few week prior to our arrival hundreds of new claims had been taken up and recorded, at the present time it is entirely problematic as to whether very many of them can be profitably worked.

"I was sorry to see that, although an immense business has been done at this place in all kinds of merchandise, Canadian wholesale and manufacturing firms are practically unrepresented, and that the supplies are being taken in principally from Spokane, and pay duty at the frontier, although a great deal of money is being expended there that might be and ought to be distributed in Canada. There is no doubt that the Province of British Columbia must, to a large extent, experience benefit from the present development and expenditures both in Kootenay and Cariboo; in fact, my own opinion is that already the financial situation is much improved in that Province since my last visit about eighteen months ago."

CONFESSES TO KILLING 35 WOMEN.

Dr. Neil Cream of Quebec Makes a Confession Which is Vouched for by the Jail Chaplain.

London, July 29.—In The Sunday Companion, the Rev. G. P. Merrick, chaplain of Holloway jail, tells a story of the murderer, Dr. Neal Cream of Quebec, who, it will be remembered, was executed for the murder of several women in London by the administration of strychnine concealed in capsules.

According to the chaplain of Holloway jail it was proved beyond a doubt that he had murdered in cold blood no fewer than thirty-five women. It appears that while in America he suffered imprisonment for a crime which had been traced to him by a woman. This woman detective had beguiled him until his guilt was brought to light. When he came to England he believed, or said he believed, that every woman who spoke to him was a police decoy, and he sacrificed them.

Strangely enough, he was one of the most proficient Bible students ever admitted to Holloway jail. He could recite from memory almost half the Bible.

WALLACE'S RE-ELECTION ASSURED.

Delegates En Route to Halifax Thus Regard His Candidature.

Montreal, July 29.—Hon. Clarke Wallace, who left this evening for Halifax, did a good deal of quiet work amongst the members of the order, and his friends say the Grand Master is a candidate for re-election, and will be successful. Ex-Mayor Clarke, who is to oppose the present Grand Master, also passed through to-day together with E. Cochrane, M.P., Alexander McKay, M.P., Col. Tyrwhitt, M.P., George Taylor, M.P., W. A. McCulla, Ex-M.P., C. W. Sawyer of Peterboro, Rev. Mr. Madill, W. B. Willoughby, M.L.A., O. E. Ruth, M.L.A., Andrew Broder, Ex-M.L.A., Oscar Fuston, Ex-M.P., and others.

GRAVE CHARGE AGAINST A DENTIST.

Dr. Vernon of Stratford Alleged to Have Committed a Criminal Operation.

Stratford, July 29.—Dr. J. G. German, dentist, of this city, was arrested last evening and charged with having performed an abortion on an unmarried woman named Alice Dunn, at present living in Mount Forest. On being taken before the Police Magistrate he pleaded not guilty, was admitted to bail in $10,000 bonds and remanded until Friday. The alleged offence is said to have been committed here on June 26 last, since which time Miss Dunn has been ill, and latterly she has been getting worse.

In Advanced Years

The strength and pure blood necessary to resist the effects of cold seasons are given by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"I have for the last 25 years of my life been complaining of a weakness of the lungs and colds in the head, especially in the winter. Last fall I was again attacked. Reading of Hood's Sarsaparilla I was led to try it. I am now taking the fifth bottle with good results. I can positively say that I have not spent a winter as free from coughs or pains and difficult breathing spells for the last 25 years as was last winter. I can lie down and sleep all night without any annoyance from cough or pain in the lungs or asthmatic difficulty." E. M. CHAMBERS, J. P., Cornhill, N. B.

KNOWN TO HAVE DISPOSED OF FOUR

The Man Who Did the Work for the Arch-Villain Tells of His Dealings With Holmes and Is Held by the Police—Quinlan Breaks Down.

Chicago, July 28.—Unmistakable evidence of murder at the Holmes' Castle in Englewood was last night placed in the hands of Inspector Fitzpatrick. That at least four people have been murdered in this chamber of horrors is now a practical certainty.

The skeleton of one of Holmes' victims, supposedly that of Mrs. Julia O'Connor, is now in the inspector's office in the City Hall. The other skeletons which came from the same place will be placed in his possession to-morrow. A fourth body has been traced to Philadelphia, and its recipient there will no doubt be discovered in the course of a few days. The man who produced this startling evidence was closeted with the Inspector and Detectives Norton and Fitzpatrick from 6 till 9 o'clock last night. The inspector declines to make his name known at present, for the reason that it would handicap his further investigations.

This man's story is that he first met Holmes in response to an advertisement for a machinist, which appeared in a daily newspaper. This was in the summer of 1892. He worked for Holmes in that capacity for several months.

One day Holmes came to him and asked him if he could mount a skeleton. The man said he could. Holmes conducted him to a dark room on the second floor, in the central part of the building, and there pointed out the remains of a man. There was considerable flesh on the lower limbs, but the arms were practically bare. He took the arm bones and skull away with him that night. The next day Holmes brought the remainder of the skeleton to the machinist's house.

This was Oct. 1, 1892. On Jan. 2, 1893, Holmes came to him, and asked him to articulate another skeleton for him. Another trip to the dark room produced another human body, this time that of a female. This body had much more flesh on it than the other.

This is the skeleton now in possession of the Inspector, who believes it to be all that is left of Mrs. Julia Conner.

In June, 1893, the man was called upon by Holmes to articulate a third skeleton, which was produced from the same dark and mysterious chamber in the castle. Holmes paid him $36 each for two of the skeletons, and took them away. The third he did not call for.

Another most important feature of this man's story was his statement that during all this time that he was fixing up skeletons for Holmes Pat Quinlan was about the premises and seemed to be Holmes' trusted man. To verify his statement in this regard Quinlan was sent for and confronted by the machinist and mounter of skeletons. What took place between the two men the Inspector declined to say, but when Pat came out of the sweat-box this time he looked ten years older, and his whole bearing was that of abject despair.

Only about an hour before Quinlan had been called upon to face the witness whose testimony was damaging for him and Holmes. This witness was Cephas Humphrey, a colored man, who lives at 6213 Peoria-street, and runs an express wagon. Humphrey told the inspector that in June, 1893, Holmes came to him one day and asked him if he could take a trunk and box to the Union Depot.

"I told him I could," said Humphrey. "I want you to come for the stuff about dark," said Holmes, "as I do not care to have the neighbors see it go away."

Humphrey called. He was conducted to the chamber of horrors mentioned by the machinist and even more vividly described by the superstitious colored man.

"It was an awful looking place," he said. "There were no windows in it at all, and only a heavy door opening into it. It made my flesh creep to go in there. I felt as if something was wrong, but Mr. Holmes did not give me much time to think about that."

Humphrey then went on to tell how he had found a large box which looked like the casing ordinarily used for a coffin. This box he carried downstairs and started to set upon end on the sidewalk. Holmes was watching him from a window upstairs and rapped vigorously to attract his attention.

"Don't do that," he called to the expressman. "Lay it down flat."

He then went back and got the trunk. Holmes instructed him to take both to the Union Depot and leave them at a certain place on the platform. He told Humphrey he was not to say anything to anybody at the depot, as a man there was expecting the package and would take care of it. Humphrey said, as well, he recollected Holmes told him the box was to go to Philadelphia, but he could not remember where he said the trunk was to be sent. The expressman and machinist were both detained by the inspector, and will not be allowed to leave the custody of an officer until more searching investigation is made in regard to their stories.

Vaults Filled With Quicklime.

Chicago, July 29.—Emily Van Tassel, who has been missing from her home since June, 1892, is thought to have been another of Holmes' victims. She lived at 641 North Roby-street. Her occupation was that of cashier in a fruit store, and it was here that she met Holmes. All that the police are able to ascertain about her connection with Holmes is that he saw her on four occasions. She showed a remarkable liking for Holmes and her mother believes, in the light of recent revelations as to Holmes' character, that she went with him. Not a single clue to her fate has ever been received since she left home, and there is little doubt in the minds of her friends that she is dead.

The workmen digging in the cellar of the Holmes' house in Englewood this afternoon unearthed two brick vaults, three and one-half feet beneath the surface. The vaults are six feet long by three feet wide, and just deep enough to make a grave for a single body each. Both were filled with quick lime. Near by was found another bunch of hair clotted with blood.

Chief Badenoch has detailed men to investigate the suspicion that Horace Williams, brother of Minnie and Annie Williams, was murdered by Holmes. There is reason to believe that this is true, because the young man had his life insured for $2500 in favor of his sister Minnie, which was equivalent to making Holmes the beneficiary.

An Alibi for Holmes.

Philadelphia, July 27.—An important development came to late to-day in the Holmes' case. It was in the form of a letter written from Chicago by H. W. Mischoff to a Philadelphia friend of Holmes. The recipient of the letter declined to allow his name to be used. The epistle reads:

Chicago, July 18, 1895.

Dear Sir,—I have just returned from Europe, and was surprised when I learned that my friend Holmes was charged with killing the children of Benjamin Pitezel in Toronto. I hardly think there can be any truth in the charge. I knew of Mr. Holmes' whereabouts at the time the little girls are said to have been murdered. I can say, without fear of contradiction, that he was not in Toronto or vicinity at the time the murders are alleged to have been committed. If the children were killed Mr. Holmes had no hand in the crime. Let me know if I can be of any service in the case. I am writing Mr. Holmes by this mail. H. W. MISCHOFF.

Attorney Shoemaker, who represents Holmes, was seen in reference to the letter. He said: "I refuse to say whether or not I know Mr. Mischoff."

The recipient of the letter stated that "Mischoff" is an old friend of Holmes. He further declared that Holmes could not be proved guilty of the Toronto murder.

Besides that of the man Mischoff it was given out to-day that Holmes has a number of other alibis that will account for his movements during the time that he (Holmes) is supposed to have been butchering Alice and Nellie Pitezel.

District-Attorney Graham said: "I have not said that Holmes would be tried here for murder or that he would not be. The question has not yet been decided. We are doing all we can, however, to sift out the evidence against him, and when our investigations are concluded I may have something more to say."

Emeline Cigrand's Father Found.

Lafayette, Ind., July 27.—After two days' search by wire, Peter Cigrand, the father of Miss Emeline Cigrand, Holmes' supposed victim, has been located at Anderson, Ind. He had not heard from his missing daughter since the time of her supposed marriage. The letter he received then was to the effect that she was going to Europe to spend the following year. After failing to hear from her again, he wrote to Holmes, and later heard from him, stating that he had not seen her since she had married Phelps, and that he did not know where she was. The old man was prostrated when he learned for the first time that his daughter was being searched for, and why.

PLEASE LET US SEE IT

A Marvellous Result.

Mr. A. R. took out ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy No. 6332 in Canada Life Co. for Five Thousand Dollars in the year 1868. He was then 25 years of age.

The Premium paid was $181 a year for 10 years.....$1,810.

Notice the Result.

The total profits added to the Policy to end of 1894 and for which he holds a certificate amounts to the enormous sum of.....$3,281

The holder therefore has been credited not only with every cent paid for premiums, but also Fourteen Hundred and Seventy One Dollars in addition, besides receiving a fully paid up policy for the original Five Thousand Dollars, which still participates in profits.

Now This is What we Want to Know!

This is a Peterborough Policy! Is there any citizen of Peterborough with an ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy either in Canadian, British or American Co, which shows anything like as large profits as this one?

If there is, we should esteem it a great favour if we are allowed to see it, as we have been looking for such a one for years and so far have not been able to find it.

Cause of Fire.

It may not be generally known that new milk cans when exposed to the rays of the sun will rapidly cause a fire. A farmer near Peterborough recently discovered that the platform about a well on his grounds was on fire. It was noticed and extinguished, but to the surprise of the family it was found next day to be burning in the same place. For some time they were at a loss to discover the reason, but it was afterwards found that the action of the sun's rays on the new milk can which had been left standing on the platform was the cause.

MR. THOS. DOLAN'S SUDDEN AND UNEXPECTED DEATH.

Heart Failure, With Which He has Been Troubled for Years, the Cause.

The death of Mr. Thos. Dolan, one of Peterborough's most widely known business men, occurred at an early hour yesterday morning. Heart failure was the cause of his sudden and unexpected demise, and at the time of his death three surgeons and Rev. Father Burke were at his side.

Mr. Dolan was born at Castle Reigh, Longnglynn, county Roscommon, Ireland, in December, 1851, and came to this country in 1869, locating at once in Peterborough, where he has ever identified himself with the best interests of the place of his adoption. He was a Justice of the Peace, and was at one time chairman of the Board of Local Improvement Commissioners, as well as chairman of the Separate School Board. At the time of his death he was President of the local branch of the C.M.B.A.

In his career he achieved a prominence accorded only to those whose transactions have been based upon the enduring principles of equity and honour. The business with which he was lately connected, known as the firm of T. Dolan & Co., was founded by him 24 years ago and was one of the best known in the Midland District.

A widow and eight children, the eldest of whom is Bert, at present in Pittsburg, survive to mourn the death of a most affectionate husband and indulgent father. Mr. James Dolan, proprietor of the City Hotel, is a brother of the deceased.

The most heartfelt sympathy will be accorded the relatives of the deceased in their great bereavement.

The funeral will take place Wednesday morning from the family residence, Aylmer street. The funeral notice will appear later.

The popular annual excursion of the Lindsay Branch C.M.B.A., will take place on Lindsay's Civic Holiday, August 5th, to Toronto, Niagara Falls and Buffalo. A fast special train will leave the G.T.R. station, Peterborough, at 6.30 o'clock on the morning of the excursion, calling at the different stations on the route. The train is billed to reach Toronto at 10.15 a.m.; Falls at 12.50 p.m.; returning leaves the Falls at 5.20 p.m.

A Splendid Animal.

The new horse purchased for the Fire Department is indeed a splendid animal. It is a dappled grey and will make a splendid match for its mate. Though only tried four times in practicing for a run out with the hose wagon the new horse comes with a bound from its stall at the signal, and has proven itself to be most intelligent in many ways. In harness it handles itself well and runs like a deer. The bay horse has been taken off the hose wagon and will be used on the hook and ladder hereafter. Its place is taken by one of the big greys.

The United Choirs' Excursion.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the united choirs of Peterborough it was decided to hold an excursion and picnic to Burleigh Falls on Tuesday, Aug. 6th. Special train will leave the G. T. R. station at nine o'clock, and convey the party to Chemong, where the fine steamer Columbian will be in waiting, and will be at the disposal of the party for the entire day, leaving Burleigh at 7 p.m. At 5 p.m. the choirs, assisted by the orchestra, will render a number of selections. Those singers who wish to join the fine chorus can do so at the mass rehearsal on Monday evening, July 29th, in the Y.M.C.A. Hall at 8.30. The return tickets are only 65 cents for outsiders, singers much less. Come along if you want a delightful time.

PRESENTED WITH A WATCH AND CHAIN FOR BRAVERY.

Young Ephraim Godfrey's Heroic Action on the First, Recognized.

On Friday evening last, Master Ephraim Godfrey, of Young's Point, was presented with a watch and chain as a testimony of the admiration which his brave act on the First of July, in saving two lads from drowning, had aroused in the bosoms of the residents of Young's Point.

It will be remembered that young Godfrey, who is but fourteen years of age, rescued two companions from a watery grave by diving and bringing them to the surface after they had apparently sunk in the water for the last time.

The presentation took place in Mr. McFarlane's hotel, Mr. McFarlane having been the chief mover in making the arrangements for the testimonial.

Mr. A. A. Smith read the address as follows:

Young's Point, July 26th, 1895.

Mr. Ephraim Godfrey, Young's Point:

DEAR YOUNG FRIEND—At a meeting called of the residents of Young's Point it is deemed that you are justly entitled to some recognition for having on July 1st, 1895, gone to the rescue of your two companions, who were in imminent danger of drowning and whose lives you gallantly saved at the risk of your own. Though you always held the warm affection of the citizens, they now regard you with the highest esteem and admiration as well, and as a token of this, wish to present you with a watch and chain in commemoration of your brave and heroic action.

Signed.

The presentation was then made by Miss Laura McFarlane, and the young lad whose bravery had been so fittingly recognized, replied as follows:

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am much flatered by the praise which you have seen fit to bestow upon me in the address, and am proud of the honour which you have done me. The action which you think brave and heroic was one, I think, which would have been taken by any of you if you had been there at the time. My friends were in peril and I considered it a duty to do my utmost to try and save them if I could. I wish to thank you very much for the handsome souvenier, with which you have presented me and shall always keep the watch and chain, as a memento of this occasion, valuing it, I assure you, above any other of my possessions.

Mr. Graham, whose son Bruce was one of the two lads rescued, then presented young Godfrey with a handsome suit of clothes, in recognition of his heroic action.

MR. MOSSOM BOYD'S EXHIBIT.

His Buffalo Herd, Highland Cattle, Persian Sheep, Angora Goats and Hurdle Pony.

Mr. W. J. Green, Secretary of the Peterborough Central Exhibition, received the following letter from Mr. Mossom Boyd, of Bobcaygeon, this morning, in answer to an inquiry regarding what fancy stock he would place on exhibition at the fall show:

Mr. W. J. Green, Secretary Peterborough Central Exhibition, Box 181, Peterborough:

DEAR SIR,—Your letter of the 23rd inst received. I have taken a note of your desire to have the English champion hurdle jumping pony at your exhibition and will be able to comply with your request. The pony has beaten all competitors in England as well as America.

In answer to your questions about the other stock, I would say that the buffalo is seven years old, weight 1,600 pounds in moderate condition, was captured when a calf in Dakota. The West Highland cattle were imported from Scotland. The cattle of this breed, as their name implies, are reared in the Highlands. They are principally prized for their beefing propensities, giving a most excellent quality of beef. They are small cattle, with long heavy horns and long shaggy coats of hair, are said to be very hardy. I know very little about the Persian sheep. These we have are part of a lot of twelve sent by the Persian Government to the American Government in order that they might be tried in the different climates on this continent. The lambs when born have beautiful coats of curly hair which grows coaser every day, and when they are grown to maturity it has turned to a rather coarse wool. They are of various colours, white, black, brown and white spotted with brown or black; have long lop ears and an immense deposit of fat about the tail sometimes weighing as much as twenty pounds or more. Altogether they are very ugly, and perhaps more curious than useful. The Angora goats, of which we will probably send one or two with the sheep, are very beautiful little animals with a long snow white fleece of the finest quality, which is known as mohair. They shear as much as a common sheep, the fleece being sometimes a foot or more in length.

Yours truly,
MOSSOM M. BOYD.

PROSPECTS OF THE CHEESE TRADE

Farmers and Salesmen Disheartened and Timid.

In the report of Professor Robertson, Dairy Commissioner for the Dominion, just issued, the prospect of the cheese trade for 1895 is considered. At the present time, the report goes on to say, "the outlook for cheese is gloomy in point of prices; a good many of the farmers and salesmen are getting rather disheartened and timid, and I think that some of the English importers and other buyers are making that a handle wherewith to get our cheese at a lower price than they are entitled to have it. I have given some careful examination to the market conditions and outlook this year, as compared with last year. I find that in 1894 we had very cheap meats, and meats are competing foods with cheese in Great Britain. With cheap meats the likelihood is that people would eat less cheese or only buy it when it was comparatively cheap. Then last year we had a year of high prices for July cheese; the prices were kept up by speculation, cheese being held off the market when they should have gone forward into consumption. That was an unfavourable condition. Last year there were many strikes in Great Britain, as you will remember, population, which was an unfavorable condition, lessening, as it did; the purchasing power of our customers. Then there was the largest make of cheese in Great Britain last year that has ever been known. With all these unfavourable conditions the market took care of all our cheese last year at fair prices with very little loss, and the losses were only suffered by those who bought on speculation at high prices in the summer.

AMONGST THE CHEESE-CONSUMING

Seeing that the market with these unfavourable conditions took care of our cheese last year at fairly satisfactory prices, let me analyze the conditions this year. Up to the end of March the cattle which were killed in the three large markets of the United States were 270,000 short of the number of the year before, that is three time more cattle than the whole of the cattle shipped from Canada in 1894. That means high-priced meats, and, therefore, a better outlook for cheese. Then there is a revival of trade all over Great Britain. The cotton market is going up and the cotton factories are more active, business is brisker and better. Shipbuilding trade is improving by reason, perhaps, of the war between China and Japan, which has contributed to the building of some large ships. Then the coal trade is reported as being steadier, and those trades which give employment to the cheese consuming population are in a better condition now than they were in 1894. Therefore our customers will be better able to buy our goods at higher prices than last year. It will be allowsd that between are fair prices for cheese made in May and June. If the cheese goes forward and into consumption at those prices they can be retailed at sixpence per pound.

That would mean a practically unlimited increase in the rate of consumption of cheese, so that the market can take care of an enormous quantity at that price. Last year instead of the cheese going forward at that price they were held in cold storage here and some of the people were compelled to eat something else, because they would not buy cheese above sixpence a pound. Another reason is that we are having a constantly improving reputation, so that more people want Canadian cheese than before. Now adding all these things together, in my opinion the market prospects now are a great deal stronger than they were at this time last year, and I see no reason at all to look forward to a year of very low prices in the cheese market. The main thing that needs to be corrected at the present time is that feeling of timidity on the part of the farmers and on the part of the buyers, which makes them suppose that the British market cannot afford more than seven cents a pound for cheese. This week cheese is selling at seven and seven and a half cents, and I see no reason why we cannot send cheese to Great Britain to be retailed at sixpence a pound, saving us an advancing market for our cheese througout the season. At ten cents a pound here, our cheese will still be cheap food in Great Britain.

HARWOOD.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Miss Bella Carruthers, who was visiting her cousins for a few days, has returned home.

Mrs. S. Courier has gone to visit friends in Peterborough for a few days.

Miss M. Johnston, who has been visiting at her home for a few days, returned to Peterborough last Thursday.

Miss J. Thompson has returned to her home in Hiawatha.

Miss R. Russell, Toronto, is spending her holidays with her sister at her home.

A number of our citizens took in the circus in Port Hope last Saturday and appear to be well pleased with their trip.

Mrs. Captain Thompson, Quebec, and her daughter, Miss M. Thompson, matron the Nicholl's Hospital, Peterborough, are visiting at Mr. C. F. Thompson's. Mrs. Thompson, who is a delicate lady, intends spending the summer with her son.

We regret to say Mr. A. Watson is very ill. We trust it was not from the effects of the "Adam Watson trip."

Mrs. A. Campbell, we are pleased to say, is recovering very rapidly.

Barley this year is in general quite short. As a rule it will be a light crop. A few farmers, who, we think, should consider themselves exceptionally fortunate, have very good barley indeed.

As far as oats are concerned, your correspondent is of the opinion that at present they are a pitiable sight. However, we hope these refreshing showers will revive and instill a rapid growth in them.

Spring wheat is a very fair crop and looks extra well at present. And no doubt, if rust does not strike it, it will make a very good yield.

Hoe crop is doing very nicely since the rain has fallen. It is reported that a few miles east of here, some farmers have as much as 15 acres in potato crop, while many have as high as six, seven and eight acres. No doubt, if the yield is great, Irish lemons may be had for a song in the autumn.

Miss Thomson, who has been visiting Miss Beatrice Farr, Piety Hill, returned home last Thursday.

Mr. Daniel Whaley, Peterborough, arrived home last Thursday.

Last Wednesday William Sullivan Whaley, Harwood, an old man somewhere in the neighbourhood of eighty years of age, if not older, took his boats to Jubilee Point for the purposes of letting them out to some of the picnicers from Port Hope. Just before the steamer City of Peterborough, which was chartered by the picnicers for the day, started to convey the merry crowd to harwood, Whaley attempted to get his boat behind the steamer where he could fasten it and then ride over in the large vessel himself; but he made a very fatal mistake and got his boat in front of the steamer. The natural sequence is that he got left. How long he remained on Jubilee Point after the picnic left we do not know. But we do know that he was quite incapable of managing a boat. There was a heavy swell on the Lake that night; the swell rolling in a fair direction for Harwood. Mr. Whaley's younger son, who has been living in Peterborough, returned that evening on a steamer which landed at the wharf at a late hour. When he arrived home he found his father was not in the house. He hastened to his brother John's house to see if old Mr. Whaley was there. A small search party was formed. It found the old man had just landed at Harwood about 2 a.m., having drifted all the way from Jubilee Point. That the old man's life was spared must be attributed to a special dispensation of Providence. How he arrived safely here seems a mirsole.

HIS VIEW OF THE THING.

A wheelman who was scorching through the streets, rounded one of the corners the other day just as a little girl about four years old started to across the road in front of him. He set his teeth, turned his bicycle sharply to the left and flew out of the saddle in one direction, while the machine went tumbling in another, the little girl escaping by a hair's breadth.

"You careless brute!" exclaimed a sharp-voiced matron, who came running up. "You monkey on two wheels! What do you mean by racing about the streets in this dare-devil sort of way? Haven't you got any consideration for other folks? Do you know you're always liable to run over somebody? Do you want to scare people to death? Some people haven't got the sense they were born with! If I had my way about it, I'd stop this business mighty quick. You might have killed my child."

"Yes, ma'am," replied the young man, who had gathered himself up and was making an inventory of the damages. "But I didn't. She got off without a scratch, while I got a skinned elbow, a bruised knee, a sprained ankle, and a lame shoulder. There's a piece of skin as big as a half-dollar gone from the palm of my hand, my hair is full of dirt, I've ruined a suit of clothes, and it will cost me $15 to have the machine mended. If I'm not kicking, ma'am, I don't think you ought to kick."

He picked up his broken bicycle, put it over his shoulder and limped slowly away in the direction of the nearest repair shop.

THE TURF.

Concerning the recent races held in Cobourg the World says: In the first heat of the ½ mile run ten horses started, Annie Miller being scratched. After a little delay in scoring, the horses got away with Counsellor in the lead and Springbuck second, which position they maintained till the half mile was passed, the rest being bunched close behind. Now Beefeater's jockey called on him, when he drew out, easily passing the leaders and winning the heat in 1:23.

In the second heat of this race the horses got away well together, with Springbuck slightly in the lead. Coming to the half, there was a good race between Nettie Wood and Springbuck, but Nettie Wood again proved her superiority and finished ahead by half a length and Beefeater in turn a nose behind Springbuck. This was the prettiest finish in the race. Time 1.22.

In the third heat the excitment ran high, Beefeater and Nettie Wood both winners of yesterday being the only starters. Great was the speculation whether the half bred Nettie could compete with the thoroughbred Beefeater and the result of this heat proved again that "blood will tell." Up to the half mile the horses ran neck and neck when Beefeater drew ahead and finished easily in 1.23.

The positions of the winners were as follows: Beefeater, first; Nettie Wood, second; Springbuck, third; and Mallard fourth. Miss Rye and Minnie L. were distanced in the first heat.

BASEBALL.

The Lindsay Post says,—It is expected that the Auburn Woollen Mills baseball club, of Peterborough, will play in Lindsay on civic holiday.

The Cobourg World correspondent states in regard to the Hiawatha-Lindsay game at Jubilee, last week, that "The Lindsayites, though proclaimed victors, did not get the game by any merits of their own. It was simply handed over to them by a partial umpire. The team against which they played was composed principally of Indians and the way they were imposed on by the Lindsay team was a shame and a disgrace to any respectable team. One of the principal features of the game was that the Lindsay boys did not only know how to cheat, but that they did it in such a way as to let the onlookers know the forte in which they so greatly manifested their own meanness. The umpire took great pains to see that the Indian pitcher stood within the pitcher's box, but manifested a very serious case of colour blindness when the Lindsay pitcher was supposed to be in the box, and consequently could not see when he was quite a distance in front of it. As the contesting teams made no ground rules before the commencement of the game, this gave the umpire still further opportunities to display his partiality in his decisions and to mete out favours to the Lindsay team. It is quite evident that the game would have presented a different aspect had Peter Duncan, Cobourg's renowned third baseman, who promised to be there to see that Hiawatha was dealt fairly with, carried out his promises. He was, unfortunately, delayed, but appeared on the field of contest toward the middle of the game.

TENNIS.

Six members of the tennis club, two ladies and four gentlemen, will probably go to Lindsay next Saturday to play in a tournament against Lindsay.

The annual tournament of Millbrook vs. Peterborough is on the tapis and will probably be played next week.

LACROSSE.

The boys are getting into great shape for their match on Wednesday with the Port Hopes and that they will win seems to be the universal opinion. Every man on the home team is a Peterborough boy and the club is therefore deserving of the patronage of the public to the fullest extent.

To-night the two teams which played against each other in Campbellford will line up for a match at 6.45 in order that there may be a good practise and to help the managing committee in picking the team for the Wednesday game.

The Millbrooks play here on Friday.

CRICKET.

The married men have issued a challenge to the bachelors to play a game of cricket for the stake of a moonlight trip down the river, and the bachelors have responded to the challenge with alacrity. The match will probably take place on Saturday afternoon, and all the veteran old cricketers of the town will probably be out on the crease.

The New Specific Remedy is Being Extensively Used at Ottawa.

Ottawa, July 29.—The marvellous recovery of Mr. G. H. Kent, of this city, from Bright's disease by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills is still fresh in the memories of Ottawa people, and the remedy is being freely recommended both by druggists and private citizens. The similar wonderful cures of Dr. A. G. McCormick, of Richmond, Quebec, and Mr. Arthur Coley, of Somerset, Manitoba, to say nothing of many others, are generally quoted in favour of the assertion that no remedy of modern times has gone so successfully through a severe trial, and been so efficacious in all cases of kidney trouble. It is also proving itself invaluable in the milder forms of sickness which appear during the summer.

Roadmaster Ferguson has finished ballasting near Haliburton and yesterday Lindsay was besieged by Italians. To-day thirty five of them go to Montreal and nineteen to Toronto. Yesterday was their pay day, and last night they were having a "gay old time."

Three special trains left Friday morning for Midland to bring down a large number of cedar ties, to be used on the eastern sections and also on the main line of the Midland. The ties were brought from the island of Manitoulin by Rathbun Company to Midland on large steam barges.

Boiler Inspector Black, of Montreal, is making his annual tour of inspection. He has been in town for the past two days inspecting the netting of the smoke stacks on all the engines in the Midland district for protection against fire, and found them all in first-class condition.

We understand that a million bushels of grain will pass through the Midland elevator, going from Chicago to the eastern states. The lake freights are now satisfactory, which will allow the grain to pass this way, as it did some years ago. THE HOUSEHOLD.

THE VARIOUS EXCELLENT USES FOR SULPHUR.

Useful Housekeeping Hints—To Clean Glass Bottles and Rusty Steal Knives—The Uses to Which Salt May be Put to.

Sulphur is a solid, non-metallic mineral, which has been known from earliest ages. It is hard, yellow and brittle, and has a most offensive odor. It is found in veins or beds, mostly near active volcanoes. The imported sulphur mostly comes from Solfatia in Sicily, but large quantities are also procured from copper and iron pyrite. These minerals are heated, and the sulphur being volatile flies off in fumes, which are conveyed by means of pipes, to a condensing room. If left in the powdery state in which it condenses it is called flour of sulphur; if melted and cast into bars it is called roll sulphur.

The mange is a parasitic disease to which some animals are very liable. Sulphur ointment should be used as an external treatment and flour of sulphur given internally, mixed in the milk.

A German physician recommends to consumptives the sulphur treatment. This consists in the patients living in rooms where one or two drachms of sulphur are melted daily on a hot stove. The first ten days there will be felt increased irritation and a cough; these soon decrease and improvement is rapidly felt, and complete cures often effected, is the disease is not too far advanced.

When plants, roses, etc., are at all affected with mildew, sprinkle the foliage with water, then dust on flour of sulphur quite thickly and allow it to stand for a few days, when it may be rinsed off, but is to be renewed if necessary.

To disinfect clothing, mix one teaspoonful of the milk of sulphur to one one pint of water, sprinkle the clothing lightly with this, then iron it with an iron hot enough to volatise the sulphur without burning the clothing.

Sulphur may be kept in small muslin bags, in drawers and cupboards, as a protection against the ravages of the red and black ants.

For preventing vermin in bird cages tie a little sulphur in a bag and suspend it in the cage. Sulphur is said to kill all kinds of fungus in man, beasts or plants.

For diphtheria put a teaspoonful of sulphur in a wineglassful of water, stirring it with the finger so that it will mingle with the water. After it is well mixed, let the patient gargle it, and after gargling swallow a small quantity. If the disease is too far advanced for gargling, throw some sulphur into the throat by means of a quill, which will cause the fungus to shrink, after which the sulphur gurgle may be used.

A sulphur wash is an excellent remedy for roughness and pimples on the skin. Make it by taking one ounce of sulphur flour and pouring it over one quart of boiling water; allow this to stand and steep for twelve hours; then apply it to the skin three or four times a week.

Sulphur is used for bleaching; also in making gunpowder and matches.

In case of being very near to premises or apartments where there is diphtheria, the simplest, yet effectual mode of fumigating is too drop a little sulphur on a hot stove, or on a few hot coals carried through the rooms. In this way the spread ofthe disease may be stopped.

Sulphur makes one of the best treatments, both externally and internally, for skin diseases, particularly where itching is a symptom.

For a sweetish or bitter pasty taste in the mouth try a few doses of sulphur.

Sulphur is good for chronic diarrhoea. For constipation sulphur will often give speedy relief.—Good Housekeeping Useful Hints.

To cleanse glass bottles that have held oil place ashes in each bottle and immerse in cold water, then heat the water gradually until it boils; after boiling an hour let them remain till cold. Then wash the bottles in soapsuds and rinse in cold water.

Steel knives or other articles which have become rusty should be rubbed with a little sweet oil, then left for a day or two in a dry place, and then rubbed with finely-powdered, unslaked lime until every vestige of the rust has disappeared, and kept in a dry place wrapped up in a bit of flannel.

Avoid the frequent use of soft, sloppy foods and of soft bread. Give the teeth something to do, if you would have them strong and keep clean.

It will be well, when cane-seated chair bottoms have "sagged," to make them as tight as ever by washing them with hot soapsuds and leaving them to dry in the open air.

Efface scratches on furniture by rubbing on some linseed oil and then following with a little shellac dissolved in alcohol.

An exchange says: One of the small things to remember is that alcohol will quickly remove an obstinate porous plaster, whose period of usefulness has expired, and will also cause all unsightly traces of it to disappear. As soap and water are often entirely inefficient in such offices, a valuable agent should be noted.

French chalk, tooth chalk, chalk pencil, any chalk—is an agent for cleansing in an endless variety of ways. Rub it into grease spots on dresses, wall paper, anything; it may be rubbed into food spots, say molasses, with excellent effect. It disintegrates the dirt, so that it can be scratched or brushed out. Even on wash dresses this easy remedy is well worth applying. Not only spots, but the hand-rubbed soiled parts may sometimes be restored, or at the least improved. Rub on the chalk and hang the garment away over night, or for days, to be brushed clean when used again.

Salt in the oven under baking tins will prevent their scorching on the bottom.

Salt puts out a fire in the chimney.

Salt and vinegar will remove stains from discolored teacups.

Salt and soda are excellent for beestings and spider bites.

Salt thrown on soot which has fallen on a carpet will help in removing the spot.

Salt in whitewash makes it stick.

Salt used in sweeping carpets keeps out moths.

Workshop and Tool House.

Every gardener and farmer should have a workshop and tool house. The accompanying illustration shows a good plan for such a building. It has two large doors for driving in with carts, cultivators, etc., and one large pair of doors on the back side so that the team may be unhitched and driven out handily, or hitched in and the cart, or cultivator, driven out without backing or turning around. In the end of the building is a workshop where many garden appliances can be made and many necessary repairs executed. There is no chamber, but simply a loft, partially floored, where may be put up small tools that are out of season, lumber for construction and repairs, and many odds and ends that would otherwise be constantly in the way.

Diamond-borings for Water.

It is reported from Stockholm that another of the diamond-borings for water, advised by Prof. Nordenskiod, has been successful on the coasts of Sweden, this time on the little island of Marstrand, on the west coast of Gothenburg. This is the ninth time that a well has thus been bored in the rocks on the coasts of Sweden.—New York Post.

BIG PROFITS —ON— Small Investments

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful Speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our Systematic Plan of Speculation

originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well-known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plain are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

WRITE FOR CONVINCING PROOF, also our Manual on successful speculation and our Daily Market Report, full of money-making pointers. ALL FREE. Our Manual explains margin trading fully. Highest references in regard to our standing and success.

CHEAP POWER FOR THE FARM.

A Windmill Can Be Built for a Few Dollars, and will Furnish Three Horse Power.

To secure power at little expense, a windmill is easy of construction. To make one for ordinary farm use, build a tower about 20 feet high with timbers leaning, as shown in cut, having the fans facing northwest. The fans can be hewed out of timber about 12 feet long, leaving each fan 6 feet long from the axle where they cross each other. The fans are bolted firmly to the wheel of an old mower, the gearing being secured to the top of the tower. On the end of the mower axle, which comes back to the center of the tower, fasten a sprocket wheel with an iron wedge, over this put a chain, and in this way the power is conveyed down to the pump or machinery below. A belt and pulley will not work on the end of the axle unless covered from the weather. Of course this windmill cannot revolve to face the wind from different quarters, but as the prevailing winds blow from the northwest, it will fill the bill most of the time, especially in the northwest territories and northwestern states, where the winds never grow tired of blowing from the west and northwest. A rod should project out about 20 inches in the center of the fans and wires may be stretched from point to point over the end of this rod to support the fans in a heavy wind. The fans shown in the illustration are arranged to give increased power by adding extra pieces. This windmill furnishes three horse power and only costs a few dollars. A large pulley behind the fans serves for a brake to act upon.—S. A. Smith, Alberta, Canada, in Farm and Home.

A Camphor Famine.

The news that the price of camphor was advancing at the rate of a penny or two per pound every day, as the result of the recent war between China and Japan, and that England and the Continent were threatened with something like a camphor famine, has caused considerable alarm. That this should be so is not surprising, seeing that camphor is an article of daily consumption, used as a medicine in diseases from the most vital form of Asiatic cholera to a mere cold in the head. Its value as a disinfectant is thoroughly established. Beyond this, its use has helped to check the spread of Asiatic cholera. It has been tried in Naples by the famous Dr. Rubini, whose testimony to the merits of camphor as a cure of cholera has never been disputed. In the great cholera epidemic of 1864 he administered camphor taken internally, to 400 cholera patients, everyone of whom recovered. Proctor, during the cholera epidemic in Liverpool in 1866, treated 123 cholera patients with camphor, and there were but three cases of relapse. The drug has indeed even more beneficient properties than the general public are aware of. A large dealer in the drug says the present unprecedented demand for it is due to the fact that more camphor has been sold for future delivery than is at the moment obtainable, and that the stock on hand does not exceed four or five thousand hundredweight.

The greater portion of our camphor comes from China and Japan. Before the war it was cheap, but as soon as hostilities were begun the price went up. With the close of the war the manufacturers thought camphor had reached its top price, and must recede, so they did not increase their stocks. But it turned out that they were wrong, and those who delayed buying had to pay a higher figure for camphor, the price of which, like that of everything else, is regulated by the relation of demand to supply. Camphor costs today from £7 to £8 per case of a hundredweight; but a few years ago the price touched £9, and at a former period even reached £20. There is no reason why the price should not advance beyond the very moderate figure it stands at now, which is not excessive compared with what it was in former years. Camphor is dearer in China to-day than in London, a case that costs £7 16s here being sold in China for £9.

It would appear, therefore, that there is less camphor in England to-day than is necessary to meet the requirements of the manufacturers; and when Continental buyers begin to purchase heavily it is more likely that camphor may fetch £12 or perhaps even £14 a case. A good deal of camphor is held by a syndicate who will, it is understood, sell to manufacturers at a moderate price sufficient camphor to carry on their business. But speculators who have sold camphor they did not have and could not now obtain, will suffer.—St. James Gazette.

His Occupation.

The street car was crowded, and as it turned a corner sharply a man who was standing in the aisle made a grab at a strap and missed it, and involuntarily embraced a sharp-featured young woman standing near him.

"Oh, I beg your pardon!" he said.

"Sir!" she exclaimed, "you are a boor!"

"No madam," rejoined the penitent offender, "I am not. I am a newspaper man."

"You are, hey?" was the contemptuous rejoinder. "What do you do about a newspaper office, I'd like to know?"

"I am a pressman."

The sharp-featured young woman turned a little redder, but she didn't say anything more.—Chicago Tribune.

European City Death Rates.

The Herald's European edition publishes the interesting returns of the death-rate during the year 1894 in various cities of Europe. Among the highest death-rates are those of Moscow, 34.1 deaths per 1,000 of population; St. Petersburg, 31.4; Rouen, 31.3; Havre, 29.8; Naples, 17.7; and Milan, 25. Dublin had a mortality of 24.7 per 1,000; Munich, 23.7; Cologne, 23.1; Prague, 22.1, and Bordeaux, 21.3.

Among the lowest death-rates are those of London, Liege and Berlin, respectively 17.7, 17.6 and 17.2. Still lower are the figures of The Hague, 16.9; for Frankfurt, 16.8, and for Bristol, 15.4.

In cities where the population fluctuates rapidly may be slightly too large or too small. But it is very noticeable that in some of the large towns and cities of Europe the actual death-rate has been immensely reduced by modern sanitation. The mortality of London in 1870 was 24.3 per 1,000, and in 1881, 21.6. The death-rate in Paris in 1881 was 25.5, but is now only 20.2. As late as 1873 Berlin's death-rate was 28, and in 1878 Professor Virchow showed it was increasing. It is, therefore, apparently a great triumph of sanitary science that in 1894 it should be so low.—New York Herald.

England's Future King Insured.

Albert Edward, Prince of Wales, is not so dull as many folks think. He is certainly abreast of the times, and it is said carries no less than $15,000,000 insurance on his life. We are delighted to know this, for his amiable wife and family will not have so much to fear from the danger of the periodical abulitions of Mr. Henry Labouchere and other Nineteenth century reformers, who might take a notion to cut off or reduce the pension so cheerfully provided by the English people, and even a little item of three millions of pounds sterling might, with economy, keep the wolf from the door.—Exchange.

Did You Ever Think

That you cannot be well unless you have pure, rich blood? If you are weak, tired, languid and all run down, it is because your blood is impoverished and lacks vitality. These troubles may be overcome by Hood's Sarsaparilla because Hood's Sarsaparilla makes pure, rich blood. It is, in truth the great blood purifier.

"SUN" LIFE

Assurance Co'y of Canada.

Explanation of the Company's System of Profit Distribution.

The method of profit distribution of most companies is to give a bonus or profit on the sum assured, irrespective of the premiums paid. The Sun Life of Canada allots its profits to policies in proportion to the premiums paid, which is considered to be the more equitable system. This accounts for the variations in the percentages of the accompanying results. The lower rates given below are, in most cases, on young lives. TORIES AND IRELAND.

Proposal to Reduce Irish Representation.

SALISBURY'S NEW IRISH POLICY

It Is Stated That Lord Salisbury Proposes to Give Ireland County Councils and Machinery for Enacting Minor Legislation.

New York, July 29.—Mr. Isaac N. Ford cables from London: There are signs of a protracted autumn session. The eagerness with which the Unionist leaders and journals have caught up the project of the redistribution of seats by which Ireland will be deprived of 20 representatives on the basis of population has been highly significant. Mr. Chamberlain has discussed the question with lucidity, and offered statistical proof that Ireland is now over-represented in the Commons. That is the main Irish question which interests the Unionists, although land bills and local government on a large scale are promised vaguely. It is not probable that Mr. Chamberlain will devote himself exclusively to the routine work of the Colonial Office. Mr. Balfour may lead the Commons, but Mr. Chamberlain will be close at his elbow, and his influence will be strongly felt in shaping and directing the party policy. The critics who benevolently advise Mr. Chamberlain to stop talking about his unauthorised program are apparently not aware that Mr. Balfour has seriously discussed state grants for assisting poor men to acquire their own homes and other proposals of social reform.

While the Unionists have made great gains in England and Wales and carried 30 seats in Scotland, Ireland returns 82 Home Rulers. Faction-rent as the Nationalist party is, it holds its ground, and shows no sign of abandoning the demand for a separate legislature. The demand is emphasized, not so much by the election of Parnell's elder brother—once a peach grower in America, now a manufacturer of walking sticks at Avondale—as by the return of the dynamiter, John Daly, who is still serving out a prison sentence—a defiant act, which suits the humor of the people. It is easy for Unionists to sneer at the Irish elections as the work of machine politicians, but it is hard for them to explain away the remarkable constancy of the island. It is not strange that they advocate redistribution of seats; that policy will enable them to reduce the Home Rule majority in Ireland—a result, apparently, that cannot be accomplished in any other way.

A NEW IRISH POLICY.

Minor Legislation to Be Enacted Without Going to England.

Harold Frederics cables: For the first time, the new Parliament will assemble on St. Grouse's Day, Aug. 12. The question who will then be elected Speaker is still open, but opinion is now veering round to the idea that Balfour's policy will be repudiated and that Gully will be re-instated. The swearing in of members will consume several days, and the problem of seating over 400 Unionists on one side of a chamber containing less than 400 seats, all told, will get its solution in some mysterious sort. The Queen's Speech will mention nothing, it is understood, except the supply, and as soon as this is voted the session for this year will be over. The debate on the supply will, however, furnish some opportunities for heckling the ministers as to their policy. The speeches of the ministers already foreshadow, however, the outlines of a new Irish policy. There are to be county councils and also some central machinery to relieve Ireland of the necessity of coming to England for her lesser local legislation. These are the literal words of Walter Long, the new Minister of Agriculture. "If," he went on, with the genial courtesy which makes the English country gentleman so universally beloved, "the Irish chose to accept this because, like whipped hounds, they could get nothing else, and to call it Home Rule, they are welcome."

THE JINGO ELEMENT STRONG.

London Papers Urging Attacks on France at Every Point.

Since a large Conservative majority in the House of Commons is assured, there is assurance of jingoism in the present Cabinet. This condition of affairs heralds a stormy time if Salisbury should seek to satisfy the aspirations of his followers. The French papers are assiduously advocating the use of the Franco-Russian alliance to drive Great Britain out of Egypt and to meet her intrigues with the Porte. The Italian papers claim that the change of Government, however, will result in a revival of the Salisbury-Crispi entente, while the Berlin and Vienna journals hail the restoration of a Conservative policy, declaring that it is almost tantamount to the incorporation of Great Britain into the Triple Alliance.

The Globe of this city strikes a keynote, advocating bold attack by Great Britain on France at every point where their interests may come in collision. France, the paper says, must be made to understand that there is no hope of the evacuation of Egypt until Britain deems the time fitting. It adds that the ridiculous claims of France to an extension of her sphere of influence in the Soudan must be met by a British advance from Uganda and from Egypt simultaneously, and Great Britain should hold sway from the Upper Nile to Alexandria. Siam is declared ripe for a British protectorate. Continuing, it says that Russia can be permitted to acquire a port, for anyhow, if she does acquire that place, Great Britain must receive a "quid pro." This must and must not fairly represent the ideas entertained by the Conservatives, and it will be seen that should the Government make an attempt to carry them to their logical conclusion, there will be stormy times ahead in the diplomacy.

The Pall Mall Gazette, dealing with the subject of the Franco-Chinese treaty, accuses France of breach of faith in obtaining from China the territory that is included in the French buffer agreement of 1893, and establishing a fort. This, the paper declares, must be got at. It is still further intolerable that France still occupies Chatabun; thereby her promise to evacuate that place when the Franco-Chinese treaty should be carried out.

The arrogant tone of these articles ignoring the French pretension and France's military and naval strength will most assuredly cause an outburst of Chauvinism that will render the maintenance of peace impossible.

BIMETALLISTS CONFIDENT.

A New International Agreement Re Silver Looked For.

The elections have given great encouragement to the English bimetalists. They had nothing to expect from a Liberal Government in which Sir William Vernon Harcourt was Chancellor of the Exchequer. He was a pronounced and almost intolerant monometallist, while Lord Rosebery was willing in private conversation to admit that there might be two sides to the question. The influence of Mr. Gladstone's financial policies was so strong that no Liberal Cabinet could favor the larger use of silver through international agreement. With a Unionist Government in power the bi-metallist cause has been greatly strengthened in official quarters. Lord Salisbury has not committed himself directly upon this question, but the bimetallists infer that the nephew speaks for the uncle. They assert that Mr. Balfour would never have ventured to advocate bimetallism and a new international agreement if Lord Salisbury had not approved that course. The relations between the men are very close, and the younger would not have taken advanced ground on the currency question without consulting the older.

Sir Michael Hicks Beach not long ago wrote a letter which the bimetallists construe as favorable to their cause. If Mr. Chamberlain has said nothing in favor of an international conference, he has not opposed it. The Government will be quick to follow the new parliament, if not to lead it, in a change of policy respecting an international conference on the silver question.

THE SCHOOL QUESTION.

Has Been a Factor in the British Elections

The United Kingdom is discussing the Catholic school question to almost as great an extent as the United States and Manitoba, and it is now stated that in numerous constituencies Irish Catholics voted for the Conservative candidates against the Liberal candidates on the ground that the former are more favorable to Catholic schools, this action in some cases changing the result of the polls.

The One Election Joke.

Never before has there been an electoral campaign so devoid of humor. Glum Fifeshire furnishes the nearest approach to a good joke. The Tory candidate on the last day placarded the walls with "Vote for Wilson and save the church." Within an hour the Radicals had rival posters everywhere, "Vote for Ferguson and let the church save us."

Justin McCarthy to Resign the Leadership.

Ballard Smith cables: I understand that Justin McCarthy has determined to resign the leadership of the Irish party. If this is so, his supporters will press Dillon as his successor, or perhaps Sexton, the latter having been re-elected in spite of his protests. Timothy Healy undoubtedly would make a bitter fight against Dillon and a split would follow.

The British Elections.

London, July 27.—The total election returns up to 3 o'clock this afternoon show the following results:

336 Conservatives.
72 Liberal-Unionists.
175 Liberals.
68 McCarthyites.
12 Parnellites.

Leaving seven constituencies yet to be heard from.

The election of Sir Havelock Allan in the Southeast Durham division, and Walter Morrison in the Skipton division of Yorkshire, are Unionist gains, and the return of Mr. McCalmont for the Newmarket division of Cambridgeshire is a Conservative gain.

The Owner of Tid Bits Defeated.

London, July 27.—Sir George Newnes, the owner of several popular periodical publications, including "Tid Bits," and also proprietor of The Westminster Gazette, who has sat in the House of Commons for the Newmarket Division of Cambridgeshire since 1885, as a Liberal, has been unseated by the Sporting Minister, Mr. Harry McCalmont, who is part owner of the new yacht Valkyrie III. The Westminster Gazette, which is regarded as the mouthpiece of the anti-Gambling League, of course supported Newnes ardently, while the Sporting League, through speakers and agitators, worked equally hard for McCalmont.

Three seats have been offered to Mr. John Morley, late Chief Secretary for Ireland, who failed of re-election. He proposes to rest from political life until spring and to devote himself to literary work.

Mr. Rider Haggard, the well-known writer, who stood in the Conservative interests in East Norfolk, where he was defeated by Mr. R. J. Price, Lib., will present a petition against the seating of Mr. Price, on the ground that his election was obtained through violence. Mr. Haggard charges that Lord Wodehouse, son of the Earl of Kimberley, used filthy language during the campaign, and that he incited a gang of roughs to attack the platform from which Conservatives were speaking. Lord Wodehouse, according to Mr. Haggard, led the attack, and dragged the chairman from the platform.

In an interview with the representative of the United Press regarding the Geographical Congress now in session here, Judge Daly, one of the American delegates, said that the congress would be an interesting gathering, but it would treat of no subjects of special concern to America, although that country might be affected by several of the subjects that would be discussed. In the sections 200 delegates deliberate and vote. The distinction between the delegates and members had not been noted by the Washing Society, which sent 12 delegates, all of whom could not be received as delegates. Perhaps the subject that will be of chief interest to America will be the Gulf Stream question, opened by Prof. Libby, secretary of the American Society. On the standard time question the American delegates favor Greenwich time, on which question the congress will probably be in accord. Judge Daly receives much social attention. Ambassador Bayard himself called on him at his hotel, and he has been dined by Mr. Markham, the president of the Royal Geographical Society, the scientists and by men of the legal profession.

In regard to the report that Prince Edward, son of the Grand Duchess of York, is deaf and dumb the fashion papers all concur in the statement that he is a bright and forward baby. He, although only a little over a year old, already shows likes and dislikes. He is fond of his father. The papers, however, maintain a conspiracy of silence relative to the rumor that he is deaf and dumb.

The Wesleyan Committee on the Ecumenical Conference to be held in 1901 recommend that negotiations be entered upon with the American churches to arrange for the holding of the conference in Wesley's chapel, in London.

Things must hum, for the goods are destined to depart, tagged with half-price tickets. We are in dead earnest—the hour has come—the time is ripe—rain or shine the bargains will be here. Although cart loads have already been taken away to the homes of happy purchasers, the bargain counters and shelves appear as full as ever.

Do you want a Suit of Clothes for the price of making it? Don't think too long, or somebody else will be wearing it for you. Here are a few startlers:—

1/2 Of the former price is all we ask for about 4.000 yards of bright new Scotch and Canadian Tweeds, Serges and Worsted Cloths, Trimmings, &c. Cut free of charge to all who buy or made up into Suits to cost you about 50 % less than usual.

We can fit anybody, and especially those who never had a fit in their lives. Duncan Cameron, is the Cutter. It may be, but we don't think there is a place on top of the earth where you can get better value for your money, for the next two weeks. The best makers are represented in the entire stock—not a garment but what is reliable—not an article but what we can safely recommend.

LONDON'S BOY MURDERERS.

A Verdict of Guilty Returned Against Both Youths.

London, July 30.—The coroner's jury in the case of Robert and Nathaniel Coombes, who are accused of having killed their mother a few weeks ago, by cutting her throat, to-day returned a verdict of wilful murder. This verdict was rendered, despite the decision of the court on Saturday, that Robert the 12-year-old boy, was alone guilty of murder, and that his brother, who is only 11 years old, should be held as a witness aginst his brother Robert. At the hearing on Saturday, when Robert was remanded and Nathaniel held as a witness, Robert confessed that his brother did not give him any assistance in killing his mother, and the younger boy corroborated him by declaring that his mother was in a dying condition from the wounds inflicted by Robert, when he went into her room, having been attracted by her groans.

LONDON WITHOUT WATER.

Families Unable to Get It at Six Cents a Pailful.

London, July 30.—The meagre supply of water in the eastern part of London is causing increased suffering to the inhabitants of that section.

The streets are filled with women offering three-pence or more for a bucket of water, but are unable to get it, for the very good reason that there is none. The death rate in East London has been doubled since the companies began turning off the flow of water except for about two hours in the 24.

NINE BURNED AT SEA.

Destruction of an Isle of Man Pleasure Boat by Fire.

Queenstown, July 30.—The Manx lugger Zenith, with a pleasure party on board, caught fire at midnight last night about a mile from Baltimore, 47 miles southwest of here. Eighteen of the lugger's passengers and crew were rescued by the coast guard, but nine others are missing.

AMBUSHED BY TREACHERY.

Spanish Troops Attacked in the Philippines Take Speedy Revenge.

London, July 30.—A despatch from Madrid to The Standard says: A treacherous attack was recently made upon the Spanish troops at Cabagan, in the Province of Cagayan, in the extreme northern part of the Island of Luson, The troops, which were guarding a new road at that place, were thrown off their guard by a band of natives, who displayed the Spanish flag. The natives, having practically ambushed the troops, fired upon them, and a dozen of the troops were killed and wounded. The Spanish succeeded in getting out of danger, and couriers were sent to Manilla for assistance. On July 17, General Ria, in command of a Spanish column, left Manilla for Cabagan for the purpose of punishing the natives there. He found the natives reinforced and strongly fortified. General Ria at once made an assault upon the place and took possession of the town.

The natives killed numbered 116, including the leader of the band. The Spanish loss was 17 killed and about the same number wounded.

A Bogus License Inspector.

Sault Ste. Marie, July 29.—A new confidence game was that worked by John Donovan on hotel-keepers at Nairn last week. He represented himself as "J. G. Ross, License Inspector, vice Duncan, promoted," and obtained fees from the hotel-keepers for inspecting their licenses, signing receipts J. G. Ross, Inspector. One of the hotel men got suspicious and Donovan was arrested at Webbwood. He pleaded guilty to obtaining money by false pretences and was sentenced to six months in the Central Prison, Toronto.

Ferdinand to Return to Sofia.

Vienna, July 29.—M. Stolloff, the Bulgarian Prime Minister, has assured the Sofia correspondent of The Fremdenblatt that Prince Ferdinand will certainly arrive in Sofia by the middle of August. This is taken to indicate that Princess Clementine, mother of Prince Ferdinand, has prevailed upon her son to return to Bulgaria, nevertheless the risks he may incur through the assassination of ex-Prime Minister Stambuloff. In some quarters it is also taken to indicate thta there is no truth in the report that Prince Ferdinand might abdicate in favor of his infant son Prince Boris.

Three Inches of Rain in Two Hours.

St. Louis, July 30.—The worst electrical and rainstorm in several years visited St. Louis this forenoon. In two hours a rainfall of nearly three inches was recorded. Two buildings in course of construction were blown down. George Bennett, a laborer, was caught in the ruins and fatally injured.

NOTES FROM OTTAWA

New Zealand Wants to Send Mails Via Canada.

CROPS ON THE COAST ARE GOOD.

Steady Increase in the Revenue Returns—The Berlin Defalcation Will Reach $10,000—Undervaluation of Imported Scotch Clothing—Herbert's Resignation Accepted.

Ottawa, July 29.—Inland Revenue returns continue to show a small but steady increase. Receipts for the month of June aggregated $555,300, compared with receipts of $553,168 in June last year. Revenue from spirits last month was $245,772, from malt $61,298, from tobacco $174,494, from cigars $57,329. Electric light inspection netted $240 during the month.

Sir Adolphe Caron received to-day from Mr. Ward, Postmaster-General of New Zealand, an official request for information as to the cost of mail carriage via the trans-Atlantic steamships and the Canadian Trans-Continental route. This indicates that New Zealand is considering a re-arrangement of mail route with a view of adopting Canadian lines of transportation.

In regard to the customs defalcation at Berlin, Ont., it was learned at the department to-day that Inspector Boultbee was mistaken in his supposition that no inspection had been made of the Berlin office in 10 years. As a matter of fact, the office was frequently inspected during the lifetime of the late Inspector Newburn, but it is supposed the collector had his books so fixed as to escape detection. The amount of the defalcation is between $9000 and $10,000.

Canadian clothiers are not only subjected to ordinary unfair competition of Old Country makers, who cut prices on ordered goods destined for the "colonies," but that competition has been rendered still more unjust by schemes to escape the Dominion duty. A circular has just been sent out by the Department of Customs to collectors at the principal ports of entry. It reads: "It has come to the knowledge of the department that the firm of —— and others of Glasgow, Scotland, are in the habit of soliciting in Canada orders of clothing, which are subsequently shipped to parties by parcel post. A true invoice is in each case sent to the purchaser, but the postal invoice accompanying goods shows about one-half the actual charge of the goods." Collectors are accordingly ordered that "On all importations from this firm you will demand production of correct or original invoice duly certified from the importer before accepting entry of the goods, and in no case to accept the one accompanying the package without first satisfying yourself that it is correct."

Prof. Saunders reports from the Pacific Coast: "Grain crops in British Columbia are well advanced and promise an abundant harvest. Hay crop heavy. Yield of fruit above the average."

There was a Cabinet Council to-day, Sir Adolphe Caron presiding. The other ministers present were: Hons. Sir C. H. Tupper, Dickey and J. C. Patterson. The resignation of Major-General Herbert was formally accepted.

An Order-in-Council has been passed, authorising entry free of customs duty of certain literature for boys' brigades throughout Canada. These books are published at Brigade Headquarters in Glasgow.

$8,000 FORGED U.S. STAMPS.

Found in an Unclaimed Valise in New York.

New York, July 29.—The United States authorities have been for some time past looking for a gang who forged a lot of United States postage stamps; and Inspector Ashe, who has had a man watching the case of Mrs. Mack in Buffalo, where she will stand trial for the offence discovered some months ago that a suspicious satchel had been left in the Central depot package room in Buffalo. His man waited for two months for the owner to turn up in order that he might be arrested, but he has not put in an appearance. Last week the bag was opened and found to contain 28,000 counterfeit two-cent stamps of the same character as Mrs. Mack was showing in Canada when she was arrested. They are also similar to the ones that were being sold in Chicago by George Morrison, on which charge he was sent up for 10 years recently. Mrs. Mack was a partner of his. The stamps are now in Inspector Ashe's possession.

A GUARDER DISABLED.

The Aurania Reported in Trouble in Mid-Ocean.

Quarantine, July 30. — Steamer Maintoba arrived this morning from London. Last Friday night she sighted the Cunard Line steamer Aurania, Capt. McKay, from Liverpool and Queenstown, in a disabled condition, bound for New York.

Captain Griffith offered assistance, but Captain McKay politely declined, stating that none was required. He requested to be reported all well on board. Inquiry was made concerning the damage, but no information was given. Captain Griffith of the Manitoba said it could not be very serious.

Hamburg Bonded Warehouse Burned.

Hamburg, July 30.—The Spirit Bonded Warehouse Company caught fire, and fifty thousand sacks of sugar and twenty thousand barrels of lard were destroyed, together with buildings. The loss will aggregate millions of marks.

Brantford's Launch Burned.

Brantford, Ont., July 30.—The electric launch which has been running since July 1 on the canal was burned to the water's edge last night. Loss about $1000, insured for $700.

SALISBURY HAS 153.

Or Nine Over Any Coalition That Can Be Formed.

THE STANDING IN THE NEW HOUSE

Three Returns Yet to Come In—The Results Show the Conservatives to Have Gained 110 Seats and the Liberals Twenty.

London, July 30.—With the exception of the polls in three districts the result of the general election is now known. The districts yet to be heard from are the East Division of Donegal, the South Division of Londonderry County and Orkney and Shetland. In 1892 East Donegal returned an anti-Parnellite by a majority of 763, the South Division of Londonderry County returned a Liberal-Unionist by a majority of 501 and Orkney and Shetland returned a Liberal by a majority of 1003. The result in these districts will make slight difference in the political complexion of the new House of Commons. Elections were held to-day in the first two mentioned districts, but the poll will not be declared until to-morrow. The election in Orkney and Shetland will not take place till Aug. 6.

The returns now at hand show the election of 338 Conservatives, 72 Unionists, 176 Liberals, 69 Anti-Parnellites and 12 Parnellites. Thus the Conservative-Unionist majority subjected to the results of the three districts yet to be heard from will be 153. The Conservative majority over any coalition that can be made will be 9. The Unionists have gained 110 seats and the Liberals 20.

TYRONE ELECTED A YANKEE.

A Petition Signed to Unseat Mr. Murnaghan.

London, July 30.—Mr. Thompson, the Unionist candidate in the Middle division of Tyrone, has started a petition looking to the unseating of Mr. Murnaghan, the successful Nationalist candidate, on the ground that he is an alien, inasmuch as he is a naturalised citizen of the United States. His majority over Thompson was 1507 in a total poll of 6011.

The election in the northeastern division of Derbyshire resulted in the return of T. D. Bolton, Liberal, who received 4737 votes, his opponent, Dr. J. Court, Conservative, receiving 4210. In 1892 Bolton's majority was 2172.

The Freeman's Journal says it is probable that the Government will shortly bring forward a scheme to establish and endow a Catholic University in Ireland.

ALL EUROPE WISHES PEACE.

Discussion in the Italian Chamber on the Foreign Budget.

Roma, July 30.—In the course of discussion of the foreign budget in the Chamber of Deputies to-day, Premier Crispi declared that no statesman in Europe was desirous of war. The Government of Italy aimed at order within the Italian borders and peace abroad. In regard to Italy's interests in Africa, he said the treaty with Uccialli, concluded between Menelek and Italy during the life of King John of Abyssinia, was made to enable Menelek, with the support of Italy, to succeed King John on the throne. The only power that refused to recognize Menelek at that time was Russia, which power was now heaping favors upon the Abyssinian king. The Chamber, with the exception of the Extreme Left, gave cordial approval of Signor Crispi's utterances. Signor Marescalch sought to raise an interpellation in regard to the relations between Dr. Cornelius Herz, the Panama lobbyist, and Signor Crispi, but the latter declined to answer in view of the attempts which were being made to traduce him.

First Steel Canal Boats Launched.

Cleveland, Ohio, July 30.—The first of the Cleveland Steel Canal Boat Company's boats was launched here Saturday. It is the first of the fleet which will open maritime traffic between this city and New York, via Lake Erie and the Erie Canal. The other four boats and the steamer which is to tow the fleet will be launched this week, and will at once be sent to the plant of the Johnston Steel Company at Lorain, where they will be loaded with 1500 tons of rails consigned to the Broadway Cable Road. The traffic will then be continued regularly, thousands of tons of freight having already been booked.

Czarewitch Slowly Dying.

St. Petersburg, July 30.—The Grand Duke George, Czarewitch of Russia, will go to Algiers to spend the winter. The condition of his health shows no improvement. One of his lungs is completely gone and the other is affected.

Died While Taking Tea.

Woodstock, July 30.—Mrs. Wm. Carey expired at the supper table Saturday night while drinking a cup of tea. She choked and ruptured a blood vessel.

RESPONSIBLE GOVERNMENT.

On several occasions recently we have taken the trouble, says the Brantford Expositor, to state the leading principles in accordance with which a system of responsible government must be carried on. If it is to be effective in securing to the people anything like a proper management of public affairs. One of these is the solidarity of the Cabinet. This is so universally admitted that it is not necessary to dwell upon it. On every public question of any importance the members of the Cabinet must be united, or at least make a pretence of being so. It is notorious that on the Manitoba school case the members of the Bowell Ministry are divided by a hopeless cleavage, and that those on opposite sides of the chasm detest and mistrust each other. The spectacle is a sad one for any person who respects the traditions of British political history to contemplate.

A new kind of situation has arisen with the creation of ministers outside of the Cabinet. The Controllers of Customs and Inland Revenue are appendages to the portfolio of Trade and Commerce. Sir Mackenzie Bowell dangles one at each side of him as John Gilpin did his stone bottles, or as an Indian does the scalps of his victims. Politically they are nobodies, and they keep hovering about the door of the Cabinet as the Peris do about the gates of Paradise.

These two officials are opposed to remedial legislation at Ottawa, and Mr. Clarke Wallace has announced publicly that next January he will vote in the House of Commons against the remedial bill which the Government is pledged to introduce if Manitoba does not meanwhile obey the remedial order. According to British precedents, and to the dictates of good taste and common sense, Mr. Wallace should have resigned his office before undertaking to flout in this impudent way, his departmental superior. If Sir Mackenzie Bowell had been anything else than a senile weakling, he would have dismissed Mr. Wallace from office at an hour's notice.

As these two subordinate officers are now, it is very much to be regretted that the first incumbent of one of them should have been allowed to degrade it as Mr. Wallace has done. The expediency of creating them at all is more than doubtful and the discredit cast upon them by clinging to office for the sake of salary on the one hand, and by abject cowardice on the other, will no doubt hasten their abolition. The sooner the better. Turn the rascals out.

HON. WILFRED LAURIER will address a great gathering of the electors at Sorel on Thursday, August 8th.

THE corn crop of this year in the United States is expected to be the largest on record, the value of the yield being estimated at over $1,111,100,000.

THE Ottawa Post is the title of a new weekly paper published at the Capital. It is 8 pages, and is to be an "Independent Irish Catholic newspaper." It is published by "The Ottawa Post Company," with Mr. P. Nolan as manager.

FOR the first time a Canadian rifleman has won the Queen's prize at Bisley. The Dominion has reason to be proud of Private Hayhurst, of the 13th Battalion, Hamilton. His success is another proof of the superiority of the Canadian system of teaching the young idea how to shoot.

A Toronto paper, says the Ottawa Free Press, gives currency to a rumor—not, however, a new one—that Chief Justice Meredith is to assume the Premiership of the Dominion, and that the "success of the party would be certain" in consequence. In opposition, doubtless. Mr. Meredith was most successful for twenty years as an opposition leader.

RELIABLE information from all portions of the Northwest has convinced the millers, the elevator men, and the grain commission men that a wheat crop exceeding in volume even that of 1891, the banner year in the history of the country, may be expected, unless something now unforseen should inflict damage upon the grain—and that something must come at once to do any damage, for in a few days the harvesting will be well under way.

THE last issue of the Catholic Register appears in eight-page form, printed in new, clear, bold type. The selection of matter is good, the most interesting to the general reader being a spirited account from the Freeman's Journal of Mr. T. M. Healy's charges against Mr. Blake, with Mr. Blake's reply thereto. The Register says editorially that Mr. Healy's usefulness as a leader in national politics is gone.

THE United States has another Indian war on its hands. The Bannocks, of Wyoming, one of the most uncivilised of the red tribes, are on the warpath in the northwestern part of the State, not far from the Yellowstone Park region. The Bannocks can only muster a few hundred warriors, but they are well armed and have plenty of ammunition, and their knowledge of the mountain region in which the hostilities are being carried on, as well as their experience in frontier fighting, may make the struggle a protracted one. It is not difficult, however, to foresee the result. The Indians will in the end be beaten, and forced to submit to the superior force of the white man.

MORE recent news from Britain makes it quite evident that the disaster which has come upon the Liberal party was caused in large part by the workingmen. The Independent Labour party has been almost wiped out of existence. This is not cause for unmixed regret in view of the tendency of some of its leading men to follow in the wake of the continental agitators. If the lesson, to adhere more closely to the old-fashioned, but sound ideals of the English Labour leaders of a few years ago, is at all well learned, both the Liberal and Labour parties will benefit by the discipline which has been administered. From this point of view it is just as well that the Conservatives should have a working majority independently of Mr. Chamberlain and Liberal-Unionist friends. The "baron" and the "squire" will control legislation for the next few years, and labour will be nowhere.

THE customs officer at Berlin, Mr. Bowman, has become a defaulter to the extent of $5,000 or $6,000, and left the country. The Government inspector and his staff, a week ago on Saturday, visited Berlin to make an examination of the books, and they were not long in discovering it. Still they did not take steps to secure the defaulter, and on the following Wednesday he left the customs house, entered a buggy which stood at the door, drove off, and has not since been heard of. A thorough examination had not been made of the customs office for a dozen years, and now it may take a year to find out how things really stand. Is this creditable to the Government? Is it excusable? No man should hold office who is mistrusted, and no one could hold it who is disposed to go wrong if the government's system of audit and inspection amounted to anything.

THE Montreal correspondent of the Toronto World has found out that there is a scheme afoot to bring Chief Justice Meredith, of Ontario, into the Dominion Government as leader of the Commons for one session, after which he would become Premier and go to the country. We would like to see it done for several reasons. It would be edifying to observe the meekness with which Geo. Foster would give up first place to a man who has never been in the Dominion Parliament, while W. R. Meredith putting through Parliament a law establishing separate schools in Manitoba would be worth going miles to see. The rumor of the change, the correspondent says, "has given high hopes to those Conservatives who have been more or less depressed since the recent Ministerial unpleasantness at Ottawa, and more especially to those who have felt all along that the discordant fires would certainly burn up afresh as soon as Parliament is recalled in January next." Our Conservative friends are simply catching at straws to save themselves from drowning.

ALIVE TO THEIR DANGER.

Minneapolis People Making Equiries With Regard to a Canadian Discovery.

Minneapolis, July 22.—There has been an unusual number of deaths from heart disease in this city during the last few months and in many cases the victims were unconscious of being sufferers from the dread complaint. Post mortems have shown in several instances that the trouble was directly traceable to a diseased condition of the kidneys and people have become alive to the danger. A number of enquiries have been instituted with with regard to the best methods of cure and the new Canadian specific remedy known as Dodd's Kidney Pills has come in for a great share of attention owing to the extraordinary number of cures which have been effected through this agency.

Mr. Jacob Wilcox of St. Thomas, Ontario, is one of the best known men in that vicinity. He is now, he says, an old man, but Hood's Sarsaparilla has made him feel young again.

"About a year ago I had a very severe attack of the grip, which resulted in my not having a well day for several months afterwards. I was completely run down and my system was in a Terrible Condition.

I lost flesh and became depressed in spirits. Finally a friend who had been benefited by Hood's Sarsaparilla advised me to try it and I did so. I continued taking it until I used twelve bottles and today I can honestly say Hood's Sarsaparilla has restored me to my former health." JACOB WILCOX, St. Thomas, Ontario.

Hon. Mr. Angers' Organ on the School Question.

SENSATIONAL ARRESTS LOOKED FOR

A Merchant Said to Have Acknowledged Complicity With Firebugs—Miracle at L'Assomption—Postoffice Robbers Thought to Be Hiding in Montreal.

Montreal, July 30.—It was learned today that when the shareholders of the Consumers' Cordage Company are called together, the directors will have a satisfactory report to present, but that the affairs of the company are far from being as glowing as was represented on the street a few weeks ago. It will be remembered that three leading citizens were appointed to look into the affairs of the company and report thereon to a meeting of shareholders, and these gentlemen have had frequent meetings. The whole concern has been probed to the bottom, and although their finding will not be presented just now the directors will have a satisfactory showing to make, considering all that has been said regarding the Consumers' Cordage Company. It is understood that leading gentlemen both here and in New York have about decided that the capital will be slightly reduced.

The Hon. Mr. Angers is supposed to have an organ called The Moniteur De Levis, and here is what that paper says: "If, which is not probable, the Government settles the school question during the next session in a manner satisfactory to the Manitoba minority, it will be done to show the country that Mr. Angers did wrong in separating himself from his colleagues and to prevent him from rallying the Conservative and National forces against the Administration, and especially will the Government attempt to weaken the position of an honorable man and exalt that of his calculating Ministers. The departure of the Hon. Mr. Angers from the Government will contribute more than the return of his colleagues to the triumph of the cause we all have at heart."

A miraculous operation is reported from L'Assomption, where a heavy fire took place a short time ago. It is stated upon the authority of eye-witnesses that when the flames were about to devour the store of the Messrs. Lesage, the Rev. Messrs. Dorval, Cure of L'Assomption, and Lesage, Cure of Mile End, seized the framed picture of Saint Amable and walked round the threatened building, holding the picture of the Saint above their heads. As soon as this was done the wind changed as if by magic and the store was saved.

Bishop Larique of Sherbrooke expresses his opinion of the recent accident at Craig's Road as follows: "His Lordship sees in this painful accident an act of Divine wisdom, who by the intercession of St. Anne answered the prayers of several of those pious pilgrims who were proceeding to the shrine of St Anne to ask the grace of a holy death. We know then that all those pilgrims who died had confessed and were prepared to appear before their Sovereign Judge. Let us then return thanks to God, who thus heard their prayers."

Joseph Killoran, Charles Allen and Henry Russel, the post-office robbers whose escape from the Ludlow-street jail, New York, three weeks ago, caused a sensation, are known to have taken refuge in Montreal with a gang of East End smugglers, although their exact whereabouts has not been discovered. The Canadian Secret Service have the matter in hand. There is a reward of $3000 offered by the American Government. The men are regarded as crooks of the most desperate character, and the jailer who allowed them to escape has been dismissed.

A startling bit of news was made public property yesterday. It was the confession of Andrew Boyd, of the firm of Boyd, Gillies & Co., whose premises were fired in May last, and for which two membes of a gang of fire-bugs, Haynes and Jenkins, have been arrested.

Mr. Boyd was taken before one of the leading insurance companies and there he was told that in order to save himself he must implicate the others and tell what he knew of their actions. He had already been approached by one of the men, who demanded a large sum of money to keep his mouth closed, and this is probably what opened Boyd's mouth.

He admitted that he knew of the intention to fire the premises, but had not strength to resist. Having made this admission he was taken before the Crown prosecutor, to whom he told his story. He was then allowed to leave the country, as detaining him for a witness would be useless, for he was fast becoming a physical and mental wreck.

Startling revelations may be expected in a day or two in connection with the arson cases, which the insurance appraiser, Mr. Charles Hansen, and Mr. M. J. Quinn, Crown prosecutor, are investigating. It is stated that 15 cases of robbery and arson, going back for the last 13 or 14 years, are being carefully looked up and that arrests will follow which will startle the public as much as did the arrest of Fahey and his confreres some years ago.

Vice-Royalty En Route to Regina

Winnipeg, July 29.—Lord and Lady Aberdeen and Premier Bowell are here en route to the Regina, N.W.T., Industrial Fair, which opens to-morrow. The fair is the first ever held in the Territories, and bids fair to be a great success. Many distinguished people will participate in the opening ceremonies.

Yemen's Alleged Victim Not Dying.

Stratford, July 30.—Dr. Yemen, who is out on $10,000 bail, expresses himself as confident of an acquittal. Alice Dunn, the alleged victim, is not dying, as reported, and no ante-mortem statement was ordered.

HOLMES TO HANG IN CHICAGO.

At Least the Chicago Police Hope to Convict Him.

Chicago, July 30.—Fully 5000 curious people visited Sixty-third and Wallace streets yesterday and sought admission to Holmes' castle. Jeweler Davis, who occupied part of the drug store in the building, had made arrangements to admit visitors on payment of a 10-cent fee, and expected to reap a rich harvest, but the police heard of it and forbade admission to the building above the first floor.

The information given by the mechanic, Charles M. Chappell, who was examined by the inspector yesterday, is undoubtedly the most valuable the detectives have yet obtained. Chappell exhibited thorough familiarity with all the details of the buildings attached to the false vaults, in which it is believed Holmes suffocated some of his victims. The theory is substantiated by the imprint of a woman's foot, which has been found on the floor of the vault between the iron door and the back wall, within which limits there is barely room for one to stand. Chappell showed thorough familiarity with the combination lock of the vault, which he locked and unlocked at will.

Another arrest was made yesterday—that of H. S. Mack, who worked for Holmes during the last six months he lived in the Sixty-third-street house. The police have been looking for him since Friday and admit that he is an important witness. They are certain he knows all about Patrick Quinlan and his wife and their connection with Holmes, from certain admissions he has made to friends. He will be put into the sweat-box today.

The Inspector and Chief Badenoch say they have sufficient evidence to convict Holmes and Quinlan, and as the present grand jury will be the last one until September every effort is being made to get the evidence in shape to present to that jury before its adjournment. From present indications it is likely that the matter will be laid before the grand jury to-morrow.

A woman named Sylvester, who lived in the castle when Holmes and Quinlan did, arrived unexpectedly yesterday, having come from Kansas City to visit her son. She has told the police of more strange doings of Holmes and Quinlan, particularly of the digging of a tunnel under the sidewalk. This is to be investigated to-day.

In summing up the gist of the police work yesterday it may be said on the authority of the police that they expect to hang Patrick Quinlan, H. H. Holmes, the man Harris (alias Zeigele), and James C. Allen, the Little Rock convict, before they finish with the castle.

M. G. Chappell, the mechanic, who made such startling disclosures to the police Saturday and yesterday in regard to the skeletons which are believed to be those of three of the victims of H. H. Holmes, was brought to Inspector Fitzpatrick's office early this morning, the intention being to put him through a thorough examination in order to find out whether the accounts he has given the detectives are true. He was so much agitated, however, that it was found impossible to go on with the enquiry. With the assistance of a glass of whisky he was able to leave the office, supported by the inspector and his brother, at 10 o'clock. It is understood the destination of the three is Englewood, where the mechanic's story as to knowing the combination of the mysterious steel vault, in which the detectives think some of the persons believed to have been murdered by Holmes, may have met their death, will be tested. He has already opened the vault, but he did so by putting his ear to the lock and hearing the tumblers fall, just as an expert mechanic might do anywhere. Charles M. Chappell, son of the latest important witness, said this morning that his father had in his life been a very hard drinker, and that this had acted on his mind to such an extent that he did not always talk rationally.

Rheumatism, which is caused by an acid in the blood, is cured by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. External treatment is of no avail. Until the blood is thoroughly cleansed of all impurities, it is useless to expect the cure of any disease. Has cured others, will cure you.

Deadly Cancer Cured By B. B. B.

HERE IS THE PROOF.

Messrs. T. Milburn & Co:

SIRS,—About four years ago I was taken sick with stomach trouble. I consulted several leading local physicians, all of whom pronounced my disease incurable cancer of the stomach, and told me I had not long to live. Two physicians attending me gave me up to die. Through reading your advertisement, and by advice of friends, I tried your Burdock Blood Bitters and I am happy to say that after using one bottle I was able to leave my bed which I had been confined to for a long time. I am thankful now to state that B.B.B. cured my disease which baffled the doctors, and I am firmly convinced saved my life. Gratefully yours,

PLEASE LET US SEE IT

A Marvellous Result.

Mr. A. R. took out ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy No. 6332 in Canada Life Co. for Five Thousand Dollars in the year 1868. He was then 25 years of age.

The Premium paid was $181 a year for 10 years.....$1,810.

Notice the Result.

The total profits added to the Policy to end of 1894 and for which he holds a certificate amounts to the enormous sum of.....$3,281

The holder therefore has been credited not only with every cent paid for premiums, but also Fourteen Hundred and Seventy One Dollars in addition, besides receiving a fully paid up policy for the original Five Thousand Dollars, which still participates in profits.

Now This is What we Want to Know!

This is a Peterborough Policy! Is there any citizen of Peterborough with an ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy either in Canadian, British or American Co, which shows anything like as large profits as this one?

If there is, we should esteem it a great favour if we are allowed to see it, as we have been looking for such a one for years and so far have not been able to find it.

The remains of Mr. T. Dolan reached Peterborough on Monday, on the G.T.R. 9 p.m. train, and were interred in the Roman Catholic cemetery this (Tuesday) afternoon, under the auspices of the C. M. B. A. The funeral was attended by a very large number of citizens.

Stony Lake Water.

The water in Stony Lake has risen over a foot during the past week. Another stop log placed in the Young's Point dam on Saturday last will give the lake six inches additional rise this week. It is said the water is being held back to give the Gilmour logs a "flush" on their arrival at Lakefield.

Under instructions from the Deputy Attorney-General of Ontario the Society is now making arrangements to assume charge of the Gray children, whose parents are now confined in the county gaol in connection with the alleged murder of old man Scollie.

Sudden Death.

Word was received in town this morning of the sudden death of Miss Rachael Glenny, of Omemee, in the Toronto General Hospital. The deceased was a sister of Mrs. Baptiste Lefort and Miss Hattie Glenny, of the Grand Central. The remains will be brought to Omemee for interment this evening.

The Choirs.

The practice of the choirs was not as fully attended last evening as the previous meetings on account of the members being of the opinion that it was held simply to discuss ways and means. By the expression of those present it is evident that the excursion to Burleigh on Thursday will be very largely patronized.

Professor Crowe has just been elected chief of the Alnwick Indians and proposes bringing the baseball club of the tribe to Jubilee Point on September 4th to play a match with the Algonquins of Central Ontario. The Hiawatha and Chemong Indian teams will also be present and a grand baseball tournament will be held.

False Alarms.

Box No. 1 of the fire alarm system has been disconnected for the present as so many false alarms were sent in through it as to cause the brigade a great deal of inconvenience. Some mischievously disposed persons are supposed to be connected with the matter and for the present the box will be cut off the circuit. Last night again the fire team had a run to this section of the town for nothing.

Another $100,000 for the C.P.R ?

It is said that the Dominion Government has, by an Order-in-Council, granted $100,000 to the Canadian Pacific Railway Company as an additional mail subsidy. Is it not rather strange that the vote of the House was not taken regarding so large a grant, but that it should have been silently passed through the Council only a few days after the members had gone to their homes ?

THE BLACK CHAPTER.

GRAND MASTER WEIR CONDEMNS REMEDIAL LEGISLATION.

He Urges Everyone to do What They Can to Defeat the Proposed Measure—The Address Endorsed—Officers Present at the Meeting in Halifax—Committee on Credentials Appointed—Nova Scotians Will not be Found Wanting in Their Demonstration of Loyalty.

Halifax, N. S., July 29.—(Special.)—The Most Worshipful Grand Black Chapter of British America assembled at the Masonic hall this evening at eight o'clock, and adjourned at 11, to meet to-morrow morning at 9 o'clock.

The Most Worshipful Grand Master, Sir Robert Weir, Peterborough, was in the chair.

The Grand Chaplain then read the appointed Scripture and prayers and the M. W. S. C. was declared duly opened for the transaction of business.

GRAND MASTER'S ADDRESS.

Most Worshipful Grand Master Sir Knight Robert Weir, of Peterborough, in his formal address to the Most Worshipful Grand Black Chapter, amongst other things, said : "We meet here upon a noble mission, and I am sure the Sir Knights present, inspired by the aims of our illustrious order, and under the guidance of Divine Wisdom, will accomplish the most beneficial results. Since our last meeting, as you are all aware, the Manitoba school question has entered a new stage, the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council having informed the Dominion Government that they have the power to grant remedial legislation, and the said Government, at the command of the Romish hierarchy, having passed a remedial order, which, I am pleased to say, the Manitoba Legislature refused to obey. The Dominion Government, having at the said command pledged itself at its next session to pass an Act to compel the said province to restore Roman Catholic Separate schools, it is the duty of each of us to do all in our power to defeat that measure by bringing what influence we can to bear on our representatives, and by pledging all candidates for Parliamentary honours in future to use his voice and vote for the maintenance of our Public school system throughout our Dominion.

THE ADDRESS ENDORSED.

The Grand Master's address was scarcely finished when Sir Major A. J. Armstrong sprang to his feet, and with characteristic earnestness said :—"I arise to say that I most heartily endorse every word of that address. I am so glad that at this early stage in the important gatherings which we are to have this week such sentiments have been given expression to. I am quite sure that ninety-nine out of every hundred Sir Knights and Orangemen throughout the country endorse every word expressed in that address. I subscribe to them from the very bottom of my heart, and I am satisfied that the Central Committee, to whom is referred this report for consideration, when they have done their work will send it back without being cut up."

Two or three struggled to second it, and finally intimated that they would reserve their commendatory remarks till the presentation of the Credential Committee's report on it.

An address of welcome was then read, in which were these words :—"Should a time arrive when it will be necessary for us to give a practical demonstration of our loyalty to the cause, we feel convinced that Nova Scotia will no be found wanting."

RESIDENTS PROTEST AGAINST THE POND.

THE WEST WARD UP IN ARMS LAST NIGHT.

A Large Number of Witnesses Testify That in Their Opinion Whyte's Pond is a Public Nuisance and Should be Done Away With—The Medical Testimony Yet to be Heard—The Defense not yet Taken.

At a special meeting of the Board of Health convened last evening to consider the muchly discussed White's dam matter, there were present Messrs. J. J. Hartley, (chairman), Dr. McGrath, Robert Innes, Charles Stapleton and Wm. Blackwell.

The following petition was read by the Secretary:

To the Board of Health:

"We, the undersigned residents and ratepayers of the town, most earnestly ask your co-operation to have what is known as Whyte's dam removed. Thereby disposing of a pond of water which is certainly detrimental to the health of the locality, as evidenced from the numerous cases of diphtheria, which has occurred in this section of the town, and also owing to the fact that the west ward school building is situated in close proximity to this point, it is therefore most desirable for the citizens in general that this stream be allowed to run its natural course. We therefore trust you will take immediate action to have this nuisance removed.

Geo. Ball,	James Lynch,
Thos. Bullen.

Mr. John Burnham, Q.C., was present on behalf of Mr. Owens, one of the proprietors of the dam.

MR. ADAM DAWSON

was the first witness called. He considered the dam a nuisance, as the water was dammed back by it in the night and run off in the day time. This left the bottom of the pond formed exposed to the sun's rays during the day time. The stench arising therefrom was most obnoxious. By the damming back of the water the cellars in the neighbourhood were constantly flooded and the soil so saturated with water as to make the neighbourhood unhealthy. Diphtheria had been most prevalent west of Park street on this account. The pond formed occupied about three quarters of an acre, but the creek for a considerable distance was raised up on its banks. The wells in the vicinity were all affected by the water soaking through the soil to them. He thought the locality would be healthy if the stream was allowed to run in its natural course.

To Mr. Burnham, Mr. Dawson stated that he lived 300 feet from the White's pond. He was about a block and a half from the Hamilton pond. When the water was raised in the White pond his cellar was flooded to the depth of three inches. The raising of the water caused the water in his well to turn brown in colour. He had pits on his premises which drained into the soil. He never had diphtheria in his family.

stated that in his opinion the dam had formed a nuisance by backing up the water to the Public School and by the effluvia arising had given rise to disease. He had experienced diseases in his own family, which he attributed to this source, as had the attending physician, Dr. King.

To Mr. Burnham, Mr. McNeil stated that his children had experienced an attack of diphtheria, two years ago last November. He had known other children in the neighbourhood to die of diphtheria from the same cause. Two of Mr. Muncaster's children had died of diphtheria the year previous. His opinion was that the disease had been contracted from the affluvia arising from the dam. Mr. Muncaster lived about 400 feet from the pond and about 500 feet from Hamilton's dam.

Mr. Burnham wanted to know if Mr. McNeil knew of any other cases, and Mr. Dawson stated in reply that if a list of the names of those having diphtheria was wanted, he was prepared to furnish it on the shortest notice.

MR. JOS. MILLS

stated that in his opinion the dam was a nuisance not only to the people living in the district, but all those whose children attended the West Ward School. The stench during the summer was almost unbearable at times. When the water was almost run off and the banks of the creek and pond became exposed to the rays of the sun the stench became greater. When living on Weller street the water in his cellar rose and fell with the water in the pond. His anxiety at present rose from the fact that his child attended the West Ward School. All the parents of children in the vicinity became alarmed whenever diphtheria broke out. If the schools were kept open in July and August he was convinced that the scholars could not attend, as the stench was so bad during the summer months.

G. D. HARDWICK

stated that the dam caused a disagreeable smell all the time. He lived within 60 feet of the pond and had to keep the doors and windows on that side of the house closed all summer. His cellar was always damp, and when the water raised high, the water rose in his cellar to the depth of 12 or 14 inches. The water in his well was spoiled by the pond, and he had to go a distance for water. His little girl experienced an attack of fever, and Dr. Pigeon had attributed it to the effect of the proximity of the pond.

To Mr. Burnham he stated that he had earth closets on his premises. He had no drain or cesspool. His child had the fever a year ago last November. It was malaria which afterwards developed into bronchitis and congestion of the lungs.

A. H. KENNEDY

stated that fully a quarter of his lot was flooded six months of the year. Last year his cellar was flooded from the creek for four months. His well was very muddy also on this account. It made the water unwholesome to drink. He never had diphtheria in the house though his daughter had suffered considerably from colds caused presumably by the damp cellar. The water in his well smelt so bad that at times it could not be used.

To Mr. Burnham he stated that he did not know how far back the lot should run, but judged that it was one quarter flooded by the fact that the Hilliard estate, who owned the land, had recently built a fence at the rear end. He had earth closets on his premises. The water in the well was improved after it was cleaned.

testified, coroborated the evidence previously offered. He could personally vouch for its accuracy. The portion concerning the school he considered the most important. The smell arising from the pond when the water was low was bad. He had four cases of diphtheria in his house some years ago and lost one child. He blamed it on the pond. Dr. Scott had attributed the disease to the same source.

To Mr. Burnham he said that he had an earth closet on the grounds. The drainage from the house was thrown into the yard. His well was a pipe well, being filled in with gravel around a shaft of steel. There were three deaths on the street at the same time. His was the first case of diphtheria reported. The boy contracting the disease had been attending school. There were earth pits attached to the school closets.

stated that for the past five years his cellar had been flooded ever summer for five or six weeks. He lived about 120 feet from the creek. His wife had been laid up in bed for eight weeks with inflammatory rheumatism caused, he believed, by the dampness from his cellar. Dr. Goldsmith, who was in attendance, attributed the trouble to the same source. The water in his well was poor, being sometimes so bad it could not be used, but improved when the water was let down. The slops from the house were thrown in the yard. Box closets were used.

C. BARRETT

lived five or six hundred feet from the pond. A bad smell arose from the pond at times. He had four children attending the West Ward School. Three of them had been down with diphtheria at the same time. He attributed the disease to the backing up of the water by the dam. The water in the school well was being used. He did not suffer particularly from the backing up of the water. His premises were not flooded.

To Mr. Burnham he stated that in the spring time water was in the cellar of the school and also in the summer. He drank the water from the well himself. Dr. King attended the children when they were sick. The closets for the girls were boxes and for the boys pits. The Medical Health Officer had condemned the water in the well and ordered the waterworks put it. The children used the water from both the well and the waterworks. He knew of parents who had removed their children from the school until the waterworks was put in.

J. J. LYNCH

agreed with the evidence already submitted. The stench arising from the pond was not very pleasant to those living in the vicinity. There was a great amount of water in his cellar in the spring, which he thought was attributable to the water being dammed back in the pond. The diphtheria in the neighbourhood was certainly caused by the stench arising from the pond, which at times was a repository for dead dogs, cats, etc. He had lost one child himself through diphtheria.

To Mr. Burnham he stated that his store was about 400 feet from the pond. He was about 800 feet from Hamilton's Pond.

GEORGE BALL

gave evidence to the effect that he had known the dam to be a nuisance for years. On the 12th of July the smell was so bad that he had to hold his nose when passing the dam. He signed a petition to the council regarding the dam five or six years ago. The water from the creek had been forced back into the well of his mother's house and made the water bad. He himself became impregnated with malaria. Since leaving the neighbourhood he felt better. He had lived on Cedar street, the fourth house west of Park.

THOMAS RICHARDSON

said. "I believe the same to be a nuisance and detrimental to the health of the children who attend the west ward school. The stench that arises when the water goes down and the sun shines on the exposed ground is bad. The water in my well is effected when the water in the creek is high. I have had malaria in my family. I attributed it partly to the dam. I consider the pond a cesspool. My lot runs back to the creek."

THOMAS BULLEN

agreed with the evidence given regarding the stench from the pond. His children went to the West Ward school. His little girl had came home sick and Dr. Brennan attributed it to the pond and advised him not to live there. The stench was so bad on occasions that he had to get up in the night and close the windows. His girl had malaria fever this summer. He lived on the north side of Elm street, almost 100 yards west of Park street.

The board then adjourned until this evening when medical testimony as to the sanitary condition of the pond will be taken.

A Wide Range.

A preparation which enriches and purifies the blood and assists nature in repairing wasted tissue must have a wide range of usefulness.

Such a preparation is Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda. The uses of Scott's Emulsion are not confined to wasting diseases, like consumption, scrofula or anæmia. They embrace nearly all those minor ailments associated with loss of flesh.

Securing Hay on Swamps.

Owners of swamps and swales along the sea coast frequently find it impossible to store hay during the summer season because of the softness of soil and water ways preventing the use of horse and wagon. Along the seashore, the hay is cut during a dry period when the marsh will support a man, cured and cocked on a number of piles, as shown in the cut. If the cock is intended for a large one, boards are laid over a dozen or more piles; if small, the hay is laid on the pile heads. During winter when the ground is frozen, the hay is easily removed by horse and sled.

Fruit Fertilizers.

The questions puzzling fruit growers in all parts of the country where the soil has been worked to death is "What shall we use for fertilisers?" The profits of fruit growing in the future will depend largely upon how individual farmers solve this question. Undoubtedly, to obtain large yields of fruit on most of our farm lands it is necessary to fertilize the soils heavily. The cost of fertilizers must be reduced to the lowest minimum, or they will eat up the profits no matter how large the yield. Clover must be raised as a rotation to obtain nitrogen in the cheapest manner, and this is especially true of small fruits where the conditions of cultivation change the clover rapidly into available plant food. All of our fruit lands need large quantities of nitrogen, and we are obtaining this in an expensive way unless clover is regularly raised in the orchard. Our apple, peach and pear orchards need cultivation, and after cultivation sowing to clover. The sheep turned on this clover will help to enrich the soil, and most of the nitrogen will be returned to the soil in their manure. The decay of many of our old orchards is due largely to the lack of cultivation and clover.

Crimson clover is better in many respects than any other varieties for our orchards and fruit gardens. The seeds can be sown in midsummer after the fruits are gathered, and they will make quite a growth to be turned under by the following spring. It also keeps the land free from weeds, and adds a great deal of nitrogen to the soil. It is a stolen crop, and one does not have to wait long for it as in the case of the other clovers. Ashes and barnyard manure are necessary also for good fruit growing. As a rule we do not use enough ashes in orchards. Their value is great, and where they can be obtained cheaply they make the best investment possible. Buy all the ashes, all of the dissolved bones, fish, chum and potash that you can afford, and put them in the fruit orchard. Often these ingredients can be purchased cheaper than any of the commercial fertilisers. The latter are good, and will help any fruit orchard, but their expense makes it impossible for their free application. Peach orchards thrive best when manured liberally with bone, potash and nitrate of soda. The fruit is more highly covered and the trees more vigorous. Potash can be applied best in the shape of muriate or kainit. If we use crimson clover more generally on our fruit gardens and orchards and then supply as much of these mineral elements as we can, we will have larger yields of fruit and longer lived trees.—J. D. Morrow, in American Cultivator.

Very Popular.

The climax of crazes seemed to be reached this season in shirt waists and bicycles. Both are extremely popular and there appear to be as many sorts and prices of one as of the other. It is possible to buy a shirt waist for 49 cents, and it is also possible to pay $6 for one. Among the latest novelties are the pink, blue, gray and black mottled lawn shirt waists with white laundered collars and cuffs. Waists of white and gray dotted mull, solid colors, with white linen collars and cuffs, are also elegant novelties. They are worn with smart black mottled lawn shirt waists with white silk or satin shirts for semi-dress occasions.—New York Times.

Will Fight the L.A.W.

Boston, July 29.—The Press Cycling Club, at a meeting last night, settled the sanction controversy with Gideon of the racing board, L.A.W., by unanimously adopting the following reply to Mr. Gideon's demand for the books, records, etc.

"The committee respectfully decline to furnish the stubs, cheque-book and cancelled cheques as requested by you which might have been used by the tournament committee, the refusal being governed entirely by principle and the belief that the racing board has no right to demand the books of the press club or of any of its committees, in the hope that it might find testimony which would affect the standing of the prize winners. If the racing board have a right to call for the books of the club in this instance, they will also have the right to examine the books of the club for an indefinite period."

By this vote the club has shut itself out of the possibility of getting any more L.A.W. sanctions for track events so long as the present chairman of the racing board is in office.

The New Specific Remedy is Being Extensively Used at Ottawa.

Ottawa, July 29.—The marvellous recovery of Mr. G. H. Kent, of this city, from Bright's disease by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills is still fresh in the memories of Ottawa people, and the remedy is being freely recommended both by druggists and private citizens. The similar wonderful cures of Dr. A. G. McCormick, of Richmond, Quebec, and Mr. Arthur Coley, of Somerset, Manitoba, to say nothing of many others, are generally quoted in favour of the assertion that no remedy of modern times has gone so successfully through a severe trial, and been so efficacious in all cases of kidney trouble. It is also proving itself invaluable in the milder forms of sickness which appear during the summer.

BIG PROFITS —ON— Small Investments

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful Speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our Systematic Plan of Speculation

originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well-known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plain are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

WRITE FOR CONVINCING PROOF, also our Manual on successful speculation and our Daily Market Report, full of money-making pointers. ALL FREE. Our Manual explains margin trading fully. Highest references in regard to our standing and success.

spread to my chin, and I suffered in agony for seven long years. Finally, I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. In a week or two I noticed a Decided Improvement.

Encouraged by this result, I persevered, until in a month or so the sore under my chin began to heal. In three months my lip began to heal, and, after using the Sarsaparilla for six months, the last trace of the cancer disappeared."

AYER'S PILLS Regulate the Bowels.

A BALLOON FALL.

A PRETTY AND PLUCKY WOMAN HAS A NARROW ESCAPE.

Alighted on a High Wall—The Fire Department Called Out by the Uproar of the Much Excited Crowd.

M. Capazza, a well-know aeronaut of Paris, recently asserted that he had hit on the discovery of a parachute whereby, after a balloon had mounted 9,000 feet and been deprived by acident of its buoyancy, it would be possible to send any sacks of despatches carried. The despatches, naturally were readily provided. There was some difficulty in securing a volunteer to escort them in the balloon. Finally, however, Mme. du Gast, well known both for her beauty and her artistic playing of the piano, offered herself for the undertaking. Why she wished it no one knows, whether for pleasure, for fame, for mere caprice or an admixture of all.

A large crowd assembled at the appointed place and time to watch the novel adventure. Mme. du Gast appeared in a blue bicycling costume and was greeted with tumultuous applause. Women of her acquaintance crowded about her and cried their greetings and farewells.

Forthwith she climbed over the edge of the wicker balustrade and calmly seated herself with M. Capazza in the car, which her admirers had filled with flowers. Then, while the spectators waited in breathless interest, M. Capazza gave the order "Let go" and the balloon shot upward.

The balloon rose obliquely, taking the direction of the Seine. Soon it met another current of air, which bore it toward Charonne. Suddenly, at the estimated height of nine thousand feet, it was seen to fall, while recoiling toward La place de la Nation. Capazza had punctured it. Unfortunately the movable knife attached to a cord by which to produce the fissure had operated badly, and the covering of the balloon, acting as a hood to the parachute, would not allow it to become detached.

The balloon finally reached the ridge of one of the houses. By a skilful movement M. Capazza released it and directed it toward the courtyard of the house. There, by an ill chance, the car caught on the wall of an interior terrace, twelve feet above the ground, and there remained.

Ladders were soon brought, but as one after another were tried they proved to be too short, and Mme. du Gast and M. Capazza remained like Humpty Dumpty before the fall. Finally a window of the upper floor was opened and a ladder put forth, and Mme. du Gast and M. Capazza clambered from the car and ascended to the window, through which they disappeared.

Outside the ovation continued for a long time, and by its vehemence resembled the old days of Boulangerism, while the firemen, who, alarmed by the uproar, had rushed to the spot with their engines, first sought eagerly for the supposed fire, then gaped in astonishment, and ultimately retired in disgust.—New York Herald.

ROOF AND BRIDGE BUILDING.

The Mechanical Principles That Underlie Structures of This Kind.

To support a peak, ridge or saddle roof requires a series of rafters arranged as a b, a c, other at their feet, outward from each tendency to spread ese sticks have a the position shown. Fig. 1. Placed in attended by a consequent lowering and dropping out of the proper line of their peak, a. To prevent this, a tie beam as shown, b c, is used. To this the feet of the rafter are firmly fastened, thus securing the point, a. Another difficulty is the sagging downward, because of its own weight, of the tie beam, b c. To prevent this, a tie or truss is let down from the apex, a, supporting the tie beam at its center, d, and rendering that point fixed and incapable of dropping. The next difficulty to meet us is the sagging of the rafters downward, the same as the tie beam. Having tied up or trussed the tie beam, introduce the braces d and d f, thus preventing sagging of the rafters in turn; and if the framework is large enough for sagging to still take place between the points secured, additional trusses, e g and f h, may be introduced, additional braces going up from their base in turn to the further support of the rafters. The careful reader will easily see how this system may be extended to meet the length and consequent requirements of the roof, and will also see that the frame work is effectually held up into place by the opposing forces brought to bear within itself. Thus, while the tendency of the ties and tie beam is to stretch that of the braces and of the rafters is to contract or compress. This principle is the same in its application to both roofs of buildings and bridges. In the first instance the tied-up framework is to support a covering upon its rafters for the protection of what may be stored underneath, while in the second case it is built to support a level covering or flooring upon its tie beam, on which carriages and animals may pass.

Fig. 2.

In the case of buildings a center aperture for light or other purposes may be demanded, in which case the trussing is done as in Fig. 2, or in a bridge may be arranged as in Fig. 3. The principle of support is the same, only in this instance it is done by two posts known as queen posts, instead of a center king post. There are many forms of joint work by which the principal sticks may be fastened together, of which we give two in Fig. 4, and these are given to show how a bolt or a strap may be used to excellent advantage in the securing of this straining point.

FARM NOTES.

When the weather is very dry do not mow the lawn too close unless a sprinkler can be provided to supply water. Every time the grass is mowed it gives a small crop and the soil loses fertility.

The cabage butterfly gives three broods and the eggs are deposited on cabbage and mustard. Each butterfly lays at least 100 eggs, and probably 300. The best mode of exterminating them is by catching them, boys being induced to engage in their capture by rewards of some kind.

The best way of getting rid of "pursley," or purslaine, is to feed it to the pigs. It is difficult to destroy and resists heat and dry air for a while, even when the roots are turned up. When used as food for pigs and some one employed to provide it the crop of pursley soon begins to run short like any other desirable food.

About the most profit secured from sheep is by the service they perform in consuming plants that are of no value. Some weeds are luxuries to sheep, and are nipped off as soon as they appear above ground. Many of the poisonous weeds are harmless when young, especially to hogs and sheep, and as sheep crop off the grass when it is very short they do not allow anything in the shape of green food to be wasted.

A LADY OF WATERFORD COMPLETELY CURED.

Suffered for Two Years from Indigestion and General Debility.

Unable at Times to Attend to Her Household Duties.

Treated by Nearly All the Doctors in the Town Without Relief.

"Six Bottles of South American Nervine Cured Me," Says Mrs. D. A. Gray of Waterford, Ont., Over Her Own Signature.

MRS. D. A. GRAY, OF WATERFORD, ONT.

Certain dates are epoch making. They mark transitions in the individual life that are never forgotten. Their impress may be pleasant or sad, or both. As Mrs. D. A. Gray, of Waterford, Ont., an estimable and highly respected resident of that community, goes back in memory to the year 1893, her recollections are not of the most roseate character. Can there be anything rosy to one who is a victim of indigestion? All is sombre and sadness. But there was a silver lining to the cloud, as we shall see. Previous to 1893 Mrs. Gray tells us she had been troubled very much with indigestion and general debility for a period of nearly two years. Hers was no ordinary case. At times she was prevented altogether from attending to her household duties. Waterford has a number of skilled physicians in its midst and their services were called in, but in her own language, "I cannot say that they relieved me in any way." An era of joy was ushered in when her mother read the story of a cure by South American Nervine in a case where the symptoms, as Mrs. Gray says, "seemed to be exactly like her own. I bought a bottle and found much relief. After taking six bottles I was cured." The date was an epoch making date in this lady's life.

What the symptoms of Indigestion are, too many know. What the trouble is in its worst forms thousands know. People lament the spread of insanity in the present day. How far removed from loss of reason is a case of aggravated indigestion? The world to every such victim is blue enough, black enough, so uninviting and depressing that no wonder they are beside themselves. And yet the remedy is within the reach of all. That great discovery, Nervine, will cure the most desperate case of indigestion, debility or nervousness. You ask for evidence. A cloud of witnesses in the Dominion of Canada are saying, amen, and amen, to the testimony of Mrs. Gray. Why suffer, fellow-citizens, friends and brethren?

THE RING.

Every few days expressions of opinions are asked as to the proposed championship mill between Corbett and Fitzsimmons that is booked for Texas in the fall—that is, who ought to win it. Each side, of course, thinks it is going to win. The Corbett contingent argues thus: "Our man has weight advantage, which gives him solidity, the true foundation upon which all fighters are classified. He has height and is equal or better in reach and he has proved that for all night generalship and for carrying endurance measured by the hour, no boxer is better—a point that Fitz has not yet proved by an ordeal. He is also younger and his weight will make him stronger in a clinch. By staying with Peter Jackson in an all night tussle, when the great coloured exponent was in his zenith—Jackson, whom Fitz has tactitly acknowledged was his better—he put himself in a higher class than the great middle-weight. And as to the strength of hitting for knock out results, his slaughter of Charley Mitchell, rated a slippery eel for first target, puts him even or better with any of them." These are the principal grounds upon which Jim's adherents are binding their faith.

On the other hand the Fitzsimmons people rest their judgment on such arguments as these: "Fitz will come to battle at about 168 to 165 pounds. At this figure and considerably less he has shown time and time again that the annals of the ring have never known his equal for clean knock out hitting with either right or left hand. His putting out of Jim Hall in four rounds, when that great boxer was trained, too, as he has not trained since, and his finding a road in on Dan Creedon, a great and clever boxer, in two rounds, runs his ability up neck and neck with any man in the world. It is doubtful, continue his henchmen, if there lives to-day or ever did live any man of any weight capable of disposing of Creedon and Hall—the latter two in hardened condition—in such jig time.

"As to endurance, he has not proved it, because he has had no chance, so far as encounters in the ring go; his opponents have always been so easy for him that he could finish them about when and how he pleased. But put him to a mile run and he will demonstrate what sort of lungs he carries for endurance work."

Such arguments are made by the Corbett and Fitzsimmons factions, and, so far as I can see, there is plenty of hard sense in each. It is really the toughest fistic problem that has come up; it will doubtless look easy after it is done. Corbett is to be the favourite in the betting, but no two to one.

LACROSSE.

The Athletics have their last practice to-night and every man is as fit as string for the great match against the Ontarios of Port Hope to-morrow and without a doubt it will be the fastest game which will be played on the Driving Park this season. If Port Hope can turn out 600 spectators to see the Peterboroughs play in that town and have sufficient enthusiasm to run an excursion up here for the return match to-morrow, Peterborough should be able to turn out 1000 spectators to witness the contest.

THE WHEEL.

The adjourned meeting of the Peterborough bicycle club will be held to-morrow evening in the Catholic Association rooms at eight o'clock. Two committees will submit reports—one concerning the rooms which will be occupied by the club and the other relative to the number of club members which have been secured.

—The "Saratoga" is the special summer make of the P. N. Corset ladies grow so enthusiastic over. Its intrinsic value as a cool, comfortable corset is the sum and substance of its success. CHURCH SOCIALISM.

The Pope Has Concluded an Important Work on This Subject.

London, July 30.—The Daily News in mentioning that the Pope has concluded an important work that is intended to be a program to secure social order says that before publishing the work His Holiness will ask for the opinions on it of eminent German, Swiss, Italian and English sociologists. The Pope's idea is to use the funds of many religious corporations for the institutions he meditates. To this end he has invited a number of eminent Jesuits, besides the Capuchin Father Leon, Count Loe, M. Curtius, a Swiss deputy, and several learned Italians to confer with him in the autumn. He will thereafter publish a new encyclical. It is reported that he will seek to prove from the failure of the State socialism advocated by Emperor William and Prince Bismarck that Church socialism alone is able to bestow peace and happiness on the people.

O'Brien's Trial Postponed.

Paris, July 29.—The trial of Tom O'Brien, the American bunco-steerer, for the murder of his partner, Reed Waddell, in this city in March last has been postponed. The police authorities here have been requested by the American State Department to hold O'Brien for extradition in the event of his being acquitted of the charge of murder, he being a fugitive from justice.

Savage Reductions

Is the Policy that Dominates Every Department in the Mammoth FORCED-TO-SELL SALE of the

DOLAN BANKRUPT STOCK

Now we add fuel to the fire, and increase the roar of business. We have nerve enough to take the bull by the horns and sell the people brand-new Clothing, Cloths, Tweeds, Hats and Caps, Furnishings, &c, at

PRICES CUT IN TWAIN!

It's a case of—The More you Buy the More you make. Values have been let loose and cost of production has gone on a vacation and made a plaything of.

Purse openers like these arouse your sense of economy, makes quick selling all over the store, and brings crowd after crowd of enthusiastic shoppers, and the promise of still busier days.

Things must hum, for the goods are destined to depart, tagged with half-price tickets. We are in dead earnest—the hour has come—the time is ripe—rain or shine the bargains will be here. Although cart loads have already been taken away to the homes of happy purchasers, the bargain counters and shelves appear as full as ever.

Do you want a Suit of Clothes for the price of making it? Don't think too long, or somebody else will be wearing it for you. Here are a few startlers:—

$2.90 Buys Young Men's and Youths' Suits, worth from $3.75 to $6.50, made up in Good Tweeds, Serges and Worsteds.

$1.89 Buys Boys' Two-piece Suits, worth from $2.50 to $4.00, made up in Dressing Fabrics, well lined and trimmed, not to rip.

$3.90 Buys Men's Suits, worth from $5 50 to $8.00, made up in good Tweeds, Serges and Worsteds.

1/2 Of the former price is all we ask for about 4.000 yards of bright new Scotch and Canadian Tweeds, Serges and Worsted Cloths, Trimmings, &c. Cut free of charge to all who buy or made up into Suits to cost you about 50 % less than usual.

We can fit anybody, and especially those who never had a fit in their lives. Duncan Cameron, is the Cutter. It may be, but we don't think there is a place on top of the earth where you can get better value for your money, for the next two weeks. The best makers are represented in the entire stock—not a garment but what is reliable—not an article but what we can safely recommend.

NEW TRANSCONTINENTAL LINE.

Proposal to Amalgamate the Pennsylvania and Burlington Lines.

Chicago, July 30.—The scheme of combining or consolidating the Pennsylvania and Burlington systems of railroads which was talked of two years ago, but abandoned on account of the financial panic, has again come to the surface, and the opinion is freely expressed by parties who are supposed to be well posted that before another year has passed the two systems will be united into one trans-continental through line extending from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

The proposed alliance, if consummated, would make one of the largest combinations in the United States. The total mileage would exceed 12,000 miles, including leased lines and the roads controlled by each of these companies.

BRITISH A BENEFIT TO EGYPT.

The Debt Increased, But the Security Is Such as to Decrease the Interest.

Washington, July 30.—The effects of British occupation of Egypt are discussed by Frederick C. Penfield, agent and consul of the United States at Cairo, in a despatch to the State Department. He says it is a popular fallacy that the debt has been decreased with the British occupation of the country, for it has been materially added to. Indemnification of those whose property was destroyed by reason of the Arab rebellion, with the attempted bombardment of Alexandria; the military fiasco resulting in the loss to Egypt of the Soudan; the construction of irrigating dams and canals and other necessary expenditures have increased the national debt by nearly $40,000,000. But the character of the security, the intrinsic worth of the country, has been so improved that European owners of bonds have willingly reduced the rate of interest by nearly one-half. The total bonded debt of the country is $508,945,299, applying to an agricultural population of 7,000,000, or a debt of about $72 for every man, woman and child.

Anti-European Feeling in Madagascar.

London, July 29.—The Times will tomorrow publish a despatch from Antananarivo, the cpital of Madagascar, bearing date of July 11. It says that the Hova Government is secretly making overtures to France for peace, but fearing a revolution is massing troops outside the capital and declaring that it will resist the French until death. The dispatch adds that the anti-European feeling among the natives is increasing. The British Consul called a meeting of the British residents and advocated that they leave the capital for the coast. A native preacher has tried to incite the soldiers to massacre the British.

Riots During French Councils Elections.

Paris, July 30.—In the elections for the renewal of half of the membership of the Councils-General, which took place throughout France yesterday, the Republicans secured 530 seats and the Conservatives 186, and second ballots will be necessary in 44 districts. The results in some of the districts, however, are not yet known. The returns thus far received show that the Republicans gained 36 seats and lost 6, giving them a net gain of 30.

Riots occurred in several districts, the most serious of them being in Roubaix, Carmaux and Barbantane, near Marseilles. Blood was shed freely, but no fatalities are reported.

TO MEET THE HOUSE

The New British Cabinet Meets to Prepare the Speech.

London, July 30.—The parliamentary election in the east division of Donegal yesterday resulted in the return of Mr. Arthur O'Connor, Nationalist, by a vote of 3393 to 2731 for Mr. E. T. Hordman, Conservative. Mr. O'Connor's majority in 1892 was 763.

Londonderry County, South Division—Sir T. Lea, Unionist, 4470; Dodd, Liberal, 4060. In 1892 Lea's majority was 501.

Lord Salisbury presided over the first Cabinet meeting, which was held at the Foreign Office at noon to-day. The meeting was short, the business before it being confined to consideration of the Queen's speech, which it is understood is very brief and contains few if any recommendations. It is stated upon good authority that the document merely summons parliament to met and consider the matter of voting supplies, leaving the details of the policy of the new Government to be presented at the next session.

The feeling in regard to the choice of a Speaker of the House of Commons for the next Parliament is decidedly in favor of the re-election of Mr. Gully.

Lord Wodehouse Fined For Disorder.

London, July 31.—At a Magistrates Court in East Norfolk, Lord John Wodehouse, eldest son and heir of the Earl of Kimberley, was fined £5 for disorderly conduct. His offence consisted in his having disturbed and practically broken up a political meeting in Walsham during the recent general elections. The complaint against him was that he went into a meeting held in the interest of H. Rider Haggard, the novelist, the Conservative candidate for the east division of Norfolk, and seized the chairman, Mr. Gaynor, pulling him from his seat and calling him all sorts of vile names, Bar and coward being the mildest of the epithets applied.

He leaves for England on August 1 and will then proceed to Canada. He goes on his mission on behalf of various farmers' societies, and hopes, if the visit proves satisfactory, to be able to make arrangements to divert to Canada some of the Austrian agricultural emigration that has hitherto gone to Brazil.

Morning Post on Canadian Copyright.

London, July 31.—The Morning Post, in discussing the copyright question, suggests that Canadian publishers follow the English example and establish branch offices in the United States, in which event Americans may possibly be induced to remove restrictions which offend their neighbors. In any effort of that kind, says The Post, the colony may rely upon the support of the British Government, but any interference with an international understanding and imperial legislation would be disastrous to the interests of all parties concerned.

BULLETS FOR A BRIDE

Murdered While Going To Buy the Wedding Ring.

TERRIBLE TRAGEDY IN MONTREAL

Azear Gauthier, a Montreal Cigar Maker Was To Have Married Celina Consigni on Monday Insanely Jealous, He Took Her Life.

Montreal, July 30.—"I shot her in the ear, and she bled like a stuck pig!" was the brutal remark made this morning by a self-confessed murderer.

This afternoon Azear Gauthier of 176 St. Martin-street went to 14 Busby-lane and took Miss Celina Consigni out for a drive.

The couple were to be married on Monday next, and to-day they were to go to Longeuil to invite a relative to the wedding and also to purchase the ring. At half-past 2 the couple went to a house on Bonsecour-street and took a room. One hour later revolver shots were heard, and the people of the house, rushing in, Miss Consigni was found dead on the floor, four pistol shots having been fired into her head and body. Gauthier confessed at once that he was dreadfully jealous of his victim, and had killed her on the spot.

Mrs. Lacoste, who kept the house in question, called her husband, who held the door until the police reached the scene of the murder and took the murderer into custody.

When locked up the prisoner said: "For God's sake let me out or I will die! This is the first thing I ever did wrong in my life."

Gauthier is 27 years of age and Miss Consigni was about the same age and was the 13th child of a family of 16 children. Her poor father is almost crazy over the fate of his child. The murderer is a cigarmaker working with the Empire Tobacco Company.

Blood Stains On Demers' Pants.

The preliminary investigation in the Demers murder case is coming to an end. Dr. Wyatt Johnston, an expert, testified to-day that he had subjected the spots on prisoner's pants to a scientific test, and he had no hesitation in saying that they were bloodstains. It is alleged Demers wore these pants the day his wife was murdered.

It was reported that Porter has embezzled $25,000 by false entries in his books, but the manager of the bank says only a few thousand dollars are missing.

More Conspiracies in Russia.

St. Petersburg, July 31.—An extensive conspiracy has been discovered among the priests of the Seminary and University of Kieff, aiming at the introduction of a plan of greater freedom of attack upon the prevailing system of nepotism in Governmental positions, and it is also stated that the discovery has been made that the Students' Union in the University of Moscow are planning to assassinate the Czar.

NO SURRENDER.

The Keynote of Grand Sovereign Wallace's Address.

MEETING OF GRAND ORANGE LODGE

No Church, Says He To Grand Lodge, Shall Be Allowed To Dictate In Matters Educational—He Will Ever Oppose Coercive Interference.

Halifax, N.S., July 30.—The session of the Orange Grand Lodge is the longest in the history of the association. Delegates are presnt from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Mr. Sparling of Vancouver is the representative from British Columbia. The election of officers takes place to-morrow afternoon. Mr. E. F. Clarke will, it is said, not be a candidate for the position of Sovereign Grand Master, and it now looks as if Hon. N. Clarke Wallace will be re-elected without opposition.

The Grand Sovereign's Address.

The Sovereign Grand Lodge was opened in the afternoon, Grand Master and Sovereign Clarke Wallace presiding. In his address he said:

In meeting once more the delegates to the Grand Lodge of British America, I desire to say how much pleasure it affords me to greet you in the Capital City of Nova Scotia, a province rich in historic events, memorable for the brave deeds of its early sons, a land of Evangeline, famous in story and song, a province in which the two races that make up our population are found working in harmony side by side and hand in hand; a province endowed by nature with the limitable resources of field fisheries and mines; a province whose soil has witnessed deeds of heroism in the cause of the British Empire that will ever reflect glory upon her people and make her one of the brightest stars in the Federal constellation.

The prosperity of our association in Canada has never in its history been more marked than at the present time. There is no province in our broad Dominion that fails to send word of continuous progress of increasing membership of augmented vitality. Our members are greater than ever before, and our principles and purposes are steadily winning more and more commendation from lovers of liberty, loyalty and equal rights towards all, with special privileges to none. The celebration of our Glorious Twelfth was this year unusually enthusiastic. In almost every leading city of the Dominion our brethern turned out in thousands to proclaim their fidelity to Queen and country, the Protestant religion and the principles of the British constitution, while in remote hamlets, smaller though the numbers participating may have been, the same fervent spirit of devotion to our principles was manifested.

I had the great pleasure last summer of attending the meeting in London, England, of the Provincial Council of the Orangemen of the world, and the high honor of presiding over the proceedings of that body. The occasion was one long to be remembered. The cosmopolitan character of the gathering, the eminence of the men assembled, the importance of the subjects discussed, all combined to make the event a special one in the annals of our order. From every portion of the Queen's Dominion, as well as the United States, our brethren were represented, and I am rejoiced to be able to tell you that without a single exception they reported the principles of our association to be taking deeper and deeper root wherever the English tongue is spoken, and wherever men learn to prize the value of liberty of speech and conscience and the tests of the Protestant religion in Australia, in South Africa, to the same degree as in Canada and in Great Britain, then cause for which our forefathers fought is upheld with the courage and ardor that enabled them under the blessings of heaven to win victory, and so secure for us the rights we now enjoy. Let us pray that the zeal of the men of Derry, Aughrim, Enniskillen and the Boyne will ever continue as now to animate their descendants, and that the priceless heritage we enjoy will be kept as a sacred trust, unsullied and unstained.

Addressing the Grand Lodge at its annual meeting last year I reviewed the legal phases through which the Manitoba school question has passed, and concluded with the observation that the whole subject might, I thought, be regarded as having reached a finality, since the Supreme Court of Canada had declared that no appeal of the Roman Catholic minority to the Governor-General-in-Council should be entertained. In this expectation I have been disappointed. The decision of the Supreme Court respecting the appellate jurisdiction of the Governor-in-Council, was taken in appeal to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, and in January last judgment was rendered by the latter tribunal reversing the finding of the Supreme Court and declaring that the appeal might be heard by the Federal authorities. This subject is of such great importance and has evoked so large and active a public interest that I may be pardoned if I proceed to refer to it at some little length. In the first place I would direct your attention to the character of the decision of the law Lords of the Privy Council, embodied in an Imperial Order in Council passed at the court at Osborne House, Isle of Wight, on Feb. 2 1895, and assented to by Her Majesty the Queen. That decision states in relation to the appeal of the Roman Catholic minority of Manitoba, that "the Governor-General-in-Council has jurisdiction, and the appeal is well founded, but that the particular course to be pursued must be determined by the authorities, to whom it has been committed by the statute: that the general character of the steps to be taken is sufficiently defined by sub-section 3 of section 22 of the Manitoba Act, 1870." The judgment goes on to say that "the acts of Manitoba relating to education passed prior to the session of 1890 did confer on the minority a right or pri-

Daily Examiner.

TUESDAY, JULY 30, 1895.

THE "Freeman's Journal" says it is probable that the government will shortly bring forward a scheme to establish and endow a Roman Catholic university in Ireland.

LIKE the Ottawa Government, the Quebec Government is afraid to face the electors, and will delay doing so as long as possible. That Mr. Taillon should be reluctant to face the electors in view of the Paris loan affair and of Mr. Hall's forced retirement from the treasureship and from the government is not a matter for surprise.

A despatch to the 'Novoe Vremya' from Vladivostock, says that Japan is diligently raising the war footing of her army and navy. The two cruisers that she brought from Peru have arrived in Japanese waters and crews will shortly go to England to take to Japan three ironclads which are building there. The despatch adds that there is a strong warlike temper in Japan.

DEAN HARRIS, at the Pan-American meeting protested most strongly against the sending of Protestant missionaries to evangelize the French-Canadian Catholics of Quebec. The protest, says the Toronto News, is well founded. To localities where there are Protestant settlements, or those who desire to hear the gospel as preached by Protestant denominations, it is all very well to send preachers of that faith. But to dispatch Protestant ministers into wholly Catholic centres in the sister province, for the sole purpose of making proselytes, is an insult for which there is no excuse, and an action not calculated to advance Christ's kingdom.

SOME of the leading Conservative papers are questioning the good faith of the Government in connection with its promise that another session of Parliament is to be held. From this it may be gathered that the Conservative press does not entertain a very high opinion of the honour and integrity of the party leaders at Ottawa. L'Electeur, however, expresses the belief that a general election will be held in October. Mr. Foster, it will be remembered, made some peculiar remarks at the close of the session as to something turning up which might prevent the government keeping its promise, but, in view of the solemn pledge given, it seems highly improbably that His Excellency would grant a dissolution and enable the government to grossly violate its obligation.

NUMEROUS case of imposition on life insurance companies by means of false personation are to be found in the law reports of this country and of England. Before Holmes had so far descended in the scale of crime, as to perpetrate murders, he was a successful "placer" of dead bodies and defrauder of insurance companies. The New York Sun suggests that an accurate photograph should be taken of every person whose life is insured at the time of the application for the policy. Such a picture, identified as it could be by the photographer, the insurance agent, and even the signature of the applicant entered upon it, would afford a means of identification which it would be very difficult to dispute, except after a long lapse of time, or where there chanced to be a very striking resemblance between the person insured and the person whose death was the basis of the claim for the insurance money.

IN the latest report of the Postmaster-General there is an item of $2,254 under the heading "Void Money Orders"—that is to say, orders payment of which had not been demanded up to June 30th, 1894. The Toronto World very pertinently asks what efforts the department has made to be honest. Are postmasters who are in possession of unpaid advices, told to make every exertion to find the payee, when he had not presented himself within an ordinary limit of time; or are they simply allowed to rest on their oars and do nothing towards making payment? The remitter has used the Government as a paid agent, and post office ethics must indeed be at a very low ebb if upwards of $2,000 is grabbed in one year, and retained, as both remitter and payee. The chartered banks are not allowed any longer to quietly absorb similar casual advantages in the shape of unclaimed deposits, and the post office should be forced to be equally honest.

THE annual report of the Ontario Bureau of Mines, says the Globe, makes many important additions to current knowledge of the mineral wealth of the Province. The steady course of discovery in North-western Ontario, the new deposits of mineral wealth, the rich and often unexpected stores disclosed in new borings, shafts and excavations, give the satisfactory assurance that the field of discovery is by no means exhausted. There is a possibility that the years to come may be marked by as great discoveries in mineral wealth as have yet been made. The total mineral production for the year is still above $6,000,000, although there has been a slight falling off compared with the products for 1893. Petroleum still holds the leading place, the total output, including the bye products, being $2,146,937. Brick and tile of all kinds and similar products, including sewer pipes and pottery, reach a total of $1,297,230. Next in order of value of output come nickel, $612,724; dimension stone, $360,470; lime, $280,000; natural gas, $204,179; sand and gravel, $208,450. Among the more familiar metals, copper has yielded $195,760, and gold, $32,776. These finures give a gratifying assurance of continuous mineral development.

Golden Wedding At Windsor.

Windsor, July 31.—To-morrow, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Buchanan celebrate their golden wedding. Mr. Buchanan was born in Ireland in 1824, came to Canada when very young, began his career as a member of the police of St. Catharines, and has since been successively book-keeper for a St. Catharines lumber firm 15 years, agent for the Grand Trunk at St. Thomas 25 years, station agent for Canadian Pacific in Manitoba, station agent at Caledon, and for the past four years a clerk in the Windsor office. He was married when 21 years old to Sarah A. Kelly.

DUKE OF ARGYLL MARRIED.

Though 72 He Tries Matrimony for the Third Time.

London, July 31.—The Duke of Argyle was married in Ripon this afternoon to his cousin Ina Erskine McNeill, who is one of the Queen's extra bedchamber women. The Marquis of Lorne, son of the Duke of Argyle and son-in-law of the Queen, was present, and the ceremony was performed by the Rt. Rev. William Boyd Carpenter, Bishop of Ripon, who is also a cousin of the bride. The wedding was a very quiet one, owing to the recent death of Lord Colin Campbell, the fourth son of the Duke, who died in India from pneumonia. The bride received a large number of presents, among them several valuable gifts from the Queen.

WEALTHY, BUT A FORGER.

John Carr, Aged 67, Sentenced to Five Years in Prison.

London, July 30.—John Carr, aged 67 years, was sentenced to five years' imprisonment in the Old Bailey Court to-day for forging letters of credit on Coutts' Bank. Carr is a wealthy man, and has been for years the financial banker of a gang of international forgers, and he was also the banker of Frank Taylor, alias Tarbeaux, the American crook, who was sentenced to three years' imprisonment in June on charges of being concerned with numerous crimes in partnership with William Carroll Woodward, otherwise "the Hon. Willard Musgrove." In 1889 Carr was sentenced to three years' imprisonment in Hamburg for forging American letters of credit.

Nervous Prostration

It is now a well established fact in medical science that nervousness is due to impure blood. Therefore the true way to cure nervousness is by purifying and enriching the blood. The great blood purifier is Hood's Sarsaparilla. Read this letter:

"For the last two years I have been a great sufferer with nervous prostration and palpitation of the heart. I was weak in my limbs and had smothered sensations. At last my physician advised me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla which I did, and I am happy to say that I am now strong and well. I am still using Hood's Sarsaparilla and would not be without it. I recommend it to all who are suffering with nervous prostration and palpitation of the heart." MRS. DALTON, 56 Alice St., Toronto, Ontario. Get Hood's, because

WATTERS RELEASED.

After Serving Only Five Months of His Sentence.

RELEASED TO SAVE HIS LIFE.

Comment Made On the Recent Wholesale Superannuations — New Appointments Made—Three of the Victims of Friday's Drowning Disaster Recovered.

Ottawa, July 31.—The present wholesale superannuation in the outside Customs have given rise to no end of criticism at the department. However, it is stated that all have been made in the interests of economy. Thirty officers were superannuated on the 12th of July. Besides the three men superannuated in Toronto, four in Hamilton, three in St. John, five in Halifax and two in Windsor, many superannuations have taken place in the smaller offices, among them Collector William Kirby at Niagara; Joseph Schryer, at Fort Erie; John Brown, clerk, at Amherstburg, and John D. King of St. Thomas.

George Smith has been appointed sub-collector at Southampton, Ont., and James Bogue special preventive officer at St. George, with a salary of $600. Fred W. Shaw has been appointed sub-collector at St. Mary's, N.W.T., in place of Percy R. Neal, who is now serving a term in the penitentiary for defalcation.

Thomas J. Watters, who, when acting Comisioner of Customs was sentenced to one year's imprisonment for misappropriating public funds, was released this evening, after serving five months of his sentence. The doctors reported that he would not live to put in the full penalty of 12 months.

Joseph R. Esmond has been appointed Deputy Collector Inland Revenue at Ottawa, vice J. M. Heney, superannuated after 28 years' service.

The bodies of three of the victims of Friday's drowning disaster were recovered to-day. The fourth is still missing.

The Department of Customs received to-day in payment of duties a bag of gold weighing 201 1-4 ounces, the estimated value of which is $3963. It was forwarded by Inspector Constantine of the Northwest Mounted Police, who has undertaken the establishment of Customs Collectorship in Yukon Territory, with headquarters at Cudahy. This subscription to the Federal Treasury was forwarded from St. Michael's Island on the 4th July last. It is probably the first instance since the early days of gold mining in the Cariboo district where gold dust has been used in the payment of customs duties. The total amount collected in Fort Cudahy last year was $3248; this year, including the consignments received to-day, the receipts amount to a little over $4500.

The forthcoming statistical year book will contain, among other matter new to the issue of 1895, a chapter on the National Council of Women written by Lady Aberdeen.

The treasurer of the Dominion Rifle Association has arranged transportation for a team of 10 men from British Columbia. The prospects now are that every province in the Dominion will be represented at the matches, which commence here Aug. 26. It is said that the recent victory of Private Hayhurst at Bisley has stirred up interest in rifle shooting to such a degree that the attendance at the D.R.A. will be much larger than at any previous meeting.

HOLMES' CONFEDERATE FOUND

Hatch, Who Assisted the Villain in No Less Than Seven Murders, is Ready to Testify.

Chicago, July 30.—There is now little doubt that the Chicago police will convict H. H. Holmes, alias Mudgett, alias Pratt, alias Gordon, now in the Philadelphia Jail, of the murder of at least seven persons. They know the name of the man who can hang Holmes by giving his testimony, and that man is in their power. His name is Hatch, alias Bond, alias Mascot, and he is now serving 10 years in the penitentiary at Little Rock, Ark., for horse stealing. He was close to Holmes through all his murder plots as janitor Quinlan, and is ready to tell all he knows. This includes the pointing out of the resting place of the Williams sisters, whom he himself assisted in secreting after they were murdered. He will tell how they were murdered and exactly how their bodies were handled. He will also give full and explicit information concerning the murder of Pitezel and his two children, and implicate Holmes in other crimes.

A great deal of importance is attached by the police to the finding this morning of parts of a human skull in the basement of Holmes' Castle by workmen digging there.

Mrs. Pitezel will go to Galva, Ill., to-night. The police intended to prevent her from leaving the city, but abandoned their purpose. They are still of the opinion, however, that she can tell a great deal more than she has yet divulged.

ANTIPODEAN BUDGETS.

New Zealand To Subsidize the Pacific Mail Line.

Melbourne, July 30.—Hon. George Turner, Premier and Treasurer, presented the budget statement in the Executive Assembly of Victoria to-day. The statement shows a deficit for the past year of £114,940, and an estimated surplus for the coming year of £269,196.

TORNADO IN PICTOU COUNTY, N.S.

"Sulphurous Looking" Clouds Burst Devastating the Crops Over a Mile Wide Belt of Country.

Halifax, N.S., July 30.—The section of Pictou County, known as McLennan's Mountain, was visited by a tornado Sunday. There was a cloudburst and trenches 10 feet deep were cut into the hillsides and every watercourse in the vicinity was turner into a torrent. The lightning struck several houses. The clouds moved in different directions and had a sulphurous and threatening appearance. The downfall of rain was coupled with hail. The mountains rise on either side of the valley to the height of about 200 feet. The water rushed down the slopes, choked up he narow entrance and then rose until there were four feet of water across an area of 20 acres. Farmers' crops were ruined. The losses will foot up many thousands of dollars. An old mill was carried bodily away and strewn along the stream for a mile. For an hour the storm raged and 15 inches of hail fell, some of it being found on the ground 26 hours afterward, notwithstanding the fact that a hot sun shone on it. At least a foot of water fell over an area of a mile or a mile and a half.

ALIVE TO THEIR DANGER.

Minneapolis People Making Enquiries With Regard to a Canadian Discovery.

Minneapolis, July 22.—There has been an unusual number of deaths from heart disease in this city during the last few months and in many cases the victims were unconscious of being sufferers from the dread complaint. Post mortems have shown in several instances that the trouble was directly traceable to a diseased condition of the kidneys and people have become alive to the danger. A number of enquiries have been instituted with with regard to the best methods of cure and the new Canadian specific remedy known as Dodd's Kidney Pills has come in for a great share of attention owing to the extraordinary number of cures which have been effected through this agency.

Deadly Cancer Cured By B. B. B.

HERE IS THE PROOF.

Messrs. T. Milburn & Co:

SIRS,—About four years ago I was taken sick with stomach trouble. I consulted several leading local physicians, all of whom pronounced my disease incurable cancer of the stomach, and told me I had not long to live. Two physicians attending me gave me up to die. Through reading your advertisement, and by advice of friends, I tried your Burdock Blood Bitters and I am happy to say that after using one bottle I was able to leave my bed which I had been confined to for a long time. I am thankful now to state that B.B.B. cured my disease which baffled the doctors, and I am firmly convinced saved my life. Gratefully yours,

ELIZABETH GILHULA,

A Marvellous Result.

Mr. A. R. took out ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy No. 6332 in Canada Life Co. for Five Thousand Dollars in the year 1868. He was then 25 years of age.

The Premium paid was $181 a year for 10 years.....$1,810.

Notice the Result.

The total profits added to the Policy to end of 1894 and for which he holds a certificate amounts to the enormous sum of.....$3,281

The holder therefore has been credited not only with every cent paid for premiums, but also Fourteen Hundred and Seventy One Dollars in addition, besides receiving a fully paid up policy for the original Five Thousand Dollars, which still participates in profits.

Now This is What we Want to Know!

This is a Peterborough Policy! Is there any citizen of Peterborough with an ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy either in Canadian, British or American Co, which shows anything like as large profits as this one?

If there is, we should esteem it a great favour if we are allowed to see it, as we have been looking for such a one for years and so far have not been able to find it.

And yet the wine itself is better than anything that could be said about it. Wilson's Invalid Port Wine. That is the celebrated brand which has rapidly risen in public favour. The reason is that it meets the need for a bracing tonic which shall be without the disagreeable features of medicine. Wilson's Invalids' Port is a fine old wine of undoubted age, which has the effect of a bracing and stimulating tonic. It dispels lassitude, puts a new heart of hope into the invalid, but chiefly is it invaluable in that it gives new blood to an impoverished system. Sold by all dealers at $7.50 per case of 12 quart bottles—half case $4.00 or 75 cts. per bottle. Address—Bordeaux Claret Co. 30 Hospital street, Montreal.

THE WHYTE POND MATTER.

The Inquiry Adjourned for the Present—No Witnesses Present.

The Board of Health met again last evening and resumed its inquiry into the sanitary condition of Whyte's pond. There were present Messrs. J. J. Hartley (chairman), Chas. Stapleton, B. Shortly, Robt. Innes, Henry Denne, Dr. McGrath, Adam Hall and Wm. Blackwell.

Dr. Caldwell was the only medical man present, and he was called upon to give evidence, but stated that he was not in a position to testify on account of never having examined the dam. He stated that he had signed the petition supposing it to be correct. In the absence of any testimony from medical experts the case of the prosecution was closed, and Mr. John Burnham, Q.C., for the defence, asked an adjournment that he might prepare evidence in rebuttal of that which had been taken. He had no opportunity of knowing until last night just what the nature of the evidence to be offered would consist of.

The Board then retired into a conference with closed doors, on the understanding that Mr. Burnham would be given one week to prepare his evidence after the prosecution had finally closed its case.

There was no quorum of the council and so the matter is laid over for the present, although the contractor wishes to begin work on Monday.

AN UNCANNY INCIDENT.

The Grave Gives up its Dead—The Village in Great Excitement.

Ashburnham has a sensation this week, which is causing considerable excitement amongst the residents.

On Driscoll street lives a lone widow who has in her possession a number of spinning looms, which have been standing idle since the death of her husband, who went to his grave without imparting the secret of operating the looms to his wife.

Several times has she attempted to operate them, but without success, and they remained idle until a few days ago, when it is claimed she obtained the secret from her dead husband.

A few evenings since the old lady retired to her bed, her thoughts being deeply centered on the mysterious dust-covered loom, when an apparition appeared in the room before her in the form of her dead husband, who, strange to relate, was attired in the self-same outfit as when operating his favourite looms.

He clasped her by the hand and led her through the silent house to the department in which the looms were stored, where he divulged to her the secret he had carried to the grave. After he had operated them for some time, he immediately disappeared. Next day the old lady could be seen at the looms, working them as her husband used to do in the days gone by.

The affair has created intense excitement in that quarter of the village where the widow lives and she still adheres to story. In fact she is perfectly convinced that her husband appeared to her and started the looms in operation and no reasoning can move her from the stand she has taken.

The case is indeed a strange one. All her acquaintances were perfectly aware of her many futile attempts to set the looms in motion and on suddenly finding her working amongst them were dumfounded and on bearing her explanation of the matter were strongly inclined to give credence to it.

DEBT COLLECTING SCHEMES.

The use of pretended legal forms for the purpose of frightening debtors into paying up is not only an offence under the Criminal Code, but similar illegal practices have already been brought to the notice of the courts, with the result that the offender has been convicted. A case in point was decided a few years ago in England by Mr. Justice Hawkins. The defendant was accused of simulating a court document, and in pronouncing sentence the learned judge said the offence was as bad as the making or uttering counterfeit money, because if the delinquent debtor were not driven to pay up in this way, the aid of the courts might have been required, and their revenues thus suffered.

Another point that was brought out in the case was that the unauthorized use of the British coat-of-arms was illegal. The same law would probably hold good in reference to the notices of the debt-collecting agencies, the most conspicuous feature of which is the national coat-of-arms, its use being part of the deception sought to be practiced on the debtor. In the case under consideration, Mr. Justice Hawkins permitted the defendant to go unpunished owing to his ignorance of the gravity of the offence, but he took steps to prevent its repetition. Something should be done in Ontario to put a stop to the abuse of the process of the court to which attention has been directed.

FAIRY REVEL SONG.

(For the Examiner).

The silv'ry moon gleaming
O'er the surf seeming
Freckled by quivering dancing sprays ;
As here and there flitting,
Shadows out-witting,
Wanton we merrily ! the bright rays.

While stars shine so brightly,
Tripping so lightly,
Threading the mase, a beautiful throng ;
'Neath canopy rustic,
On greensward so mystic,
Looting so flatly, the summer night long.

Our blossom-deckt tresses,
Gossamer dresses,
Coquetting gaily by shadow and sheen ;
While cool breezes soft make Æolian harps wake
'Mid the weird forest aisle's whisp'ring green.

Sip we bright sparkling dew
For mead, sweet and new,
From goblet of venus-shell daintily clear ;
Right jovial we quaff,
With gay quip and laugh,
All lightsome fairies pledging good cheer.

List ! noisily pond'ring,
O'er his guard wond'ring,
Barketh the ban-dog full eerily ;
And graces our meeting,
Music'ly greeting,
A mavis deep hid i' th' bosky tree.

We'll ha-te away swiftly,
Hieing so deftly,
When the brave chanticleer morning foretells ;
Be sheltered completely,
Cradeled all safely,
Through the broad day in scented flower bells.

GALWAY.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Mr. H. Barry, who had the misfortune to get his dwelling destroyed by fire about two months ago, met with another severe loss one day last week. Immediately after the fire burnt his dwelling, in May, he removed into a small house which was erected on his own lot, only a few rods to the rear of the one that was taken by the fire. While labouring on his farm a short distance from home he saw the smoke and at once returned to the scene, but was horror stricken to see his house in ashes. His household effects were entirely consumed. The only occupants in the house at the time of the fire was his little boy about five years old. He, however, succeeded in escaping uninjured.

This section of the country was favoured a fine rain on the 20th, which lasted four hours, doing much good to the grain and root crops. It has been supplemented by several showers since, and farmers are entertaining the hope that they will have sufficient feed to winter their stock. The only thing that seems troublesome now is the grasshoppers, they are so numerous here this season that any field of grain that is partially surrounded by grass lands is damaged to quite an extent. If expert agriculturists could find a parasite of any kind that would devour grasshoppers it would be well to import them into this country.

Mr. and Mrs. Burgess, of Verulem township, are visiting friends here.

The Sting Within.

It is said there is a rankling thorn in every heart, and yet that none would exchange their own for that of another. Be that as it may, the sting arising from the heart of a corn is real enough, and in this land of tight boots a very common complaint also. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor is a never failing remedy for this kind of heartache, as you can easily prove if afflicted. Cheap, sure, painless. Try the genuine and use no other.

Y.P.S.C.E. NOTES.

We propose next week to give a condensed report of the last International Convention held in Boston early this month.

ST. PAUL'S.

Considering the absence of so many members on their holidays, the meeting on Monday was a good one, even as regards the attendance, and certainly the spirit of the meeting gave those present an uplift in the Christian life. After the consecration roll call, Miss Blanche Brown (who was in the chair) read a splendid paper on the topic, and quite a number of the members took part, making it altogether a very helpful meeting.

MARK STREET SOCIETY.

This evening was held our business meeting. First Vice-President occupied the chair. The society is about to lose one of its esteemed members in the person of Mr. Matthew Reid, who is about to depart from our midst, and our prayers are that should we never meet here again in this world, that we may all meet in heaven as members of one unbroken family. The society intends holding a moonlight excursion down the river next week to which a cordial invitation is extended to all.

CHARLOTTE STREET SOCIETY.

Had a very profitable meeting on Monday evening, and the attendance was good notwithstanding the wet weather. The President took up the topic of the evening making it very helpful indeed by the many points which were brought out and the manner in which the opinions of the members were solicited made it more interesting. Next Monday evening will be held our consecration service. Our pastor will fill the chair and take up the topic of the evening. Try and make it convenient to attend.

THE BIBLE AND BIG SLEEVES.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

MR. EDITOR,—Allow me to draw the attention of your numerous intelligent, conscientious, Christian lady readers to a passage of Scripture which appears to show that the large sleeves of the present silly fashion were not only in vogue in the days of good old Ezekiel, but that a curse was pronounced on the women that used them. Of course I am not quite sure that the word "pillows" referred to there so completely applies to the pillow-like sleeves of the present day as to bring the dear ladies under the curse, but when I read it the reference was so striking that it made me quite nervous. I hope your lady readers will be able to give some explanation whereby the curse will be removed—if not the sleeves—and it will do no harm if it will cause the extravagant fashion to be abandoned. These are hard times, and people should economize in small matters as well as great.

I wish they would read Ezekiel, chap. 13, v. 18 and 20: "Woe to the women that sew pillows to all arm holes"—"Wherefore, thus saith the Lord God, behold I am against your pillow."

Yours,
PATER.

GATHERING OF THE CLANS.

The Sons of Scotland of the Quinte district have evidently determined to make their big gathering of the Clans at Massassaga, on Friday, Aug. 9, one of the most successful events of the kind ever held in Ontario. It is expected brethren from Campbellford and Peterborough will run an excursion to Belleville in order to join in the event. The Kingston Scots will run a special excursion. Deseronto and Napanee will go together. Glenliffer camp, of Trenton, will go down on the Varuna and the Picton brethren are expected to run a boat of their own. The following games have been decided upon for the day, the first dozen events being open to members of the various camps, the remainder being open to all:

Best dressed Highlander.
Bagpipe playing.
Highland dancing.
Throwing hammers.
Putting stone.
Running high leap.
Standing high leap.
Hurdle race, 100 yards.
200 yard race.
Standing broad jump.
Running hop, step and jump.
Ladies' wood-sawing contest (open).
Race for bald heads (open).
Pie-eating contest (open).
Wheelbarrow race (open).
Sack race (open).

RAILWAY NOTES.

Sparks of News From the Whirling Wheels—Interesting Cinders for the Eye.

Since the lumbering season in the north has finished the business of the Midland division has fallen off considerably, but is expected to pick up again next month. At present the newly-made conductors have been put back braking, and the brakemen have been laid off, or at least a good many of them.

Engine No. 637, which we mentioned last week as having lately arrived from Stratford, is now doing service on the Toronto way freight prior to being put into passenger service. Every engine has to travel 6,000 miles as a freight engine before it can be used on a passenger train. It is in charge of Engineer J. Janes.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES.

Items of Interest to Local Sportsmen—Aquatic and Field Sports.

LACROSSE.

The town is quite lacrosse-mad to-day, and in the different hotels and on the street corners the various points of the two opposing teams are being discussed in every detail. Port Hope seems so sure of victory that it augurs there's a nigger in the fence somewhere, and probably the train which comes up will have a number of new faces on it, but if they are not too numerous Peterborough will still be in it. The Port Hope sports are flush with money and on striking the town made this so very apparent that the local backers laid low and drew the Port Hopers on to offer odds, which they did, and a good deal of money was put up by them at two to one. Whether they part with it or not remains to be seen. The home team is composed as follows: Dobbin, goal; Boland, point; Green, cover point; Brown, Joe McDonough and Thompson, defence field; T. McDonough, centre; Rubidge, Hickey and Lipsett, home field; W. Galley, outside home; Jno McDonough, inside home.

The Port Hope team is supposed to be composed of D. Hoey, L. White, J. White, F. Nattrass, Geo. Tutton, T. Burt, T. Tuer, M. Sullivan, J. Foster, J. Crowhurst, R. Mieson, R. Hayden and J. Richardson.

FOOTBALL.

An enthusiastic gathering of the members of the North End Football Club were out last evening for practice, and some fine play was witnessed by the spectators. The club have it in their head that they can beat any other club in town, and hereby challenge all clubs to a friendly game. Address all communications to Jay Dunn, Secretary.

CRICKET.

The last English mail brings news of a gigantic score which was made by Lancashire against Somerset, on the Somerset County ground at Taunton recently. The Lancashire men went in first and put together no less than 801 before the last wicket fell, but of this enormous total, A. C. Maclaren, who did great things out in Australia last winter, made 424. This batting performance is without a parallel in first-class cricket and he had the great satisfaction of lowering a record which has been held by W. G. Grace since the Canterbury week of 1876. He went in first with the pro., Albert Ward, and was at the wickets the whole of the first day's play and for the greater part of the second. His wicket was the seventh to fall, and up to that time the men from the County Palatine had made 792. He was batting for 7 hours and 50 minutes, and his score of 424 is 80 runs in front of W. G. Grace's memorable 344, made for the Gentlemen of the M.C.C. v. Kent. Previous to July 16th last the only men who had scored over 300 runs in a first-class match had been W. G. Grace, W. L. Murdock and W. W. Reid, so that McLaren will take a famous place in the history of cricket. Lancashire's score of 801 is the highest ever recorded in a county match, and has only been beaten in any contest on two previous occasions, viz., (1) in 1887 in the match smokers v. non-smokers, played on the East Melbourne grounds, Australia, when the score was 803, and (2) in the year 1893, when it will be remembered, the Australians v. past and present of Oxford and Cambridge Universities put together 843 runs.

The Rev. J. A. Tanner, Y.P.S.C.E. delegate to Boston, gave a very interesting report last Tuesday evening in the Presbyterian church; so much so that a request for a repetition has been made, when additional items of interest will be given.

Messrs. Rowan & Walker have large contracts for threshing clover in Ennismore township, and they report that crop exceedingly good and farmers' prospects good there.

Seven Killed by Lightning.

St. Louis, Mo., July 30.—During a cyclone Saturday night seven persons were killed by lightning at the town of Three States. They were George McClellan, his wife and three children and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas. The smokestack of the Three States Milling Co.'s mill was blown down.

Lightning Strikes a Gas Well.

Windsor, Ont., July 30. — Lightning played a strange trick with the Ontario Company's wells on the Mallot farm in Mersea Township, Saturday. The bolt struck the gas and fired it. It was nearly an hour before the men succeeded in extinguishing it, at the risk of their lives. Simultaneously a house in Leamington, some three miles distant, was struck, the roof and walls being riddled as if they had suffered a bombardment. The residents were stunned, but escaped serious injury.

Drowned at Gore Bay.

Gore Bay, July 30.—Edward Nesbitt, keeper of the Cape Roberts lighthouse, was found drowned in four feet of water at the docks. There were blood stains on the face, and the coroner will hold an inquest.

Strikers' Riot in New York.

New York, July 30.—Rioting, attended with bloodshed, occurred to-day in the Hebrew colony, Brooklyn, E.D., caused by some of the striking tailors attempting to prevent non-union men from working. The police dispersed the mob.

Hot Weather in Central Europe.

Berlin, July 29.—Tropical heat prevails in Germany, Austria and Italy. There have been many cases of sunstroke in Vienna and elsewhere. Thunder and hail storms in parts of Germany have ruined the crops. Many persons were injured during the storms. A number of cattle were also killed and injured.

Denver Union Bank Shut Up.

Denver, Col., July 30.—The doors of the Union Bank here are closed, and that institution is in the hands of the Government. The county treasurer's office was closed this morning, Bankers Moffett, Cooper and McIntosh withdrawing from the Treasurer Wygant's bond of half a million dollars. News boundsmen presented were declined, and the office was closed.

School Souvenirs.

Those who are just leaving school should exchange photographs with one another, or at least autographs. High school girls will understand the quotation from Virgil: "Haec olim meminisse juvabit," but for the benefit of those less advanced it is translated: "It will be pleasant hereafter to remember these things."

Be careful, also, how, in your anxiety to be rid of childish tasks, you destroy composition and exercise books. It is not advisable to keep everything, but years hence you may wish you had preserved report cards, essays or drawings that would bring back your school days.

Hot weather proves depressing to those whose blood is poor. Such people should enrich their blood with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

How to Get the Best Results From Farm Poultry.

In order to get the best returns from our hens, we must make them a branch of our business, and pay more attention to them than is done in most cases. Poultry will no more pay if neglected than any other business will. The successful men are those only who carefully look after every branch of their pursuits. Nine times out of ten the farm hen gets little or no care, but has to scratch for her living, roost out on the fences and trees, endure the piercing cold winds and rains, and take care of herself as best she can. In some cases the poultry are supplied with a house, but most of these are inadequate and unsuitable. Is it any wonder, then, that under such treatment they do not pay, and are decried as unprofitable by most farmers, while under more favorable treatment and care they would prove the farmer's best friend and pay him a handsome profit for the food consumed?

To make a success with our hens, we must commence by providing them with a comfortable, roomy, well-lighted and cleanly kept house, which need not necessarily be a costly structure, but can be constructed of ordinary material so long as it is roomy, well lighted, free from cold draughts and sufficiently warm in winter to keep its inmates from freezing their tender parts.

It should contain two rooms, a smaller one in which they sleep, and a larger one in which they are fed and take exercise during the day, scratching and hunting for their grain feed, which should be scattered among cut straw or chaff, in order to make them work; for a lazy hen, like a lazy boy or girl, never amounts to anything and is only a source of annoyance. Now, after you have a suitable house, you must stock it with a chicken that is bred to suit your purpose. For most farmers who are not within reach of a large city market, where they can dispose of their chickens for broilers at a remunerative price, the production of eggs, in the main part, will be found the most profitable, and for such the different smaller breeds (which by many are termed as the egg producing machines) such as Leghorns, Minorcas, and Andalusians, will prove the best. Where both eggs and chickens can profitably be disposed of, Plymouth Rocks, Wyandottes, and other large breeds will answer best.—Live stock Journal.

Most Powerful Vessel Afloat.

The British cruiser Terrible, recently launched on the Clyde, is the most powerful vessel in the world. The length of the great war vessel is over all 538 feet; breadth, 71 feet; depth to upper deck, 43 feet 4 inches. The displacement is 14,250 tons, being an enormous increase on the Blenheim or the Blake, the largest vessels of this type in the British navy. The Terrible has no belt of side armor, as in previous men-of-war, the machinery and magazines being protected by a steel arched deck of great strength. The top of this arch is 31 feet above the water line, while the edges are 7 feet below the sides of the vessel. The engines are triple expansion, and indicate 25,000 horsepower, and will develop a speed of 22 knots. The vessel is a new departure in war ship construction, being built on the lines of the large Atlantic liners.

Fish Get the Wrong Bait.

A fisherman who went down into Lake Keuka in ships of the skiff variety in order to fish, trailing a jug of bait behind the boat to keep it cool, was twice annoyed by having his jug broken, which, of course, put an end to the fishing for the day. On the second occasion when this occurred, the fisherman soon after saw a large fish swimming about near the surface in a lazy and irresolute way. He rowed up to the fish, and to his surprise was able to pick it up in his hands. The fish was perfectly sound, but had rather more color than usual, but his breath smelled strongly of alcohol. This gave him an idea. Next day he trailed behind his boat a jug wherein the lure was cunningly commingled with opium. Hid in the stern of the boat, while another rowed he kept sharp watch. Presently he saw a number of monstrous fish approach, bearing on their noses they had evidently rooted out of the lake bottom. One sharp crack from the jug, when the thieves eagerly drank up the liquid as it mingled with the surrounding water. Shortly after a number of the finest fish ever seen on the lake floated to the top in their opium dream of bliss, and were captured.

The New Specific Remedy is Being Extensively Used at Ottawa.

Ottawa, July 29.—The marvellous recovery of Mr. G. H. Kent, of this city, from Bright's disease by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills is still fresh in the memories of Ottawa people, and the remedy is being freely recommended both by druggists and private citizens. The similar wonderful cures of Dr. A. G. McCormick, of Richmond, Quebec, and Mr. Arthur Coley, of Somerset, Manitoba, to say nothing of many others, are generally quoted in favour of the assertion that no remedy of modern times has gone so successfully through a severe trial, and been so efficacious in all cases of kidney trouble. It is also proving itself invaluable in the milder forms of sickness which appear during the summer.

THE LONDON OF TO-DAY.

ONE'S FIRST WEEKS IN THE METROPOLIS ARE NEVER FORGOTTEN.

Profound is the Impression created by the Vastness and Statelliness of the Modern Babylon—The Spires of Greater London—The City's Magnificent Pleasure Grounds.

An English correspondent of the New York Tribune, in a recent letter to that journal, gives the fololwing interesting account of the city of London as it is to-day:

An American friend, who has lived in London for many years, surprised me a day or two ago by congratulating me upon being a newcomer with a fresh pair of eyes. "I envy anyone," he said, "the high privilege of making a first visit in England. One's first weeks in London are never to be forgotten; but how soon they pass, and with them the supreme happiness of earliest impressions!" What he meant was that the high tension of sensibility speedily relaxes, and London, with its splendid antiquity, infinite variety and awe-inspring vastness, becomes familiar and prosaic. My friend convinced me that there might be compensations for rawness and inexperience, and that my earliest impressions of the loveliest country and the greatest town in the world might have some value.

Since one cannot come up to London without a short journey from the coast, the first word must be about the loveliness of English rural scenery. Whoever enters England at Southampton, the most convenient gateway, seems to be journeying all the way through a continuous park, planned by a landscape gardner who has known the poetry of his art. It is not necessary to refer to the distant glimpse of the noble cathedral of Winchester, the picturesque villages, the thatched-roof cottages, the stately trees, the broad sweeps of level meadow, the winding lanes, the flowering hedges and other equally familiar details. What is most remarkable in this series of entrancing rustic pictures is the absence of blemishes and flaws. There is nothing unsightly at any turn. There are no blackened stumps bleaching in the fields; there are no ugly fences falling out of repair; no depressions in the slopes of the well-drained meadows, and no signs of disorder and lack of tidiness in the villages. There is the refinement of landscape art without traces of neglect, carelessness, or lack of harmony. No rural scenery can be more beautiful than the English fields and byways in May, when the pink bloom is on the chestnuts, the hawthorn is bursting into flower, and the meadows are lighted up with the golden tints of the laburnum and innumerable red and white flowers. Nowhere are the flowers lovelier and more delicate; nowhere are the trees more shapely or the fields greener. Everywhere there is a sense of symmetry and repose that comes from perfection of detail. The English country scenes are not in a transition stage with disfigurements to be removed. The English country is finished. Nothing remains to be done in order to perfect these pictures of rural loveliness.

The same impressions are produced by the magnificent pleasure grounds of London and its environs. I do not refer to the new parks, commons and breathing places controlled by the County Council and in process of transformation, but to the old parks, and especially to Hyde Park, Regent's, Kew Gardens, Richmond and Hampton Court. These, too, like the English country, are finished. Where can there be a finer stroll than a walk through Hyde Park in the early forenoon or in the late afternoon, when the light is softly tempered and the background is not too brilliant? Or where can there be a lovelier drive than that from Kew to Richmond, and thence through Bushey Park to Hampton Court? There has been a long, disagreeable winter, which has impaired the most robust constitutions and tended to depress the most buoyant spirits; but nature has not suffered from the protracted frosts and sharp changes. The trees are full, and the verdure of the woods and fields is as vivid as ever. The oaks, walnuts, beeches, larches, cedars and chestnuts show no sign of weakness or dryness; the azalea are flaming with splendour and over the hedgerows hangs a glory of pink and white, and fields powdered with butetrcups, daisies and bluebells are free from dust and delicate in their freshness of tone. The English love their trees and flowers, and know how to group and mass them. In their parks they study the broadest and most restful effects, and avoid fussiness and prettiness in details. There is an artistic sense of tranquility and repose in their landscape art that is lacking in American rural and suburban scenery. Everything is finshed, perfect and harmonious.

He must have indeed a dull soul who can stand in Westminster Abbey for the first time or catch from the Thames his earliest glimpses of the dome of St. Paul's and the Houses of Parliament after a long walk from Hyde Park to Lombard street, without being profoundly impressed with all the vastness and stateliness of London. It is modern London in a transition stage that he sees. Of old Lodon, comparatively little remains, although what there is of it is either splendid in form or rich in precious associations. There are the storied spots in the busiest quarters haunted by benignant ghosts for those who have eyes to see them; but the modern town is not so incomparably great and interesting as to discourage historical reminiscences and sentimental journeys for the identification of famous sites. The visitor is now content to have antiquity massed for him, in the incomparable abbey, the ancient tavern and chophouses, and the tower; and even in the last named spot his attention is distracted by the splendid new bridge which spans the Thames. That is a parable of the relations of past and present in London. The new is everywhere jostling and crowding out the old. London, in spite of its blackened stone fronts, is essentially modern. It challenges attention and admiration less for what it has been than for what it is—the centre of latter-day civilization, the metropolis of the modern world.

M. Daudet has spoken of the silence of London as the first thing that impressed him. With all the swollen traffic of the crowded thoroughfares, and the ceaseless movement of equipages day and night, there is a duller roar than one expects to hear, and it is a deep undertone rather than a confused medley of sounds. But one cannot be long in London without having a consciousness of the vast human energy and activity that are concentrated here. Even in the impressive silence of London he feels the throb of all the world-wide industries and interests of the race. Statistics are not readily absorbed and interpreted. One hears without emotion or intelligence that the greater London of the Metropolitan Police District has a population of five millions, and that within twenty miles of Charing Cross there are at least seven millions of men, women and children. But when one travels for hours across the town from one swarming hive of population to another, and sees everywhere the ebb and flow of ceaseless activity, he is appalled by the vastness of London, and thinks of it as a system of worlds, crossing orbits and revolving one about another, and forming something like a human universe. The display of riders and equipoges in Hyde Park morning and afternoon are commonly described as the most brilliant spectacle in London. What is even more impressive is the daily movement of life and traffic in the streets. That is the marvel of the modern world.

Unlike the English country, London is not finished. Old as are the traditions and historical associations, it is a new and very recent London that the visitor sees. I am not referring to the architecture and main thoroughfares, but to the transformations of administration and municipal service which have been necessary in order to answer the requirements of a multiplied population. London s now one of the best drained cities in Europe, but forty years ago there were few underground sewers, and drainage ditches emptied pollution directly into the Thames all along its banks. The pavements to-day excites the admiration of every American visitor; and they are not only kept in perfect repair, but they are cleaned every day with thoroughness and painstaking care. But forty years ago there was not a well-paved thoroughfare. Then there was a tangle of narrow streets in the busiest quarters without outlets or inlets for traffic; but in a single generation $100,000,000 has been expended in the opening of new thoroughfares, many of which have been put through business sections. The sanitary and police arrangements, and the educational system, have been revolutionized during the same period. Within the last ten years disused cemeteries have been converted into public breathing places, and the park area has been more than doubled. All the rapid transit facilities, incomplete as they are, are of recent introduction. Indeed, the strangest anomaly about the city that impresses an American visitor is its essentially modern and progressive character. He comes up to London expecting to revel in glimpses of antiquity and he finds himself at once preoccupied with practical evidences of the modern art of municipal government and enlightened progress in solving the complex problem of ministering to the comfort and necessities of an immense urban population.

The spires of Greater London number nearly a thousand. Seldom is a visitor far removed from at least one of them, and he cannot remain here long without acknowledging the potency of the influence exerted by the churches. One of my many surprises in London was a casual visit to Old Bow Church at noon on a week day, when I expected to find it empty; but there was a crowded congregation listening to a practical sermon from an eloquent preacher and joined in a hearty hymn. Outside was the whirl and rumble of London at its busiest hour, and in one of the noisiest centres, but within was an old-fashioned evangelical service conducted with fervor. I have yet to enter an English church on Sunday that was not thronged with worshippers; nor have I ever seen a great city that was more orderly and quiet on Sundays than this great, progressive, conservative London.

"SUN" LIFE

Assurance Co'y of Canada.

Explanation of the Company's System of Profit Distribution.

The method of profit distribution of most companies is to give a bonus or profit on the sum assured, irrespective of the premiums paid. The Sun Life of Canada allots its profits to policies in proportion to the premiums paid, which is considered to be the more equitable system. This accounts for the variations in the percentages of the accompanying results. The lower rates given below are, in most cases, on young lives. The examples are taken from the Company's claim register as at the end of 1894, for the first 5 years.

BIG PROFITS —ON— Small Investments

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful Speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our Systematic Plan of Speculation

originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well-known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plain are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

WRITE FOR CONVINCING PROOF, also our Manual on successful speculation and our Daily Market Report, full of money-making pointers. ALL FREE. Our Manual explains margin trading fully. Highest references in regard to our standing and success.

NO SURRENDER.

vilege in relation to education within the meaning of sub-section 2 of section 22 of the Manitoba Act, which alone applies: that the two acts of 1890 complained of did effect a right or privilege of the minority in such a manner that an appeal will lie thereunder to the Governor-General-in-Council?

Now, as you are aware, a great deal of stress has been laid by the friends of Remedial Legislation upon this decision of the highest court in the empire, approved by Her Majesty the Queen, as being practically a command to the Dominion Government and the Parliament of Canada to provide the redress asked by the Roman Catholics, namely, the restoration of Separate Schools in Manitoba, but in my own view, and I know that I am not alone in holding it, all the Judicial Committee has declared is that the appeal of the minority may be heard, and that jurisdiction may be given to the Parliament of Canada by the Government by making an order upon the Manitoba authorities. This phase of the question, however, is essentially and distinctly political, and not judicial or merely automatic. The Dominion Government cannot divest itself of political responsibility by assuming to act as a judicial body. In the last resort, the Parliament of Canada, the matter must be dealt with on political, though not on party grounds. As you are aware, the Judicial Committee rendered its decision, the Federal Government heard the appeal of the minority, and subsequently made an order on the Manitoba authorities to restore the Roman Catholics the rights and privileges which they had enjoyed previous to the enactment of the Public School laws in 1890. The order has not been compiled with. The Provincial Legislature, in a moderately-worded memorial, has set forth the reasons why the Order cannot be carried into effect, at the same time intimating that if any real grievances on the part of the minority exist, they will be duly considered with a view to their removal, and in consequence of this intimation the Federal Government has resolved, with the approval of the House of Comons, to renew communication with the Manitoba authorities for the purpose of ascertaining more definitely what the latter are disposed to regard as grievances calling for redress.

I have never concealed from myself that this question is surrounded with difficulties, nor have I hesitated to frankly express my own opinions upon it when occasion has required. The line of distinction between secular and religious education is easily drawn. The one is the duty and the care of the state; the other pertains to the church, and just in so far as the two are conjoined in home the Public schools to that extent is the danger of church and state alliance created. No man, least of all members of our association, would desire to ride rough-shod over or in any way interfere with the conscience of the religious convictions of any portion of our population. Liberty of conscience and the free exercise of religion lies at the very root and foundation of Orange principles. But Separate schools, the recognition by the state of one denomination as entitled to special privileges in matters of education, seems to me wholly incompatible with that absolute divorce of Church and State which we hold to be essential to the well-being of the community at large, and necessary to the inculcation of a spirit of common citizenship and a sense of common patriotism. Education has been committed by our constitution to the provinces. Out of the seven provinces which form the Dominion of Canada in two only has a system of Separate schools been established by law, and speaking here, in the Capital of Nova Scotia, I appeal to you of the Maritime Provinces to bear me out in the statement that the Public school system, which you have so long enjoyed, has worked to the advantage of all classes and creeds, to the benefit of the people as a whole, and to the injury of none, either in respect of secular or religious education. I do not believe that the people of Manitoba would tolerate the infliction of any class in that province of real, tangible, manifest grievance in the matter of the schools. I know them well enough and have sufficient faith in their sense of right and justice to be convinced that no appeal made to them which is based on a case of actual hardship or oppression will be allowed to remain unheeded, but I do strenuously object now and at all times to any law being imposed upon that or any other province at the dictation of a church. What has been proved by experience to be sound policy in the case of Prince Edward Island, of Nova Scotia, of New Brunswick, of British Columbia, may safely be applied to the young and lusty Province of Manitoba, and if the time should ever arrive when coercive interference with its educational system is attempted, I will not fail to give effect to the views which I have so often previously expressed, and which I have now once more reiterated.

The public meeting in the Academy of Music was largely attended. The speakers included Major Armstrong of St. John. Sam Hughes, who said Nova Scotians should take deep interest in the Manitoba school question; R. Sparkie, Grand Master of British Columbia, who said there would never be separate schools in his province; Grand Master McGlachan of Quebec; Alex. Muir, Toronto; Past Grand Master Galbraith of Quebec, who dealt with Manitoba question in vigorous manner; Rev. T. G. Gregory, Halifax; Rev. A. L. Geggie, Truro; Rev. William Walsh, Brampton; Ex-Mayor Clarke, Toronto, who said: "If we have been easy-going and for the sake of peace have stretched the constitution, we must not have imposed on us a system which will jeopardize the rights of our children. The time has come when Orangemen must break with those with whom they had been associated in the past. He held that questions of party politics would be lost sight of in next election. Hon. Clarke Wallace followed in a very moderate speech on lines similar to his address, and the meeting was closed by Rev. Madill.

THE GRAND BLACK CHAPTER.

Election of Officers and Address of the Grand Master.

Halifax, N.S., July 30.—The Grand Black Chapter of British America met at the Masonic Hall here last night. The Most Worshipful Grand Master, Sir Robert Weir of Peterboro', was in the chair, Sir William Lee of Toronto in the deputy chair, and Sir Major A. T. Armstrong of St. John, N.B., in the associate deputy chair.

The address of the Most Worshipful Grand Master contained the following reference to the Manitoba school question.

"The Dominion Government, having pledged itself at the next session to pass an act to compel the Province of Manitoba to restore Roman Catholic Separate Schools, it is the duty of each of us to do all in our power to defeat that measure by bringing what influence we can to bear on our representatives, and by pledging all candidates for Parliamentary honors in future to to use his voice and vote for the maintenance of our Public School system throughout our Dominion."

An address of welcome was read, in which were these words: "Should a time arrive when it will be necessary for us to give a practical demonstration of our loyalty to the cause, we feel convinced that Nova Soctia will not be found wanting."

The Black Chapter elected the following officers: Grand Master, William Lee, Toronto; Deputy Grand Master, A. G. Armstrong, St. John; Associate D.M.M., J. H. Scott, Kincardine; Grand Chaplain, Rev. William Walsh, Brampton; Grand Registrar, J. S. Williams, Toronto; Deputy Grand Registrar, J. C. Gass, Nova Scotia; Grand Treasurer, J. B. Browniee, Toronto; Grand Lecturer, James Fulton, Toronto. One of the Deputy Grand Lecturers is Jas. Kennedy, Toronto; Grand Standard Bearer, John Bailey, Toronto.

NO THIRD TERM FOR CLEVELAND.

Grover's Ambition is To Have It Recorded That He Declined a Third Term.

Buzzard's Bay, July 31.—President Cleveland will not be a candidate for a third term. Though the President declines to discuss the question, and does not authorize anyone to speak for him, there is the best reason for saying at the proper time Mr. Cleveland will make announcement of his unwillingness to be a candidate for re-election. This announcement will be made over his own signature, and will be emphatic enough to stop all speculation as to where he stands with reference to the subject. Mr. Cleveland would like to go into history as the man who refused a third term as President. He is waiting an opportunity to make that record.

Instant Death From a Bee Sting

Patterson, N.J., July 31. — Henry Schmidt, 70 years old, a resident of Haledon, was stung on the hand by a bee. He rubbed some dirt on the sting to take out the poison, and while doing so dropped dead. A physician who examined the hand said that the bee stung on a sensitive nerve, which caused death through shock to the brain.

Twelve Were Lost In the Zenith.

Queenstown, July 31.—It has been ascertained that twelve persons lost their lives by the destruction by fire of the Manxlugger Zenith, which was lost Sunday night near Baltimore, on the Irish Coast.

Sudden Death At Blenheim.

Blenheim, July 31.—Mrs. Zabina Burk awoke last night to find herself gasping for breath. She rose and called assistance, but died within a few minutes. Heart disease is set down as the cause of death.

Neck Dislocated By a Fall.

Merritton, July 31.—Morley Schooley, aged 15, met a trolley car while riding a horse. In turning to avoid the car the horse stumbled and fell with the rider. Young Schooley was seriously hurt and it is feared his neck is dislocated.

Trees.

No tree has yet been measured taller than the great eucalyptus in Gippsland Australia.

In Buena Vista, Ohio, an apple tree is reported bearing at the same time half-grown apples, buds and blossoms.

The region between the Nile and the Red Sea was once clothed in forest. So were the Scotch Highlands.

The oldest chestnut may be that at Torworth, England. It is fifty feet in circumference, but the trunk is very short. So long ago as 1135 it was a landmark and signal, as appears upon records.

In the West of Ireland was an enormous forest until the sixteenth century. After the Geraldine rising in 1534, this great forest was all cut away by English settlers as a means of depriving the Irish of their last hiding place and refuge.

We're at the end of the first half of our year's business. Its been good, we know it. Buyers know it. The good feeling that comes from a successful trade is the best incentive to a merchant to do better by his customers.

That's the way we feel about it. Our goods are never high priced. Always Fair priced. Frequently low priced. We couldn't live and succeed if all our prices were low. Our prices are always what others call low, but a real low cut down price with us means selling without a profit—except the profit we have in clearing our shelves. WALLACE MUST RESIGN

This is the Opinion of Ottawa Politicians

AFTER HIS ADDRESS AT HALIFAX.

Mr. Haggart Said To Have the Resignation of Ross of Lisgar In His Hands—Important Fish and Game Convention At Alexandria Bay.

Ottawa, July 31.—The opinion amongst those politicians who are in town is that the speech delivered by Hon. Controller Wallace at the Orange Grand Lodge at Halifax has rendered his resignation imperative. The Grand Sovereign's address is freely criticised in political circles.

The denial of Sir Adolphe Caron that A. M. Ross of Lisgar had resigned is now set down as a "diplomatic" denial. It is stated with some degree of positiveness that Mr. Ross' resignation is in the hands of Mr. Haggart, but has not yet reached the Speaker.

Two important conferences connected with the International Fishing rights on the St. Lawrence River, in the vicinity of the Thousand Islands, are to be held shortly at Alexandria Bay. On Aug. 7, the annual meeting of the Anglers' Association takes place and an invitation has been extended to the Minister and Deputy-Minister of Marine. Mr. Smith will leave on Tuesday next to attend this gathering. He will also sepresent the Department at a meeting which is to take place on the 16th of August, between the Senate Game Committee of the New York Legislature and representatives of the Canadian Marine and Fisheries. An arrangement was entered into by the Minister of Marine and Fisheries, recently, whereby angling license fees would not be charged to American sportsmen on the Canadian side of the St. Lawrence on condition that Canadian boatmen plying their calling on the American side should in return be exempt from the operation of the Alien Labor Act. This subject is to be further discussed at the convention.

We have probably heard the last of such indignities to the Canadian flag as the one perpetrated last winter at Hamilton, in Bermuda, when the Canadian ensign on board the Nova Scotia schooner, Emma S., was confiscated by order of the colonial authorities, and not even the Imperial officer at the port was in a position to safeguard Canadian interests. The attention of the British Government was drawn to the incident at the time, and complaint made that the naval authorities at Hamilton were not sufficiently acquainted with the Admiralty regulations to be aware that vessels of the Dominion were entitled to fly the Canadian flag in foreign ports. In reply the suggestion was made by the Colonial Office that copies of the Admiralty warrant of the 12th February, 1892, which gives this authority, should be placed on board all Canadian vessels trading abroad. An Order-in-Council has accordingly just been passed intimating that this suggestion has been adopted by the Minister of Marine, and that instructions have been issued to have copies of this Admiralty warrant given to the captains of every Canadian vessel clearing for a foreign port. This action, it is hoped, will prevent the recurrence of such indignities as befel the red ensign of the Dominion in Bermuda.

The Government received from the Hon. J. G. Ward, postmaster-General of New Zealand, a request for information regarding the cost of carrying the mails across the Atlantic and via the Canadian overland route. This was taken to indicate that Mr. Ward contemplates utilizing the Atlantic steamship and Dominion land lines for carrying New Zealand mails. This supposition is borne out by the Postmaster-General's reply. Sir Adolphe cabled Mr. Ward that the Atlantic rates for letters and post cards is 5 francs per kilogramme, and for other mail matter 50 cents per kilogramme, adding, "we will grant land transit free until 21st December, 1895, pending negotiations."

ASKED TO BE KILLED.

Strange Defence in the Montreal Murder Case.

GAUTHIER DID AS HE WAS ASKED.

His Intention was to Commit Suicide After Shooting the Girl, But He Had no Cartridges Left - Moniteur de Levis Lectures the Cabinet for Lack of Politeness.

Montreal, July 31.—Hon. Mr. Angers' organ, The Moniteur De Levis, appears to be finding fault with the manners of the ex-Minister of Agriculture's late colleague. This is what this censor of Ministerial etiquette has to say: During all the time of the late crisis at Ottawa and the debate which followed it, Lady Aberdeen attended regularly the sittings of the House of Commons. The Speaker gave her a seat on the floor of the House at his right and next to the desks occupied by Hon. Messrs. Wallace and Dickey. When Lady Aberdeen entered, the members who have certainly the right to keep their hats on generally sat uncovered while her ladyship remained with them. A few Ministers, however, brutally affirmed their right not to be polite. Born with their hats on, they accepted their destiny and scorned the simplest elements of common politeness. Hon. Mr. Wallace obstinately retained his head-gear, even when speaking to Lady Aberdeen, and Hon. Messrs. Foster, Montague and Dickey equally acquired an unenviable reputation amongst those who have at least learned the rudiments of good society. It would be well, indeed, if these men could frequent those French schools they so much despise, for they would learn there certain lessons in politeness that would come in very handy time and again.

The brutal and apparently premeditated murder of Celina Consigny by her lover, Asarie Gauthier, in a house of assassignation in Bonsecours-street, was the talk of the city to-day.

Very few additional details were elicited at the inquest, and a verdict of wilful murder was returned against the accused, who attempted to pass off as insane. But the doctors soon saw through his game, and the assassin became quite calm. This is Gauthier's statement, which was given when asked what he had to say: "I have to say that I did not tell Mrs. Lacasse that deceased killed herself, because I killed her myself, but she asked me to take her life. She said the priest told her she had a disease that prevented her from marrying under any circumstances, and she also gave me that disease, the name of which I do not know. She said: 'Since we cannot live together, you will kill me, and then kill yourself.' I killed her, and then tried to commit suicide, but found that I had no more cartridges left. She spoke about this in the forenoon, and asked me to get a revolver, which I did, in St. James-street, near Inspector. Before shooting the deceased, she said, 'we will marry in the other world,' and again I promised her that I would kill myself." The evidence of the girl's family went to show, however, that deceased was as gay as possible when she left home at 2 o'clock and never gave them to suspect that she was going to her end. The inquest will open to-morrow, and so far there is little talk of defence, so it is quite likely that Gauthier will go to the Queen's Bench without much delay.

At a meeting of the inspectors in Canada of the Standard Life Assurance Company of Edinburgh, Scotland, held today, it was unanimously resolved by them to form themselves into an association and the following gentlemen were appointed as officers for the ensuing year: President, G. H. Allen, Kingston, Ont.; first vice-president, Alfred Shortt, Halifax, N.S.; second vice-president, J. J. Hanratty, Peterboro, Ont.; secretary, S. Sanford Davis, Ottawa, Ont.; treasurer, S. Wilson Drum, Quebec, Que.

Lieut.-Col. Starke received a cablegram to-day saying Private Hayhurst would sail from Liverpool to-morrow by the S.S. Sardinian.

HAYHURST HAMILTON'S HERO

Arrangements Made For a Royal Reception.

Hamilton, Aug. 1.—When Pte. Hayhurst, with his fellow-marksmen, Col.-Sergt. Skedden and Sergt. Morris, return to Hamilton, they will receive a reception fully in keeping with Pte. Hayhurst's grand victory and his fellow marksmen's good work at Bisley. The committee appointed by the Council are making arrangements for the reception, and is being assisted by the 13th Battalion and the Canadian Club. It is proposed to have the 13th Band go to Toronto to meet the marksmen, and the regiment and committee meet the party upon their arrival at the Stuart-street Station, and march to the Gore, where a big jubilation will be held. All the church bells in the city will ring out their gladsome welcome, flags will fly on all public buildings, and the reception will be such as will impress upon Pte. Hayhurst that he is a credit to his country, and particularly to Hamilton.

Fell To His Death.

Sydney, C.B., July 31.—Dan A. Macneill fell through the wharf at the International pier during the night and was drowned.

Potato Crop Ruined In Michigan.

Detroit, July 31.—At 5 o'clock this morning the temperature was 47 1-2, the lowest known in any July during the past 24 years. A strong wind blowing prevented frost, though a despatch from an interior county in this state says that frost last night killed the entire potato crop on low lands. The loss is quite heavy. There is no damage to fruit.

ENGAGED FOR 35 YEARS.

The Groom Was 79, the Bride 78, But They Are Happy

Chester, Penn., July 31.—William Marshall, 79, was married this evening to Minerve Cochrane, who has been 78 summers. The couple have been engaged 35 years and had several previous dates fixed upon for the nuptials, but something always interposed to prevent the ceremony. The bride was gaily attired in a gown of white silk made for her wedding on the first date set, 22 years ago.

Lost a Home, Won a Husband.

Andover, N.S., Aug. 1.—J. Smithson, a resident of the parish, between 75 and 80 years of age, widower, took Mrs. McLaren a buxom widow, for a drive on Tuesday. While they were out driving the house of the lady was burned, and the poor woman was much exercised over the fact that she would have no home to go to. Her companion very gallantly offered to share his home with her, and the offer was promptly accepted. The marriage took place that evening

Pullman's Niece Married

Alexandria Bay, N.Y., July 31.—The social event of the season at the Thousand Islands was the marriage at noon to-day of Miss Emily Stuart, niece of George M. Pullman, to the Rev. Dr. C. H. Eaton of the Church of the Divine Paternity, New York City.

DESERTED AND ROBBED HIS WIFE.

Used Marriage As a Means of Bunco ing a Woman.

Buffalo, July 31.—Mrs. Baker was a middle-aged dressmaker residing in Dowagiac, Mich., and owned some property, besides having a tidy bank account. Charles T. Baker made his appearance some time ago, and, as he was of good appearance, played the grand seigneur, and told a plausible story, the widow married him, and they came to Buffalo on their wedding trip. Before starting out the unlucky woman was persuaded to sell her property, and she commenced the journey with $1700 in cash and drafts valued at $1660 in her possession. They registered at the Continental Hotel and soon Baker obtained possession of the drafts, and a week ago disappeared. On inquiry, Mrs. Baker found that her husband had left for St. Thomas. He had also attempted to cash her drafts, but had been refused pending inquiries. Sorrowing at heart, she returned to her native place, where she is still awaiting the denouement of her little drama.

RIGHTS OF LOCAL LEGISLATURES.

Can Commit and Punish For Contempt and Secure Immunity of Members For Acts Done In the House.

London, Aug. 1.—The Canadian Gazette says it has reason to believe that the Privy Council has intimated to the counsel for the appellants in the case of Fielding v. Thomas, that they need not reply to the arguments of the opposing counsel, Mr. Blake. The appellants contend that the Colonial Legislature were empowered by the Imperial statute to make laws respecting their own powers and constitution, and that the provisions of the statute of Nova Scotia, under which the Assembly of that colony acted in the matter at issue, were not ultra vires of the Legislature, and that the House had the right to pass laws enabling it to commit and punish persons for contempt, and also to provide for the indemnity of its members against civil actions and other proceedings for acts done in the House. It was further contended that a British Provincial Legislature had all the privileges and powers of the British House of Commons and the Dominion Parliament. Mr. Blake, for the respondent, argued that the Mayor had not committed any breach of privilege in regard to his petition, nor had he been guilty of contempt in refusing to present himself for a formal reprimand by the House, which had not the power to order an arrest or committal in such a case.

If it be true that the Privy Council has decided that Mr. Blake's arguments need not be answered, this means that the Nova Scotia Assembly wins.

DOG COMMITTED SUICIDE.

Swam Out Into a Creek and Held Its Head Under.

Epplen, Pa., July 31.—A large black dog which for several days past had been lying under a porch in First-street, committed suicide yesterday. It was thought it was sick from poison. Some boys coaxed and drove it out from beneath the porch, when it deliberately walked into Chartier's Creek. It seemed not satisfied with the shallow water, but swam into the middle of the stream and held its head under the water, bobbing up and down until it was dead.

GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER.

Robert Wycott of Kingston Killed Castell With a Ball Bat.

Kingston, Aug. 1.—Robert Wycott pleaded not guilty before Judge Price this morning on a charge of manslaughter in killing W. H. Costell by a blow from a base ball bat at a picnic on July 25 at Sydenham. The Crown presented the facts of the conflict, and that Castell died from the effects of the blow received. In the prisoner's behalf, many witnesses testified to Castell's ugliness, and that Wycott had acted solely in self-defence. The judge found Wycott "guilty of killing Castell," but released him on suspended sentence on his own recognisance.

Rumored Resumption of Work On the Panama Canal

Washington, July 31.—Some interest has been created in Administration circles over the report from Colon that work is to be again resumed on the Panama Canal. If the report be true it shows that the company has succeeded in collecting a new loan, but it is doubted if money enough, $ —000,000 has been secured to continue the work.

CURRAN BRIDGE PRICES.

Many men are engaged in the harvesting may be in doubt as to what wages they should demand. In order to satisfy themselves and their employers they should get a copy of the Dominion Government's tariff of wages on the Curran Bridge. Parliament was told the cost of the Curran bridge would be $175,000. It has grown to $394,000 actually paid out, and there are unsettled claims yet to be dealt with.

Here are some samples of wages paid by the Government to Contractor St. Louis:

$4 a day for a foreman.
$6 a day for foreman for night or overtime.
$8 a day for foreman on Sunday.
$12 a day for foreman on Sunday overtime.
$5 a day for team.
$10 a day for team on Sunday.
$2.50 a day for derrick.
$3.75 a day for derrick overtime.
$7.50 a day for derrick for overtime on Sunday.

St. Louis put on all the men he wished and got paid for them.

There were 2,000 men on the work at one time.

There were many idle.
No Government timekeeper.
No regular count.
No Government foreman.
No Government supervision.
No Government record of men or materials.
No Government classification of labour.
Unskilled labour was paid for as skilled labour.
There were no public tenders for timber.
Inferior timber was supplied.
Carters' delivery tickets for lumber are missing.
There were no checks as to quality of timber and lumber supplied.
Large quantities are missing.
New timber was burnt as firewood, carted away and stolen.
Government teams had to haul lumber that the contractor was to deliver.
$39,896 was paid for $6,000 worth of stone-cutting.
$16,715 was paid for $3,000 worth of stone-cutting.
Stone was hauled by team 20 miles along the railway running from the quarry to the works.
The Government was warned all along of the frauds, but allowed them to continue, and paid the bills as they came in.
When the work was completed the Government issued a commission to investigate.
Pending the investigation the Government paid St. Louis a balance of $105,000 for wages on an account that the Chief Engineer discredited and would not certify to.
The commission unanimously reported incompetence, extravagance and fraud.
The people's money was lost.
No one has been held responsible.

THE BETTER WAY.

The great miner's strike at Ishpeming, Mich., is beginning to attract attention as one of the most orderly labour conflicts of modern times. The one thing in any democratic country which no one can affect to despise is public sentiment. The strikers referred to are maintaining the most orderly behaviour and entertaining the utmost respect for the law. To say the least of it, conduct like theirs wins popular sympathy. That may not appease the hunger of wives and children generally who suffer very severely in any labour troubles, but it strengthens the workman's cause and makes success a greater certainty.

It will, we suppose, be generally conceded, that the public's first sympathies are with labour. The moment the telegraph flashes the news from any part of the country that a body of toilers have made peremptory demands for a betterment of condition with regard to wages or anything else, the great public heart thrills with the wish that they may succeed. The presumptions are all in favour of labouring man. There is organised in humanity the race memory that through all the past the daily toiler has had the burden of the world's work to do, and has not reaped his corresponding share of the fruits of toil. The race memory, which has hitherto been called intuition, is all the argument that is ever required to give the prima facie case to the men on strike.

There is not a shadow of doubt that patriotism and devotion to law are so strong in this country that public sentiment can never be counted on for long to uphold any force that promises to throw itself against the constituted authority of the land. Even the presumptions in favour of labour are always dissipated by acts of lawlessness. When theories of individuals clash with the theories of government the former must give way. It is most gratifying to note that the Ishpeming and Negaunee strikers have a pretty good grasp of this situation, so truly that they even call upon the name of the Lord daily for help to do the righteous thing and the wise thing.

Of all the fool ideas ever proposed under the name of "sport," that which is to be carried out at Canton, Ohio, easily bears away the palm. An iron enclosure is being built two miles east of that place in which two eighty ton locomotives are to be run together, head on, at a mile a minute speed, after each has had a start of a mile from outside the gates. It is said that several thousand dollars have been subscribed, and the originator claims to have invested $9,000 in the scheme. The idea is to charge an admission fee to those curious enough to witness the experiment, and as an average locomotive costs from $8,000 to $9,000, a large audience will be needed to recoup the brilliant originator for his outlay.

The sentencing of five tramps at Berlin to long periods in the penitentiary for attacking a train, is a good example of the common sense and promptitude with which crime is dealt with in Canada. Unfortunately the "laws delay," which is bad enough anywhere, has become a much more crying evil in the United States than in any other civilized county, and for this reason the New York Evening Herald expresses a hope that Holmes will be tried in Toronto, where execution is sure to follow closely on the heels of conviction. This is a high compliment to Canada, but it is not undeserved.

According to Rowell's directory for 1895 there are 45 daily newspapers in Ontario, 18 in Quebec, 18 in New Brunswick, 8 in Nova Scotia, 6 in British Columbia, 3 in Prince Edward Island, 2 in the North-west and 2 in Manitoba, or 92 dailies in all Canada. There are 3 tri-weeklies in the Dominion, 19 semi-weeklies, 587 weeklies, 1 tri-monthly, 6 bi-weeklies, 23 semi-monthlies, 128 monthlies, 1 bi-monthly and 1 quarterly, making a grand total of 860 newspapers in Canada.

Investigations go to substantiate the claim that the yearly per capita consumption of wheat in the United States should not be placed below four bushels and is probably a little larger. According to that estimate about 300,000,000 bushels of this year's crop will be required for home consumption, leaving about 100,000,000 bushels plus the amount of old wheat carried over for seed reserves and exports. This is a comparatively small quantity and seems to indicate that there will be considerable rise from the present ruling price.

POISONED HIMSELF AND FAMILY.

Death Preferred to Starvation and Idleness.

San Francisco, July 31.—In a lodging house in Market-street, last night, were found H. H. Edwards, a Los Angeles photographer, his wife and two little girls, all poisoned by cyanide of potassium. All were dead except a 4-year-old girl, whose life was saved by the police surgeon. Mrs. Fowler a friend of Mrs. Edwards, received a letter yesterday afternoon from the latter, saying that she and her husband were going to commit suicide, as he could not get work and they were starving. Mrs. Fowler notified the police and search was immediately made for the family. Edwards evidently poisoned the others before he took a dose himself.

Drowned Near Ogdensburg.

Ogdensburg, N.Y., July 31.—About 2 o'clock last night Robert Bolton, aged 19, and a young companion were crossing from Brockville, Ont., to Terrace Park, near Morristown, N.Y., in a skiff during a high wind. The boat was capsized and Bolton was drowned. His companion was saved by a man who put out in a small boat. Bolton's parents reside near Brockville.

All the Bodies Recovered.

Aylmer, Que., July 31.—Percy Winfield's body was found at 4 o'clock yesterday at E. B. Eddy's pier. Walters was found this morning at Britannia Bay between 6 and 7.

Electrocuted By Accident.

Niagara Falls, N.Y., July 31.—Edward Maloney, aged 22, was instantly killed this morning while at work in the power house of the electric light works by a current of electricity passing through his body. His companion, who was standing beside him, was uninjured.

Farmer's Son Fatally Hurt.

Stratford, July 31.—Peter Schmale, 13 years old, while working a rack-lifter in his father's barn was struck by a stevie. His skull was smashed and he will die.

Women, who seem to be all worn out, will find in purified blood, made rich and healthy by Hood's Sarsaparilla, permanent relief and strength. The following is from a well known nurse:

"I have suffered for years with female complaints and kidney troubles and I have had a great deal of medical advice during that time, but have received little or no benefit. A friend advised me to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and I began to use it, together with Hood's Pills. I have realized more benefit from these medicines than from anything else I have ever taken. From my personal experience I believe Hood's Sarsaparilla to be a most complete blood purifier." Mrs. C. Crompton, 71 Cumberland St., Toronto, Ontario.

from taking medicine. They don't like its taste. But they are eager to take what they like—Scott's Emulsion, for instance. Children almost always like Scott's Emulsion.

And it does them good.

Scott's Emulsion is the easiest, most palatable form of Cod-liver Oil, with the Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda added to nourish the bones and tone up the nervous system. The way children gain flesh and strength on Scott's Emulsion is surprising even to physicians.

All delicate children need it.

ORANGE GRAND LODGE.

The Govt. Censured on the School Question.

THE ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

Hon. N. C. Wallace Elected Grand Master By Acclamation and His Noble Utterances on the Manitoba School Question Warmly Endorsed By the Lodge.

Halifax, July 31.—The session of the Grand Orange Lodge reassembled this morning with a full attendance.

The committee on the Grand Master's address congratulated the organization on the overwhelming defeat of the Home Rulers in Great Britain, and expressed the belief that the Home Rule movement would not be heard of again for a quarter of a century.

Referring to the Manitoba school question, regret was expressed that the Privy Council had reversed the decision of the Supreme Court of Canada, as that decision had raised a difficulty in the Dominion, the serious nature of which cannot be magnified.

"It is most unfortunate that in a country like Canada, consisting of a population widely diverse in creed and race, questions like these which arouse the very strongest passions of men, should arise, but being face to face with them it is our duty as citizens to grapple with them. We have a grave duty to perform—not only to ourselves, but to posterity as well, and animated by the glorious example of him whose name we bear and whose illustrious memory we reverance, let us do that duty manfully and well."

"As Orangemen we must ever stand by the principle of non-sectarian schools, in which the tenets of no particular church shall be taught, and our duty to Manitoba requires of us that we shall resent by every lawful means in our power the application toward her of any coercive measure which shall have for their object the restoration of that wretched system of education which the Legislature of 1890 swept from her statute books.

"Being of this mind upon this subject, it is with no small degree of pride that your committee is able to point to the noble utterances of the Grand Master in that portion of his address dealing with the Manitoba schools; but knowing as well as we do the Grand Master's principles, of his entire devotion to the principles of our order, his unflinching attitude upon this matter, regardless of the effect it may have upon his political position, it is no surprise to your committee, but only as a matter of satisfaction, that the confidence, which is in common with that the Orangemen of Canada have ever reposed in him, has not been misplaced."

The report was adopted unanimously.

At the afternoon session of the Orange Grand Lodge the election of officers took place: Grand Master, N. Clarke Wallace, M.P.; Deputy Grand Master, Major A. J. Armstrong, St. John; Grand Chaplain, Rev. John Holwell, M.A., Vankleek Hill., Ont.; Grand Secretary, Robert Birmingham, Toronto; Grand Treasurer, M. J. Parkhill, Midland, Ont.; Grand Director of Ceemonies, R. Burns, Toronto; Deputy Grand Chaplain, Revs. Wm. Walsh, D. Carscallen, Brampton, Ont.; Phillip Jones, Elmsdale, Ont.; Charles E. Perry, Davenport, Ont.; Rural Dean Cooper, B.D., Invermay, Ont.; S. A. Duprau, Belleville, Ont.; F. M. Finn, Portage La Prairie, Man.; J. E. Flewelling, M.A., Centreville N.B.; A. L. Geggie, Truro, N.S.; J. W. Jones, Maxwell, Ont.; J. C. Madill, Sarnia, Ont.; P. T. Migrott, B.A., Milton, Ont.; Wm. Moore, D.D., Ottawa, Ont.; E. W. Sibbald, M.A., St. John, N.B.; W. S. Smyth, D.D., Montreal, Que.; A. F. Thompson, Bathurst, N.B.; David Wright, Springhill, N.S.; Deputy Grand Secretary, John C. Gass, Schubenadie, N.S.; Deputy Grand Treasurer, Lieut.-Col. J. H. Scott, Kincardine, Ont.; Deputy Grand Lecturers, John Sheppard, Ottawa; John Cox, Montreal; G. B. Vincent, P.G.S., St. John, N.B.; B. K. Bruce, Charlottetown, P.E.I.; Robert Bell, Vancouver, B.C.; J. Armstrong, Medicine Hat, N.W.T.; H. G. Martin, G.S., St. Johns, Nfld.; A. J. Munroe, Amherst; Grand Lodge Auditors, Sam Hughes, M.P., Lindsay, Ont.; W. H. Stewart, P.G.M., Warwick, Ont.

There was a warm and protracted discussion in the Orange Grand Lodge to-night over a resolution censuring the Dominion Government for its stand on the Manitoba school question, and expressing sympathy with Manitoba. The resolution was supported by E. F. Clarke, Sam Hughes and Major Armstrong, and opposed by George Taylor, M.P., and Robert Birmingham. It was adopted after midnight, only 10 voting against it.

The Grand Lodge concluded its work at 2 this morning. Collingwood, Ont., was fixed upon as the next place of meeting.

Working a Revolution.

The progressive wheelmen of New York who are tired of baggy knees are as anxious to put off trousers as the progressive wheelwomen are to put them on. ALIVE TO THEIR DANGER.

Minneapolis People Making Enquiries With Regard to a Canadian Discovery.

Minneapolis, July 22.—There has been an unusual number of deaths from heart disease in this city during the last few months and in many cases the victims were unconscious of being sufferers from the dread complaint. Post mortems have shown in several instances that the trouble was directly traceable to a diseased condition of the kidneys and people have become alive to the danger. A number of enquiries have been instituted with with regard to the best methods of cure and the new Canadian specific remedy known as Dodd's Kidney Pills has come in for a great share of attention owing to the extraordinary number of cures which have been effected through this agency.

Deadly Cancer Cured By B. B. B.

HERE IS THE PROOF.

Messrs. T. Milburn & Co:

SIRS,—About four years ago I was taken sick with stomach trouble. I consulted several leading local physicians, all of whom pronounced my disease incurable cancer of the stomach, and told me I had not long to live. Two physicians attending me gave me up to die. Through reading your advertisement, and by advice of friends, I tried your Burdock Blood Bitters and I am happy to say that after using one bottle I was able to leave my bed which I had been confined to for a long time. I am thankful now to state that B.B.B. cured my disease which baffled the doctors, and I am firmly convinced saved my life. Gratefully yours,

A Marvellous Result.

Mr. A. R. took out ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy No. 6332 in Canada Life Co. for Five Thousand Dollars in the year 1868. He was then 25 years of age.

The Premium paid was $181 a year for 10 years.....$1,810.

Notice the Result.

The total profits added to the Policy to end of 1894 and for which he holds a certificate amounts to the enormous sum of.....$3,281

The holder therefore has been credited not only with every cent paid for premiums, but also Fourteen Hundred and Seventy One Dollars in addition, besides receiving a fully paid up policy for the original Five Thousand Dollars, which still participates in profits.

Now This is What we Want to Know!

This is a Peterborough Policy! Is there any citizen of Peterborough with an ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy either in Canadian, British or American Co, which shows anything like as large profits as this one?

If there is, we should esteem it a great favour if we are allowed to see it, as we have been looking for such a one for years and so far have not been able to find it.

And yet the wine itself is better than anything that could be said about it. Wilson's Invalid Port Wine. That is the celebrated brand which has rapidly risen in public favour. The reason is that it meets the need for a bracing tonic which shall be without the disagreeable features of medicine. Wilson's Invalids' Port is a fine old wine of undoubted age, which has the effect of a bracing and stimulating tonic. It dispels lassitude, puts a new heart of hope into the invalid, but chiefly is it invaluable in that it gives new blood to an impoverished systems. Sold by all dealers at $7.50 per case of 12 quart bottles, half case $3.50 or 75 cts. per bottle. Address—Bordeaux Claret Co. 30 Hospital street, Montreal.

President—J. R. Stratton, Esq., M.P.P., Peterborough.
Vice-President—Thos. P. Coffee, Esq., barrister, Guelph.
Executive Committee—The President, Vice-President and D. W. Karn, Esq.

The meeting then adjourned.

Twas a Radical Departure.

But the enormous success attending it justified its trial. Only the few in this country could place wine on their tables. It was a luxury. It was very costly. It was beyond the reach of the poor man. The Bordeaux Claret Co. has placed a good, wholesome, healthful wine, which aids in the assimilation and digestion of food, upon the tables of the whole people. $3 and $4 per dozen quarts, this is a bagatelle. Yet the wine is good. It has its age. It has its body. It is as good as that which other dealers ask $8 a dozen. The best judges have approved. And the orders cannot be filled quick enough which are received from all parts of the country. Address—Bordeaux Claret Co., 30 Hospital street, Montreal.

A Warning.

From the Belleville Ontario of July 26th we clip the following, which may be of use to some one: "Benjamin Weese, a prominent farmer of Ameliasburg, was arrested last night at the instance of the West Hastings Agricultural Society. Mr. Weese exhibited some roots at the fair here last September, and drew a number of first prizes. It has been learned that the vegetables exhibited did not belong to him. Mr. Weese returned the prize money, $20, and paid the costs, which amounted to $11.50. This will prove a warning to those who attempt to defraud the society."

The Route Mapped out.

The folders giving particulars of the annual excursion of the Foresters to Toronto, Niagara Falls and Buffalo are out. It seems a little early, but the committee are anxious that every opportunity shall be given for the public to acquaint themselves with the advantages of this great trip. Full particulars are given of train and boat departures and arrivals at each point on the trip, starting as far east as Norwood and finishing at Buffalo. The popular C. P. R. route to Toronto, the magnificent steamer Cacora and Chippewa across the lake, the celebrated electric railway to the Falls and New York Central R. R. to Buffalo offer speedy means of travel. It is as well to bear in mind that the rates for return tickets are to Toronto, $1.75; Niagara Falls, $2.25; to Buffalo, $3.00, and at the latter city the great summer trotting races are in full swing.

A HORRIBLE CRIME.

A Frenchman's Brutal Treatment of his Wife—Dr. Delaney in Attendance.

The Waterbury Evening Democrat gives the following account of a case in which Dr. Delaney, son of Mr. John Delaney, town, was the attending physician. The Democrat says:

"Through the courtesy of Dr. Delaney, who was the physician called to dress the wounds of Mrs. Joseph Cologne, the woman whom her husband so horribly assaulted at Bethany on Tuesday night, we are enabled to give our readers a true statement of the case. Cologne, a French wood chopper, lived in what is known as the Mrs. Fisher house with his wife, who was a good looking woman of twenty-three. He had lived in Springfield, where he had been arrested for abusing her. On Tuesday night he went home drunk and commenced to abuse the women and children. The wife sent for the selectman to have him taken care of. When the latter arrived Cologne seized a shot gun and drove them out of the house, the selectman then drove to the Bethany hotel for help. The man followed him up and took the selectman's team and drove away with it. He then went home, where the family tried to hide from him in another room. He seized the gun on finding where his wife was and broke the stock from the barrel over her head. After this he pounded her person with the barrel of the gun, fracturing both bones of her left arm below the elbow, and making a compound fracture of the right arm, both bones, two inches below the elbow. He also broke her right thigh on the upper part of the third bone. On the left lower leg he cut a terrible gash with the jagged end of the barrel of the gun, fully six inches in length, the splinters of bone hanging out. Her face was a battered mass. A large cut was made in the back of her head, and a stab wound in nearly every part of her body. The doctor dressed the wounds and reduced the fractures as far as possible before leaving the poor woman. He found her on a bed vomiting blood, she raising over one pint. The brute after assaulting her had dragged her by the heels through a narrow passage and threw her on the bed, then laid down beside her. About this time the officers came and arrested him. Yesterday morning, assisted by Dr. Spring, Dr. Delaney set the thigh. After consultation they decided that owing to the distance from any physician and poverty of the surroundings, it would be advisable to try and get the woman to the hospital at Grand Haven. An easy wagon was secured and James J. McCarthy, who is studying medicine, was sent with her. At Westville the woman was taken with a hemorrhage, and a stop had to be made, but she finally reached the hospital. The brute was held under $1000 bonds to answer, not having any bondsman he was sent to gaol. Coroner Mix was called to the hospital and took the woman's ante mortem statement. She is expected to live but a few hours at the most.

VICTORIOUS BY FOUR STRAIGHTS.

PORT HOPE ENTIRELY SNOWED UNDER.

The Athletics Defeat Them in a Splendid Game of Lacrosse at the Driving Park in the Presence of a Big Crowd.

The Athletics asserted their immeasurable superiority over the Ontarios of Port Hope, yesterday, by defeating them in about twenty minutes actual play by four straight games.

It was agreed on the start that the game should last two hours unless either side secured four consecutive games. Time was called at ten minutes to four and by six minutes to five the Peterborough team had won the most signal victory over the Port Hopes which it ever had the felicity of doing. Five minutes was lost after each game was scored and as there were two accidents on the field altogether over half an hour must have been lost of the 54 minutes during which the match was in progress. The victory then is when it is shown that the actual time spent in playing was only about twenty minutes. It certainly was a most decisive defeat, and one which Port Hope will not soon forget, as it is the first time that Peterborough has ever played them this trick, and the only pity is that the play was not continued for two hours so that the same dose of eight straights could have been administered a la Capitals vs. Cornwalls.

When the Port Hopers struck the town in the morning their eagerness to bet deterred the local men from plunging until they saw the team which was coming up. As surmised in yesterday's EXAMINER there were some strangers with it and as also pointed out they were needed. Pete Day, that old-time star, and another of the White brothers came up from Cornwall for the game, and a couple of other strangers dropped in from somewhere else, so the Ontarios were considerably strengthened since the last game. Their backers offered odds of two to one and as soon as the Peterborough sports saw that there were with the team they accepted the bets so eagerly that ten to eight and then ten to seven was the best offered. Soon the Peterborough men could not even find a man willing to bet in any shape or form and then the game began in the presence of about eight hundred spectators.

The two teams lined up as follows:—

ATHLETICS.		PORT HOPE.
F Debbin	goal	Natrass
Boland	point	L White
Green	cover point	J White
Brown	1st defence	J Foster
Joe McDonough	2nd defence	T Tuer
W Thompson	3rd defence	R Hayden
Tom McDonough	centre	G Tutton
P Rubidge	3rd home	D Burt
E Hickey	2nd home	M White
G Lipsett	1st home	C Coleman
W Galley	outside home	M Sullivan
Jack McDonough	inside home	P Day
P J Davis	field captain	D Hosey

Referee, H. LeBrun.

Peterborough played against the wind for the first game, and at the start the ball went right down on the local flags to the no small trepidation of the spectators. It didn't stay there long, however, as Brown brilliantly relieved. Then there was a scrimmage around the Port Hope goal, but the White brothers saved it. Back went the sphere in Peterborough territory, when it was secured by Pete Day. He was closely watched by his check, however, as Pete has the name of being one of in the business. He monkeyed too much with the ball on this occasion, however, and a sharp check drove his stick back against his nose breaking that organ, and causing the blood to flow in profusion. The accident was an unfortunate one, but will serve as a lesson to some of the home team who are in the habit of holding the ball too long in order to make grand stand plays.

When the game was resumed Lipsett made a nice shot on the flags, which was cleverly stopped by Port Hope's goal man.

The play was of the prettiest on both sides, and the rapid combinations and quick and accurate passing called forth a continued stream of applause from the spectators.

Rubidge secured the ball out in centre field, where he was sent by a long throw from the Peterborough defence, and made up the field with it. The Port Hope defence seemed paralysed by the quickness with which he dashed in on the flags and not a man raised a stick to check him. Suddenly he spun around and made his shot. It was true and went between the flags like a cannon ball, and a mighty roar from the spectators announced that the Athletics had drawn first blood and had placed one goal to their credit. The crowd flocked out on the field and Rubidge was kept busy shaking hands until time was called.

A MAGNIFICENT RUN

From the face off the ball went right down on Port Hope's defense, but the scene of operations was quickly transferred to Peterborough territory where Brown had an opportunity of getting in some good work in which his proverbial coolness showed up to advantage, though Port Hope very nearly scored on the shot.

There was a lot of play around centre field, where Tom McDonough's running power stood him in good stead. He finally secured the ball and to George Lipsett, who made a splendid dash down the field with it and passing it over to Galley just at the right minute, that player was able to make one of his sure shots on the flags, and another goal was tallied for the Athletics.

Port Hope made a most determined effort to score in the next game, and but Dobbin's brilliant work between the flags they would certainly have tallied. Twice he stopped shots which looked like sure winners and the siege on the flags was something terrific for a time, as the White brothers had been brought from the defense out to the home field and Peterborough's defense had its hands full for a few minutes. But once the ball was gotten out of its dangerous proximity to the local flags the rest was easy.

Lipsett and Galley, who played a great combination all day, got working together again with the result that once more Galley added one of on Port Hope's flags and tallied again for the Athletics.

The next game was the fastest and best of the series. To avoid the humiliation of losing four consecutive games the Port Hopers worked like Trojans. But if they were determined to avoid such a termination to the match, the Athletics were equally determined to force it on them if possible. Up and down the field the ball was passed from one player to another, and the prettiest plays ever witnessed in Peterborough roused the enthusiasm of the spectators up to a high pitch.

All knew what the boys were working for and could feel for them. Last year Port Hope defeated Peterborough by four straights, and the boys have been sore over it ever since, and in order to give a dose of the same medicine to Port Hope they were right up on their mettle. Slowly but surely the visitors were put on the defensive, and sent back to guard their flags. Half a dozen men were in a scrimmage for the ball, when it was suddenly tipped out to Galley who made a dash down the field, passed swiftly to Lipsett, and in another second the trick was done and hundreds of hats were tossed high in the air as the citizens shouted themselves hoarse.

It was a great victory and was the result of the hard training to which the boys have subjected themselves for the last several weeks. It is hard to say which of the players did the most brilliant work and so few bad plays were made that a weak point in the team would be hard to find.

Port Hope played a strong clean game and anyone running away with the idea that the Ontarios are weak would be very greatly mistaken indeed. Each game won by the Athletics had to be worked for, and a few bad plays might easily have kept the score down to far smaller figures. The chances given Peterborough to score were few and far between, but the boys availed themselves of every opportunity, and the misses were not many.

Arrangements are being made to try and have the Ontarios come up on Civic Holiday to play off the tie.

THE WHEEL.

A very largely attended meeting of the Bicycle Club was held last evening in the Catholic Association Rooms, with Mr. R. M. Dennistoun, Vice-President, in the chair.

The report of the committee to increase the membership was encouraging, over forty names being submitted of wheelmen willing to join the club at a membership fee of of five dollars. The following have signed the list,—Alex. Gibson, A. J. Gough, Geo. Evans, F. J. A. Hall, W. J. Hall, S. B. Ewing, Chas. Risher, F. H. Dobbin, H. A. Walker, M. L. Henry, E. T. Goldsmith, Robt. Fair, G. L. Hay, P. Corbery, Geo. J. Hopkins, O. B. Ghortly, W. E. Conway, John Crane, H. S. Macdonald, T. Barrie, J. W. Barrie, A. Laidlaw, R. Neill, A. Mercer, W. [illegible] Allan, R. H. Kells, Alf. Terrill, Wm. Hamilton, jr., R. D. Hamilton, R. G. Kingan, T. E. Bradburn, R. J. Fife, W. J. Thompson, E. W. Cox, A. E. Yelland, R. M. Dennistoun, A. H. Stratton, C. B. McAllister, Lionel King, C. LeBrun, R. Stevenson.

A number of apartments were proposed for club rooms but the proposition to try and make arrangements to secure quarters at the curling rink met with the most encouragement, and Messrs. R. M. Dennistoun, R. Neill and R. D. Hamilton were added to the committee already appointed to try and make the needful arrangements to this end, if possible.

It was arranged that the road race for club members take place on Wednesday evening next at 6.30 o'clock from the Court House Park to Lakefield and return and Messrs. George J. Hopkins, Ewing and Gus Gough were appointed a committee to arrange the handicaps, etc. Every rider should take a hand in making a success of the ride. A number of valuable prizes are being offered, and even the greenest rider will have a chance of winning.

The club adjourned to meet on Monday evening next at eight o'clock, in the same rooms.

The Sting Within.

It is said there is a rankling thorn in every heart, and yet that none would exchange their own for that of another. Be that as it may, the sting arising from the heart of a corn is real enough, and in this land of tight boots a very common complaint also. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor is a never failing remedy for this kind of heartache, as you can easily prove if afflicted. Cheap, sure, painless. Try the genuine and use no other.

VICTORIA'S RELICS.

RARE CHINA AND PICTURES AT WINDSOR CASTLE

Her Majesty's Personal Interest in Her Priceless Collection—A Long Series of Royal Relics and Portraits.

Among the many rare and costly treasures open to the view only of the specialy favored visitor, in the private apartments of the royal castle of Windsor, one of the most curious is a carved ivory casket, lined with crimson velvet, and mounted and decorated with rosewood and silver. Carved in low relief in the centre is a winged figure, surmounting an altar with sacred fire. Beneath this is the terse, but expressive inscription: "From the Parsees." The casket rests on a plinth, adorned on either side with carved chimeras, with golden wings and crowned heads, and bearing superb rubies in the centre of their foreheads. On the carved back of the plinth is the monogram "V. I.," and the inscription, "Bombay, 1877." The back also bears the imperial crown.

In the "Large Dining Room" is the not very beautiful, but certainly imposing silver-gilt bunch-bowl. It was designed by Flaxman and manufactured by Rundell and Bridges for George IV. when Prince of Wales. Its proportions are so vast that the gilding alone is said to have cost $10,000. The ladle, which stands in front of the bowl, was made for the present Prince of Wales and is of very pretty design.

Throughout the collection one is constantly noticing rare specimens of clocks of all periods. Here, for instance, is a fine example of Louis Seize work by the celebrated Lepante of Paris. The case is ebonized with ormolu mounts. The movement, which is in perfect order, requires winding but once a year.

The castle is a magnificent museum of old china, mostly so fine that one stands agast at the mere thought of its enormous value. Look, for instance, at a set of three vases of "Rose du Barry" Sevres in the grand corridor. They are simply priceless. The designs in front are beautifully painted amorini in panels, those at the back flowers on a white ground. The centre vase has a perforated top. The height of the vases is fourteen inches. Old Sevres, even when first made was extremely expensive, but now can seldom be purchased, except by millionaires. Not many years since a set of three small jardiniers was sold by auction at Christie's for $50,000. Single plates have frequently been sold for 200 guineas (about $100) and cups and saucers for 150 guineas (about $750) each. In the "Green Drawing Room" we must look with admiration and wonder at the grand desert service to which no rival exists. It was commenced at Sevres in 1784 for Louis XVI. and was purchased by George IV. The manufacture took about ten years of the time of the finest ceramic artists in the world to complete. The ground of the piece is of the most perfect Bleu du Roi, or "Gro Bleu." The paintings, chiefly figure subjects in sylvan landscapes, are by the most eminent artists ever employed at the royal manufactory.

The portraits of the Queen and Prince Consort, wmich were exhibited in the exhibition of 1851, are very fine examples of modern Sevres work. These are half-length portraits of the size of life, each painted on a single slab of porcelain. Tehy are copies of the pictures by Winterhalter, and were executed by order of Louis Phillippe as a present to Her Majesty. They were commenced just before the revolution of 1848, and were annexed by the Republican Government, but were surrendered to Louis Philippe as his private property and presented to Her Majesty.

In the "Green Drawing Room" is also a splendid set of four bronze and ormolu candelabra emblematical of the seasons. They are probably the finest specimens of such work in existence. The designs, modelling of the figures and chasing of the ornament are simply perfect. The work is either of the late Louis Quartorze or Louis Quinze period, when furniture bronzes of the finest class were being made in France. Unfortunately, the artist's name is not known, as they, in common with most of the finest pieces of the period, are unsigned.

In the "White Drawing Room" the Sevres cabinet of the Louis Seize period demands more than a cursory glance. From the elaborate character of its design and its finished workmanship, it was probably made for a present to a royal personage. Its porcelain panels are of "oeil de Perdrix" turquoise. The plaques in the doors have paintings of flowers in baskets suspended by ribbons. The other concave plaques have bouquets of flowers with turquoise mounts. This is only one of a number of these rare cabinets in the private apartments. They are mostly made by the first of the old French "Ebenistes," such as the world-famed Riesener, Roentgen and the other giants of the Louis Seize period. The gilded bronze mounts are by the great Gothiere, whose work, for design, modelling and finish, has never been equalled. His gilding also is good, and so thickly laid on, as to have suffered no injury whatever from age. The same may also be said of the Louis Quatorze cabinet work of Andre Boule (born 1642), also to be seen at Windsor. As some indication of the value of these works, may be named a Boule cabinet in the Jones collection at South Kensington which was bought for $50,000. Similar prices were reached in several instances for Louis Seize cabinets, etc., at the Hamilton Palace sale some few years since.

In the "Grand Corridor," whose 520 feet of length is literally crowded with objects of the greatest interest, one notices a white marle recumbent statue of H. R. H. Princess Elizabeth of Clarence, daughter of William IV., and consequently heir apparent to the throne of England. The statue, which is most gracefully designed to represent a sleeping infant, bears the sculptor's name, W. Scoular, Sc. It was bequeathed to Her Majesty by the Queen Dowager in 1849. Its subject, the little Princess, was born in 1820 and died in 1821. Consider the momentous consequences involved in the death of such a tiny personage, who, had she lived, would have been Queen of England.

In the "Grand Corridor" also stands a remarkable casket or reliquary composed of rock crystal and enamel with silver-gilt mounts. The side panels are of finely engraved crystal. The casket, which is possibly German work of the seventeenth century, is surmounted by a silver-bilt group of S. George and the Dragon. But its claim to notice arises not so much from its own beauty, which is great, as from the relic which it contains. A thrill of emotion passes through the hearts of all spectators when they learn that the Bible of that true soldier of heaven, Gen. Gordon, rests within. The book is one of the plainest description, bound in common brown leather, but its much-worn appearance at once shows that it was in constant use. The sacred and much-prized little relic was presented to the Queen after Gordon's sad death.

The last work of art to be noticed in this wonderful corridor is a charming little bust by W. Behens of the Princess Victoria, now Her Majesty, the Queen, at the age of 10 years. It is of spotless white marble, and a perfect gem.

On the subject of pictures in the grand old castle there is no time to dwell. Suffice it to say that all the best of the old masters are most worthily represented, both in the state and private apartments. For instance, in the "Vandyke Room" are no less than twenty-two of that great master's finest works, including that wonderful specimen "Charles I. on a gray horse, accompanied by his master of the horse, M. de St. Antoine." This masterpiece fgar exceeds in quality the picture by the same painter of the same subject, which was recently purchased by the nation for $37,500. Here is also the portrait of Henrietta Maria, mentioned by Pepys in 1665. "I was only pleased at a very fine picture of the Queen's mother, when she was young, by Vandyke; a very good picture and a lovely face." In the Queen's private audience room are also some fine Gainsborough portraits, and, let into the woodwork, glass cases containing over two hundred enamel portraits of royal personages, from Henry VIII and Elizabeth of York, to the Queen and Prince Consort, their children and grandchildren. In the "Grand Corridor" are some fine Canalettos, and a beautiful Cornelius Janssens. "The ball given to Charles II. at The Hague, on his departure to England," full of interesting detail and admirably preserved. Also a series by various madern artists illustrating notable events during Her Majesty's reign, as well as a fine Sir Joshua, "Princess Sophia Matilda," and some superlative Hogarths.

It may not be generally known that the name Windsor is from the Saxon Windleshora, winding banks. Windsor as a royal castle is mentioned in Domesday book. King John lay at Windsor during the conference at Runnymede. The Round Tower was built by Edward III., and the terraces were made by Queen Elizabeth. Charles II. added the Star buildings. Grinling Gibbons carved all the beautiful floral festoons in the different rooms.

The Queen herself, a world-renowned lover of art, takes an extreme interest in her collection, and no alterations can be made without her sanction. So accurate is her memory that even after an absence of months she at once detects any alteration in the placing of objects, no matter how small.

The New Specific Remedy is Being Extensively Used at Ottawa.

Ottawa, July 29.—The marvellous recovery of Mr. G. H. Kent, of this city, from Bright's disease by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills is still fresh in the memories of Ottawa people, and the remedy is being freely recommended both by druggists and private citizens. The similar wonderful cures of Dr. A. G. McCormick, of Richmond, Quebec, and Mr. Arthur Coley, of Somerset, Manitoba, to say nothing of many others, are generally quoted in favour of the assertion that no remedy of modern times has gone so successfully through a severe trial, and been so efficacious in all cases of kidney trouble. It is also proving itself invaluable in the milder forms of sickness which appear during the summer.

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful Speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our Systematic Plan of Speculation

originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well-known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plain are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

TO LEARN TO SWIM.

Captain Allen, Instructor at the New York Public Baths, Gives Some Excellent Advice to Beginners.

Many articles have appeared in the magasines and newspapers, relative to the art of swimming. They are usually written by persons having neither a theoretical nor a practical knowledge of the subject. Having been a professional swimmer and a teacher of the "art natatorial" for the past ten years, I venture to make a few suggestions.

Very few professional swimmers are capable teachers, because, as a rule, they know nothing of the scientific movements in swimming. Again, you may know a thing thoroughly yourself and still be incapable of giving an intelligent understanding of it to one wholly ignorant.

THE FIRST LESSON.

It is a very difficult matter to learn to swim correctly without a master. If possible, take some lessons of a competent instructor. If but a few, they will suffice for self practice. Hundreds of my pupils have learned to swim a mile at the end of their first season. Comparatively few self-taught swimmers can do as much after swimming half a lifetime. To teach rapidly and correctly there is but one true method. The pupil is first given what is called a "dry lesson" before going into the water. In this he is taught to make the movements of arms and legs according to count. As soon as these points are thoroughly comprehended he is allowed to go into the water suspended by a belt attached to a rope in such a fashion that he occupies a horizontal position, breast downward, and with the shoulders just covered by the water. In this position he is practised thoroughly in executing the arm and leg movements separately and in combination. Many pupils master the stroke in one lesson. As soon as proficient an inflated rubber air belt is tied about the chest, supporting the pupil while he is perfected in the stroke. The quantity of air is decreased at each lesson, until the pupil has gained the confidence to make an effort without support. In this way any one, however timid, may learn the art rapidly and correctly.

WITHOUT A TEACHER.

To the person who is anxious to learn to swim, but cannot afford the luxury of a master, a few hints may be of service. Beware of deep water or places where the bottom is uneven, or currents swift and treacherous. Choose a quiet spot where you can wade out gradually until the water reaches the armpits. Remember that but a slight movement is necessary to keep the body afloat—if the hands are kept under the surface of the water. The arm movement is made as follows: Palms of hands together, arms extended straight in front of breast, fingers closely touching. Using the thumbs as pivots turn the hands over into a horizontal position nearly. Without bending the arms move the hands through the water till they form a straight line with the ear and shoulder, then dropping elbows nearly to side and simultaneously pointing fingers downward, bring tips of fingers together in front of (but not touching) breast, and almost directly under chin. Now, uniting palms, push hands swiftly forward into first position. The leg movement is not made until the hands are moving toward the chin. At this moment with heels together and toes pointed outward at an angle of forty-five degrees, the legs are drawn up with knees apart (frog fashion). Then kicking feet right and left as far as possible, the legs are brought swiftly together as the hands are pushed forward to first position. Be careful to bring the legs swiftly together. This is the most important factor in the whole stroke, for it is this sudden displacement of the water that gives two-thirds of the impetus. Use the arms very quietly and depend upon the leg motion. Now with the water reaching to the armpits, place the hands together under the surface of the water and stooping until the chin touches the surface, push gently from the bottom with the feet, and make stroke quietly, but with decision, as described above.

Any one can purchase a preserver, and by following above directions in a few days learn the "breast stroke," the A, B, C of swimming. That stroke once mastered, all others are comparatively easy.

HOW TO BREATHE.

Few swimmers breathe properly. This is most important. Learn to inhale by the nostrils, and exhale through the parted lips, and at every stroke.

It is an exploded theory that drowning persons go down three times and then expire. I have seen a drowning man go down a half dozen times, and still "bob up serenely." It all depends upon the manners in which he struggles, and whether he succeeds in getting a supply of air each time that he rises to the surface.—New York Herald.

Fighting Consumption.

Consumption or tuberculosis has been the subject of early and more vigorous efforts to check its transmission into Prussia than elsewhere, as is natural, considering that Dr. Koch is a Berlin professor. The result is that while from 1875 to 1887, before his discovery, the deaths from tubercle or consumption, were 31 in 10,000; since 1887 there has been a gradual decrease to 25 in 10,000. Elsewhere this decrease has not taken place. Prussian prisons and insane asylums show a reduction in their death rate from tuberculosis, since careful precautions were adopted. The death rate from this cause among religious nursing orders was in 1881-2 114 per 10,000. In 1893-4 it had dropped to 67, almost half. Facts like these show the absolute necessity of careful precautions for destroying the sputa of consumptive patients. Rigorous care in this direction would greatly decrease a disease to which a large proportion of deaths are due.—Philadelphia Press.

His Idea of It.

A school teacher told her pupils to write a sentence containing the word toward. This is what one small boy produced, after a great deal of mental exertion:

"I tored my pants yesterday."—San Antonio Express.

Why Chester White Swine Excel.

Chester White is a pure breed which reproduces its characteristics. These swine have short, broad, intelligent heads, neat ear, broad shoulders and hams, deep sides and neat and strong bone. They stand erect and never break down when fat, mature early and are easy feeders. The sows are prolific and never have any trouble in farrowing. The pigs come strong and lively and begin feeding at an early age. They have strong constitutions and vitality and great power of digestion. The hams and shoulders are of fine quality and command the highest price in the market.

The more good blood one can get with individuality to suit, the better. My experience is in favor of early spring pigs. In feeding, we give them milk with refuse from the kitchen until they outgrow the supply, and then add shorts or middlings to the milk and they will thrive wonderfully, much better than on corn or other dry grain. They should have an ample yard to run in to insure health. By feeding scalded meal about three weeks before slaughtering, they can be made to dress 180 lbs each by December 1 and the entire expense of keeping is only moderate. One of the best types of a pure-bred Chester White boar that was ever exhibited, in my opinion, was Snowbank, the boar that took first prize at the Chicago fat stock show in November, 1890, a lifelike engraving of which is printed herewith.—Farm and Home.

A Constantly Growing Force.

Every Day Gives Momentum to the Success of South American Nervine.

Canadian Citizens from Every Quarter Tell of the Extraordinary Results Following the Use of This Wonderful Remedy.

MR. C. G. CHAPIN, OF BURK'S FALLS, ONT.

There is encouragement in the knowledge that even after the skill of eminent physicians has failed, and many medicines have been used, a certain cure for the diseases of life is to be found in South American Nervine. This is a remarkable medicine, especially when the trouble is nervous debility, indigestion, dyspepsia, sick headache, or a general breaking-up of the system. It has made thousands of cures of Canadian citizens all over this beautiful Dominion, and they have not been slow to sing its praises.

The strength of South American Nervine rests in its being something more than a mere tonic. A tonic will give temporary benefit, but if disease is in the system something more is needed to remove it. South American Nervine possesses all the virtues of a tonic, but more than that, it is a disease-healer. It has been discovered that certain nerves have entire control over the stomach, liver, heart, lungs and indeed all internal organs. When disease comes upon the individual, if a careful analysis is made of the trouble, and things are not gone about in haphazard fashion, it will be shown that the disease has its origin in a derangement of these nerve centers. South American Nervine goes at once to the nerve centers and removes the disease. Then strong, rich, pure blood runs through the veins and gives health and exhilaration to all parts of the system. This is one secret of the power of South American Nervine. But it does not stop here. There is no medicine that is so great a nerve-builder, nor flesh-producer as Nervine. It purifies the system. It imparts to it health and vigor, and builds up the constitution.

Now, this is exactly what was done in the case of Mr. C. G. Chapin, a well-known jeweller, of Burk's Falls, Ont. He says: For years I had been much troubled with nervous debility, and believe I had tried all proprietary medicines, but none seemed to relieve me, until I used South American Nervine. To my surprise the first bottle gave me great relief. I am still taking this great remedy and must say I have not felt so well in years. I highly recommend it to all suffering from nervous disease, for it has made a great change in me."

DISTRESS IN GREY COUNTY.

As a result of the recent meeting of the farmers of the County of Grey, Hon. John Dryden, Minister of Agriculture, was waited upon yesterday afternoon at the Legislative Buildings by Warden George Binnie, who was deputed to lay before the department the distressed condition of the [illegible] as the result of the plague of grasshoppers this summer and the continued drouth. Mr. Binnie stated to the Minister that in a great number of cases the farms had been denuded of every green thing, and that with the exception of a partial potato crop there is very little left to provision either man or beast during the coming winter. The sections which suffered most were the townships of Holland and Sullivan, and they suffered to some extent last season also, though this season, so far, is the worst on record. Recent rains have improved the situation somewhat, and the immediate present is now provided for, but the outlook is still discouraging. Mr. Binnie stated further that he was instructed to ask whether the Government could assist in alleviating the distress existing by a cash grant, or, if not, whether a law would be sanctioned enabling the county to give financial aid. In answer to the Minister's inquiries, the Warden was not prepared with very definite details as to the exact needs of the townships, and after some conversation Mr. Dryden suggested that another meeting be called, exact statistics collected, and some definite scheme formulated, and that then an arrangement be made to wait upon the government as a whole and lay the matter before them. While not prepared to make any definite promise, the Minister assured Mr. Binnie that the Government would give every attention to the matter when it came more definitely before them, and went so far as to say that possibly some grant might be forthcoming should the circumstances of of the case appear to warrant it. He thought that perhaps a commissioner might be appointed to look into the situation and distribute such aid as might be deemed warranted. Mr. Binnie thanked the hon. Minister for his courteous hearing, and promised to lay his suggestions before the farmers of the county.

IN THE WORLD OF SPORT.

Chicago, July 31.—The Canadian cricketers won again to-day with far more ease than in the two previous contests with Chicago players. The St. George's team again, which the visitors played, was made up of two non-members, Cummings and Fraser, to make it more of a match for the crack players from Canada, and the score shows that Cummings made just half the St. George's runs in the first innings, besides bowling out four of the visitors. The score was 218 to 92 for the first innings. Failing short of 60 to tie their opponents, the St. George's eleven went to the bat again, and when time was called their score stood 91 for three wickets down, but this was chiefly due to the fact that Captain Hyman kept his crack bowlers for the game with Pullman to-morrow and the reserve men were hit freely. Terry's great innings for 76 runs, the top score of the series, was a brilliant feature of the game. Score:

At Mile End to Brampton

St. Catharines, July 31.—The Excelsiors of Brampton and Athletics of this city crossed sticks for the first time in the senior series of the C.L.A. in the presence of about 2000 spectators. This being Brampton's Civic Holiday, about 500 lovers of lacrosse accompanied them to this city. All the business places here closed their doors at noon to enable the employes to witness one of the finest exhibitions of lacrosse ever played here. The ball was faced off at 3.24 p.m. The home team played a little ragged at the start, losing many chances to score, and finally, by a neat piece of combination play, the visitors scored the first goal in 15 minutes, amid the wild applause of the many friends of the Excelsiors.

The second game started with a rush, the Athletics securing the ball, and keeping it in the vicinity of the visitors' goal until a well-directed shot made the score tie, in 16 minutes.

The three succeeding games were a repetition of the second game, all of which were noted for fine combined play, the Athletics' goal never being in danger, although the visitors played good lacrosse in places, relieved the goal many times when it seemed doomed. The game was void of any roughness, although a few scars were visible on the faces of both teams.

Milner scored the successful shot for the visitors in 15 minutes in the first game. The second was scored by Notman for the Athletics in 16 minutes. The Athletics secured the third by Graves in 1 3-4 minutes; fourth for Athletics, by McIlwain, in 15 minutes, and last by McIlwain, in 18 minutes.

NOT HIGH PRICED BUT FAIR PRICED

We're at the end of the first half of our year's business. Its been good, we know it. Buyers know it. The good feeling that comes from a successful trade is the best incentive to a merchant to do better by his customers.

That's the way we feel about it. Our goods are never high priced. Always Fair priced. Frequently low priced. We couldn't live and succeed if all our prices were low. Our prices are always what others call low, but a real low cut down price with us means selling without a profit—except the profit we have in clearing our shelves. There is a little profit in this sort yet for us in keeping our Summer Sale going for a little time. In a few weeks New Fall goods will be pouring in. We must have room. Help us. CLEANED OUT A POSTOFFICE.

Burglars Steal $221, Registered Letters and Stamps At Gravenhurst.

Gravenhurst, Ont., Aug. 1.—Burglars broke into the postoffice in this town some time during last night, and considerable money was taken, together with the contents of several registered letters. Entrance was effected through a window in the rear of the building, and a door leading into the main office was pried open. The burglars then drilled a large hole through the vault door at the side of the combination lock, and with a punch destroyed the lock. The contents of the vault were thrown about in the wildest disorder. Considerable time had evidently been taken to thoroughly ransack the vault for money, as no postage stamps were taken although a considerable quantity were in the office at the time. About $235 altogether in cash was stolen.

Increase in Canadian-American Trade.

Buffalo, July 31.—The customs report for the fiscal year ending June 30 has been compiled, and it shows very forcibly the great increase of trade with Canada since the McKinley Act was revoked. Notwithstanding the reduced rates of duty and the large increase in the free list the receipts of the Custom House exceeded those of last year by $29,000, the total receipts being $518,-284.

Alleged Attempted Lynching at Stratford.

Stratford, Aug. 2.—William Renwick has complained to the police that he had a narrow escape from being lynched last night. Renwick's story is regarded as being of the ghost variety.

Upton, a director of the T., H. & B., stated to-day that the line between Hamilton and Toronto would be built this fall, and he thought work would be started in about a month. No cost will be spared in making the road first-class, so that trains can run between the two cities in 40 minutes. There will be a double track.

HOLMES' ASSURANCE.

That No Jury Will Convict Him of Murder.

AFRAID OF HATCH BEING FOUND.

The Arch-Conspirator Declares the Police Have No Evidence Against Him—He Refuses to Say Whether the Little Rock Convict is Hatch.

Philadelphia, Aug. 2.—H. H. Holmes who is charged with about every crime in the calendar, made a statement yesterday in the county prison regarding the latest developments in the chapters of murders with which he is accused.

"The Chicago officials," he said, "may claim that I am responsible for the death of Minnie Williams, Emily Cigrand and Mrs. Conner and little Julia, but I can show conclusively that these people have not and could not have been done away with by me. I am willing to admit that Emily Cigrand was employed by me as a clerk and typewriter for quite a while, but I canot say where she is now." Holmes declared that Minnie Williams is alive.

When Holmes was asked about the identity established between Allen, alias Caldwell and Hatch, who is now confined in the Little Rock Penitentiary and the imminent confession of the man, he said he was not disposed to discuss that matter at present. "I will say, however," he went on, "that the police out west are away off in this case. They do not know what they are talking about. I will tell you frankly that I do not care what number of confessions Allen makes. But Hatch is the man I fear. He is responsible, or at least can account for the disappearance of the Pitezel children. He took them from Toronto and I have not seen them since. Should the police find Hatch he is liable to turn around and accuse me of murdering these children. Of all other things. I am accused wrongly in that case. As long as Hatch keeps out of the way they cannot prove that I murdered the Pitezel children, but if he is found and acuses me of that crime, I do not know what to do. It would be a case of dog eat dog, for he can swear just as strongly as I can."

I can confidently say that neither the police in Chicago, Toronto, Philadelphia or anywhere else, can produce evidence to show that I ever murdered anybody."

It is stated by officers of the Fidelity Insurance Association, the concern that Holmes swindled, that Hatch, Allen, and Caldwell are the same men whose true name is Hatch. An officer of the Fidelity also positively said that Hatch could not have been in Toronto at the time Holmes took the Pitezel children there, as he was then in the Little Rock Penitentiary, where he had been sentenced to 15 years' imprisonment.

No Case in Chicago.

Chicago, Aug. 1.—So far not enough evidence has been secured to make out any sort of a case for to warrant a request that Holmes be tried in Chicago.

London, Aug. 1.—Sir Thomas Francis Wade, K.C.B., G.C.M.G., died at Cambridge yesterday. He was born in 1818. He entered the British army in 1838, and served in China and elsewhere until 1847, when he retired with the rank of lieutenant. He held at different times various official positions at Hong Kong and Shanghai. Owing to his familiarity with the native language and character, he was appointed a member of Lord Elgin's mission to China and accompanied the mission to Pekin in 1860. In 1871 he was appointed Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary and Chief Superintendent of British Trade in China. He was advanced to the rank of K.C.B. in 1875 for negotiating important treaties with the Chinese Government and obtaining trade facilities in that empire. In 1889 he received the Grand Cross of the Order of St. Michael and St. George.

Murderer Gauthier Pleads That He is Crazy.

LANGEVIN'S COLONIZATION SCHEME

A Crusade Started in Quebec to Colonize Manitoba With French Catholics—Gauthier Was Acquitted of Another Murder Charge Some Years Ago.

Montreal, Aug. 1.—Mr. Louis J. A. Papineau, son of the Louis Joseph Papineau of Rebellion fame, and who was made celebrated some time ago by renouncing Catholicism to become a Presbyterian, has contributed $100 to the Chenier monument fund, which, by the way, appears to be dragging just now. Mr. Papineau says: That it was worthy of the oligarchy that rules Canada to-day, when they had just admitted free of duty the statue of its idol, Sir John Macdonald. This oligarchy, says Mr. Papineau, is the near parent of that bureaucracy which it took such efforts and suffering to destroy at one of the most memorable periods of our history. What we want is a new generation of patriotism to recognize our liberty. Signed, Louis J. Papineau.

Montebello, Aug. 1. 1895.

Archbishop Langevin ardently desires to strengthen his position in Manitoba if a second school difficulty should present itself in the near future. Rev. Abbe Morin, apostle of colonization for the Northwest arrived in the city to-day and states that His Grace of St. Boniface has given instructions to the Rev. Abbe Corbeil of that diocese to go to work in the interest of French settlement in the Prairie Province. Up to the present time all efforts in this direction have been confined to the Prince Albert and other districts in the territories. It appears, however, that Archbishop Langevin is about to make an attempt to fill up the unoccupied lands in Manitoba with French speaking people and that with this end in view the Rev. Abbe Corbeil will be started out to preach the new colonization crusade.

Azarie Gauthier, the murderer of Celina Costigny, was up before Judge Desnoyers to-day. Mr. E. N. St. John appeared for the prisoner and will put in the plea of insanity. Gauthier told Detective Lafontaine that the deceased had confessed to him a secret, and ever after he had an uncontrollable desire to kill his sweetheart. The prisoner says he wants justice and does not want to be treated like Chatelle. The inquest will be finished to-morrow and Gauthier will go to the Queen's Bench for trial. The court officials do not put any faith in the insanity plea.

Gauthier is the young man who was arrested about eight years ago and tried for the murder of a farmer named Monteith in the Lower Lachine road. The case was a celebrated one at the time. Gauthier and two other young men named Belanger and Hherien went to Monteith's farm to steal apples. Mr. Monteith detected the thieves and ran after them. Being three to one, they showed fight, and the farmer, who had a pitchfork in his hands, ran at Gauthier, who drew a revolver and shot him. Monteith died a few days afterwards, and Gauthier was tried for murder, but was acquitted, his friends proving that he shot in self-defence.

THE SANDWICH POSTMASTERSHIP.

A Change Made, It is Said, at the Instance of Hon. J. C. Patterson.

Windsor, Ont., Aug. 1.—A few weeks ago Postmaster Ouellette of Sandwich was suspended. Among a number of applicants for the place were C. F. Pequegnote and John Spiers, both general merchants of the town. It was given to Pequegnot, but the appointment was made without consulting Hon. J. C. Patterson of Essex, who was on a western trip. On his return he took a hand in the appointment, with the result that Pequegnot's commission was recalled yesterday and Spiers appointed.

FAST ATLANTIC SERVICE

Sir Charles Tupper Again Confers With Mr. Chamberlain.

London, Aug. 2.—Sir Charles Tupper Canadian High Commissioner, had a long interview with the Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, Secretary of State for the Colonies, yesterday. Sir Charles made a number of suggestions regarding a subsidized service between Canada and the Mother Country, and Mr. Chamberlain made counter suggestions. No decision upon the subject under consideration was reached. Sir Charles Tupper is preparing to submit his proposition in fuller detail to the Colonial Office.

Another despatch says: Joseph Chamberlain, Secretary of State for the Colonies, has under consideration the question of assisting in the establishment of a fast Canadian steamship service across the Atlantic. With the view of arriving at an early decision, the Colonial Secretary has instructed the Departmental Committee having the matter in charge to expedite its report on the subject.

AUDITOR'S CERTIFICATE.

We have audited the Accounts of The Dominion Building and Loan Association for the year ending 30th April, 1895, and find the transactions of the year accurately recorded in the books of the Association, the receipts deposited with the Trusts Corporation, and the payments duly authorized.

The balance of cash in hands of the Trusts Corporation has been acknowledged by them.

We certify to the correctness of the accompanying statements of receipts and payments, assets and liabilities, and profit and loss.

We have carefully examined the securities of the Association, and find the same to be in accordance with the records and the audited statements herewith.

(Signed) WM. POWIS, F.C.A., EDWARD STILL, } Auditors.

ACTUARY'S REPORT.

To the President and Directors of the Dominion Building and Loan Association:

GENTLEMEN,—Having valued all the shares in force, I have now to report the distribution I have made of the profits of the Association to the 30th of April, 1895.

I have analyzed the profits of the past year, as appertaining to Ordinary and Pre-paid Shares in separate classes. The result is, that, adding the shares of profits respectfully to those already declared, the rates of interest realized are as follows:

On Ordinary Shares 12.0149 per cent. and on Pre-paid Shares 11.0764 per cent. compounded yearly.

Each share I have credited with compound interest monthly on the contributions to the loan fund.

Exhaustive statements in detail will be found herewith. Yours faithfully, (Sgd.) WM. POWIS, Consulting Actuary.

June 26th, 1895.

THE PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS.

The President, Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., then made the following remarks:

GENTLEMEN,—The statement you have just heard read, I am sure you have heard with pleasure, for the Association is to be congratulated upon the completion of another year's prosperous business. It is certainly gratifying to call attention to the fact that not only has the volume of business shown a very substantial increase, but that the rate of profits earned is extremely satisfactory, and this in the face of an unsatisfactory condition of general trade at home and a much more unsatisfactory condition abroad—accompanied by a lack of buoyancy on the part of business enterprise, a contraction of the rate of interest, a difficulty in placing investments to advantage and consequently an impairment of the value of securities placed in negotiation. However, notwithstanding these and similar conditions, our assets have increased from $510,000.00, to $739,000.00, and had a less conservative policy been acted upon the figures of this increase might have been considerably enlarged, but the directorate felt that it was the safer policy to eliminate to the greatest possible extent the element of doubt in regard to the sufficiency of the security required in the transaction of the business of the Association. In consequence the aggregate of business was smaller than it would have been had a more speculative spirit been encouraged and business pushed to the limit of its possibility.

The receipts on Ordinary Stock were $95,000, an increase of about $13,000 over those of the previous year; while the receipts on account of Prepaid Stock show a still larger proportionate increase, being $114,000 during the year—more than double those of the preceding year. Another source of gratification is in regard to withdrawal of Stock. With every year added to the age of the Association, it is natural and to be expected, that the withdrawal of Ordinary Stock will be proportionately greater; but the expected has not happened; on the other hand the withdrawals of this class of Stock decreased this year over $4,000, in spite of the fact that the number of shares and the amount of stock in force were very much greater; and in addition the withdrawals of Prepaid Stock fell from $14,600 in 1894 to $4,900 during the year ended 30th April last.

It will, we are sure, be satisfactory to you to receive the information that the Association has experienced a steady demand for loans, having received during the year about 500 applications, representing about $825,000.00, of which $237,020.00 were accepted, and the remainder, declined. At the beginning of the Association year, the resources of the Loan Fund were subjected to such active demand that to meet this demand the Directors felt it their duty to see that funds should be promptly available, and therefore obtained on an interim loan of $40,000, which was applied in meeting the requirements of borrowing Shareholders. This loan was repaid as soon as the receipts from the usual sources warranted.

While the balance on hand at the end of our year is apparently large, it was nearly $10,000 less than the amounts received for investment during the closing month of our annual period. Besides, there were also at the end of the year loans awaiting the completion of the necessary papers to the amount of $40,000, which if effected would have absorbed the total balance on hand. In effect, therefore, all the Loan Fund was in an earning condition. And while the amount invested in First Mortgages increased from $489,000 to $648,000 during the year, the amount advanced to Shareholders on the security of their Paid-up Stock, showed a still larger increase over similar advances of previous years. The amount loaned in this way during the year was more than double the amount at the end of the preceding year. The security on this class of loan is beyond question, the advances in all cases being below the cash surrender value of Certificates. This form of loan is deservedly held in high appreciation by a large number of Shareholders who desire temporary advances of large or small amounts, which are regulated by their requirements, subject to the amount paid by them on their stock.

We have again the pleasure of reporting that through careful and economical management we are enabled to transfer from the Expense Account to the Loan Fund the sum of $2,500. Out of the profits we have placed $2,000 to the credit of the Contingent Account, thereby increasing this fund to $9,000, a sum which we consider more than ample to meet any possible demand that may arise under this head. After setting this amount aside you will observe from the Actuary's Report, that the profits on Ordinary Stock during the past year represent twelve per centum compound interest and the Profits on Prepaid Stock a fraction under twelve per cent. compound interest. Notwithstanding the general depression throughout the country during the past year the instalments on loans have been well met, and in proportion to the business done the arrears on Loans are decidedly less than any time during the history of the Association.

Since the last annual meeting we have issued a new form of stock, termed Fully Paid Stock. It will be remembered that a year ago last August your directorate deemed it advisable to cancel the withdrawal privileges on Prepaid Stock and this Fully Paid Stock is issued to meet the demand of persons who are seeking investment for a limited period. Those Shareholders have the privilege of withdrawing as a stated period as specified on certificate. This does away with the objection of allowing Pre-paid Shareholders to withdraw at will, as the date of withdrawal being known, the necessary funds can be provided. The holders of Fully Paid Stock, enjoying privileges denied Prepaid Shareholders, it was felt to be only equitable that they should not share equally in the profits, consequently those owning this class of stock, realise at the rate of five or six per cent. according to arrangement agreed upon at the date of issue. We are pleased to say that this Stock is having its merits fully recognized by investors.

During the past year your Directors considered it advisable to place our Prepaid Stock at a premium, and notwithstanding the increase represented by this premium, the demand is as active at $55 per share as it was at the former price of $51.00.

Since the last annual meeting your directors have actively pushed the business of the Association into fields hitherto unoccupied, which presented the best opportunity for safe and remunerative business, and throughout the Dominion the business of the Association is in a satisfactory condition. The local Boards and the other representatives have discharged their duties with excellent results in the interests of the Association. The officers of the Association have also earned the approval of the directorate by a faithful discharge of the duties of their several departments, and the Auditors are also worthy of hearty commendation for the prompt, systematic and satisfactory monthly supervision of our financial records, and their certificate appended to the Financial Statement bears witness to the accuracy of the work of the Accountant staff and the healthy condition of our finances.

In view of the complete fulfilment of the prediction I ventured last year to the effect that the year just passed would show a satisfactory increase, I submit that the condition of our affairs presented in the Annual Statement justifies the pleasure and I may say pride, I feel in moving the adoption of the report. It is, I am sure you will agree with me, a report of which any financial institution that has only seen half a decade, may without vanity be justifiably proud, and it is a practical proof that there is a place and a mission for The Dominion Building and Loan Association, both of which will be fulfilled with increasing efficiency and profit, as the modifications and improvements that experience suggests exercise their influence.

I may in conclusion be permitted to point out that this Association represents according to the extent of its operations the solution of a great economic problem,—that of permitting men of limited means steady incomes to be possessors of their own homes, necessarily leading to the acquisition of habits of thrift and systematic saving and puts into practical operation the Act of the Legislature under which we work with results that justify the wisdom of giving it a place upon the Statute books. I have much pleasure in moving the adoption of the report.

SECONDING ADOPTION OF REPORT.

T. P. Coffee, Esq., Vice-President, in seconding the motion, said:

GENTLEMEN,—In seconding the motion to adopt the report, I feel I must content myself with, as I do most heartily, endorsing what has been said by the President, whose remarks have further documentary endorsement in the report of the Directors. I am certain I shall only voice the sentiments of the meeting, when I express my great gratification at the excellent condition of the financial affairs of the Association which the report sets forth. We all know that the conditions of success in the financial field have been exceptionally difficult. The business stringency has by no means been an inactive factor, while the sharp competition of similarly constituted organizations have by no means left our officers and agents a monopoly of opportunities to win the favour of the public desiring to do business on the lines of institutions such as ours. That under, what I may designate as adverse circumstances, we are able to congratulate ourselves upon such an excellent showing of results, is a practical demonstration of soundness of the principles that underlie the constitution and operations of the Dominion Building and Loan Association, and of the prudent administration of its officials. I can add little more to the practical and comprehensive address of the President, and to the pleasing story of progress and hopefulness which is embodied in the Report of the Directors. It affords me very great pleasure to second the motion for the adoption of the Report.

Mr. D. W. Karn, of Woodstock, manufacturer of pianos and organs, said:—As a member of the Board of Directors I should indeed be difficult to please if I failed to be highly gratified at the indications of good management, prosperity and sound condition which the report we have heard to-day presents. It is evident that our association as a financial institution is calculated to meet a peculiar public want in a most satisfactory manner, otherwise the remarkable success that has followed the few brief but prosperous years of its existence would not have been so marked or of so healthy a character. I have no doubt in view of the results, I shall be justified by all concerned in expressing my general approval, and in very heartily supporting the motion. I should like to add, however, that the promptness and business grasp that has characterized the transactions of the Association's business must be very highly appreciated by the shareholders, whose interests, it must be admitted, have been very efficiently protected and promoted.

GENERAL APPROVAL.

Other shareholders having referred in general and warm terms of approval, to the satisfactory nature of the financial statement and the steady expansion of the business of the Association, the motion was unanimously adopted.

AMENDMENTS ADOPTED.

The amendment to the bylaws, of which notice had been given, after careful consideration were adopted.

WRESTLES WITH THE SCHOOL QUESTION.

A CHAMPION ACROBAT.

THE SPEECH WHICH MR. C. W. SAWERS PREPARED FOR THE ORANGEMEN AT MILLBROOK.

Kind Providence Stepped in and Saved Them Through Rain—Being a Man of Infinite Resource, Mr. Sawers Performs the Snake Act and Swallows Himself.

To the Orangemen of Canada:

"The Orange Association lays no claim to exclusive loyalty or exclusive Protestantism; but it admits no man within its pale whose principles are not loyal, and whose creed is not Protestant. Disclaiming an intolerant spirit, the Association demands as an indispensible qualification without which the greatest and the wealthiest may seek admission in vain, that the candidate shall be deemed incapable of persecuting or injuring anyone on account of his religious opinion; the duty of every Orangeman being to aid and defend all loyal subjects of every religious persuasion in the enjoyment of their constitutional rights." Orange Declaration page 4.

BRETHREN,—We have been celebrating this day, our glorious 12th, at Millbrook. The writer was invited to address the large gathering there assembled, but owing to the rain, no speeches were made.

Pardon him, therefore, for again taking the liberty of addressing you through the public press.

The principles of our Order are based on the teachings of Holy Writ, and they not only exhort but require us to be consistent christians, good and loyal subjects, and moderate and tolerant in all we do and say. It is pleasing to know that the advocates of such principles have rapidly gained in strength and in numbers, that during the last 100 years the number of lodges have increased from one to many thousands, and that to-day, the centennial of the first Orange lodge, hundreds of thousands of men throughout the British empire are decked with orange ribbons and are celebrating the anniversary of the greatest battle of freedom ever fought; that branches of the Order exist in every part of the Queen's Dominions, as also in the United States; and that many of the greatest men in that Empire are proud to be Orangemen. The breast of every loyal brother should swell with pride, when he reflects that Canada has had since Confederation three Prime Ministers who belonged to the Orange Association of Canada, namely, Sir John A. Macdonald, Sir John Abbott and Sir Mackenzie Bowell, who now is one of our most active and honored members and a Past Grand Master, a man whom to know is to respect and honor, one who has always, at the proper time and in the proper manner, fearlessly upheld the true principles of our Association. Did space permit many instances of his devotion to our cause might be given you. Let me cite a recent one: At the Grand Lodge meeting held at Sault Ste. Marie, he moved and supported by an eloquent appeal, that a large subscription from the lodge funds be sent to our brethren in Ireland to assist them in withstanding the assaults of the Home Rulers. You need not be told that Bro. Bowell's motion carried unanimously and amidst the greatest enthusiasm. Did he not also, a few years ago, in the House of Commons, after the defeat of the motion, aimed to drive our present honored Grand Master out of public life, whistle "The Protestant Boys." Such acts clearly show that our honored brother is an Orangeman first, last and every time. True, his course in the past has not pleased every member. Whose, I ask, possibly could?

Our Association is composed of Irishmen, Scotchmen, Englishmen and their descendents, and it has well been said that an Irishman fights before he reasons, a Scotchman reasons before he fights, and an Englishman is not particular as to the order of precedence, but will do either to accommodate his opponent. Such being the case, is it any wonder that we hear of many fault-finders, men who talk, bluster and argue without having duly considered the subject matter of their fault-finding. It would be well for such men to remember the difficult public positions held by our brethren, that the people they govern are of all classes, creeds nd nationalities, and that 45 per cent of the population of Canada are Roman Catholics, that the laws are the same for all, and that under the Constitution, not only of Canada, but of the Orange Association, Catholics are entitled to the same consideration, justice and fair play as Protestants. It would only be in pursuance of our obligation for us, who have helped, not only to uphold, but to retain the principles of freedom of speech and thought, and of civil and religious liberty obtained as a result of the victory at the Boyne, to act most generously towards those who differ from us religiously, and ever to be ready and willing to give to them the right hand of friendship.

We now have all the rights and privileges obtained by our ancestors 200 years ago. A Protestant Sovereign has ever since sat upon the throne. No usurper has even put forth a claim. And it might well be asked what more should even Orangemen desire? Some will say to do away with Separate Schools, to have but one National Secular School System.

Our brethren in Ontario know, by the result of the last two local elections, that a large majority of the people in Ontario are satisfied with the present Ontario school system, including all the special privileges given to the Roman Catholic hierarchy by Sir Oliver Mowat's Government, which majority includes such distinguished patriots as D'Alton McCarthy and the Rev. Principal Cavan, men who are now doing their utmost to sow discord in our ranks. Mr. McCarthy in a public speech in Toronto before the last local election stated that "if Sir Oliver Mowat had lost Elgin Myers he had gained the support and vote of D'Alton McCarthy."

Who ever heard of him supporting Mr. Meredith or one of his candidates during that election contest? Has not this same Mr. McCarthy time and again not only insulted but assailed the Orange Association, as witness his malicious attacks upon Grand Master Wallace in the House of Commons? It would be well for Orangemen to beware of such jughandled patriots. And as a constitutional lawyer how does he stand? What is his record? It was the Conservative party that made Mr. McCarthy, and because Sir John Macdonald threw him overboard on account of his constitutional blunders and the trouble he got the Conservative party into and made Sir John Thompson his Minister of Justice he tries now to destroy Bro. Bowell's Government and place in office Messrs. Laurier, Tarte and Devlin. Beware! I say, of such men.

On this school question let me give you the opinions of some of the greatest men in the Protestant churches. Rev. Dr. Shaw, M. A., L. L. B., principal of the Wesleyan College, Montreal, and a prominent member of the Council of Public Instruction of the Province of Quebec, speaking before the Montreal Conference on the 4th of June, said:—"I never could reconcile the two judgments given by the Privy Council, but the last judgment must prevail, and it is in favor of the Roman Catholics, whether we like it or not. Accord'ng to it the Roman Catholic minority of Manitoba have rights, and the Canadian Government is now taking steps, as any government would be bound to take, towards remedying the injustice. The Roman Catholics of our country are 45 per cent. of the population, and outside of the province of Quebec the Roman Catholics are equal in number to the Presbyterians of Canada. As for Separate schools, I am strongly opposed to them and would like to see all the young people educated side by side. Is there any chance of such a solution of the problem now? I think not; Manitoba must have Separate schools. The British Government says so. I would give them Separate schools, with the best qualified teachers and standards, election of trustees by ballot and equal Government supervision with the Public schools."

Rev. Dr. Grant, principal of Queen's University, at the Presbyterian General Assembly, held on the 10th June, measured swords with Principal Cavan, of Equal Rights notoriety, and made use of the following words: "Are we not as much bound to accept one decision of the Privy Council as another? There are denominational schools of all sorts in Britain receiving public money. I do not think that anyone should seek to persuade the assembly to pronounce in favor of any particular view of the relation of Church and State."

Again Dr. Grant, in an interview with a Globe reporter, as published in that journal's issue of the 22nd June, said: "The decision of the Privy Council looked at broadly, seems to be reasonbble from an Englishman's or a Scotchman's point, though to Canadians it seems inconsistent with their former decision. For instance, there have been national schools in Scotland for centuries, but side by side with them are what we would call separate school, that is, schools in which the secular branches are taught, inspected and assisted under public control, and where, in addition, Roman Catholic or Presbyterian or Anglican religious instruction is given. Naturally it would seem an easy matter to the Privy Council that the public school system of Manitoba should be supplemented in some such way. I am inclined to think that some Protestants lose their heads whenever they hear the term separate schools. They seem to think that these schools are inconsistant with national unity. But surely there is national unity in Britain. It seems to me that the Roman Catholics of Manitoba have a positive grievance."

At the Anglican Synod held in Toronto on the 14th of June, the Rev. Dr. Langtry, as representing the rural deanery, presented a resolution with respect to the utter insufficiency of the religious instruction which the majority of children received in the Sunday schools and in their homes. He was not arraigning the Public school system—it had very few equals in the world, but in religious matters there was a practical agnosticism. The effect of this was seen in the United States, where 60 per cent of the people were said to be outside of all christian organization. The petition sought freedom for all sects alike, and he declared he was much more concerned in securing the right for all to teach according to their belief than that the Church of England should secure Separate Schools.

The Rev. Mr. Grant, of the Baptist church, Winnipeg, speaking at an Orange banquet held there on the 28th of March, is reported as follows:—"He still adhered to his advocacy of national schools, but had lately changed his opinion on other points. The difference in the two judgments of the Privy Council was explained. In the first appeal the Roman Catholics claimed rights alleged to have been acquired prior to the province entering Confederation, while in the late appeal the claim was based on rights given to the Catholics since the formation of the Province. Both the Confederation and Manitoba Acts proved that the province cannot take away rights conferred since entering Confederation. If there was any fault it was in the Act of Confederation, and to secure equal rights and privileges that constitution would have to be changed. He urged patience and unity in seeking to settle the question."

Mr. Joseph Martin, M. P., the framer and founder of this vexed school law, in a letter of the 26th of last month published in the several papers stated:—"I said then, and I still think, that the clause of the 1890 Act which provides for certain religious exercises is most unjust to Roman Catholics. If the state is to recognize religion in its school legislation such a recognition as is acceptable to Protestants only, and, in fact, only to a majority of Protestants, is to my mind rank tyranny."

The North-West Baptist, the organ of the Baptists in Manitoba, in its issue of the 15th of February, says:—"The Privy Council clearly indicates that there is a case for intervention on the part of the Dominion. Let Manitoba recognise this decision. We are part of the Empire. We cannot antagonize Great Britain or even the Dominion, when the Dominion's authority in such a matter is established by the highest court in Great Britain. There ought to be a readiness on the part of Manitoba—we mean the Provincial Government—to be a party in discovering where our legislation has wronged our Roman Catholic fellow citizens, and upon discovering, willingly make every endeavor to do them justice."

The Portage la Prairie (Man.) Review in a recent issue says:—"If the decision of the Privy Council had been in our favor we should have insisted upon our Roman Catholic friends abiding by that decision, no matter what the consequences. But now that the decision is the other way it is only fair that we should bow to that decision and so we do."

Rev. Professor Clarke, of Toronto, in an article published in The Week on the subject of religious education in schools declares that the Separate school rests upon a right principle.

Lord Salisbury, Prime Minister of England, made a public statement a short time ago on the subject of religious teaching in the school, and said:—"The sound system is that under which a man would pay his education rate to the school which he approves, and it is towards that we must gradually advance. The State will not be suffered to act like a Russian censor and blot out any religious opinions of which it does not approve."

Lord Aberdeen, Governor-General of Canada, in a speech at University graduates dinner, Ottawa, is reported in the Globe of the 30th of March as having said:—"It was a very strange thing that they all seemed slow to learn that it was impossible to coerce people to adopt or drop certain views. By such attempts a coercion they only increased the intensity with which those view were held. The only policy was, live and let live; and it should be remembered that by extending toleration to others we by no means compromise our own principles, and that it is those who have the firmest hold of their own convictions who can afford to be tolerant and generous and liberal towards others."

And now let me refer you to some of the public and official statements of the aforesaid distinguished patriot: Mr. Dalton McCarthy, M.P.; I quote from his speeches in the House as reported in the Hansard:—

July 16th, 1894, Mr. McCarthy said: "If the people in the Northwest adopt a scheme of separate schools and afterwards apply for admission into Confederation there will be no great harm done to say, very well; nothing in any law we can give you shall prejudicially affect any right or privilege with reference to denominational schools."—Page 6,149. Also, "I am not seeking to deprive any person of separate schools; I am not going into that argument. I have my own views about them, and though I would agree with the hon. member for North Wellington (Mr. McMullen) in saying that I would sooner see a separate school system than a secular school system, I see no necessity at all for a secular school system displacing a separate school system,'.—Page 6,151.

Comment is unnecessary. Is it any wonder that Bro. Wallace mistrusts Mr. McCarthy's sincerity. Could any man's public acts be more inconsistent, unreliable and mischievous than his? Again, I say, beware of such patriots.

And as to the constitutional right of the Manitoba minority to separate schools, I give from the official debates on the Manitoba Act of 1870, statements made by some of those who were against the establishment of separate schools at any time in the Province of Manitoba, then being constituted. The Hon. Wm. McDougall made a speech on the subject and specially referred to the separate school clauses. He said: "He should also propose to strike out the 20th clause relating to the separate schools. They had better see what provisions the local Parliament might make with regard to this question after which the Governor General might exercise the veto power. He opposed the clause as inapplicable to the country and as suggestive of a state of things which it should be preferable not to suppose to exist."

Mr. Thomas Ferguson, then a member of Parliament, replied to Mr. McDougall and showed by his remarks that it was the intention of Parliament to establish Separate schools. Answering Mr. McDougall he said: "Why, the hon. gentleman spoke of Separate schools as if they were something horrible to contemplate; but if his memory served him aright the hon. gentleman, while in the Government, had voted for Separate schools in this country."

When the educational clauses came up for consideration Mr. Ferguson voted against them. The Hon. Mr. Oliver moved that the educational clauses be struck out altogether, and in the course of the discussion Mr. McDougall made another speech, in which he stated "that the effect of the clause, if not struck out, would be to fix laws which the local Legislature could not alter in future and that it would be better to leave the matter to local authorities to decide as in the other provinces." The debate was participated in by the Hon. Mr. Mackenzie, who said he was prepared to leave the matter to be settled exclusively by the local Legislature. "The British North American Act gave all the protection necessary for minorities, and local authorities understood their own local wants better than the general Legislature.' After discussion the amendment of the Hon. Mr. Oliver was voted down by an overwhelming majority and the principle of Separate Schools as laid down by the Maitoba Act affirmed.

It will thus be seen, not only from the speeches referred to, but from those of Hon. Mr. Chauveau and Sir George Cartier, the Parliament of Canada at that time understood that they were granting Separate schools to whatever section of the people of Manitoba, Catholic or Protestant, that might happen to be in the minority.

From the foregoing you will observe:

1st. That Parliament wished to protect the minority, Protestant or Catholic, as the case might be, in the enjoyment of their rights to Separate schools.

2nd.—That the intention was to secure for the minority in Manitoba the same educational rights as given by the Act of Confederation to the Protestants of Quebec.

3rd.—That it could not be determined then whether the Protestants would outnumber the Catholics in that Province.

Brethren in considering the "Manitoba question," which is to-day so agitating our ranks, ponder well the opinions cited above, and do not forget that the question now before the country is not one of affirming the principle of Separate schools, but, as declared in a speech delivered in the Senate a few days ago by the Premier, the maintenance of a Constitution given to Manitoba inviolate, and that no promise made by the Crown or its representative should ever be broken, no matter whether it was in accord with our peculiar views or not. Keep these facts in mind and remember that:

"The Orange Association is constituted upon the broadest principles of national freedom. It takes its stand upon the glorious principles of the evolution of 1688; it lays its foundation in the field of British liberty; it disdains the badge of faction, and knows no emblem save "the altar and the throne."

Yours fraternally,
C. W. SAWERS.

ALIVE TO THEIR DANGER.

Minneapolis People Making Enquiries With Regard to a Canadian Discovery.

Minneapolis, July 22.—There has been an unusual number of deaths from heart disease in this city during the last few months and in many cases the victims were unconscious of being sufferers from the dread complaint. Post mortems have shown in several instances that the trouble was directly traceable to a diseased condition of the kidneys and people have become alive to the danger. A number of enquiries have been instituted with with regard to the best methods of cure and the new Canadian specific remedy known as Dodd's Kidney Pills has come in for a great share of attention owing to the extraordinary number of cures which have been effected through this agency.

No Other Remedy.

Nothing Impossible.

Just now a mite of money is worth a mountain of stock.

Just now, nothing seems impossible in the line of economy. But the TRUTH about low values is hard to comprehend. Anything less than ALL the facts concerning OUR goods and their values would be unjust to the public.

You cannot always buy so many kinds of goods at and below cost as we offer you now. Your best economy is to invest your money in wisely selected goods at present prices at this store. Listen :—

This is a splendid opportunity to those desiring a well made suit at a moderate cost. Pay him a visit. 2d

Yes! We Fooled 'Em.

The Lindsay Post of Thursday says,—Yesterday the Port Hope lacrosse club ran an excursion to Peterborough and played a game with the team of that place. Before the game the betting ran high at big odds in Port Hope's favour, but when the game started those who had their money on Port Hope began to feel sick, and in less than 45 minutes Peterborough had won by a score of 4 to 0. One of the Port Hope Indians had the misfortune to have his nose broken. The Peterboroughs were defeated by Port Hope recently, and it is whispered that the game was given away in order to capture Port Hope money.

Useless Discussion.

A special meeting of the Lakefield village council is called for Monday evening to discuss the advisability of memorializing the Government or sending a deputation to Ottawa to have the present route of the T. V. C. changed from the west side of the river, so as to run through the raceway on the east side, or follow the course of the first survey through the railway swamp, with such changes as may be deemed advisable. The council at Lakefield are only wasting time discussing the matter, as it will be many a long day before the canal will run on either the east or west side of the Otonabee, or any other river.

And yet the wine itself is better than anything that could be said about it. Wilson's Invalid Port Wine. That is the celebrated brand which has rapidly risen in public favour. The reason is that it meets the need for a bracing tonic which shall be without the disagreeable features of medicine. Wilson's Invalids' Port is a fine old wine of undoubted age, which has the effect of a bracing and stimulating tonic. It dispels lassitude, puts a new heart of hope into the invalid, but chiefly is it invaluable in that it gives new blood to an impoverished system. CHARLOTTE STREET METHODIST CHURCH IMPROVEMENTS.

The Edifice has Been Altered so as to Make the Interior Almost Unrecognizable.

The Charlotte street Methodist church has just gone through such an over-hauling and complete renovation as to transform its somewhat sombre interior into a brightness which is quite refreshing.

The exterior of the edifice has been also beautified in such a manner as to make it present a most attractive appearance. The white brick front has been freshly tuck-pointed, the large entrance doors beautifully grained. All the woodwork around the windows, doors, etc., has been painted a reddish brown and the fence and outbuildings in connection with the are resplendent in a fresh coat of paint. The woodwork on the parsonage has also been brightened up and the shutters repainted. Water has been introduced on the lawn as well as on the grounds surrounding the church.

The change made in the interior through the effective use of the paint brush is something wonderful. The woodwork around the organ loft and the portico has all been grained in a light shade of ash, which is certainly a vast improvement on the dark and sombre colouring with which it was formerly adorned. The ceiling has been papered in a pretty tint of cream of the principals painted to harmonize. The walls are also tinted in cream and freshly marked and the seats and wainscotting are just drying out a coat of varnish. Altogether the Charlotte street church is so changed and improved by the work which has been put upon it during the last couple of weeks that one would hardly know it.

One of the most important changes and one upon which those congratulated themselves, is the new arrangements which have been made regarding the ventilation of the church. The large stained glass windows along the sides of the church were purely ornamental but now they are useful as well. Every other one swings open its entire length to let in the cool breezes in the summer, whilst the alternate ones also swing open partially. The windows over the organ loft, which were formerly fixtures, are now ingeniously swung on hinges and allow a magnificent draught of air to circulate through the upper part of the church. Ventilators have also been placed in the roof. The carpets have all been raised for the first time in years, and after having been thoroughly renovated have been relaid with new matting.

The Charlotte St. church congregation can now happily congratulate themselves on having a church in which not the faintest suspicion of "stuffiness" is perceptible, and the building is one which they may show with pride to visitors in town.

Almost the whole of the arrangements for the beautifying of the church are due to the energy of Rev. J. J. Rae, who gave his personal attention to the matter from its inception until its completion. He was ably backed up by his congregation, who contributed by special subscription, and in other ways assisted the pastor in perfecting his ideas for the decoration of the edifice. Under Rev. Mr. Rae's pastorate the church is in a most prosperous condition indeed.

OBITUARY.

Death of Mrs. John Clarin, of Lakefield.

The death of Mrs. Jane Clarin, wife of Mr. John Clarin, of Lakefield, occurred on Wednesday morning last in that village.

Mrs. Clarin was fifty years of age, and had been a sufferer for a long time from cancer, to which disease she finally succumbed.

The deceased leaves two children, Mrs. Whaley, wife of Mr. Whaley, of Whaley, Royce & Co., Toronto, and Charles, who travelled for this firm. She was born in England, but together with her parents came to this country early in the forties, and took up her residence near Rice lake. In 1865 the family moved to Lakefield, where the deceased has resided ever since. Mr. Clarin and family have the sympathy of the community in their affliction.

The funeral will take place on Saturday next.

Rochester on Civic Holiday.

The favourite sale across Lake Ontario to Charlotte and Rochester will be given to Peterborough on Civic Holiday, as the Oddfellows of Otonabee Lodge, have decided to hold an excursion to Rochester on that day. They will run per the Grand Trunk to Port Hope, and there take the elegant steamer North King across the lake. The return fare is only $1.75, and the tickets are good going on Thursday, the 15th, and returning up to the morning of Saturday, the 17th. This will be the popular trip of the day. dtf

TWO BURGLARIES WERE COMMITTED.

A Safe Blown Open With Gunpowder.

THE EXPLOSION IS HEARD BUT NOT UNDERSTOOD.

Meldrum & McAllister's Grain Warehouse Entered and Burglarized—J. H. Turnbull's Store Also Entered—Suspicious Looking Strangers in Town.

Two burglaries took place last evening within the town limits, and although the plunder secured was not very large, still the act of breaking into business premises, and in the one case cracking a safe, is one so replete with lawlessness that the police should strain every nerve to capture the perpetrators of what were evidently two carefully planned burglaries.

The most important one is thought to have taken place at about one o'clock this morning when the premises known as the old Stevenson warehouse, on the corner of Bethune and Simcoe streets, occupied by Messrs. Meldrum & McAllister, millers, etc., was entered and burglarized.

The midnight intruders gained an entrance into the office through from the lane on the west side by cutting out the entire frame of the window. A large sharpe knife was evidently used in doing the job as the frame was carved in a manner to indicate that it was not a chisel which had been used. If the knife theory is correct it goes to show that the burglars came prepared to at any moment and sell their liberty as dearly as possible.

The safe evidently caught their attention when once inside and this morning when the office was opened, the iron strong box presented a dilapidated appearance indeed. The whole interior had been blown out and the bolts and locks torn from their fastenings and scattered around the floor by the violence of the explosion which took place when the safe was cracked.

The hole had been neatly bored in the top of the safe and the powder evidently poured down into the interior. The remains of a burnt fuse told the rest of the story. A bag of oats had been placed on the top of the safe to deaden the noise of the explosion, but that it only partially succeeded in doing this was proven by the fact that about one o'clock the family of Sheriff Hall distinctly heard the noise and wondered concerning its origin. Other of those living in the neighborhood also heard the unusual noise.

There was only about nine dollars in silver left in the safe over night and this the burglars secured. Insurance papers, etc., which were left in the safe

The manner in which the safe was blown open argues that whilst the job was undoubtedly the work of skilled mechanics yet they could hardly have been professional cracksmen. The hole was bored in through the top instead of near the combination through the door, and evidently enough powder was used to almost blow the safe into pieces, as the door was thrown open with such violence as to throw it back against a letter press stand with sufficient force to crush and grind the whole corner off it, whilst the iron fittings in the interior were crushed into shapeless lumps of metal. Professional cracksmen would have provided against the door flying open in this fashion by placing something against it.

The money which was in the safe was locked in a small steel compartment, and this was carried off to be opened at leisure. In order to provide a ready means of egress if surprised in their nefarious undertaking the burglars had opened the large doors leading from the warehouse into the lane.

Earlier in the evening an employee of Mr. James Stevenson saw a man prowling around the warehouse and trying to raise the window. He stated that he would have interfered but was afraid of being shot for his trouble. Fear of being shot also kept him, he states, from informing the police.

The other burglary took place on the premises occupied by Mr. J. C. Turnbull, on George street as a store. It is at present being refitted and enlarged, and the rear is closed by a number of large sash secured together.

In one spot the sash

DID NOT QUITE REACH

to the top, and securing a ladder the intruder dropped in over the top and opened up a door in the rear. The till was rifled of its contents, thirty-five cents, but the burglars must have been disturbed suddenly as they then took their departure without making further depredations, although large quantities of valuable goods lay at every hand.

As the till had been only placed in the position where it was found sometime yesterday, it is thought that the burglary must have been committed by some one who noticed where the cashier sat when making change during the day and must therefore have been in the store during business hours.

A number of rough looking strangers have been in town during the last couple of weeks, and the police are making a vigilant search for them.

Until arrests have been made, and the guilty ones brought to punishment the pater familias will hereafter sleep with a "gun" under his pillow. Local hardware merchants already report quite a brisk trade in cartridges this afternoon, so if these light fingered gentry endeavor to force an entrance into any of the private residences a warm reception may await them.

The Sting Within.

It is said there is a rankling thorn in every heart, and yet that none would exchange their own for that of another. Be that as it may, the sting arising from the heart of a corn is real enough, and in this land of tight boots a very common complaint also. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor is a never failing remedy for this kind of heartache, as you can easily prove if afflicted. Cheap, sure, painless. Try the genuine and use no other.

COUNTY LODGE PASSES UPON MR. SAWERS.

He Must Not Be So Officious

GRAND MASTER WALLACE TO ACT CONSTITUTIONALLY

And Assign Proper Duties to Proper Officers.

At the semi-annual meeting of the County Orange Lodge held in June, the following resolution was adopted by the County Lodge. The discussion upon the course being pursued by Mr. Sawers in assuming duties devolving upon those qualified to perform them was severely criticised by those present, and the County Secretary was instructed to forward a copy of the following resolution to the Grand Master :

"Whereas duties appertaining to the office of a County or Past County Master have recently been performed by Bro. C. W. Sawers, and whereas said Bro. Sawers has never filled the honourable position of County Master; and whereas such a course is calculated to reflect on the ability and integrity of those Brothers who have worthily and acceptably filled those offices. Be it therefore resolved that this County Lodge respectfully inform the Grand Master that we have good, efficient and worthy brothers who have filled or are now filling the various offices of the County and District, and to suggest to him that it would conduce to the peace, prosperity and harmony of the Order here to have all such duties assigned to the proper officers in future."—Carried.

THE D. B. & L. A. ANNUAL REPORT.

Comments of the Press.

(From the Mail and Empire.)

In another column will be found a report of the proceedings of the fifth annual meeting of the Dominion Building and Loan Association, an examination of which will show that the year has been a most prosperous one, and that the outlook for the coming twelve months is most satisfactory. The address of the president is lucid and comprehensive, making clear the fact that the affairs of the association are in excellent hands. The assets have increased from $510,000 to $739,000, and the volume of business has become very considerably enlarged. The report of the directors is one of which the shareholders may well be proud, and the re-election of Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., as president, and of Mr. Thomas P. Coffee, as vice-president, will have the effect of increasing the confidence that the public have always reposed in this corporation. With the other directors who are associated with them they will continue to follow that policy which, since the association was first established, has been so satisfactory to the shareholders and to all concerned.

A PROSPEROUS COMPANY.

(From the World.)

The annual meeting of the Dominion Building and Loan Association took place in this city yesterday. From the report published in another column it will be observed that the business of the association increased during the past year from $510,000 assets to $739,000, an increase of over a quarter of a million. The earnings of the association on ordinary and prepaid shares were about twelve per cent. compounded. The receipts of ordinary stock were $85,000, an increase of about $13,000 over those of the previous year, while the receipts on account of prepaid stock show a still larger proportionate increase, being $114,000, or somewhat more than double that of the preceding year. The report of the association shows that it is in a first-class condition, with a constantly increasing business. Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.L.A., of Peterborough, was re-elected president, and Mr. P. T. Coffee, of Guelph, vice-president. The rest of the directorate remains as it was, showing that the board continues to enjoy the confidence of the shareholders.

VERY SATISFACTORY REPORT.

(From the Globe.)

In another column will be found a full report of the fifth annual meeting of the shareholders of the Dominion Building and Loan Association, which was held yesterday afternoon at the offices of the Association, 54 Adelaide street east. Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., the President, occupied the chair, and Mr. F. M. Holland, the General Manager, acted as secretary. The annual statement showed the receipts of the loan fund for the year closed to have been $788,187.69, including a balance from last year of $510,424.78, while the payments were $51,077.25, leaving a balance of $739,110.44. The assets amount to $739,110.44, the chief item in this being $648,337.65 in mortgages. The liabilities fall short of the assets by $40,170.92, which is the balance, profit and loss for distribution. Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., in the course of his address, pointed out the fact that despite the financial depression and its consequences, the association's assets had increased from $510,000 to $739,000, its earnings being 12 per cent., and that in the face of a very conservative policy. The receipts on ordinary stock, Mr. Stratton pointed out, were $85,000, an increase of $13,000 over those of the previous year, while the receipts on account of prepaid stock, showed a still larger proportionate increase, being $114,000 during the year, or more than double those of the preceding year. The public ask frequently in regard to companies of this description if they are able to keep all their funds invested; and in this particular, the President pointed out, the record of the association was particularly good, some 500 applications for loans, representing about $425,080, having been made. Of these loans to the value of $237,-080 were accepted, and the remainder declined. Through good management there was transferred from the expense account to the loan fund the sum of $2,500, and out of the profits $2,000 were placed to the credit of the contingent account, increasing this fund to the ample figure of $9,000. At the meeting of directors which followed, Mr. J. R. Stratton, M. P. P., Peterborough, was re-elected President, the Vice-President being Mr. Thomas P. Coffee, Guelph, and the Executive Committee to consist of the President, Vice-President and Mr. D. W. Karn.

CULTIVATION OF CORN

HOW TO REDUCE LABOR AND SECURE THOROUGH CULTURE.

Working With a Barred Cultivator—A System that Involves a Minimum of Labor—Seven Hours Work to the Acre.

The experiments which are going on all over the country in the matter of clutivation of corn, how to reduce the labor and at the same time give more thorough culture (not deeper, but a culture more in harmony with the habits of the plant), are not only interesting, but significant, from the fact that each year the cultivation of corn is being done more shallow, each experiment going to show that corn roots are best promoted in growth when the root leaders are left to run close to the surface and send the feeders down into the deep soil, and that weeds are best killed in the upper two inches of soil and not by deep working of the ground, which is only a good plan to bring up a fresh seeding of weed seed to germinate. For the last four years I have been making changes in methods of corn culture, both for silage and field corn, and last year I reached a point of success that satisfies me, at least, and has reduced the labor to a minimum. I have, after a thorough fitting of the soil and planting, performed the most of the culture of the corn with a heavy steel roller, a set-at-any pitch, 64-tooth harrow, and a Breed's weeder, finishing the work with an old, heretofore discarded three-shovel cultivator.

The land was marked, before planting, with a marker that make an eight inch wide, and about one and one-half inch deep mark. The corn was planted in this furrow at a depth, including the farther depression of the planter wheel of one and one-half inches more. Before the corn was up the field was rolled to break down any lumps that might have been left, and then dragged, going lengthways of the rows, so as not to obliterate the markings. Just as the corn was coming up it was dragged again, and four days later the roller was again put on, to pulverise the crust that will form after a big rain and hot sunshine. When the corn was six inches high the fields were rapidly gone over with the new style of Breed's weeder, and about as fine and clean fields of corn resulted as one could wish to see. Later on the cultivator was made over, as seen illustrated, and put to work. A wheel was put on in front, and a crossbar made of hard wood strip an inch thick, two wide and three and five inches long, or three inches shorter than the width of the rows, was fastened at the rear of the two rear shovels, and two, inches above the lower points, so as to be exactly crosswise of the soil between the rows. With this crossbar the cultivation is shallow, the soil is left level between the rows, the fine earth is pushed up to the corn, and it is very easy to destroy any remaining weeds, as this crossbar working in the fine soil not only pulls them up, but they as well as the pigeon grass and little weeds are, in going over the bar, left with the tiny roots in the air, where they are quickly dried. One of these bars makes the most complete potato hoe that I have yet seen. By this system of culture I do not, after planting, exceed seven hours of labor to the acre. Of course to work with widespreading tools, so that three rows can be taken at a time, and the bar cultivator do good work, the land must be free of foul stuff, lumps and large stones. One of the features of this later culture with the crossbar is that the corn plants are slightly hilled, and the brace roots are soon in contact with the soil and are quickly rooted. Yet I may be just a little old-fashioned in the belief that corn does a little better with some fresh soil placed about its roots, and that the ears form much more perfectly and ripen with far less soft ears, when the culture does not exceed two inches in depth, and there is no root pruning.—American Agriculturist.

DR. McCONNELL DIES SUDDENLY.

Seized With Apoplexy While Attending the Supreme Court of the Foresters in London.

London, Aug. 1.—(Telegram Special)—During the session to-day of the Supreme Court of the Independent Order of Foresters, Dr. John McConnell of Toronto suddenly expired. Deceased arrived here the other day on board the Kensington with the other delegates from Canada and the United States, and to all appearances was enjoying the best of health. Apoplexy is said to be the cause. His fellow-Canadians here are much cast down over the event.

It was about 4.30 o'clock this afternoon that the doctor left the session, and 15 minutes afterwards he was found in the lavatory lying upon the floor, his face being slightly bruised from the effects of the fall. An inquest will be held to-morrow, and the remains will be embalmed and sent back to Toronto by the Foresters.

Dr. John McConnell was born in the County of York and practised medicine in Dundas-street since 1832 or thereabouts. In 1884 he was reeve of Brockton, and upon the amalgamation of that suburb with the city he sat in the City Council for about six months in 1884, beginning March, 31. He was a coroner for the city and county, and for a long time was member of the Reform Club.

He leaves a wife and three daughters and one son, all the children being grown up. The doctor had been for many years an attendant at St. Anne's Episcopal Church, where he was a prominent member of the congregation.

MOST INVALUABLE.

The New Specific Remedy is Being Extensively Used at Ottawa.

Ottawa, July 29.—The marvellous recovery of Mr. G. H. Kent, of this city, from Bright's disease by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills is still fresh in the memories of Ottawa people, and the remedy is being freely recommended both by druggists and private citizens. The similar wonderful cures of Dr. A. G. McCormick, of Richmond, Quebec, and Mr. Arthur Coley, of Somerset, Manitoba, to say nothing of many others, are generally quoted in favour of the assertion that no remedy of modern times has gone so successfully through a severe trial, and been so efficacious in all cases of kidney trouble. It is also proving itself invaluable in the milder forms of sickness which appear during the summer.

RIGHT TO PROHIBIT.

Is It Vested in the Province or Dominion?

THE APPEAL TO THE PRIVY COUNCIL

Mr. Maclaren, Q.C., Argues That the Power Belongs to the Provincial Authorities—Hon. Edward Blake Represents the Brewers and Distillers.

London, Aug. 2.—The Judicial Committee of the Privy Council yesterday began the hearing of the prohibition appeal to decide whether the power to pass prohibitory liquor legislation belongs to the Federal or the Provincial authorities in Canada. The appeal is against a judgment of the Supreme Court of Canada, handed down on January 15, 1895, and questions regarding the right to prohibit the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors are also raised. Lords Halsbury, Herschell, Watson, Morris and Davey and Sir Richard Couch formed the committee of the Privy Council. J. J. McLaren, Q.C., and Richard H. Haldane, M.P., Q.C., were the counsel for the appellants, the Province of Ontario, and E. L. Newcomb, and H. W. Lochnis for the Dominion of Canada; while Hon. Edward Blake, Q.C., M.P., and Mr. Wallace Nesbitt watched the case in the interests of the Brewers and Distillers' Association of Ontario. Judges McLellan and Burton and Sir Oliver Mowat, Aemilius Irving, C. W. Moss, N. W. Hoyles, all of them Canadian Queen's Counsel, were also present.

Counsel Maclaren narrated the history of the litigation, and submitted the seven points which had been adversely decided by the Supreme Court of Canada, and asked that an affirmative answer be given to each. All of the points submitted, he maintained, came within the classes and subjects, enumerated in section 92 of the British North America Act of 1867, which, he maintained, put the powers of prohibition of manufacture and sale of fermented and intoxicating liquors into the hands of Provincial Legislatures.

Answering a question by Lord Halsbury, Mr. Maclaren submitted to the committee the proposition that municipal institutions had powers which, though not stated in section 92, were not, on the other hand, conferred upon the Federal Dominion by the provisions of section 91.

Lord Herschell—"Then you contend that all of the powers not conferred upon the Dominion by section 91 are conferred upon the Provinces?"

Mr. Maclaren—"Though such powers are not expressly conferred they are yet within the rights of the Provinces, they having previously held them."

Lord Herschell said that he understood that all powers had been taken from the Provinces by the act of 1867. Then new powers were given by section 92 of the act of 1867. He could not see anything in the statutes relating to any powers having been retained. Moreover, by the Act of Confederation the Provincial legislatures were debarred from amending the acts which had existed before the formation of the Dominion, the powers conferred by such acts having been vested in the Dominion.

Mr. Maclaren continued his argument, saying that prior to the passage of the Act of 1867 the Legislatures of the several Provinces had conferred upon the municipalities within these Provinces large prohibitory powers in the regulation of the liquor traffic. He then read copies of judgments rendered by Justice Burton and others in defence of this contention and proceeded with his argument. In the Provinces of Quebec and Ontario, he said, restrictions had been placed upon the retailing of liquors by the Local Legislatures.

Lord Herschell—"It should not be assumed because certain restrictions came within the scope of the municipal powers prior to 1867, that necessarily the powers be considered to belong to a specified municipality now." It was his opinion that if these powers could not be brought within the scope of section 92 of the section 1867, they were always open to being overruled by the authority of the Dominion.

Mr. Maclaren said that the Legislature of the Province of Ontario only held that so far as it was not overruled by any existing Dominion law, the powers conferred were not liable to be overruled.

Mr. Maclaren had not finished his argument when the committee rose and the hearing was adjourned.

Maclaren's Argument Without Force

The Telegram's correspondent in his report says: Lord Watson, a member of the comittee, remarked during the course of Mr. Maclaren's address that it was questionable whether the Dominion Parliament should lose so great a power to hand over to a Province, and further said that some of the arguments advanced by Mr. Maclaren contained no force.

Hon. Edward Blake, who was present, representing the Brewers' and Distillers' Association of Ontario, was prepared with an address, but it looks now as if he would not be required to deliver it.

Charges Corruption Eleven Years Ago.

London, Aug. 2.—A great deal of excitement has been created in Birmingham over the publication of a pamphlet written by Ald. Manton of the Birmingham City Council, charging the Birmingham police with having resorted to the most corrupt, dishonorable and dishonest methods in securing the conviction of the dynamiters Whitehead, Eagan and Daly, in 1884. Manton was chairman of the Birmingham Watch Committee at the time the conspiracy of Eagan, Daly and others were discovered.

Bad Literature an Incentive to Murder

London, Aug. 1.—The finding of the coroner's jury in the case of Robert and Nathaniel Combes, the two boys who were accused of having murdered their mother, was officially announced to-day. The jury found a verdict of wilful murder against Robert, the elder son, while Nathaniel was held as an accessory before the fact. The jury added a rider to their verdict urging that the sale of inflammatory and shocking literature be stopped, on the ground that it is answerable for many crimes. Acting on the advice of the coroner, the jury ignored the case of Fox, the half-witted man, who helped the boys spend the money obtained by them by pawning goods taken from the house after the murder of their mother. Fox's case is considered distinct from that of the two youthful criminals.

American Fruits in London.

London, Aug. 2.—Another consignment of California fruit, comprising 1550 cases of pears, 730 cases of plums and 270 cases of peaches, was sold at auction in the Covent Garden Market to-day. Although the greater part of the fruit was in bad order, being considerably over-ripe, the prices realized were slightly in advance of those obtained at last week's sales. Bidders were very cautious, however, owing to the losses they sustained after the first sale, the fruit having spoiled before it could be gotten rid of by retail sales. Some dealers here attribute the condition of the fruit to its being picked too green, or to the fact that the temperature of the steamer was too low.

Big Blaze at Menominee.

Menominee, Mich., Aug. 2.—Fire broke out in the centre of the manufacturing district of this city last night, and before it was controlled had done damage estimated at $300,000. Four men were seriously injured. 25,000,000 feet of lumber was destroyed.

Deadly Cancer Cured By B. B. B.

HERE IS THE PROOF.

Messrs. T. Milburn & Co:

SIRS,—About four years ago I was taken sick with stomach trouble. I consulted several leading local physicians, all of whom pronounced my disease incurable cancer of the stomach, and told me I had not long to live. Two physicians attending me gave me up to die. Through reading your advertisement, and by advice of friends, I tried your Burdock Blood Bitters and I am happy to say that after using one bottle I was able to leave my bed which I had been confined to for a long time. I am thankful now to state that B.B.B. cured my disease which baffled the doctors, and I am firmly convinced saved my life. Gratefully yours,

Explanation of the Company's System of Profit Distribution.

The method of profit distribution of most companies is to give a bonus or profit on the sum assured, irrespective of the premiums paid. The Sun Life of Canada allots its profits to policies in proportion to the premiums paid, which is considered to be the more equitable system. This accounts for the variations in the percentages of the accompanying results. The lower rates given below are, in most cases, on young lives. The examples are taken from the Company's claim register as at the end of 1894, for the first 5 years.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our Systematic Plan of Speculation

originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well-known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plain are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

LACROSSE.

The Port Hope Guide has the following to say of Wednesday's match: Many and fierce have been the lacrosse struggles between Port Hope and Peterborough, but never until yesterday were our local twelve worsted by the Edisonites. That Port Hope expected to win goes without saying, but a defeat of four straight games was never anticipated by the club's most faint-hearted supporter. But four games is credited to Peterborough, while Port Hope has a zero. The Ontarios should have had games which were not allowed, once the ball being carried by Colman and dropped fairly through the centre of the goal, but an individual who had a financial interest in the match, foisted himself upon the clubs as umpire, and refused to give the Port Hope team a game. The match was a most magnificent exhibition from an impartial spectator's point of view and was one worth going many miles to see. From beginning to end the exhibition was replete with brilliant plays, first by some members of the Peterboroughs, then one of the Ontarios would distinguish himself.

The Port Hope team was a strong one, Day, Nattrass and M. White took the places of three players of the team, of Wednesday week. Peterborough was strengthened by Turnbull, of the Torontos, and Latimer and McCabe, of Perth.

The hundred and fifty friends, who accompanied the Ontarios to Peterborough, had very few occasions to cheer themselves hoarse after Day being hurt, as Turnbull had not much difficulty in outplaying them. The boys having lost heart, were, to speak plainly, not in it now, The Peterborough home pulled the Port Hope defense out, and scored each game the same way, The Ontarios, except on a few occasions, could do nothing with the opposing defence. The Port Hopers seemed to be in the worst possible luck. Good individual play took place, but at critical moments the boys went to pieces.

The defeat can be accounted for in a few words. The grounds were four times the size the Ontarios are used to playing on, and were full of ditches, graves, etc., and rotten umpires, three of which were ruled off for cheating, and we understand they all had money on the game. Pete Day's injury at the hands of McCabe, took the heart out of the team. It might be stated here, that McCabe, is beyond a doubt, one of the dirtiest players handling a stick today, and his slashing Day is quite in keeping with his usual tactics.

The Ontarios feel keenly their defeat, it being the first this year, but it is questionable if the better team won yesterday, and we would like to see the third game on neutral grounds.

[Note: The Guide is unfair in its criticism when it says that Peterborough never won a match from them. Peterborough has drawn with them many times, won from them many times and has forced them to default when they were sure of being beaten. Lattimer, whom the Guide says played with Peterborough, was not even in town that day, and surely McCabe cannot be called a Perth boy.

THE TURF.

Yesterday was the banner day in the history of the Cleveland track. It was stated that 15,000 people saw the races. Robert J., the king of the turf, is king no longer. The honour was wrestled from him by that game black stallion, Joe Patchen, in the most exciting speed contest ever seen on a Grand Circuit track. It has been known since last season that Joe Patchen was a great race horse, but even his warmest admirers did not believe that he was speedy enough to dethrone the phenomenal Robert J. In the auction pools Robert J. sold for $25 and the field for $5. In the books the Hamlin world-beater was barred. He was supposed to have a "cinch" on the race, and most of the betting was on Joe Patchen for a place. After the first heat $1 on the field would have brought $50 on Robert J. The second heat was the beginning of the surprise that was to follow. The favourite and his rival came into the stretch neck and neck, after having paced the middle half in one minute. Jack Curry, who was driving Patchen, seemed to push the black whirlwind under the wire, and he won by the shortest kind of a nose in 2.04¼. The last two heats were a trifle easier for the black stallion, although he won by less than a length each time. It was the fastest four-heat race ever paced, and the last heat in 2.03¼ was the fastest fourth heat ever paced.

BASEBALL.

Providence, R.I., Aug. 1.—Providence and Toronto broke even on the two games to-day. Wittrock, released by Toronto, pitched for Providence in the first game, and his old mates hammered him unmercifully. They touched him up for 18 hits, with a total of 30 bases, working in three home runs. Gray pitched a great game for Toronto, and the Providence batsmen could do nothing with him when hits were needed. Gray started to pitch the second game also, but in two innings the home team connected with his curves and got five runs. Then Crane took his place, and the grays got only one more run. Scores:

Canadian Cricketers Fourth Victory.

Chicago, Aug. 1.—For the fourth time Canada's cricket representatives defeated a Chicago team, to-day's victory being won in a walk-over from the Pullman eleven. The first three men who went to bat for Canada scored enough runs to win the game and to spare, but after the heavy-weight batters, Walker, Goldingham, Terry and Laing, had been retired, the Pullmans braced up, and sent the rest of the team to the tent for an even dozen runs, although the byes were numerous. To-morrow the visiting team meet an all-Chicago team. Score:

AFRICAN COLONIZATION.

Discussed By the International Geographical Congress.

London, July 31.—The general meeting of the International Geographical Congress to-day discussed the question "To what extent is tropical Africa suited for development by white races or under their superintendence?"

Papers were read by Sir John Kirk, the naturalist, who was attached to Dr. Livingstone's second African expedition; Captain F. D. Lugard, and Slatin Pasha, who escaped last winter from Omduraman, where he was for a number of years held a prisoner by Mahdists.

Sir John Kirk advocated the introduction of small colonies of British Indians into the tropical parts of Africa.

Captain Lugard urged that the British Indians were of no value as skilled artisans. Europeans, he thought, would develop the country and at the same time preserve the forests.

Henry M. Stanley declared that he knew of no intention to colonize any part of Central Africa. He did not believe that the study of scientific geography was necessary for the purpose of colonization. The Pilgrim Fathers knew nothing of scientific geography, nor did Cortez, Pizarro or Cecil Rhodes. He expressed his thorough belief in a cautious system of pioneering. Other papers were read, taking the ground that tropical Africa was not suited to Europeans.

NOT HIGH PRICED BUT FAIR PRICED

We're at the end of the first half of our year's business. Its been good, we know it. Buyers know it. The good feeling that comes from a successful trade is the best incentive to a merchant to do better by his customers.

That's the way we feel about it. Our goods are never high priced. Always Fair priced. Frequently low priced. We couldn't live and succeed if all our prices were low. Our prices are always what others call low, but a real low cut down price with us means selling without a profit—except the profit we have in clearing our shelves. There is a little profit in this sort yet for us in keeping our Summer Sale going for a little time. In a few weeks New Fall goods will be pouring in. We must have room. Help us. Some three years ago, when in Manitoba, Prof. Chamberlain, the Eye Specialist, arranged a very nice pair of eye-glasses for me, which gave and continue, to give every satisfaction. Personally, I know that his skill was in great demand during his visits to the Northwest and brought comfort and relief to many. The sufferer from any weakness, failure or obliqueness of vision should without fail go and see him. He has made the eye his special study and is without doubt, a gifted EYE SPECIALIST.

ANOTHER TORONTO DIVORCE CASE.

Barrister Pearson Files Application—Homestead Regulations in the Yale District.

Ottawa, Ont., Aug. 2.—The most imposing funeral seen in Ottawa since the burial of Sir John Macdonald was that to-day of the four victims of the Aylmer Lake drowning disaster. There was a double funeral service; that for the Brophy brothers in St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church; for young Windfield, son of the chaplain to His Excellency, in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. Lord Aberdeen was represented by Col. Gordon, A.D.C. All the Cabinet Ministers in town were also present.

The Railway Committee of the Privy Council meets next Friday.

Instructions have been forwarded from the Department of the Interior to Dominion Lands Agent at Yale, B.C., to offer the public lands in that locality for homesteading at $1 per acre. This was the regulation under which public lands in that district were originally sold, but owing to their increasing value and proximity to important settlements it was decided to sell none less than $5 per acre. At this price, however, lands were not in active demand, and settlement not progressing as rapidly as it was thought the advantages of the soil and situation warranted, the old order of business was restored and homesteads may now be purchased in such lands as are yet vacant in the Yale district at $1 per acre, but subject to regulations as to improvements in cultivation.

McLeod Stewart, agent for the petitioner, has given due notice that James Pearson of 46 Murray-street, Toronto, barrister-at-law, will apply to parliament for a divorce from his wife, Minnie Holcomb Pearson, now of the city of Brooklyn in the city of New York. The usual grounds are alleged.

FIVE KILLED IN A FREIGHT WRECK.

Tramps Stealing a Ride Killed or Badly Mangled.

Chicago, Aug. 2.—A freight train on the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railroad broke in two on a heavy grade near Stark Siding this morning. The rear end crashed into the first section and 10 cars were wrecked. A dozen tramps were riding in a furniture car, which was smashed to splinters. When the trainmen came up they were horrified to see arms and legs of human beings sticking from all parts of the wreckage. Thos. Colins of South Bethlehem, Pa., lived just long enough to give his address and state that his mother, Mrs. Dennis Collins, should be notified. Three others, badly mangled, were taken out. Two of them were dead, and the third died on the way to the hospital. Michael Moran of Cleveland had his head cut open and may die.

Fatal Play With Matches.

Tweed, Aug. 2.—Robert Smith, a farmer, left his 2-year-old son alone in the house while he went to the bush. He was absent 20 minutes, and on his returning found his child lying on the ground dead with all his clothes burned off. It is supposed the child had been playing with matches.

The Khedive's Present to the Sultan.

Constantinople, Aug. 3.—It is rumored that the Khedive of Egypt, who arrived here on July 18, has brought to the Sultan a present of $500,000 with a view of enlisting more active sympathy on the part of the latter in the Egyptian question. The rapprochement brought about between Russia and Turkey and the existing good relations between Russia and France have, it is thought, prompted the Khedive's action.

PROHIBITION APPEAL.

What Does the Term "Municipal Institution" Mean?

NEWCOMBE ARGUES FOR DOMINION

Lord Herschell Impressed and Influenced by Canadian Judgments in Regard to Local Option and Partial Prohibition—Argument Adjourned.

London, Aug. 2.—The hearing of the Canadian prohibition appeal by the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council was continued this morning, a considerable number of Canadian barristers and judges being present.

Mr J. J. Maclaren, Q.C., continued his arguments for the appellants, the Province of Ontario, contending that Provincial Legislatures were entitled to prohibit the importation of liquor into their Provinces.

Lord Watson remarked that that was a speculative question and ought not to be brought to the notice of the committee.

When Mr. Maclaren finished his argument, Mr. R. B. Haldane, Q.C., M.P., also for the appellants, made the point that the liquor restrictions came within the meaning of the words, "Regulations for Trade and Commerce," which was within the rights of a Provincial Legislature.

Lord Watson again interrupted, calling attention to the speculative character of one of the questions submitted.

Mr. Haldane said that the question had been inserted in the list by the temperance party, which was very strong in the Ontario Legislature. Continuing, he quoted voluminously from judgments pronounced by the Canadian courts in regard to local option and partial prohibition.

Lord Herschell said he had read these judgments and was greatly impressed and influenced by the forcible reasoning of many of them upon the question of what was to be understood by the term "municipal institutions."

During Mr. Haldane's argument Lord Watson remarked that the test they had to apply was whether the Provincial Legislature had the power to only legislate for the maintenance of peace and good order in the Province, or whether that power was extended to the making of trade laws.

Mr. E. L. Newcombe, for the Dominion of Canada, argued that neither the manufacture, the importation nor the sale of liquor fell within the matters in section 92 of the act of 1867, enumerated for Provincial legislation.

Mr. Newcombe continued his argument until the committee rose and adjourned the hearing until Tuesday next, when the other counsel for the respondents will be heard.

UNCLE AND NIECE ELOPE.

He is Sixty and the Father of Eleven Children.

Kingston, Aug. 2.—Anthony Lake, who lives at 130 Quen-street, in this city, woke up to the fact not long ago that he had been robbed of his wife while he slept, metaphorically speaking. Lake's wife went away some time ago but the husband thought she had gone to visit relatives. It subsequently transpired that she had eloped with her uncle, an old man who used to drive the stage between Kingston and Battersea. The name of the aged offender is Sidney Card, and he has repeated the drama of King David and Abishai the fair Shunnanite. He is upwards of 80 years of age and has increased the population of Kingston by 11 children; some of his sons are grown up and married and he has several grandchildren.

Now in his old age he has deserted his aged wife and skipped to the States with his comely, but somewhat fleshy and 40-year-old niece, Mrs. Lake. The lady weighs 175 pounds, and Card was quite a dashing old person, whose hair was red and who still likes to sport flashy garments.

Mrs. Lake's only child is a little girl 8 years old, and her husband is an employe of the street railway company. Up to the day of her departure the wife seemd devoted to her husband, and gave him no cause to suspect her of infidelity.

Uncle Card used to come to the house every day after he had driven in with his coach in the morning and by degrees won his niece's heart. He used to do chores around the house and cary in the wood for her, but it never flashed across the husband's mind that the old gentleman's intent was otherwise than honorable.

On the morning of her departure the wife parted from her husband lovingly and told him she would have a nice hot dinner for him when he came home. Mr. Lake came home with a good appetite, and his thoughts turned lovingly to that wifely promise of a good dinner. For Lake was but human and amenable to good cooking. He was shortly to discover that his wife was but human, very human in her frailties, indeed. His little daughter met him at the door and said mamma had gone away and told her to look after her pappa. The wife had tidied up the house and left everything as neat as a new pin, and the doting husband thought that she had merely gone to visit relatives at Sydenham.

After a few days he found out his mistake, however, and started in pursuit. He traced the runaways to Watertown, N.Y., but there he lost track of the couple. Their whereabouts is still a mystery.

BOUND TO BE HANGED

But Murderer Gauthier Wanted to Do it Himself.

CUT DOWN BY THE JAIL GUARD

He Is Committed to Stand His Trial—His Victim Buried in Unconsecrated Ground — Sheriff Examined by Experts on Insanity.

Montreal, Quebec, Aug. 3.—This has been a red-letter day in the already eventful life of Azrie Gauthier, the slayer of Celina Costigny. At 2 o'clock this morning, while occupying a cell in murderers row, Montreal Jail, Gauthier tore his bed quilts into strips and tried to hang himself with a cord thus made. And at 7 o'clock this afternoon Judge Desnoyers formally committed the accused to stand his trial at the September term of the Court of Queen's Bench. Had the guards not rushed in and cut him down, Gauthier would have been dead in short order, and when he came into court and faced the reporters' he drew his right fore finger across his throat to indicate what he had been about. Being questioned as to the attempt upon his own life, Gauthier smiled a ghastly smile and remarked that it was better to die that way than to go out of the world standing up before a big crowd of people.

The murderer is apparently quite indifferent as to his fate, and a broad grin spread over his face when Mr. St. Jean, his lawyer, was instructing the prisoner to plead not guilty. Gauthier seemed to think that his trial was over when he had been committed and he said to his counsel, "You have handled my case very ably, and I am very grateful, and as for the pay we will see about that later on."

In another end of the city a sadder portion of the drama was being enacted. It was learned earlier in the day that although the parents and friends of the murdered girl, Celina Costigny, had made every possible effort to have Christian burial accorded their child, but the ecclesiastical authorities would not hear of it and the funeral cortege proceeded to that part of Cote Des Neiges Cemetery reserved for those similarly deprived of the last rites of the church, and for children who die without being baptized.

Dr. Clarke, Superintendent of the Rockwood Asylum, Kingston, Ont., who commenced his examination of Shortis, the Valleyfield murderer, ten days ago, completed his labors yesterday afternoon. To-day the lawyers for the defence, Messrs. Girouard, Foster, Martin and Girouard, received the official medical report. Dr. Clarke's contentions are in substance the same as Dr. Anglin submitted two weeks ago, to the effect that the accused is insane.

The Liberal-Conservative party held a large and representative meeting this evening and nominated C. A. McDonnell to contest St. Anne's division in the Local House. Mr. McDonnell is one of the rising young men of Montreal, is a splendid speaker and will be a fine acquisition to the debating powre of the Ministerial side of the House, if elected. His nomination was unanimous.

In a letter to the Board of Governors, the new principal of McGill University, Prof. William Peterson, late of the Dundee College, Scotland, intimates his intention of sailing for this city on Thursday next, Aug. 8, having taken passage on the Dominion liner Labrador.

Wardsville, Ont., Aug. 3.—A fire broke out this morning about 4 o'clock in the harness shop of Mr. William Shepard, which, with contents, was totally consumed. Cause of fire unknown. The Foresters held their lodge meeting upstairs above the shop last night and were the last persons in the building. The fire spread rapidly to the residence of Dr. Gordon, burning it to the ground.

Catarrh in the Head

Is a dangerous disease because it is liable to result in loss of hearing or smell, or develop into consumption. Read the following:

"My wife has been a sufferer from catarrh for the past four years and the disease had gone so far that her eyesight was affected so that for nearly a year she was unable to read for more than five minutes at a time. She suffered severe pains in the head and at times was almost distracted. About Christmas, she commenced taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and since that time has steadily improved. She has taken six bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla and is on the road to a complete cure. I cannot speak too highly of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and I cheerfully recommend it." W. H. AN INIQUITOUS PROCEDURE.

So far as making room in the public offices for their supporters, sons, nephews and other relations is concerned, the government is taking time by the forelock, says the Ottawa Free Press. Wherever, under any pretence whatever, a clearance in a public office can be made, it is made. The cause of this is doubtless because, come what may come, the elections are near at hand, and the time for the distribution of public pap short. But, whatever may be the urgent political exigency of the ministers, they seem to be utterly indifferent to the fact that in their zeal, or necessity, in the direction of creating vacancies, they are acting most unjustly to a great many innocent and deserving people. A wise minister would perhaps pause and ask himself whether he is not more likely to do his cause as much harm by creating enemies by acts of injustice, as have been suggested, than he is good, by keeping as a political friend some importunate Parliamentary supporter. But with this aspect of the case we do not propose to deal. We cannot but protest against the reckless manner in which the government is placing men upon the retired list, who are good for many years of service, and who are not so much as asked whether or not they desire to be relieved of their labours. It was only the other day that Conservatives were protesting against the treatment extended to certain gentlemen in the Hamilton Custom House and now there comes an angry cry from the same department in Halifax. There, we are told, five officials in the Customs department have suddenly been forced upon the superannuation list. No preliminary intimation had been given; it was a perfect surprise to the local department itself; for the most part the men thus forced out were as thoroughly efficient as they ever were since assuming office; there never had been a complaint of either dereliction or incapacity on their part, yet they are suddenly told that they have been retired. The import of this to the individual may be understood, when it is remembered that superannuation under such circumstances means in some cases less than half the stipend they have been receiving. One day, a family is just managing to exist comfortably, on the mere necessaries of life, on the small salaries at best that are paid to minor officials in the departments. The next they are told that a greater portion of this has been swept away, and that their breadwinner has been deprived of the position which he held faithfully and honourably for a generation—thrown out, while fully capable of discharging the duties of the position, but naturally in a difficulty, apart from the active business of the passing years, to find anything else to do. Half a day's notice was, in fact, all that was given. The Halifax incident has, it appears, raised locally, a perfect storm of indignation, and "A Conservative" writes to a local paper saying that, while he holds Mr. Kenny responsible, "perhaps the list to be stricken down was furnished from the notorious deputy shop, under the official aegis, which many Conservatives, including myself, look upon as a flaunting insult to the party." But while the injustice done has excited righteous anger in Halifax, it does not always happen that public interest is so excited. A mere momentary protest and the wrong passes. Now it is notorious that this process of forced superannuation is being extensively pushed by the government. Wherever, by hook or crook, a man, possibly active and well able to carry on his work for years, can, under some pretence, be elbowed out to make room for a political creature of the government, clamorous for the chance of being a feeder at the public crib, it is done, regardless of right or wrong. What has occurred at Hamilton, London and Halifax is occurring elsewhere. It is time the public appreciated what is going on, and stopped a course on the part of the administration which not only tends to do deserving people a cruel and grevious wrong, but to saddle the people with heavy and unnecessary financial burdens.

BERTHS IN SLEEPING CARS.

Two commercial travellers returned from a trip across the continent on the Canadian Pacific Railway called on the Toronto World to protest against a regulation on the sleeping cars—namely, that the upper berths were kept down every night unnecessarily. Although there were not half a dozen passengers on the car, these were obliged to sleep in the square box known as the lower berth, closely shut in above, when, without any loss to the company, they might have had the section clear to the top.

For commercial travellers the two grumblers were decidedly "slow." The writer had their exact experience in crossing the continent, but being fairly well provided with theme and muscles in his nether limbs he promptly hoisted the upper birth up out of the way. Of course the porter objected and pulled it down again, but a porter is'nt going to stay awake all night to watch that berth, and this one soon tired of remonstrances and allowed the traveller to work his own sweet will with the objectionable upper berth.

As the World remarks, the object the companies have in view in enforcing this rule is, doubtless, to induce passengers to take a whole section. But the number of people who are thus influenced to pay double rates must be quite limited. Probably it does not exceed 3 or 4 per cent., of all sleeping car passengers. On the other hand, we fancy that if passengers, when space in the sleepers permitted, were allowed to have the whole section, the increased satisfaction of using a berth would result in a small increase of patronage—small, but large enough to offset any loss from those who may at present pay double. It is a question whether government could not justifiably interfere. The state of Wisconsin for some years now has had a law compelling sleeping car companies to give each passenger a full section provided there are no passengers to demand the upper half. A similar law could be introduced in Canada without injuring the railway companies, while it would prove a great boon to the travelling public.

FRANK FITZGERALD, of Hamilton, whose claim to distinction has rested upon the sole fact that he was secretary to the Conservative organization, has been made a judge in Thunder Bay district and master-in-chancery at $3,000 a year. So he has had his reward whatever the unfortunates coming before him may get. When and where will Mr. C. W. Sawers get a like reward?

THE Brooklyn Eagle thinks that even if Great Britain does not own Trinidad, the rock off the Brazilian coast now in dispute, and wants it, she will have it. The critic says: "Brasil is plucky, but she will find the South American arm of the British octopus is irresistible, and that the power behind it, though mute, is as nearly immutable as can be." This is complimentary to Britannia's might, perhaps, but hardly to her methods.

"IF," says Hardware and Metal, a Canadian paper, with no political affiliations, "during the recent embroglio in the Ottawa Cabinet, unbusiness like men had been cleaned out and business-like men put in their places, what a blessing it would have been for the country!" Yet a little while and the change which our contemporary, in common with the large majority of the people demands, will be brought about.

THE appeal to decide whether the power to pass prohibitory liquor legislation in Canada belongs to the Federal or Provincial authorities, is now being argued before the Privy Council in London. The arguments submitted and the queries propounded by the learned judges would seem to indicate that there is a strong feeling already in the Privy Council towards sustaining the decision that the provinces have not such power, but that the Council would sustain the Federal Government in the passage of any enactments along the line referred to.

T. J. WATTERS, formerly acting commissioner of customs, who was on Feb. 27th, sentenced a year's imprisonment by Magistrate O'Gara for neglecting to make returns of monies received by him for the partment of customs, was released from the county jail Ottawa. Mr. Watters health was declining. Is not this a matter for the Provincial Board of Health to inquire into? The gaol at Ottawa seems to be in a most unsanitary condition. The evidence of Messrs. McGreevy, Connolly and others might be of value. It might be as well if Ottawa's county judge would sentence the boodlers whom he convicts to the hospital at once instead of the gaol.

FOR some years Laurentides, Quebec, post office has been conducted in a grocery store, the munificent salary of $270 a year being paid the postmaster, this sum covering light fuel, rent and all other expenses. The salary was not large, of course, but Laurentides is a small place, and the total postal revenue only amounts to $300 a year. Now, however, the ministry has begun to take a great interest in Laurentides, and it is insisted that it should have a post office in a separate building. A store hat has heretofore rented for seventy dollars a year for business purposes is to be leased at $300 a year and another $350 is to be spent on repairing it, so that the post office may be taken away from the present postmaster. The secret underlying it all is that the Laurentides postmaster is a brother of Hon. Mr. Laurier. He must be got at; the country must pay the shot. And the Mail-Empire defends this spiteful littleness and says: Instead of attacking the Government for removing Mr. Laurier's brother from his country post office, the Liberal press should commend the impartiality of an administration that kept him there so long." That is confession. The Tory idea of statesmanship is well illustrated in this move of the ministry. What do the people think of it?

PUPILS WHO HAVE PASSED THE ENTRANCE EXAMINATIONS.

RESULTS OF THE EXAMINATIONS OF THE 27TH, 28TH AND 29TH OF JUNE FOR THE TOWN AND COUNTY.

The Names and Marks Obtained at the Entrance Examinations by the Pupils of the Town and County—Results in the Public School Leaving Examinations.

A few years ago, the Public School Course of Study, practically, ended with the Entrance Examination, with the work of the Senior Fourth Class. Some of the pupils who were successful at that examination entered the High School with beneficial results, as a rule. The majority, however, did not do so and ceased attendance at school. Such a state of affairs was, of course, unsatisfactory.

To encourage the establishment of Fifth Classes the Public School Leaving Examination was established. Those who pass it are eligible for admission to the Second Form of a High School or Collegiate Institute.

A special grant of five dollars is also given by the Education Department for each successful candidate. This is payable to the school to which the candidate belongs:

The following are the names of the candidates who were successful at the recent examinations in passing the Entrance Examinations:

PLEASE LET US SEE IT

A Marvellous Result.

Mr. A. R. took out ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy No. 6332 in Canada Life Co. for Five Thousand Dollars in the year 1868. He was then 25 years of age.

The Premium paid was $181 a year for 10 years.....$1,810.

Notice the Result.

The total profits added to the Policy to end of 1894 and for which he holds a certificate amounts to the enormous sum of.....$3,281

The holder therefore has been credited not only with every cent paid for premiums, but also Fourteen Hundred and Seventy One Dollars in addition, besides receiving a fully paid up policy for the original Five Thousand Dollars, which still participates in profits.

Now This is What we Want to Know!

This is a Peterborough Policy! Is there any citizen of Peterborough with an ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy either in Canadian, British or American Co, which shows anything like as large profits as this one?

If there is, we should esteem it a great favour if we are allowed to see it, as we have been looking for such a one for years and so far have not been able to find it.

Where They Got the Tools.

It has been ascertained that the tools used in breaking into Meldrum & McAllister's office on Thursday night were stolen from Metheral's shop, and as the window through which entrance was gained is a very small one it is thought that the burglars had a small boy as an accomplice. Vernon's Peterborough and Ashburnham Directory.

Mr. Vernon, of Hamilton, is delivering this work to subscribers. The Directory is, without doubt, the best ever published. The street directory is most useful, giving the location of every house on every street. The alphabetical, business and miscellaneous directories are very full and complete. The letter press is clear and distinct, and it is printed on fine toned paper and well bound. The printing and binding of this book was done at the EXAMINER office in three weeks time. Parties who have not subscribed may obtain a copy on application to Mr. Vernon at this office.

The Choir Excursion.

The committee in charge of the United Choirs' excursion to Burleigh Falls on Tuesday, Aug. 6th, are arranging for another hundred tickets to accommodate the large number who intend going. This will be the best and cheapest excursion of the season, and will be the only occasion in the history of Peterborough that all the church choirs, irrespective of creed, will meet and sing the same hymns and anthems, and mingle together as one choir. Such a gathering is well worthy the patronage of all the congregations who listen to their own choir Sunday after Sunday. Every choir needs the sympathy of the congregation in order to be a success. 1d

One of the Largest in Canada.

The Presbyterian Review appears this week in an enlarged form, the size of the pages being increased, the added length of the columns being equivalent to an enlargement of two pages. The demand upon the space of the Review has been so great that during the last two years three enlargements have been found necessary, until now, instead of sixteen pages, the paper contains twenty-four pages, and these, too, of increased size. The Presbyterian Review is now one of the largest religious weeklies in Canada, and is certainly one of the best. It is vigorous and enterprising, and has some special news features of unusual interest and excellence.

And yet the wine itself is better than anything that could be said about it. Wilson's Invalid Port Wine. That is the celebrated brand which has rapidly risen in public favour. The reason is that it meets the need for a bracing tonic which shall be without the disagreeable features of medicine. Wilson's Invalids' Port is a fine old wine of undoubted age, which has the effect of a bracing and stimulating tonic. It dispels lassitude, puts a new heart of hope into the invalid, but chiefly is it invaluable in that it gives new blood to an impoverished system. THE STEAMER DAISY GOES UP IN SMOKE.

THE STAUNCH LITTLE STEAMER IS NOW IN THE BOTTOM OF THE RIVER.

The Explosion of the Engineer's Lamp was the Cause of the Mischief—The Fire Spread Rapidly and the Crew Had to Swim for their Lives.

The staunch little steamer Daisy, which was built some five years ago by H. Calcutt, was the victim of an accident last night, whereby she now lies at the bottom of the Otonabee a useless hulk.

For some days the Daisy has been engaged in towing the Rathbun Co.'s logs from Hastings to Healy's Falls with the following crew in charge,—Capt. Calcutt, Engineer Joe. Young and deck hands Bob West and Will Johnston. At a quarter past two this morning, just as the watch was being changed, the engineer's lamp suddenly exploded in the engine room and in a second the whole stern of the Daisy was wrapped in flames.

As the tow rope attaching the steamer to the logs was fastened at the rear of the boat there was no chance of getting back to detach it or cut the Daisy loose. The flames were fought for a few minutes, but the steamer was too small for the men and the fire both and a burst of flame suddenly forced the crew to jump for their lives and swim to the shore.

Arrived there they watched the little steamer slowly burn to the water's edge. The tow rope finally parted and she drifted down the river finally sinking in about 14 feet of water, 100 yards from the shore.

The occurrence took place about six miles below Hastings, to which town the crew found their way and came up to town this morning by the early train.

The Daisy was a comparatively new steamer, being built five years ago at a cost of $2,500. She was only insured for $500, but it is thought that she can be raised and the machinery again utilized.

The fast little steamer will be greatly missed off the lake and river.

As an evidence of the hard fight which which the men made against the flames, all are more or less injured. Capt. Clare Calcutt got his leg caught in the screw in an endeavour to get around to the rear of the steamer and release the rope. The leg is badly crushed. Engineer Joe Young is badly burned and is confined to his bed, whilst all the others are more or less injured.

NOTES FROM ST. JOHN'S.

The second in the series of special services on behalf of local institutions has been arranged for to-morrow evening, when attention was to have been directed to Dr. Barnardo's great rescue work. Owing to the absence of several of the staff of the Peterborough home, the service has been postponed until to-morrow week, Aug. 11th, when the friends of the institution will be invited to assemble.

Rev. J. Cooper Robinson, who has for several years laboured as a missionary in Japan in connection with the Wycliffe College Mission, will give an address in the Mission Building to-morrow in the morning, and in St. John's in the evening. Mr. Robinson is a nephew of the late Mr. Isaac Robinson, a faithful worker and respected church warden of St. John's.

On Tuesday Mr. Robinson has consented to deliver a descriptive lecture on Japan in the Mission Building, Sherbrooke street. The lecture will be illustrated by limelight views.

ENLARGING THE BUSINESS.

Turner & Sons Increasing the Size of Their Present Premises.

The firm of J. J. Turner & Sons received an order yesterday from a gentleman in New York city for one of their fancy tents 10x17, to be made in the best possible manner, with ventilators, partitions, etc., also half dozen of their celebrated easy chairs. It speaks well for this firm to get an order from a city where there are hundreds in the business of making tents.

Turner & Sons have also received an order from Guelph for a very large tent, 150 feet in circumference, to be fitted with poles, etc., complete ready to put up.

The business of the firm has grown to such an extent that they are having a larger workshop built, size 25x50, so that they will be in a better position than ever to get out the large tents that they are having such a demand for.

ALWAYS THE UNDER DOG.

To the Editor of the Examiner :

DEAR SIR,—I was much amused in reading in your last evening's issue a communication from Mr. C. W. Sawers, which I suppose had just been received from him after a careful revision of it by the powers that be in Ottawa.

The hierarchy may well tremble now that "Cam" has thrown in his lot with theirs, for was he ever known to be on the winning side ?

No, on the contrary, I can always remember him as being the under dog in the fight, and one can naturally excuse the fear of the Roman Catholics that he will land them and their contention, where he generally lands himself—hopelessly in the minority.

Where was Mr. Sawers in his mayoralty campaign ?

In the minority.

Where was he when the votes were counted in No 3 Ward when he ran for councillor ?

In the minority again.

Where was the party whose cause he championed so ardently against Mr. Blezard in East Peterborough in the recent Provincial elections ?

Once more in the minority. Mr. Sawers, in fact, seems to be a great man for minorities. He has the wonderful power ? of blasting the chances of almost every matter for which he takes up the cudgels, and the Separate School Question, according to my ideas, is now getting on very precarious ground indeed since Mr. Sawers has girted up his loins and entered the arena in its behalf.

Yours truly,
PRO BONO PUBLICO.

The Sting Within.

It is said there is a rankling thorn in every heart, and yet that none would exchange their own for that of another. Be that as it may, the sting arising from the heart of a corn is real enough, and in this land of tight boots a very common complaint also. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor is a never failing remedy for this kind of heartache, as you can easily prove if afflicted. Cheap, sure, painless. Try the genuine and use no other.

FORTNIGHTLY CLUB COLUMN.

A Further Letter on "Merrie England."

XXIV.

PETERBOROUGH, August 1st, 1895.

To the Editor of the Fortnightly Club Column:

SIR,—The questions discussed by Robert Blatchford in his "Merrie England," are of great importance, not merely to the philanthropist or mere theorist, but to the whole community; for those whose views are in accord with his are advancing in number, and it may be only a few years before our parliaments are seriously debating the question of co-operation vs. competition in the procurement of the necessaries of life. Competition which rules at present we may be certain, if it dies at all, will die hard; for co-operation, completely carried out, means the dispensing with money, with individual ownership of land, with personal capital and profits, and leaves the individual little more than his clothing, furniture, etc., and his supply of food.

That the change proposed is a sweeping one is not, of course, an argument against it. The question should be simply, which is the better, bearing in mind that no scheme that we can adopt can be expected to be absolutely perfect in all its details.

In considering the question, prominence must be given to this fact: That dependence upon others in some form is necessary to our very existence. Civilization and the limited area of land absolutely compel this, which only a savage under certain conditions can exist without. Each individual requires food, clothing and shelter. He cannot provide himself in a direct way with all these. If he is fortunate enough to secure a piece of land he must look to another for implements to work it, and that one to another for materials to make the implements. If he has no land to supply his food he must get his food directly or indirectly from one who has land. We cannot be independent.

What then are the terms upon which we may be entitled to receive from our fellows those things which our necessities require? Strange as it would seem, when we consider it upon this practical, vital question, the legislature, of all civilized communities have so far been silent.

Although in matters of less importance our Parliaments are active in searching for wrongs to remedy; although, for example, to secure the important but still not vital benefits of good roads, schools, police protection and so forth, in which all classes of the community may share, the law steps in and compels the co-operation of all; although the law insists on a citizen having these minor privileges, yet it refuses to recognize his right to the actual necessaries of life, and leaves him to obtain these as best he may; warning him, however, that he must not take them and must not even, unless with the consent of the person whom the law recognizes as its owner, go upon any land to raise them for himself. Each individual, rich or poor, clever or stupid, educated or ignorant, is left to fight out the battle of life by himself as best he may.

Now Mr. Blatchford says this is wrong that the legislature should interfere, that the present system of competition should be exchanged for a system of mutual co-operation in production of necessaries of life.

He points out in his work in a simple and convincing way the results of the present system. The work cannot well be abstracted, and every one at all interested in the subject should procure and read the work itself. While the book is written to the people of England, and based upon facts found there, his points are applicable, though in a less degree, to this country and to all civilized communities.

He shows that many willing and anxious to work are wanting the necessaries of life, that while some can give their whole time to their own pleasure, others must labour ten or twelve hours a day to secure a bare existence; that while some are luxuriously clothed and housed, others are crowded into houses unhealthy and unfit for habitation, and so on. These facts we cannot dispute. He refutes the contention sometimes made that these ills are due to the conduct of the people who suffer them and shows that the poor are as a rule sober, industrious and anxious to work and that when they are otherwise such is mainly due to their surroundings and the hopelessness of life. Then he explains his scheme of co-operation or socialism. He points out that under our present state of things there is enormous waste—waste of necessaries by those who have a superabundance of them and waste of labour, which occurs in many ways. He names the large class of middlemen competing with each other, many of whom, under a better system, would assist in producing instead of distributing; the many employed in producing articles of mere luxury and otherwise ministering to the wealthy, and he might have pointed also to the waste through the loss to the community of the labour of the many unemployed. He claims that at present one-third produce the necessaries of life for all and that if labour were under proper control, a few hours work per day by those able to give it would provide plenty for all and still leave to the worker ample time to devote to such other pursuits as he has taste for.

Blatchford claims mainly the nationalization of the land, with the factories and all instruments of production, and the management of all such matters by the State. He says: "Under ideal socialism there "would be no money at all and no wages. "The industry of the country would be "organized and managed by the state "much as the post office now is, goods of "all kinds would be produced and distributed for use and not for sale, in such "quantities as needed; hours of labour "would be fixed and every citizen would "take whatever he or she desired from the "common stock. Food, clothing, labour, "fuel, transit, amusements and all other "things would be absolutely free, and the "only difference between a prime minister "and a collier would be the difference of "rank and occupation.

Is not the picture a bright one? Is not the scheme practicable? If we can co-operate to build a sidewalk, can we not do so to produce what is more necessary? Could not production be easily controlled by those whom we may elect for that purpose? Would any grudge a few hours labour for the assurance of all that his family actually needs? The plan must not be adopted without full consideration. It would require much time and thought to settle the details, but it is worth the trouble. Think of the gain! Entire freedom from anxiety about our means of existence. What is burdening the minds of most of us at present? Is it not anxiety about the future temporal wants of our families and ourselves? Why see the worry and trouble of the present bitter competition. Men have no time to think of other and better things, of the beauty which surrounds them in this world, or of the other world which they are approaching. Under co-operation there will be necessaries for all, and time for study, recreation and enjoyment. What more can we crave? And to obtain this what do we surrender? Wealth. But what use is that except as a provision for the future, and of that we are assured. Our freedom, but are we free now, and should we not owe something to the State which for our few hours work gives us all that from our human standpoint we need?

Yours,

SYMPATHY.

Minneapolis People Making Inquiries With Regard to a Canadian Discovery.

Minneapolis, July 22.—There has been an unusual number of deaths from heart disease in this city during the last few months and in many cases the victims were unconscious of being sufferers from the dread complaint. Post mortems have shown in several instances that the trouble was directly traceable to a diseased condition of the kidneys and people have become alive to the danger. A number of enquiries have been instituted with with regard to the best methods of cure and the new Canadian specific remedy known as Dodd's Kidney Pills has come in for a great share of attention owing to the extraordinary number of cures which have been effected through this agency.

KNOXONIAN contributes a most pleasing sketch to the last issue of the Canada Presbyterian, in which the following advice is given to "the minister about to take his holidays." He says: "Don't pose as a distinguished person when you arrive at your destination." Don't expect the hotel keeper and the other guests to read an address of welcome to you soon after your arrival. The number of men in this country who are sure to be met with an address and a brass band at a summer hotel is not large, and the chances are a million to one that you are not one of them. Don't ask the hotel keeper to knock a dollar or two a week off your board bill because you are a minister. A minister who makes speeches against hotels during a prohibition campaign, and then asks an hotel keeper to lower his board bill for professional reasons, is doing something that Paul would not have done." As to whether or not the minister should preach during his vacation, KNOXONIAN says:—"There is grim humor in listening to a minister who says with a straight and solemn face that his dear people made him promise not to preach while on his holidays when you have good reason to believe that some of the dear people would not heave a sigh or miss a meal or lose an hour's sleep if he preached in some other place for the remainder of his natural life. In politics people would call that sort of thing humbug. John Hall preaches during his vacation, and does so in a spirit which conveys the impression that he considers it a privilege to preach the glorious Gospel. Cuyler is a pretty old man now, but he wrote the other day that he 'always likes to give a good rural brother a week's let-up from sermon work by preaching for him.' Brother, if you really feel that it is not your duty to preach say 'No,' like a Christian. If you can preach, say 'Yes,' like a man. Above all things, don't make a fuss, and then preach, and leave it open to people to say that the fuss was much bigger than the sermon." Knoxonian would probably talk just the same way to the rest of us as he does to the minister, and, to say the least, could probably bring forward just as strong evidence to justify his observations.

HARVEY.

On Monday Police Magistrate Edmison will take the evidence in the assault case between Bennet's and Trainors, of the Buckhorn Road, Harvey. It appears that Trainor's horses will not remain in their own pasture but prefer to roam with pleasure in their neighbours oat field. To this the Bennet's objected and remonstrations led to blows which the county magistrate will require to settle. It is said that these families, though neighbours, have not been on the most friendly terms. The disappearance of a gobbler being the original cause of the trouble.

BIG PROFITS —ON— Small Investments

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful Speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our Systematic Plan of Speculation

originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well-known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plain are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

WRITE FOR CONVINCING PROOF, also our Manual on successful speculation and our Daily Market Report, full of money-making pointers. ALL FREE. Our Manual explains margin trading fully. Highest references in regard to our standing and success.

Mr. Jas. E. Nicholson, Florenceville, N. B., Struggles for Seven Long Years with CANCER ON THE LIP,

AND IS CURED BY

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

Mr. Nicholson says: "I consulted doctors who prescribed for me, but to no purpose; the cancer began to Eat into the Flesh,

spread to my chin, and I suffered in agony for seven long years. Finally, I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. In a week or two I noticed a Decided Improvement.

Encouraged by this result, I persevered, until in a month or so the sore under my chin began to heal. In three months my lip began to heal, and, after using the Sarsaparilla for six months, the last trace of the cancer disappeared."

Admitted at the World's Fair.

A Physician is Blood Poisoned

While Performing a Delicate Surgical Operation.

How he Cured Himself

A Matter of Interest to all Whose Troubles Arise From Impure Blood.

Some time ago the celebrated and eminent Boston physician and surgeon, Dr. A. W. K. Newton, while performing a very delicate surgical operation, was unfortunately blood poisoned.

This was to him a most serious matter; it demanded the use of a medicine that would quickly and effectually remove every trace of poison from the vital fluid.

Dr. Newton having a thorough knowledge of the cleansing and invigorating virtues of Paine's Celery Compound, immediately began its use, and the results were so pleasing and satisfactory that the worthy doctor deemed it fit and proper to say something regarding the medicine about which thousands are daily speaking. He writes thus:

"Paine's Celery Compound is not a patent medicine, and it must not be confounded with the ordinary nervines, bitters and sarsaparillas. It is as much superior to them in formula and results as the diamond is superior to glass. It purifies the blood, strengthens the nerves, and is nature's food for the brain.

"I had some trouble myself, from blood poisoning, received in a very delicate surgical operation. The formula of Paine's Celery Compound led me to try it, and I was much pleased with the result. I prescribe it for men and women who have no appetite, cannot sleep, and are weak and run-down. For this condition, and for disorders of the blood and nerves, it has no equal.

"When a man or woman has lost appetite, lost sleep, and feels that life is a burden, that person is in a serious condition. I prescribe Paine's Celery Compound for my patients who have these common and dangerous symptoms, with invariably satisfactory results. It is the best possible remedy to keep up one's strength and energy during the summer months."

In Your Blood

Is the cause of that tired, languid feeling which afflicts you at this season. The blood is impure and has become thin and poor. That is why you have no strength, no appetite, cannot sleep. Purify your blood with Hood's Sarsaparilla, which will give you an appetite, tone your stomach, and invigorate your nerves.

SHIP SHOT TO PIECES

Divers Discloses the Dire Work of Japanese Cruisers.

SLAUGHTER OF THE CHINESE.

The Sunken Transport Kowshing an Appalling Sight—Awful Work of Torpedo, Shot and Shell—The Rooms 'Tween Decks Packed With Dead.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 2.—Advices from Chefoo, received by steamer to-day, say divers have been at work on the Chinese transport Kowshing, sunk by the Japanese cruisers off the Yalu. They report that the vessel is an appalling sight, as she is literally torn to pieces with shot and shell.

There is no doubt of her having been sunk by a torpedo, as there is a large, ragged opening in her port, bilge into an dthrough one of the bunkers. She is riddled all about the water line with big shot holes, and from the top of her foremast down to the water line there are the marks of the machine-fire gun.

About half way up the mast, where the rigging joins, is badly torn by small projectiles. Probably many poor wretches climbed up there to be slaughtered. The mainmast is gone, possibly injured by the firing. Her decks are torn up and splintered throughout, and marks of machine-gun and shell fire cover the ship from end to end, particularly about the funnel casing, which is badly riddled. The 'tween decks are ful lof dead, many of the rooms being packed, especially on the starboard side, where hundreds of poor wretches had crawled to escape, if possible, th pitiless storm of projections.

The North China News comments on this as follows: Any unnecessary sacrifice of life or property is not legitimate warfare. It is barbarous, and there was not the slightest excuse for sinking this ship. She was a good, safe prize, and could not possibly escape. At the worst, her rudder might have been shot away; but to fire torpedoes, to pound away with shot and shell from two, eight and six-inch guns, to haul down a shower of nitrals from machine guns on a small steamer crowded with human beings, was an act which we need not now characterize.

ORONHYATEKHA RE-ELECTED.

Supreme Court I.O.F. Chooses its Officers—Dr. McConnell to Be Buried in Britain.

London, Aug. 3.—The Supreme Court of the I.O.F. adjourned immediately the sad news of Dr. McConnell's sudden death was made known. A cable from Toronto announced that it was the desire of the friends that the remains be interred in England, and arrangements were thereupon made for the funeral, which will take place on Wednesday, and at which all the delegates will attend.

At the post-mortem examination it was decided that his death resulted from pulmonary apoplexy. The body was removed to the morgue, and a coroner's inquest upon it will be held on Wednesday next. At to-day's session of the Supreme Court of Foresters resolutions expressing condolence with the family of the deceased delegate from Toronto were passed.

The Supreme Court decided during to-day's session to increase the rate of assessment upon new members between the ages of 40 and 49. The salary of the Supreme Chief Ranger was fixed at $10,000 yearly, that of the Supreme Secretary at $3000 yearly and that of the Supreme Treasurer at $2000 per year. The auditors' salary was fixed at $1000 per year, and that of the Supreme Physician at $2500 per year.

The report of the Supreme Chief, covering the work of the organization for two years was presented, and his recommendations, including one that the sessions of the Supreme Court be held every three years instead of every two years, adopted.

The Californian delegation presented a handsome banner to the Supreme Court.

Officers were elected to-day as follows:

Oronhyatekha, M.D., Toronto, Supreme Chief Ranger (re-elected).

E. Botterell, House of Commons, Ottawa, Past Supreme Chief Ranger (re-elected).

D. D. Aitken, Flint, Mich., Supreme Vice-Chief Ranger (re-elected).

John A. McGillivray, Q.C., Toronto, Supreme Secretary (re-elected).

Harry A. Collins, Toronto, Supreme Treasurer.

An early morning despatch says: The Foresters have arranged to send home the body of Dr. John McConnell, the Toronto delegate who died suddenly yesterday.

Deadly Cancer Cured By B. B. B.

HERE IS THE PROOF.

Messrs. T. Milburn & Co:

SIRS,—About four years ago I was taken sick with stomach trouble. I consulted several leading local physicians, all of whom pronounced my disease incurable cancer of the stomach, and told me I had not long to live. Two physicians attending me gave me up to die. Through reading your advertisement, and by advice of friends, I tried your Burdock Blood Bitters and I am happy to say that after using one bottle I was able to leave my bed which I had been confined to for a long time. I am thankful now to state that B.B.B. cured my disease which baffled the doctors, and I am firmly convinced saved my life. Gratefully yours,

POINTS THE WAY TO PERFECT HEALTH.

SOUTH AMERICAN NERVINE

The Great Health Restorer of the Century.

Sickness Cannot Cope With It—Has Cured the Worst Cases on Record—Cures at the Nerve Centers, and Thus Cures Permanently—A Wonderful Specific in All Cases of Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Nervousness and General Debility—Has No Equal as a Spring Medicine.

There is a great deal of uncertainty in the methods adopted to remove disease. Doctors are not free from this kind of thing themselves. The poor patient has to put up with a good deal of experimenting. The discoverer of South American Nervine takes too serious a view of life to play pranks of this kind. He does not think that these human bodies of ours should be fooled with. He has recognized that they are subject to disease, but by scientific methods he has learned that just as the watch is to be put in perfect repair only when the main spring is kept in running order, so with the individual, he remains in perfect health, only when the nerve centers are kept healthful and strong.

What disease is more distressing than indigestion or dyspepsia? Some simple remedy may be given to cause relief for the moment. Nervine is an indisputably successful remedy for the worst cases of indigestion, because it reaches the source of all stomach troubles—the nerve centers. Indigestion exists because the vital forces have become diseased and are weakened. Nervine builds up the nerve centers, from which comes these forces, removes the causes of indigestion, and then builds up the health completely.

How many systems are run down through nervousness. A stimulant may give ease, but it will not cure nervous troubles. Nervine has cured more desperate cases of nervousness than any other medicine anywhere. And it does so for the same reason that it cures indigestion. The nerve centers are deranged, or there would be no victims of nervousness. Nervine rebuilds and strengthens the nerve tissues, and hence its marvellous powers in diseases of this kind.

In the spring of the year the strongest suffer from general debility. The blood, through neglect, has become impoverished and the whole system gets out of order. We speak of it as a spring medicine. Nervine restores the exhausted vital forces that have led to this tired, don't-care, played-out, miserable condition. No one can take a bottle of Nervine at this season of the year without disease quickly giving way to abounding health.

The moral is plain, simple and readily understood. If you would not trifle with disease, then you will take South American Nervine, which will not trifle with you.

He Gives His Own Terrible Experience to Prove the Truth of His Assertion—Suffered for Over Two Years—Both Himself and Family Thought That Only Death Could End His Sufferings—Again Enjoying the Blessing of Sound Health.

From the Essex Free Press.

Life is truly a burden to those not blessed with a full measure of health and strength, but when a strong man is brought to the verge of almost utter helplessness, when doctors fail and there is apparently nothing left to do but wait the dread summons that comes but once to all, the case assumes an aspect of extreme sadness. In such a condition as this did Mr. George Little, of the township of Colchester North, find himself, and recently the Free Press hearing incidentally that he had recovered health and strength, a reporter was sent to investigate. When seen, Mr. Little expressed a willingness to state the nature of his case, and his story is as follows:—

"Had to sit with feet in a hot oven.

Some four years ago Mr. Little suffered from a severe attack of la grippe which left his lower limbs partially paralyzed. He called in one of the best known physicians of Essex county, who appeared to do all that lay in his power for the relief of Mr. Little, but to no avail. For two and a half years he suffered the most intense pain and was confined to his bed for the greater part of the time. The doctor was puzzled with his case and as he seemed to obtain no relief, he changed doctors for a period. The second doctor did no better than the other, and Mr. Little returned to the one he had first called in. Finally, despairing of ever obtaining relief, he told the physician that he did not see any further use of taking his medicines, and believed he should die if he did not obtain relief in a short time. He had wasted away to a little more than a mere skeleton, and was an object of pity by his neighbors, and felt himself a burden to his family. His wife and family had given up hope, and his neighbors all thought it was merely a question of time when Mr. Little's death would relieve his sufferings. While his limbs were partially paralyzed he could use them sufficient to hobble about the house and door yard, but if he undertook to walk to the stable he would be confined to his bed for a week after. His limbs grew numb and cold. During the hotest summer days he was obliged to sit with his feet and legs in a hot oven, wrapped in flannels and hot cloths until the skin would come off in scales. Mr. Little believed that his physician was doing all that could be done, and has nothing but kindly feelings for the treatment he received at his hands but he is certain that the doctor had no hope of his recovery. He had tried an advertised mineral water, taking in all seven gallons of it, but failed to obtain relief. After suffering for two and a half years, Mr. Little, in the summer of 1893, read of a case similar to his own, that had been cured by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Grasping at this last hope, he sent for a few boxes and began taking them. Before the second box was all used, Mr. Little was satisfied that he had found a remedy that would cure him of his exceedingly painful and mysterious ailment. Mr. Little continued the use of the Pink Pills for several months and was able to get out and do light work about his farm, which he had not been able to do for over two years. He continued taking Pink Pills a while longer, when he was fully recovered and was able to do any of the hardest work on his farm, and in the winter time worked almost steadily at saw-logging and wood-chopping. During the past fall, he says, he was frequently caught out in heavy rain storms when away from home, but he had so far recovered that his exposures have not brought any bad results. During the very cold weather of the present winter he was hauling wood to Windsor, a distance of fifteen miles. He looks at present as if he had hardly seen a sick day in his life time.

Mr. Little feels deeply grateful to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and claims that his complete recovery is entirely due to the use of the pills. He gives his testimony for the benefit of others who may be similarly afflicted. Mr. Little's wife who was present at the interview, corroborated Mr. Little's testimony and believes he owes his entire recovery to the use of Pink Pills. The entire family look upon the husband and father as one rescued from the grave by the timely use of Pink Pills.

On inquiry among Mr. Little's neighbours, we find that he is a man of undoubted veracity. He has lived in Essex county all his lifetime, and on his present farm in Colchester North, about four years. He is the superintendent of the Edgar Mills Sunday school, and his case is too well known in that district to be disputed. His neighbours looked upon his cure as a most miraculous one, his death having been expected among them for many months before he began the use of Pink Pills.

LACROSSE.

The lacrosse match which took place at the Driving Park yesterday afternoon between the Athletics and the Millbrooks was not nearly as fine an exhibition of clean lacrosse as that of Wednesday. Combination play on the part of both teams was conspicuous by its absence during the first part of the game, and consequently neither team had an advantage over the other. As soon, however, as the Athletics began to play into one another's sticks their superiority over their opponents was instantly apparent.

The Millbrooks were late in arriving and came on the field at twenty minutes after six. The teams lined up in the following order:

Millbrook.		Athletics.
Richards	goal	Dobbin
Bateson	point	Lynch
Carveth	cover point	J McDonough
Strain, Pickup, Leach	defence field	Brown, Joe McDonough, Thompson
Coombe	centre	T McDonough
Irwin, Pierce, Duncan	home field	Hukey, Rubidge, Lipsett
Natrass	outside home	Galley
Carveth	inside home	Borland
R G Doak	field capt.	P J Doris

Millbrook was charged with playing several ringers, but it is hardly probable that this was the fact. Their team are remarkably close hard checkers, and whilst they played no combination themselves they stayed so close to their checks that it was a hard matter to get clear of them. After about ten minutes play the first bit of fast combination work was apparent. The ball was brought out of a wild scrimmage by Lipsett. Being surrounded he had just a second in which to act, but he was equal to the emergency, and tipped the ball to Phelan who in turn sent a red hot one to Galley, who scored. It was a very pretty piece of play indeed, as the three passes took place in the twinkling of an eye, the ball being sent as swiftly as possible on each throw.

Millbrook worked hard to retrieve itself in the next game and gave the Peterborough defence an opportunity of doing some great work. Brown and Lynch worked well together, and it would have taken a clever man to fool either of them. Both these young players are doing the cleverest kind of work this season.

Thompson was in fine form and played a strong heavy game throughout. He scored the next game for the Athletics in six minutes.

Before the start of the game the Athletics had announced their intention of winning from Millbrook by even greater odds than those by which they defeated the Port Hopes, so there was no cessation of the fast play. Phelan was in grand form and with Rubidge covered a lot of the ground out in the field.

Jack McDonough played on the defense yesterday for the first time.

At six minutes after seven, after thirteen minutes fast play, a shot was made on the Millbrook flags, which went fully a foot above them, but the umpire called it a game. Naturally enough the Millbrook men kicked and kicked most strenuously. The affair was patched up and the game was not allowed, but still there was friction and although the Athletics made all manner of overtures, the Millbrooks finally left the field.

Mr. Harry Phelan refereed the game in a most satisfactory manner.

The New Specific Remedy is Being Extensively Used at Ottawa.

Ottawa, July 29.—The marvellous recovery of Mr. G. H. Kent, of this city, from Bright's disease by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills is still fresh in the memories of Ottawa people, and the remedy is being freely recommended both by druggists and private citizens. The similar wonderful cures of Dr. A. G. McCormick, of Richmond, Quebec, and Mr. Arthur Coley, of Somerset, Manitoba, to say nothing of many others, are generally quoted in favour of the assertion that no remedy of modern times has gone so successfully through a severe trial, and been so efficacious in all cases of kidney trouble. It is also proving itself invaluable in the milder forms of sickness which appear during the summer.

Despicable Slanders on the Mother Country.

MR. BAIN'S STINGING REBUKE

Attempts to Discredit Britain Used as a Cloak to Hide Incapacity and Waste of the Public Funds—No Distress in Free Trade Britain

Ottawa, Aug. 5.—The Cabinet Ministers are wandering to and fro throughout the land seeking a cry to cover up their incapacity. For some time past they have been slandering Britain and when this will not hide the waste of the people's money something else must be produced. To their reflections on Britain, Thomas Bain, Liberal M.P., North Wentworth, in a speech on the budget, made the following effective reply:

Sir, I have been ashamed and grieved to listen to th hon.e gntlemen opposite denouncing day in and day out the position of the mother country—the country that has never failed to stand by Canadian interests, that has given us the shelter of her protection and the shelter of her name through good report and evil report. Yes, these men are never done telling us that in free trade Britain distress prevails everywhere, and that people are in suffering and in want, and are traveling toward a protective policy. They carefully quote to us some of the campaign speeches of the Conservative party in England, made a year or two ago; but they do not quote to us the divisions of the House that have recently taken place on any of those questions. It may do to go into the country and tell the farmers they are oppressed, that competition from the outside is straining their resources, and reducing the income of their estate; and if you apply that statement to the proprietors of those estates it is perfectly true; but if you look back through the history of England for a few generations, you will find that some of those gentlemen gave very little, indeed, for the estates from which they are drawing large revenues to-day. Suppose the prices of the products of the farm were doubled to-morrow, and kept so for a few years, how much of the increase do hon. gentlemen suppose would fall to the average tenant farmer? Would not the aristocracy who control their lands immediately proceed to put up their rents Royal Commission to inquire into the

But I want to call attention to another quotation, bearing on this very question, from a journal which cannot be accused of Grit proclivities or of being unfriendly to the Government of the day; and I commend to hon. gentlemen opposite the sturdy and vigorous language in which it characterizes their conduct in thus belittling the mother country that has done so much for us. If they turn to The Orange Sentinel of the 25th April last, they will find this paragraph, headed, "Distress in Great Britain.":

"Many United States and some Canadian papers are constantly telling us that great distress prevails in Britain. The British Parliament appointed a Royal Comission to inquire into the condition of affairs. The inquiry included the period of the great storms in Britain, a storms unprecedented for more than 50 years. In spite of this terible weather, the people of Great Britain suffered less actual distress and have been more prosperous than those of any other country under the sun.

"The commission sent out inquiries to all localities in England, and received 1194 replies from districts representing over 20,000,000 of a population, with these results: 569 localities, with a population of nearly 7,000,000, report no exceptional distress; 454 localities, with a population of over 10,000,000, report that there is exceptional distress, due solely to the severity of the winter; 144 localities, with a population of 3,700,000, report exceptional distress from want of employment, due to slackness of trade, depression in agriculture, or particular local or industrial causes.

"Scotland, Wales and Ireland are dealt with separately, and show that, apart from the severity of the weather, no exceptional distress prevails.

"The returns prove conclusively that the mass of the British people are not suffering. Britain holds her own in everything that tends to make a people great, and lying telegrams to Yankee papers are only sent to help the combines and commercial thieves in the United States, who find it pays to abuse Britain.

"We regret that any Canadian paper should reprodude these lying despatches, and try to bolster up Canadian combines."

That, sir, is no statement from my side of the House. It is a statement from a journal that has never staggered in its allegiance to hon. gentlemen opposite; but the force of the truth compelled it manfully to administer this scathing rebuke to those of hon. gentlemen opposite who are perpetually belittling the country which is the birthplace of many of us, and the land we are all proud to be associated with.

Every employer of labor, workingman, harvest hand and others interested in the good of the country, should, in order to know how things are done at Ottawa, get a copy of the Dominion Government's tariff of wages on the Curran Bridge. Parliament was told the cost of the Curran Bridge would be $175,000. It has grown to $394,000 actually paid out, and there are unsettled claims yet to be dealt with.

Here are some samples of wages paid by the Government to Contractor St. Louis:

$4 a day for a foreman.
$6 a day for foreman for night or overtime.
$8 a day for foreman on Sunday.
$12 a day for foreman on Sunday for overtime.
$5 a day for team.
$10 a day for team on Sunday.
$2.50 a day for derrick.
$3.75 a day for derrick for overtime.
$7.50 a day for derrick for overtime on Sunday.

St. Louis put on all the men he wished and got paid for them.

There were 2000 men on the works at one time.

There were many idle.
No Government timekeeper.
No regular count.
No Government foreman.
No Government supervision.
No Government record of men or materials.
No Government classification of labor.
Unskilled labor was paid for as skilled labor.
There were no public tenders for timber.
Inferior timber was supplied.
Carters' delivery tickets for lumber are missing.
There were no checks as to quality of timber and lumber supplied.
Large quantities are missing.
New timber was burnt as firewood, carted away and stolen.
Government teams had to haul lumber that the contractor was to deliver.
$39,896 was paid for $6000 worth of stonecutting.
$16,715 was paid for $3000 worth of stonecutting.
Stone was hauled by team 20 miles along the railway running from the quarry to the works.

The Government was warned all along of the frauds, but allowed them to continue and paid the bills as they came in.

When the work was completed the Government issued a commission to investigate.

Pending the investigation the Government paid St. Louis a balance of $165,000 for wages on an account that the Chief Engineer discredited and would not certify to.

The commission unanimously reported incompetence, extravagance and fraud.

The people's money was lost.

No one has been held responsible.

Eastern Princes are said to travel in great splendor, and the people give them much obeisance. The civil servants at Ottawa could teach these eastern rulers a fine lesson in display. Surprise is often expressed by Canadian taxpayers at the enormous increase of expenditure in connection with the Dominion Government, but if the taxpayers followed the course of some of the officials they would be taught a lesson in splendor of living.

These servants, when traveling, are paid their expenses, yet we find one charging the country for "rent of room" at Ottawa. Another puts in a bill for "wear and tear" of clothes, while there are also charges for valises, washing, books, umbrellas, shaving, etc.

If anyone doubts this display of magnificence let him turn up section P of the Auditor-General's report for 1894, beginning at page 13 of the section, and be convinced. Some extracts from that section are here given:

LARGE APPLE CROP IN BRITAIN.

Hay, Oats and Wheat Are Short, Potatoes a Moderate Average.

London, Aug. 4.—England has this year the largest apple crop that has been seen for many seasons. In all the European countries the crop is larger than usual, with the exception of France, where the crop is only good. American apples, if any are needed, must be of the fancy varieties and reach London in October. The drought that prevailed during May and June caused a loss to the Scotch farmers of nearly £3,000,000. Potatoes will reach a moderate average. Barley will reach the average production. In oats and wheat there is a deficiency of 25 per cent. There is only half a crop of hay. Fodder will be very deficient during the coming winter. The German potato crop will probably be a failure. Owing to the immense size of the crop its failure would cause a large increase in the imports of food from the United States.

A HALIFAX ELOPEMENT.

Miss Roche Marries the Man of Her Choice.

Halifax, Aug. 3.—Charles McNellan, son of Henry McNellan, merchant, and Miss Roche, aged 17, niece of William Roche, M.L.A., eloped last night. They drove to Sackville, 12 miles out, and were married. They put up at Mrs. Snow's house to await this morning's train for St. John. The mother of the young lady detailed two constables, who found the couple asleep at Snow's. She refused to return home. The mother became hysterical at the news of the marriage, and left this morning to prevent, if possible, her daughter going with McNellan.

YOUNG FIENDS.

Five Boys Put a Cat's Eyes Out and Then Set It on Fire.

Tekonsha, Mich., Aug. 4.—A most brutal and shocking affair took place in Burlington recently. Five youths procured a quantity of liquor of some kind and after partaking freely of the same they caught a poor cat, put out its eyes, and after saturating the poor animal with kerosene set it on fire. The frenzied cat ran under the steps of the school building and set fire to the house. The fire was put out before much damage was done. Some of the young rascals were arrested and the remainder have fled to parts unknown.

Summer Comes

With the flowers and sunshine. Birds pour out their melody and the chirp of the grasshopper will soon tempt the fisherman to stretch forth his hands and grasp the shadow of his flight. The playful mosquito will do her nicest to soothe weary pleasure seekers into the realms of slumber, and the stinging, aching corns will remove every semblance or comfort, make sad the songs of the birds, and evoke cloudiness in the soul, that even the brightest sunshine cannot dispel. Corns are thorns in the flesh, but Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor removes them in twenty-four hours.

Purified Blood

Saved an operation in the following case. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures when all others fail. It makes pure blood.

"A year ago my father, William Thompson, was taken suddenly ill with inflammation of the bladder. He suffered a great deal and was very low for some time. At last the doctor said he would not get well unless an operation was performed. At this time we read about Hood's Sarsaparilla and decided to try it. Before he used half a bottle his appetite had come back to him, whereas before he could eat but little. When he had taken three bottles of the medicine he was as well as ever." FRANCIS J. THOMPSON, Peninsula Lake, Ontario. Remember

WHAT THE BRANTFORD EXPOSITOR THINKS OF IT.

The contract for the section of the Trent Valley Canal between Lakefield and Peterborough has been let for $330,000. This is just a third of a million dollars thrown away, says the Brantford Expositor. The Trent river is navigable for small steamers from Peterborough to Hastings. It is navigable for similar vessels from Lakefield to Fenelon Falls and Port Perry. The distance from Peterborough to Lakefield is amply covered now for passengers by the Grand Trunk railway, the cost per passenger being only a few cents. To cut through the six miles and build the necessary locks will cost over $50,000 a mile, far more than enough to duplicate the railway, if that were worth while. There will be no traffic to speak of for the cut after it is made. The expenditure is simply a huge bribe to a locality, and a fund from which some percentage may be squeezed for election purposes.

SPEAKING on the question of prohibition, the Globe says the cure through individual reform would be so much more satisfactory than one effected by the strong arm that many who detest drink and all its works are held back from adopting legislative prohibition by the hope that humanity will eventually redeem itself from the curse by moral force alone.

THE report of the director-general of the World's Columbian Exposition at Chicago, which has just been issued, covers 3,500 pages of printed and typewritten matter, with an appendix of 2,400 octavo pages, yet in all these 6,000 pages there is not one word of explanation as to why two years have been allowed to elapse since the closing of the fair without the successful exhibitors receiving their awards.

A CONSERVATIVE convention is suggested. It has been suggested two or three times before and decided that in the present condition of the Conservative party it would not be either wise or desirable to do so. The caucus held at the opening of the recent session was, from all accounts, a sufficient indication of party disintegration. A meeting of the party in convention would be a second Donnybrook.

THE Manitoba school question is apparently assuming an aspect which augurs that there will be no sixth session of this parliament. The mysterious "something" which Mr. Foster said might turn up to prevent it being held may have been anticipated. But won't there just be chaos and heart burnings among the people who expect one more, and last, $1,000 for sitting and voting obediently in Parliament.

THE figures of bicycle-making in the United States indicate the marvellous growth of this industry. In 1894 over 200,000 wheels were manufactured, during this year the output will be doubled, and the demand has not nearly been met. Hardware, an American trade paper, says that what with additions to plants already in existence, and new factories starting up, there will be next summer a manufacturing capacity for 700,000 bicycles, and this, it predicts, will not be more than sufficient.

ACCORDING to a rumour published by the Toronto World, hope deferred has made very sick the heart of A. W. Ross, M.P., for Lisgar. He is reported to have resigned his seat in the House of Commons because he has been refused the Lieutenant Governorship of Manitoba, the postmastership of Winnipeg and the collectorship of the city, each of which has in turn been promised him. Mr. Ross will find little sympathy. Elected a Liberal, he long ago became a supporter of the Canadian Pacific railway. He is reaping the appropriate record of political perfidy.

IT has been rather plainly intimated that part of the Conservative policy will be to furnish Ireland with local legislatures—probably one for each of the four provinces. The Irish members would, of course, accept the Local Legislatures in the hope that lapse of time would enable Ireland to secure a still greater measure of autonomy, as it would undoubtedly do. Moreover, this would turn out to be the first step towards the federalization of the British Islands. Scotland and Wales would at once demand similar legislative machinery for the purpose of dealing with local questions, and their demand for it could not be resisted. Many British ministries have been wrecked on the Irish question since the disappearance of Grattan's parliament in the first year of the nineteenth century; Lord Salisbury may congratulate himself if his survives the first year of the twentieth.

THE cable summaries of the Geographical congress, at present in session in London, suggest the expediency of making a systematic effort to have a more accurate survey of Ontario than at present in existence. The very best obtainable maps of this province, even of the older and more accessible parts of it, are very unsatisfactory as to both accuracy and scale. The Brantford Expositor suggests to the government and the Legislature the desirability of appointing a commission for the purpose of reporting on the whole subject. Its chief duty would be to collect and digest what knowledge is obtainable from geological reports, and the information furnished by the Crown Lands surveyors, and to indicate what directions efforts to supplement this should take. Part of its work would be a preparation of a large map showing accurately (1) the geological formation which underlie the surface drift, (2) the distribution of the material of the drift itself, and (3) the watercourses which inricate the divides and slopes that make up the profile of the country.

Double Drowning Just Above the Falls.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Aug. 4.—Ellwood F. Butler, engineer at the Soo Paper Mill, and Timothy Sweeney, son of ex-Ald. Sweeney, Niagara Falls, N.Y., were out in the river nearly opposite Schlosser Dock, above Goat Island, in a boat this afternoon, when their boat capsized. The anchor that was in the boat fell out and anchored the boat, but the high sea washed both men off the boat and no doubt over the Falls.

Drowned in Toronto Bay.

Toronto, Aug. 5.—At about 9 o'clock last night Phoebe Young, a scrub woman, employed at the Rossin House, met her death by drowning in the bay off Ward's Island, owing to the upsetting of a rowboat. Her companion, George Garrison, a mulatto barber, 449 Queen-street west, hung on to the upturned boat until assistance arrived and was rescued. Changing seats in the boat was the cause of the fatality.

Fatal Fall From a Bicycle.

Chautauqua, N.Y., Aug. 4.—Rev. John A. McCall of New Bedford, Mass., met with an accident Saturday evening that will probably cost him his life. Having missed the boat which connects at Mayville with the train for Buffalo, where he was to have preached Sunday, he decided to ride to Mayville on a bicycle. The next seen of him was when he was found unconscious about half way between the two towns. His shoulder is broken and he is otherwise seriously injured.

Another Bicycling Fatality.

Montreal, Aug. 4.—Olivs Constantineau, while wheeling down Seigneur Hill, lost his balance and fell, sustaining a fracture of the skull. He will die.

Broken on a Wheel.

Halifax, N.S., Aug. 4.—Henry McNutt, 19, employed in a sawmill, was putting the belt on to turn the grindstone, when he fell on the balance wheel and was thrown on the engine. His body was broken and torn so badly he died instantly.

Killed in a Runaway.

Kingston, Ont., Aug. 4.—Saturday afternoon, Patrick Gallagher, aged 84, of Percy Township, while returning home from Hastings, was thrown out of his buggy, his head striking a tree He lived about 20 minutes.

Had Three Wives Living, Two Dead.

Bad Axe, Mich., Aug. 4.—A special to the Detroit Free Press says: S. M. Clark of Bad Axe, who was killed in a runaway, Wednesday, had had five wives, two of whom are dead. He is the third victim of this same team of horses.

Holbrook Postoffice Gone.

Woodstock, Ont., Aug. 4.—A two-story frame building occupied by A. Pullen as a general store and post-office, at the village of Holbrook, was totally destroyed by fire Saturday night. The building was owned by Mr. H. Flood of this town, and was valued at $900. It was insured for $500. The stock was valued at $2500, insured for $1400.

Church Spire Struck by Lightning.

Aurora, Ont., Aug. 4.—Sunday morning the spire of the Methodist Church was struck by lightning, setting fire to the wood work and causing damage of several hundred dollars.

"Mamma, was that a sugar-plum you just gave me?" asked little Mable. "No, dear, it was one of Dr. Ayer's Pills." "Please may I have another?" "Not now dear; one of those nice pills is all you need at present, because every dose is effective."

WILL NOT COMPROMISE

Quebec Senators Decline to Yield on School Question.

THE BISHOPS TIRED OF AGITATION

The Hierarchy Favors Compromise, But Senators Angers, Landry, Ross and Bellerose Object—The Raising Scene in British Columbia.

Montreal, Aug. 5.—There are some people in this Province who will no doubt put forth every effort to prevent a settlement or compromise being reached in the matter of the Manitoba schools. At the time of the recent crisis those Montrealers who went up to assist the Administration out of the hole said on their return that all the trouble was caused by a few Senators who were behind Hon. Mr. Angers, and having no constituents to face were quite willing that everybody else should be sacrificed, so long as they themselves were high and dry beyond the reach of an intelligent public opinion.

This state of things has existed ever since Parliament was prorogued. All of the archbishops and bishops of the Province of Quebec, except one, are heartily tired of the agitation that has been going on for the past two years, and while these venerable prelates cried halt to their young confrere of St. Boniface, and are doing their best to have the question settled outside of Parliament, Senators Ross, Landry, Bellerose, and one or two more uncompromising relics of a past yet not regretted age are fighting the supporters of a compromise with all their might.

It is believed, however, that the bishops will triumph, for the policy they now espouse, viz., the direct appeal of the Manitoba minority to the Greenway Government for redress, is making very rapid headway here amongst all shades of opinion.

There are still two or three newspapers devoted to the Senatorial reactionists, and the Hon. Mr. Angers' organ is one of the number. Le Monitour de Levis in its last issue says: "We do not believe that Mgr. Langevin or the Canadian Episcopacy have decided to accept a compromise with Manitoba unless they have a guarantee that this province will cease to persecute the Catholic minority and that the compromise will recognize and maintain the rights of Catholics to separate schools. It would be impossible to go back now, and to accept less would be committing a wrong of which our Episcopacy could not possibly be guilty." All this reads well, but the Bishops of Quebec will certainly not be frightened by the men who were the founders and fomenters of the Riel agitation.

It is many years since three men have been lodged at any one time in the Montreal jail charged with murder. In consequence of this unusual state of affairs, and the large number of prisoners, the jailer, Mr. Valle, has instituted a new rule by which the entire prison is patrolled every half hour day and night. The wisdom of this rule was shown the night before last, when Gauthier, the murderer, attempted suicide. He would have succeeded in his attempt but for the arrival of the guards. Gauthier has, on the recommendation of the jail doctor, been placed in the infirmary, as he is in need of medical treatment. He is badly broken up through his actions of the last few days, in fact was under medical treatment when he committed the crime.

Dr. Labadie of Notre Dame-street had been called in to Gauthier's house by his mother, and he gave the man some medicine, as his state required. The family thought he was somewhat troubled, and say they kept a lookout for him. This morning Gauthier was said to be feeling quieter and better. He spent a quiet night, and is under the eye of the guards at all moments of the day and night. The officials are determined that no other attempt at suicide will be made. The guards are held responsible by the jailer for their prisoners' safe-keeping.

Gauthier is greatly depressed and seems now to realise the position in which he now finds himself. The prisoner's aged mother has not yet been to see him at the jail, but she is expected to go down to-morrow.

Demers and Shortis are the only occupants of the famous ward No. 10, in which persons charged with murder are confined. The rear of the cells face on Notre Dame-street, to the west of the main entrance, on the second story. Demers feels confident that he will be acquitted, and Shortis does not discuss his case at all.

The community was shocked last evening to learn of the very sudden death of George E. Jacques, the well-known forwarder and manager of the Merchants' Line of steamers. He left home in the afternoon in apparent good health, and while en route for the Turkish bath took ill and died in Dr. England's office, St. Catherine-street. Deceased, who was born in 1852, had been a prominent Freemason, and was prominent in Y.M.C.A. circles and a member of St. James' Methodist Church. He leaves a widow and four children, and will be buried Tuesday afternoon.

It is quite probable that other arrests may follow in connection with the Porter embezzlement case at Quebec. It is learned that the day George Porter left the Quebec branch of the Bank of Montreal to go to his house on the Island of Orleans, he put back $10,000, and still there was a deficiency of over $40,000. The bank now holds Porter's sureties to the amount of $32,000.

The approximate earnings of the Canadian Pacific Railway for the week ending 31st July last were $560,000, against $469,000 for the same period last year, showing the satisfactory increase of $51,000.

TWENTY MEN ENTOMBED.

Dynamite To Be Used To Effect Their Release.

London, Aug. 3.—None of the twenty miners left in the flooded mine at Saltcoats, Scotland, have yet been rescued. The inflowing water has jammed the entrance to the mine with debris, and though attempts have been made to clear the way by the use of dynamite the pit is still choked up. It is believed that all of the men have perished.

Five Miners Rescued.

London, Aug. 4.—A despatch from Saltcoats, on the Bay of Ayr, Scotland, says that five miners have been taken out alive from the Auchenharvie colliery, which was flooded yesterday. The rescued men were completely exhausted. The rescuing party are continuing the search for the other miners who were in the colliery at the time of the accident.

CHINESE MASSACRE CHRISTIANS.

Five Women Burned at Kucheng By the Fanatics.

Shanghai, Aug. 3.—The Shanghai Express prints a telegram from Foo Chow under the date of Aug. 3, reporting a frightful massacre of Christians in the Kucheng, in the Province of Kansuh Sinkinag. Among those murdered were five foreign ladies.

A despatch from Shanghai gives the details of the reported massacre of Christians at Kiuchen. The ladies who are supposed to have been killed are believed to have been members of the Church of England, the Zenana and the American Methodist Episcopal missions. According to the despatch, they were butchered after suffering atrocious outrages. A number of other missionaries, including women and children, were seriously wounded.

The despatch declares that the Chinese officials connived at, if they did not instigate, the attack on the Christians. The revival of outrages is attributed to the apathy of the British and American Ministers, despite the increasing anti-foreign feeling that is displayed.

Foreigners in Shanghai regard the commission sent to inquire into the recent riots at Chengtu as a farce. Many officials who were charged with complicity in these riots are being promoted.

"Americans Safe; 10 British Killed."

Washington, Aug. 4.—The State Department received the following cablegram from Consul Gernigan at Shanghai to-day in reference to the reported massacre near Kuchang: "Americans safe; none hurt. Ten British killed." AD AXTS

Names of the Killed.

London, Aug. 4.—The Telegraph tomorrow will print a despatch from Shanghai, stating that the massacre at Nucheng occurred on July 31. The officials suppressed the news for three days. The names of the killed are: Miss Elsie Marshall, Miss Annie Gordon, Miss Bessie Newcombe and Miss Flora Stewart, all of the English Zenana Mission; Miss Nellie Saunders, Miss Topsy Saunders, Rev. Dr. Stewart and Mrs. Stewart, of the Church Missionary Society. Five of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart's children were killed and two survive. One had a knee broken, and the other, a baby, lost an eye.

The reports of the outrage are rather mixed. The latest says it is now known that 10 persons were killed, including Miss Lena Stewart and Dr. Stewart's whole family, except two. The American missionaries, Miss Hartford and Dr. Gregory, escaped, but the former was fearfully injured. Several English and American children were killed.

The Standard demands that the murderers be visited with condign punishment, and that a stern example be made of the officials, who virtually connived at the commission of the crime. The paper will say: "If the Emperor cannot or will not protect British residents, we must give him assistance of a kind he will not welcome."

The Chronicle says it trusts that Great Britain and the United States will combine to teach the Chinese a lesson that will cause foreigners to be respected forever, but in view of the fiends existing in the country the bodies sending missionaries there, especially women, incur the gravest responsibility. The whole question, The Chronicle adds, ought to be reconsidered.

The Times says: The outrage must, of course, form the subject of strong representations to China from England, and probably from the United States also. It must not be passed over as a trifle. Immunity of the murderers would be a standing menace to the lives and property of the whole European community in China.

THE TIDE TURNS.

Great Improvement in the Health of a Well-known Peterborough Lady.

Peterborough, Aug. 5.—General satisfaction is expressed here at the greatly improved condition of health of Mrs. K. Stephens, the well known music teacher of this town. Her friends have been much exercised over her condition for a long time and a number of remedies have been tried during the ten years that she has been a martyr to a complication of complaints, which recently became very severe. She suffered frightfully with pains in the back, nervous prostration and swelling of the limbs. She has been taking the new remedy for kidney troubles, Dodd's Kidney Pills, and has already experienced the most beneficial results.

A Marvellous Result.

Mr. A. R. took out ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy No. 6332 in Canada Life Co. for Five Thousand Dollars in the year 1868. He was then 25 years of age.

The Premium paid was $181 a year for 10 years.....$1,810.

Notice the Result.

The total profits added to the Policy to end of 1894 and for which he holds a certificate amounts to the enormous sum $3,281

The holder therefore has been credited not only with every cent paid for premiums, but also Fourteen Hundred and Seventy One Dollars in addition, besides receiving a fully paid up policy for the original Five Thousand Dollars, which still participates in profits.

Now This is What we Want to Know!

This is a Peterborough Policy! Is there any citizen of Peterborough with an ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy either in Canadian, British or American Co, which shows anything like as large profits as this one?

If there is, we should esteem it a great favour if we are allowed to see it, as we have been looking for such a one for years and so far have not been able to find it.

Disorderly Conduct.

William McGregor, one of the principal witnesses for the Crown in the Gray case, and Michael Fitzgerald became involved in a quarrel arising out of a discussion concerning David Scollie's death, on Saturday, with the result that blows were interchanged, and Fitzgerald fled up George street closely pursued by McGregor. Both appeared in the Police Court this morning and were each fined $2.00 and costs, for disorderly conduct.

Gave False Weight.

A defrauding coal dealer has been taught a very salutary lesson in Montreal. It seems that he has been sending out false tickets of weight, and has been fined $500. The man who would deliberatly rob the purchaser of coal, possibly a poor person, should see the inside of a gaol and not be given the alternate of a fine. The incident suggests the need of care and watchfulness on the part of purchasers. It was only such care and watchfulness that brought the Montreal man to justice.

An Appointment Made.

We learn that Mr. R. W. Errett of this town has been appointed assistant Inspector of Weights and Measures for town and county of Peterborough, with headquarters here. Mr. Errett is a competent man, and will fill the office with credit to himself, the Government and the community at large. The appointment of an officer of this department has been much needed here for years, and in common with our townspeople, are glad it has been made, and that our old townsman has received it.

DROWNED NEAR WAHNAPITAE ON SATURDAY LAST.

Mr. John Sullivan is in a Canoe Which Capsizes and Loses his Life.

Mr. John Sullivan, of town, familiarly known as "Labouring John Sullivan," was drowned on Saturday morning last in the river near Wahnapitae, where he was engaged in getting out lumber for Mr. Wm. Irwin.

Last Monday Sullivan accompanied a gang of river drivers back into the Nipissing district, being engaged by Mr. Timothy Cavanagh to work in the woods for Mr. Irwin.

It is understood that the drowning was accidental, and was the result of the capsising of a boat containing Sullivan and three others, when endeavouring to shoot the rapids.

After the boat overturned, the unfortunate man was never seen again, although his companions who swam to the shore made instant search for him. The deceased was well known throughout the district and had many friends, who will regret his sudden demise. He was a brother of Mrs. Edward Phelan's, and has also another sister living in Ennismore.

No further particulars have been received concerning the death, but the body, if recovered, will be brought to Peterborough for burial.

HONOURABLY ACQUITTED.

Liquor was Not Sold in the Oriental on Sunday, July 14th.

This morning in the police court Mr. George Graham of the Oriental Hotel, was summoned to appear on a charge of violating the Liquor License Act by selling liquor on Sunday, July 14th.

A large number of witnesses were cited to appear in the case and the court room was crowded with spectators.

Although liquor was partaken of on the premises on the date in question, Mr. Graham proved most conclusively by the prosecution's own witnesses that it was not purchased from him, nor did he know of it being in the hotel.

A number of young men had called on a guest at the hotel on Sunday, and as he expected them he had provided liquid refreshments for their entertainment, purchasing the same the day before and having it sent to his own room.

Mr. Graham was honourably acquitted of the charge, which was dismissed forthwith, completely exonerating him.

Obituary.

The Omemee Mirror says,—The remains of Miss Rachel Glenney, who died in Toronto on Tuesday morning, arrived at the parents' residence, Victoria street, that evening, accompanied by her mother, who has been at her bedside during her illness and death. The deceased, who was 21 years of age, has been living in Toronto for a few years and was very much thought of by her employers. She is the sixth child of Isaac Glenney, one of our oldest residents. The funeral took place on Wednesday at 2 p. m., the services being conducted by the Rev. J. U. Tanner, and the remains were interred in the Emily Cemetery. Three of her sisters, Mrs. B. Lefort, Mrs. W. Watson and Miss Hattie Glenney, came home from Peterborough to attend the funeral. The family have the sympathy of the entire community in their sad bereavement.

Emancipation Day.

Thursday last was Emancipation Day. Sixty-one years ago—on the 1st August, 1834—slavery was abolished throughout the British colonies. Actual freedom was not proclaimed, but the slaves were assigned to a sort of apprenticeship, which was to precede and prepare for their ultimate liberty. By an act of the British House of Commons the previous year it was provided that on August 1st all slaves should become apprenticed labourers to their masters in two classes, one of which should be released from bondage in 1838 and the other two years later. The slaveholders were to be paid £20,000,000 sterling for the loss sustained by them, and it was decreed that all offspring of slaves born after 1st August, 1834, should be born free. The Emancipation Act gave liberty to no fewer than 770,280 slaves. Sixty-one years is not so long ago, but in that brief period the world has made such wonderful strides in the march of progress and freedom has become so universal that when the existence of slavery under the British flag is recalled it appears as if one were looking back into the Middle Ages.

MR. WILLIAM BRICK.

The Efficient Principal of St. Mary's School, Kingston, to Remove to Ottawa—General Regret Expressed in all Quarters.

The Kingston Freeman says;—"It is with mixed feeling of pleasure and regret that we have learned that the Hon. Minister of Education has been pleased to appoint Mr. Wm. Brick, Principal of St. Mary's School, this city, to a responsible position in the Ottawa Normal School.

We are exceedingly well pleased to learn of Mr. Brick's success, for he is an earnest, capable teacher, and deserves it. Wherever he has laboured as teacher he has been an unqualified success.

He took charge of the Separate Schools in the town of Peterborough at a trying time in their history, and when he left he had the satisfaction of having his schools in a most excellent condition.

When the Separate School Board of this city had the good fortune to secure his services it was at a time when a serious change was made in the administration of our schools. It was at a time when great tact and judgment were required, when a teacher's capacity as an organizer and as an administrator was called into play, and when firmness, forbearance and patience were requisite for a successful issue.

His success was not partial, it was complete. He has given our schools a status unsurpassed in this Province. He has infused enthusiasm, vigor and confidence. While, therefore, for selfish reasons we regret his departure from this city, we are exceedingly pleased to see that his ability is receiving its reward. We feel sure that in his enlarged sphere of usefulness he will acquit himself with the same fidelity and the same distinction that have so far marked his unusually successful career."

Mr. Brick's many Peterborough friends will join with the EXAMINER in congratulations.

A. O. F. ATTEND SERVICE.

Courts Stanley and Marmion Turn Out Strong for Divine Worship.

Last evening the Charlotte street Methodist church was well filled to hear Rev. J. J. Rae deliver a sermon to the Ancient Order of Foresters on "The Value of Secret Societies."

About eighty members of Court Stanley attended in a body, accompanied by fully fifty members of Juvenile Court Marmion. The procession was marshalled by Mr. A. H. Webb.

Rev. Mr. Rae took his text from the words "My Father which seeth in secret Himself shall reward thee openly," Mat. vi. 4th

Mr. Rae said in opening that there were secrets in God's administration. The time of Christ's coming was a mystery which had been, secret but in the fulness of time was revealed. The origin of sin in God's universe was a secret yet unexplained. The time of the end of the world and of the individual were secrets, sacred to God Himself. The relation of God to the individual human soul was the secret of the Lord made known to them who fear Him. There were secrets in nature, on earth, in sea, in air and in sky, the examination of which formed the highest stimulus to human thought. There were in every home, in social life, in business life, and every ism and theory and cult, had its governing secrets. There were secrets in individual life. Each man is a secret to his fellow man and perhaps every man a secret to himself. Was it any any wonder then, that when men should organise for improvement for helpfulness, or in any way for mutual benefit, that they should introduce the element of secrecy into their organization. A secret was a valuable thing in the individual and in society, when it conserved to develop in goodness. It was also valuable when it served to protect from deception, misrepresentation and injury, but it was valuable only when it concerns means, not ends. All aims should be open and plain, all enterprises clear and evident, all systems capable of being investigated. The means by which these might be attained or carried out may properly be governed by secrecy. But in all cases a secret organization depended for its value upon its power to open to man higher ideals and urge him to their attainment. In a word a secret either in the individual or in society was valuable only as it enabled either to become a working force with Christianity. A might not be such. Its ideals might be low, its associations improper, its aims obscure and uncertain. From such organizations, the world might well wished to be freed. A secret society to be effective for God should never claim a monopoly of any virtue. No matter how benevolent or friendly or brotherly it was, these while helpful are only helpful. A secret society should not interfere with man's highest religious duties and should never place itself in opposition or even in comparison with that divine organization which fitted men to live and prepare them to die. The great society which was represented here tonight, and which they heartily welcomed to this church and to this service, was one which seemed to conform to these acquisitions. It was among the largest benevolent societies in the world. It was organised in 1770, has courts in thirty-one different countries, has a membership of 876,493, a yearly income of $6,000,000, a surplus fund of $28,280,030, a total asset of $79,000,000, and had paid out during the last forty years for and for relief of the widow and orphan over $4,000,000. It admitted to its membership both men and women, boys and girls. The aims of this society were open and evident. They existed to develop human sympathy and strengthen human brotherhood, and they could not but fit the lowest member to be a better man to his fellowman, to himself and to his God, and God wanted men, and earth was waiting and welcoming every agency that tends to produce. They wanted humble men, sympathetic men, trustful men, brotherly men, and while they might not all agree as to methods and evidences, they wanted converted men. Men who lived in two worlds, true brothers to their fellowmen because true sons of God.

SICK AND FUNERAL BENEFITS

The Foresters on returning to their lodge room, passed votes of thanks to Rev. Mr. Rae, the church officials, the choir and the caretaker.

ANOTHER BIG 'LUNGE.

Mrs. Marshall Lands a Monster at Burleigh.

Mrs. Marshall, wife of Mr. Marshall, of the Bank of Commerce, Toronto, had the good luck on Saturday last, at Burleigh, to hook and land a 'lunge weighing twenty and a half pounds.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall were paddling at the upper end of Lovesick Lake, when Mrs. Marshall hooked the monster, and playing it brought it to the canoe unaided, when her husband despatched it with a knife, after first seizing it by the eyes.

Later in the day the fish was photographed together with its captors.

The monster was outlined on John Holmes' verandah as it lay there waiting to be packed in ice and shipped west.

Mr. West, of Philadelphia, is an indefatigeable fisherman and makes some great catches around Burleigh. The other day he captured seven 'lunge inside of a few hours. The largest weighed twelve and a half pounds.

THE WHEEL.

At the meeting of the Bicycle club this evening a lot of important business will be discussed. The final report of the membership and rooms' committee is expected and a number of standing committees will be appointed. All wheelmen should be in attendance.

It is hardly probable that the road race will come off on Wednesday after all as the preliminaries regarding the arranging of the handicaps require more time than a few days, so the race will probably not come off until after the fifteenth of August.

CRICKET.

A friendly game of cricket was played at Stirling on their crease on Wednesday and resulted in Campbellford's defeat, much to their surprise. Stirling went to bat to face Tait and Senior's bowling, and by clean cricket scored 45 runs. Campbellford followed and were retired for 25, with the bowling of Boldrick and Barlow, which surprised the visitors. Stirling followed up in the second innings with a score of clean batting of 56, which made a total for Sterling of 101, and which meant Campbellford must make 77 to win. The visitors put Platt and Tait to the bat. Tait retired for 1, while Platt by good cricket made the handsome score of 19. The balance of the team retired all with small scores. Total, 48, leaving Sterling winners by 28 runs. The bowling of G. H. Couley, in the second innings for the home team, was very destructive.

THE OAR.

Hamilton Beach, Aug. 3.—A big crowd of people, a clouded sky, an excellent course, and good sport—these were the features of the second day of the meet of the Canadian Association of Amateur oarsmen. The course on the lake was rough, and the races were rowed on the bay.

The bookmakers did a lively business.

The first race on the card was the Intermediate Fours, which was won by the Dons. Till the mile it was the Argonauts' race, but about this point the crew met with a misfortune which lost them the race. In passing a buoy one oar struck it and broke, and this practically crippled the Argonauts.

The result of the senior singles was a surprise to the talent who favored McDowell for the race, but the Chicago man didn't show, passing the line last. R. N. Johnson of the Argonauts won the race by a couple of lengths, J. A. Rumohr of the Torontos was second, and L. Marsh of the Dons was third.

Johnson led by a couple of lengths from the mile and about the same distance separated the others to near the quarter, the order being Johnson, Rumohr, McDowell and Marsh. Before the finish Marsh spurted and passed McDowell.

The pools opened: McDowell at 10 and the field 13, and the post betting was Rumohr 10, McDowell 6, Johnson 6 and Marshall 1. In the book McDowell was even money, Johnson 3 to 2, Rumohr 3 to 2, and Marsh 50 to 2. The time was 10.55.

In the pair oars P. J. Mulqueen and Joseph Wright had a walkover, No time was taken.

The Torontos won the senior doubles, beating the Argonauts in a close finish. The Torontos were J. J. Ryan, bow, and J. R. Rumohr, stroke, and the Argonaut crew F. H. Thompson bow, and R. N. Johnson stroke. The Torontos sold at 10 and the Argonauts at 5. Time 10.44 4.5.

The last race of the day was the senior fours, won by the Dons by two lengths. The Argonauts were second and the Torontos third. Toronto crew: J. R. Bennett, bow, J. Smyth 2, W. J. Sheehan 3, F. S. Wells stroke. Dons, J. O'Connor bow, T. W. Nelson, A. J. Tryling 3, L. Kennedy stroke. Argonauts, W. H. Bunting bow, P. E. McKenzie 2, Harry Small 3, A. J. Boyd stroke. The Torontos sold at 10 and the field at 4 in the book. The quotations were: Dons 4 to 2, Argonauts 6 to 2, Torontos 1 to 5. Time 9.35 1-5.

Chicago, Aug. 4.—Canada cricketers won the two-inning game with the All Chicago team to-day in brilliant style, closing the week's series of unbroken victories, and earning praise from their opponents as well as the thousands of men and women who have turned out to see the play. The close of the day's contest was unique. Chicago had scored 170 for the first inning, part of which was played yesterday. Canada's first innings yesterday netted 241, and when eight of the visitors in the second had put together 190, including extras, Capt. Hyman elected to close for six wickets down, believing his men could easily retire the Chicago 11 for a less score than 431, the grand total for Canada before the umpires called the game at 6.15 o'clock. And the Canadians just did it without a second to spare, thus saving the game from being called a draw. It was the stroke of the minute. Nine Chicagoans had been put out. The last ball had been bowled by Grew, a slow raising one. Morrison hit into Grew's hands. The Chicagoans played towards the last to kill time and keep the innings from coming to an end before the call of time, but were outplayed, 430 to 324. Score:

MUST ANSWER FOR PITEZEL'S DEATH.

Almost Certain That Holmes Will Be Tried in Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Aug. 2.—It is said to be almost an assured fact that Holmes will be tried here for the murder of Benjamin Pitezel. One of the counsel for the prosecution said to-day: "I think we will have all the evidence necessary to hang the fellow. The circumstantial, if not the positive evidence, we have now in our possession to the gallows. At least we can give is enough, I believe, to send Holmes him life imprisonment."

SEARCHED QUINLAN'S ROOMS.

New Evidence Against Holmes and Quinlan Found by the Police.

Chicago, Aug. 2.—The police this afternoon madean examination of the rooms formerly occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Quinlan. Chief Badenoch refused to tell what evidence was procurred. "You may say ,however," he said, "that we have found some new evidence which is very damaging to both Holmes and Quinlan. It is the most important we have yet found." The chief announced that at the conclusion of to-day's digging, the work of excavating in the cellar of the Holmes' building would be stopped.

Stratford, Aug. 3.—At the Police Court this morning, when the Yemen alleged malpractice case was called, Mr. Palmer, on behalf of the Crown, asked f r an adjournment until Wednesday, Aug. 7, owing to the continued illness of Alice Dunn. She does not believe the Government will win, but no new buildings will be erected this year on account of the doubt.

FRENCH SOLDIERS CUT DOWN.

Desperate Battle on the French Guiana Boundary.

Barbados, W.I., Aug. 2.—Information has been received here of a terrible fight between French soldiers and a band of Mapans on the boundary between Brazil and French Guiana,which took place on the 15th of May last.

It appears that a band of lawless Mapans had attacked the residence of Capt. Trajan, the French agent at Counani, and after tearing the French flag which floated over the agent's residence into shreds they made Capt. Trajan a prisoner and took him to the Mapan settlement.

The occurrence was reported to the French authorities at Cayenne, the capital of French Guiana, and they immediately ordered Capt. Lunier of the French gunboat Bengali to proceed to Mapan to effect the release of Capt. Trajan and to bring the offenders to Cayenne. The French Governor had evidently "reckoned without his host," or had at least grievously underrated the strength of the enemy, for when Capt. Lunier landed with a force of about 20 marines he found the Mapans prepared for hostilities, every house in the settlement being barricaded and garrisoned.

Capt. Lunier made inquiries for Veiga Cabral, Governor of the Mapan territory. They met between the wharf and the Governor's residence, and Capt. Lunier called upon Cabral to surrender, at the same time covering him with his revolver. Cabral sprang upon Capt. Lunier, snatched the revolver from his hand and ordered his men to fire. Capt. Lunier and four of the marines were immediately shot down. Before the reinforcements from the Bengali could come upon the scene of the conflict Cabral and his followers withdrew behind the barricades and opened fire upon the French marines. The latter came on the "quick," and, after firing one volley, charged to the right and to the left with their bayonets.

For fully two hours the natives kept up a regular rattle of musketry, but failed to drive off the attacking party, which comprised 20 infantry and the remainder of the marines.

The French soldiers were engaged in a deadly combat from house to house, till they set fire to the buildings and allowed the flames to complete the work of devastation.

Meanwhile Governor Cabral and the majority of the inhabitants had retired to the woods, but the attacking force was not strong enough to follow them there. It was discovered that a number of the natives had taken refuge in the church, and the French soldiers, after forcing an entrance, drove the Mapans from the building and then put them to death.

Late in the day the Brazilian force was considerably strengthened, and, as they advanced to again attack the Frenchmen, the latter retired and speedily re-embarked on board the Bengali.

The casualties on the Brazilian side were 60 killed, but that does not include those who were slain in the houses or consumed by flames. The wounded number 200.

On the French side there were five killed and 20 wounded. Two of the wounded have since died.

The Governor of Cayenne reported the occurrence to the French Government, at the same time asking for the assistance of 1000 soldiers and an additional gunboat, and a telegram has been received intimating that the assistance asked for has been ordered to proceed to Cayenne to co-operate with the forces from French Guiana in the next expedition against the Mapans.

SCOTCH COLLIERY FLOODED.

Fears Entertained That a Score of Lives Have Been Lost.

London, Aug. 3.—A despatch from Saltcoats, a town on the Bay of Ayr, Scotland, says that the Auchenharvie colliery, near that place, was flooded to-day, and that it is feared that a score of persons have perished. No details are given.

A later dispatch says that the disaster was caused by water breaking out from old disused workings. At the time the dispatch was sent the water was still rising in the mine. About 90 miners were at work when the accident occurred. Most of them escaped, but 14 were known to be still in the mine and it is feared that all have perished.

SHOT FOR STEALING FRUIT.

A Young Lady Kills a Despoiler of Her Garden.

Washington, Aug. 2.—Just about noon to-day a boy ran from the garden surrounding General Flagler's residence here, and as the report of a rifle rang out he fell to the ground. When he was picked up he was dying and in an hour was dead. His murderer was Miss Flagler, the young daughter of the Chief of Ordnance of the United States army. Her excuse was that the boy was one of a crowd who had been robbing fruit from the garden, and that he was in the act of stealing when she shot him. The girl was immediately arrested. The boy's name was Ernest Green, and he was colored. General Flagler is in Toronto, Canada.

At the United States Consulate Mr. Coppinger, the Consul, says he has not heard of the General coming to the city.

THE C. A. A. C. REGATTA.

Opening Day at the Lake Courses at Hamilton.

Hamilton, Aug. 2.—The opening day of the sixteenth annual regatta of the Canadian Association of Amateur Oarsmen brought forth many victories from Toronto scullers, who were very much in evidence in every event on the card. In fact, the first day's sport consisted in little more than a series of contests between representatives of the various rowing clubs of the Queen City, there being other scullers in onyl two events, and these were Hamilton men. With its few representatives the Ambitious City made a poor showing.

The sport given by the Toronto men, however, was good, and was appreciated by the spectators, who were not present in very great numbers. The attendance on Saturday is expected to be large and a good day's sport is promised. About 3 o'clock the Viola of Toronto, containing the officers of the day, left the piers and it was about 4.30 when the first race was called. The course on the bay being choppy, the races were rowed on the lake course, and while the water was not perfectly smooth the course was fairly good. The Viola carried the following officers:

Referee—J. W. Hogg; time-keepers—Messrs. W. R. Davis, George M. Higginbotham, R. B. Haris; judge at finish—William Ince, Jr.; assistant, J. M. Haris; clerks of the course—R. H. Labatt, Miles Hamilton, Don Cameron, S. C. Mewburn; scorers—S. P. Grant and Alex. Boyd.

The first race was the junior singles, in which there were three starters: A. E. Wark, Leanders, Hamilton; E. C. Jury, Torontos, Toronto and L. Marsh, Dons, Toronto. Davis and Hoskins, the book-makers, were on hand, but speculation at no stage was bustling, and little money changed hands.

Marsh closed favorite in the books, selling at 3—4, Jury 3—3 and Wark 15—3. In the pools Jury opened at 5 even against the field, but the post odds was Marsh 5, field 3. Jury got off first, and pulled strong enough to keep the lead for a good portion of the journey, but in the finish was handily overhauled by Marsh, who won with little exertion, three or four lengths ahead. Wark was so far behind that he didn't finish. Time 9.54 4-5.

The second event on the card was the junior fours, which the Argonauts won in a walk, with the Dons second and the Leanders third. The crews were: Argonauts, R. W. Hoskins, bow; N. W. Linton, 2; O. Heron, 3; H. W. A. Dixon, stroke. Dons, D. O. Keefe, bow; T. Friend, 2; J. Delaney, 3; J. Nicholson stroke. Leanders, R. Calvin, bow; T. Myers, 2; A. Scott, 3; S. Aikins, stroke. In the book the Argonauts opened 3—10, Dons 10—2, and Leanders 10—2 and the postbetting was: Argonauts 2—5, Dons 5—2, Leanders 8—2. In the pools the Argonauts sold for 5 and the field 3.

The race was a pretty one throughout, the three crews being pretty well together till the last quarter, when the Argonauts pulled away, crossing the line half a dozen lengths ahead of the Dons. The Leanders quit at about the last quarter. Time 9.23 2-5.

The third event was the junior doubles, in which there were but two crews, both from the Dons. Crew No. 1 was C. Raime, bow; J. Hurley, stroke, and their opponents were T. Friend, bow and James Hedley, stroke. No. 1 crew was quoted 3—10 and No. 2 crew 3—2, but there was very little speculation. No. 1 crew had a slight lead at the last quarter, when the stalwarts pulled away and won by two lengths.

In the intermediate singles O'Connor got away in the lead, was overhauled by Marsh near the mile, but the favorite pulled a strong, rapid stroke at the finish, crossing the line four fet ahead in almost record time. 9.52 2-5.

CHICAGO CRICKET CRAZE.

Canadians Participate in a Heavy Hitting Contest.

Chicago, Aug. 2.—Old-time cricketers and Chicagoans in general were enthusiastic over to-day's game between the Canadian team and all Chicago eleven, declaring that no finer cricket has been seen here for years. Both sides distinguished themselves, the visitors by big hitting and the home team by their excellent fielding. Laing carried off the individual honors of the day by scoring top figures of the series, 91, not out. The Canadians beat their previous total scores, making 241, and when time was called the Chicago players had done remarkably well, 86 for three wickets down, and only one of their heavyweights, Cummings, on the retired list. As this is a two-innings contest, should Chicago score over 241, the game will be declared a draw, unless there is time to-morrow for each team to play another innings, which is not likely. To-day's game was decidedly the best of the series, and the attendance was much larger. Captain Hyman tried half a dozen of his bowlers against the picked team, but only Wadsworth was able to do any effective work. Score:

WIFE SENTENCES HUSBAND.

"Thirty Days in Jail" She Said When the Judge Turned the Case Over to Her

Richmond, Va., Aug. 2.—The novelty of a wife being called to pronounce sentence upon her husband added zest to the proceedings in the Police Court to-day. John Traxler had time and time again been fined for drunkenness, and his wife invariably paid the fines. To-day he was again up on the customary charge, with the added offence of wife-beating.

Justice Crutchfield, whose unique methods of dispensing justice are well known, turned an unwilling ear to the chronic culprit and called upon the wife to decide the penalty. Mrs. Trexler calmly scanned her derelict husband, and sternly said:

"Thirty days in jail."

Trexler pathetically pleaded for forgiveness, alleging a penitent spirit and a yearning to reform, but the oft-abused and now triumphant wief was inexorable, and the Court ordered that the sentence should take effect at once.

Held Up a Stage for $10.

Merced, Cal., Aug. 2.—The Coultesville stage was held up and robbed 12 miles northeast of that city yesterday afternoon. There was only one passenger, who gave up what he had—a $10 piece. Several packages of coin were taken, but the amount is not known.

MOST INVALUABLE.

The New Specific Remedy is Being Extensively Used at Ottawa.

Ottawa, July 29.—The marvellous recovery of Mr. G. H. Kent, of this city, from Bright's disease by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills is still fresh in the memories of Ottawa people, and the remedy is being freely recommended both by druggists and private citizens. The similar wonderful cures of Dr. A. G. McCormick, of Richmond, Quebec, and Mr. Arthur Coley, of Somerset, Manitoba, to say nothing of many others, are generally quoted in favour of the assertion that no remedy of modern times has gone so successfully through a severe trial, and been so efficacious in all cases of kidney trouble. It is also proving itself invaluable in the milder forms of sickness which appear during the summer.

Deadly Cancer Cured By B. B. B.

HERE IS THE PROOF.

Messrs. T. Milburn & Co:

SIRS,—About four years ago I was taken sick with stomach trouble. I consulted several leading local physicians, all of whom pronounced my disease incurable cancer of the stomach, and told me I had not long to live. Two physicians attending me gave me up to die. Through reading your advertisement, and by advice of friends, I tried your Burdock Blood Bitters and I am happy to say that after using one bottle I was able to leave my bed which I had been confined to for a long time. I am thankful now to state that B.B.B. cured my disease which baffled the doctors, and I am firmly convinced saved my life. Gratefully yours,

"SUN" LIFE

Assurance Co'y of Canada.

Explanation of the Company's System of Profit Distribution.

The method of profit distribution of most companies is to give a bonus or profit on the sum assured, irrespective of the premiums paid. The Sun Life of Canada allots its profits to policies in proportion to the premiums paid, which is considered to be the more equitable system. This accounts for the variations in the percentages of the accompanying results. The lower rates given below are, in most cases, on young lives. The examples are taken from the Company's claim register as at the end of 1894, for the first 5 years.

BIG PROFITS —ON— Small Investments

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful Speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our Systematic Plan of Speculation

originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well-known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plain are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

WRITE FOR CONVINCING PROOF, also our Manual on successful speculation and our Daily Market Report, full of money-making pointers. ALL FREE. Our Manual explains margin trading fully. Highest references in regard to our standing and success.

SAW HIM BURN A BODY

Strong Evidence Against Holmes in Chicago.

THE QUINLANS MAKE CONFESSION

Pitezel Knew Too Much and Was Put Out of Harm's Way The Quinlans Accuse Holmes of Five Murders—Hatch, the Convict Regarded as a Fakir.

Chicago, Aug. 3.—A morning paper gives the following particulars of the confession made by the Quinlans yesterday to Chief Badenoch, which was taken down by a sten grapher. They related that, in their opinion, Miss Cigrand, Miss Julia Connor and her daughter Pearl, and Minnie and Nannie Williams, are all dead, and that Holmes murdered them.

Pitezel, they say, quarrelled frequently with Holmes, because the latter would not act squarely with him in the dealings, and they believed that Holmes killed Pitezel so as to prevent him from telling of his crimes, which, they believe, Pitezel was aware of to some extent. As to whether Pitezel participated in any of the murders they do not know.

They believe that Holmes, after killing Pitezel felt it necessary to dispose of the dead man's children, and that Alice, Nellie, and Howard Pitezel were killed by Holmes. As to Miss Van Tassel, they know nothing, and never saw her.

Miss Cigrand, Mrs. Connor, Pearl Connor, and Minnie and Nannie Williams, they thought, came to their death in the Holmes building. Mrs. Quinlan related that one day when her husband was away she saw Holmes poking into the stove in his office, which was red hot, something that looked like the portion of a human body, and that a horrible odor came from the room.

Quinlan said that after Holmes had gone away, he found a bottle of chloroform in the steel vault. They both said that they saw the Williams girls about July 5, 1893, for the last time, and that they must have been put out of the way at that time.

Memphis, Tenn., Aug. 3.—Hatch, alias Allan, the convict doing time in the Arkansas Penitentiary, who has been alluded to as one of the right-hand confederates of Holmes, is undoubtedly a huge fake, so far as any connection he may have had with Holmes and his crimes is concerned.

The police of Memphis will probably be able to show that at the time this man claims toh ave been operating with Holmes in Texas, he was doing a term in the penitentiary of Tennessee.

He is not the kind of a man Holmes would select for his confederate, and his travels have not carried him outside of Tennessee and Arkansas.

TORONTO'S CLAIM ON HOLMES

Detective Geyer of Opinion He Could Be Hanged Here

Philadelphia, Aug. 4.—Detective Geyer returned to Philadelphia tonight from Chicago, but has very little to say about new developments in the Holmes case. "I have been able to discover nothing definite since I left Toronto," he said. "Howard Pitezel was lost sight of in Indianapolis and all the clues have not been run out there yet. I am confident there is othing to be found in Detroit, but have still the belief that the body of Howard Pitezel can be found." He said the case against Holmes in Toronto was a very strong one, and he believed Holmes could be hanged there.

The Wheelwomen of Paris.

A Paris correspondent writes: People are surprised at the mania that has sprung up in Paris for bicycle riding. Ladies who have shot past the meridian of life have poured out into the streets of late in great numbers. Of course they are very careful not to look too male in their attire, or to attract attention; they never do such a thing now—they may have done it. The Bois is all alive with aunts and elderly sisters of an evening. They get a good color without going to the expense of a cosmetic, but are objects, not unfrequently, of a considerable amount of chaff, mostly of the form of flatteringly loud allusions to the symmetry of their bicycling legs. Zola is among the latest patrons of the wheels, and intends to get up a literary association of bicyclers. M. Rochefort and M. Jules Claretie are devotees of bicycle riding.

DRESSING FOR THE OCCASION.

To wear when papa is down.

When the young man you are engaged to comes to stay over Sunday.

When that very impressionable young college student who is dead in love with you is around.

When you wish to make all the other girls mad, and, incidentally, all the men quite the reverse.

Don'ts for Girls.

Don't wear a soft white lacey or much-be-ruffled waist when you ride your wheel. The bicycle costume calls for severity of outline.

Don't wear russet shoes with a silk frock and a chiffon hat.

Don't wear these widely flaring neckties if you are inclined to be short and stout.

Don't wear artificial violets if you want to be up to date.

Don't wear a fur boa with a tarleton dress—it is so unfit that it is almost uncanny.

Don't wear all your diamonds—if you happen to have a lot—when you go to see your poor friends.

Don't flirt with every man you know, believing that you are making yourself popular. You are only making yourself common.

Don't invite yourself to visit friends either in city or country. Wait until you are asked. They probably know whom they want, and there is the chance that they may be tired as well as you.

Don't be a bigger idiot than you can help, no matter what the circumstances are. Because it rains and you shelter in a stable is no reason why you should go to playing horse.

Neither calomel nor any other injurious drug is contained in Ayer's Pills. They are composed of the active principles of the best vegetable cathartics, and their use is always attended with marked benefit. For a sluggish liver or for constipation, nothing surpasses Ayer's Pills.

Furniture.

Some pictures, reprints of first class pictures by good artists, neatly framed at prices below usual cost framing only. Trade of the Week.

New York, Aug. 2.—Bradstreet's says: General trade throughout the Province of Ontario remains seasonably quiet, with the volume for July less than that for June. There is no improvement in business circles at Montreal, although the outlook is encouraging, and hope is now entertained there that La Banque du Peuple will be enabled to resume business. Halifax advices are that the hay crop in Nova Scotia will be an average one, the fruit harvest abundant, and the outturn of grain favorable. The hay crop in New Brunswick will be light, and on Prince Edward Island harvests will be fair, though the weather is very dry.

There are 24 failures reported from Canada this week, against 25 last week, 31 in the week a year ago and 43 in the week two years ago. July bank clearings at Montreal, Toronto, Halifax and Hamilton aggregate $87,453,000, an increase of about 12 per cent over a year ago, but an increase of only 3 1-2 per cent. as compared with July, 1893, and a falling off of nearly 4 per cent. as compared with July, 1892.

NOT HIGH PRICED BUT FAIR PRICED

We're at the end of the first half of our year's business. Its been good, we know it. Buyers know it. The good feeling that comes from a successful trade is the best incentive to a merchant to do better by his customers.

That's the way we feel about it. Our goods are never high priced. Always Fair priced. Frequently low priced. We couldn't live and succeed if all our prices were low. Our prices are always what others call low, but a real low cut down price with us means selling without a profit—except the profit we have in clearing our shelves. There is a little profit in this sort yet for us in keeping our Summer Sale going for a little time. In a few weeks New Fall goods will be pouring in. We must have room. PLOTTING TO CARRY OUT THIS IDEA

Fitting Out a Filibustering Expedition in San Francisco - One Morrow the Nominal Leader and Queen Lil the Nominal Beneficiary of the Campaign.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 5.—The Chronicle, which has discovered numerous plots during the past few months for overthrowing the present Hawaiian Government and restoring ex-Queen Lilliuokalani to the throne, unfolds a new one to the public. According to The Chronicle, W. P. Morrow of this city has been engaged in enlisting from 200 to 400 men to go to the islands on a sailing vessel from this port within 10 days or two weeks, capture the five steamers that ply between the islands and then approach Honolulu and take possession of the revenue offices and the bank of Bishop & Co., thus securing from $300,000 to $500,000. The proposition in regard to the Queen is to place her on the throne as a mere figurehead, the head of the revolutionary party to be in control of affairs.

Although the ostensible leader is W. P. Morrow, a young man, the real head is evidently one of the exiled Hawaiians now in San Francisco. Morrow admits that he is backed by Volney Ashford, the Canadian favorite of ex-Queen Lil, who so long administered the military affairs of the Hawaiian Kingdom. Ashford comes from Port Hope, Ont., and fought under Mosby in the American war. He has a continual hankering for gunpowder. The plans, which the police forced Morrow to disclose, point to an intimate knowledge of the situation in Hawaii, and the most feasible means of overturning the Dole Government.

Morrow's scheme was discovered through an advertisement which he inserted in The Examiner, calling for men to join an expedition in the interest of many thousand persons with fewer than 5000 to oppose them.

Applicants were told they would get $25 each a month, but were warned they must find their own rifles and ammunition. Morrow, who had eked out a precarious living by typewriting, has had many callers during the past few days, for any filibustering expedition appeals to the large floating element of adventurers in the city.

The members of the Dole Government own much property in the islands, and the proposition was that if the expedition should prove successful the captured property should be distributed among the filibusterers. Dole and his supporters should be sent off the islands without a cent, as Ashford and his companions were.

In the interview Morrow said: "In the militia we can command the services of 50 men. The plan is to capture the fine steamers that ply between the islands and then approach Honolulu and capture the revenue offices and the bank of Bishop & Co.

"There is from $300,000 to $500,000 in the revenue boxes and bank. We will place the Queen on the throne as a mere figurehead, the head of the revolutionary party to be in control of affairs."

Morrow then said that the islands had been watched by the Dole party so closely that the Royalists had been unable to get even newspapers out of the country for some time. He also said that the United States Government had issued orders to the captain of the gunboat Bennington, that, in case of a revolution, he was to interfere only to protect the property and lives of citizens.

Morrow said that Rudolph Spreckels had placed 100 stand of arms on Maui for the use of the revolutionists, and professed to know that the Spreckels family would help overthrow the Provisional Government.

FARCE SHOULD END.

Premier Greenway's Organ on the School Question.

THEY ARE OBSEQUIOUS LACKEYS

The Polite and Respectful Manner in Which He Refers to the Members of the Dominion Government.

Winnipeg, Aug. 6.—The Liberal Tribune, recognised as Premier Greenway's mouthpiece, has a leader on the Dominion Government's rejoinder in the school difficulty, headed: "The Latest Act in the Farce." Among other things, it says: "As the attitude of the Manitoba Government toward the Remedial Order, as well as its suggestion regarding an investigation, have been entirely ignored by the Dominion Government, its latest communication would seem to savor somewhat of insolence. The Dominion Government should be informed in the most unmistakeable language that the Province of Manitoba declines to be an actor in the farce which the Ottawa combination is now putting on the boards. The Province of Manitoba has nothing whatever to do with the execution of the judgment of the Imperial Privy Council. That judgment was simply a declaration that certain privileges enjoyed by the Roman Catholic minority having been affected by the legislation of Manitoba in 1890, that minority have a right of appeal to the Dominion Government and Parliament. The obligation to ascertain whether facts and circumstances justified the Manitoba Legislature in withdrawing the privileges manifestly lay upon the Dominion Government. They made no effort to obtain the necessary information; they made no inquiry into the facts or circumstances. They simply acted like a pack of reasonless and obsequious lackeys on an expression in the judgment of the Privy Council, without, in the first place, asking whether the Privy Council was not exceeding its functions and infringing on theirs by using such an expression. Neither have they made the slightest attempt to demonstrate, by argument or by a citation of facts, that the action of Manitoba was on the merits unsound or unjust, politically, economically or morally. They have simply abdicated all their rights and obligations to make independent investigation and to exercise independent judgment on the merits, and have made a peremptory demand on this province to rescind legislation which has been declared by the highest authority to be entirely constitutional and within its right to enact.

"The feeling of the people here is that the whole farce should now cease. The buncombe rejoinders and communications really call for no reply. Manitoba is now where it intends to remain. Roman Catholics and every other section of the community can depend on absolutely fair and even generous treatment from the majority. But this province is not called upon to enter into any stipulation to extend to any sect special concessions, when demanded as a right, however disposed it might be to voluntarily do anything in the way of concession, consistent with the absolute integrity of the single school system. Sir Mackenzie Bowell and his colleagues must know that no Government in Manitoba which would recede from the position which the province now occupies on this question could live one week after it should meet the Legislature.

"Let Sir Mackenzie and Sir Hibbert carry out their foolish and reckless program. Let them introduce remedial legislation in the Canadian Parliament and let us see what the result will be. The Province of Manitoba can gain neither in dignity nor in any other way by joining in the absurd game of burlesque 'diplomacy' with which the Ottawa 'statesmen' now seek to cover up the incompetency and dishonesty which culminated in the Remedial Order. As a preliminary to any further correspondence on the subject, the Government here should make the unconditional withdrawal of the Remedial Order a sine qua non."

Premier Bowell in Vancouver

Vancouver, B.C., Aug. 6.—Sir Mackenzie Bowell, Premier, and Hon. T. M. Daly, Minister of the Interior, have arrived here from Regina, where they attended the opening of the Northwest Exposition. While here an important conference will be held regarding the Manitoba question.

BLOODY CLOTHES IN HOLMES' CASTLE.

Quinlan Must Explain How They Came to Be There.

Chicago, Aug. 5.—On Saturday a careful search was made through the rooms at the Holmes' Castle, formerly owned by Mrs. Julia Conner, and a pair of blood-stained overalls and a blood-stained undershirt were found. Both articles were picked up in the room occupied by Mrs. Julia Conner, when she lived at "The Castle." The room in which the clothes were found is one of the darkest of the many in the house of mystery. It is located next to the bath-room, in which is the trap that leads to the secret stairs to the basement and adjoins the dummy elevator leading from the top of the house to the basement. Several pieces of garment were cut out and submitted to a chemist for analysis. Yesterday Detective Norton received a message from the chemist, saying "Look up the clothes that were shown to me yesterday."

ONE NEW SENATOR.

A New Brunswick M.P. Called to the Senate.

THE C.P.R. GETS A NEW SUBSIDY

Josiah Wood, M.P. for Westmoreland, N.B., a Senator—Rearrangement of the Canadian Pacific Subsidy Which Will Be Voted on Next Session.

Ottawa, Aug. 6.—Josiah Wood, M.P., has been called to the Senate, vice Kennedy Burns, deceased. The vacancy in the Commons will be filled without delay, the writs for Westmoreland being issued to-day. The election takes place Saturday, Aug. 24.

The new Senator was born in Sackville, N.B., on April 18, 1843, and was educated at Mount Allison Wesleyan College, Sackville, where he graduated in 1868. On Jan. 14, 1874, he married Laura S., daughter of Thompson Trueman of Sackville. He was called to the bar of New Brunswick in 1866, but after practising a short time relinquished the profession to engage in mercantile pursuits. He is now a shipowner and largely interested in farming and stock-raising.

At the general election of 1878, Mr. Wood contested Westmoreland for the Legislative Assembly of New Brunswick, but was unsuccessful. He was first elected as member for Westmoreland at the general election of 1882, and was re-elected in 1887 and 1891. He is a staunch Conservative.

In view of the increased facilities and the extension of the service the mail subsidy to the C.P.R. has been re-arranged so as to give the company about $100,000 additional subvention. Parliament will be asked to vote the money next session.

The Minister of Marine has refused to allow the Allan Steamship Company to reduce the space for cattle 'tween decks on the new steamer Scotsman to two feet six inches.

Last week Sheriff Groulx and his assistant of Ottawa County, went back to Low Township with 15 warrants for patries who have refused to pay their taxes. On his arrival he was surrounded by some 20 of the farmers, who managed to obtain possession of all the warrants, while he was engaged crowding them back, and he was left helpless. He has returned to Hull, and will ask the Provincial Procurear for sufficient force to aid him in making the seizures.

SHOOTING AT BRANTFORD.

Mrs. Watt Lays Out a Coachman She Found at Her Window

Brantford, Aug. 6.—Fred Shackle, a coachman in the employment of Messrs. Hunt & Colter, was shot by Mrs. Watt, matron of the Widows' Home, between 1 and 2 o'clock on Sunday morning. The matron heard some one at her bedroom window, and going there found a man on his hands and knees on the window sill. She ordered him to go away, but he refused.

She thereupon secured a revolver and fired. The bullet entered Shackle's forearm just below the elbow, and seriously shattered the bone. Shackle went away, and returned later with his wife and a man.

His wife demanded to know why Mrs. Watt had shot her husband. After some further talk Mrs. Watt again fired upon Shackle. The police apprehended Mrs. Watt and Mr. Shackle, and took them both to the lock-up. Shackle was subsequently taken to the hospital, where his wound is being treated. The case will come before the Police Magistrate Thursday.

FELL THROUGH THE HATCH.

A Port Lambton Man Meets With a Serious Accident on a Detroit Propeller Windsor, Aug. 6.—Alexander Ross, aged 25, of Port Lambton, Ont., watchman on the propeller Maritana, fell into an open hatch and struck on his head, rendering him unconscious. The injured man was taken to the Marine Hospital, where it was found that he was suffering from concussion of the brain and a fracture at the base of the skull. It is not thought that he can survive.

Thrown From a Horse. His Neck Broken.

Kingston, Aug. 6.—Thomas Balls, aged 15, was out riding near Sydenham yesterday, when the animal threw him, breaking his neck. He was picked up dead.

Sixteen Killed in a Boiler Explosion.

Rio Janeiro, Aug. 5.—The boiler of the old cruiser Trajano exploded yesterday. Sixteen men were killed or wounded in the explosion.

Cincinnati Wharf and Steamers Burned

Cincinnati, Aug. 5.—The Big Sandy wharf boat caught fire this afternoon and was totally destroyed. Loss $100,000. The steamers Big Sandy and Carollton were burned to the water's edge. The Bedford was slightly damaged. The total loss will probably reach $15,000.

Summer Comes

With the flowers and sunshine. Birds pour out their melody and the chirp of the grasshopper will soon tempt the fisherman to stretch forth his hands and grasp the shadow of his flight. The playful mosquito will do her nicest to soothe weary pleasure seekers into the realms of slumber, and the stinging, aching corns will remove every semblance or comfort, make sad the songs of the birds, and evoke cloudiness in the soul, that even the brightest sunshine cannot dispel. Corns are thorns in the flesh, but Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor removes them in twenty-four hours.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 6, 1895.

WHAT THE MONTREAL HERALD THINKS OF IT.

The Mail and Empire objects to the assertion made in connection with that ridiculous scheme the Trent Valley Canal, that there will be no traffic to speak of after the cut is made, and that the expenditure is simply a "huge bribe to a locality, and a fund through which some percentage may be squeezed for election purposes." In view of the past history of this canal, the Montreal Herald says that the remark is more than justified. But, in support of its contention, the Mail adds that "the Conservative Government placed on the statute book a law prohibiting election subscriptions by contractors under heavy penalties." Perhaps the less said about this the better. The amendments to the Criminal Code contained such a clause, but how it was regarded in the Select committee and how it was treated during the expiring moments of the session is well enough known. The Conservatives cannot take much credit for this legislation. It will not prevent the bleeding of contractors, for it is not in practical existence.

ONE man in his time plays many parts, Most Worshipful Grand Master Wallace talking for office in the Orange Order at Halifax, and Controller of Customs Wallace keeping silence at Ottawa for his salary, is an instance in point.

THE Hamilton Spectator on behalf of Mr. Holmes, late of Chicago, and now of Philadelphia, enters a plea for consideration on the ground that Napoleon once slaughtered 3,800 Turks at Jaffa. The analogy is not apparent, but that does not affect the force of the Spectator's arguments, as we are accustomed to hear arguments from the Spectator.

IT is said Sir Mackenzie Bowell will contest the city of Kingston for the Commons in the next Dominion contest. The EXAMINER glories in the old gentleman's pluck, but it imagines that when the ballots have been counted he will have reason to regret that he rashly left the safety and seclusion which the Senate grants.

WHEN the Hon. John Costigan came voluntarily before the public accounts committee to exonerate himself from charges of wrong doing in connection with the Tabique Valley Railway, he made a sorry exhibition of himself without knowing that he was doing so. His colleagues in the government are now accused of suppressing Mr. Costigan's defence. Evidently they think it is more damaging than the worst of the current rumors are, and so it is.

MR. CECIL RHODES, of the Cape, is a man of magnificent aspirations and schemes. He now wants England to clear the Soudan of the Mahdists so that an overland telegraph can be built from Cape Town to Alexandria. England has had a painful experience in the attempt to "clear the Soudan." She probably does not care to repeat it. Mr. Rhodes should raise a force in the Cape Colonies and do it himself.

A CERTAIN type of medical men and medical journals are never weary of raising alarms. One week it is the basins in barber's shops which may be sources of infection; next wandering cats are tabooed as germ-bearers. Dirty bank-notes and unwashed coin, it is hinted may carry about microbes enough to generate half a dozen epidemics. Mice and rats even, the timid householder is solemnly warned, are not guiltless of disseminating zymotic diseases. The oyster panic seems to have died a natural death. Now it is the turn of wood pavements as the source of diphtheria and a host of other maladies, including ophthalmia.

A "bloomer" ball has been given in Chicago and another is on the tapis in San Francisco. The latter proposal is being vigorously opposed by the clergy of the city, one of whom has said:

"It is my humble opinion that no woman will go to that bloomer ball that is virtuous and prudent and possessed of taste, but let nobody quote me as saying that all who go to that ball are not virtuous women. I have not said that, but that they will not be three of those things. I say that in my opinion, as being a just prophecy, I believe that every respectable woman will frown upon any such entertainment. The danger of the bloomer craze lies in the fact that if the public allow a little latitude in dress there are those in every community who are disposed to make it disgraceful."

FIFTEEN years ago, in 1880, Chicago and St. Louis were neck and neck in the race for supremacy as regards population. The former had then a population of 500,000 souls. Ten years later, in 1890, Chicago had over 1,000,000, and was looming up as a rival to New York, which city claimed 1,800,000. The World's Fair went to Chicago, and the impetus it gave that city aroused the attention of New Yorkers to the fact that they had a dangerous rival in the west for the advantages which accompany the title of Queen City of America. The eastern metropolis tried to carry through the Greater New York scheme, involving the annexation of all the adjacent municipalities, but this was balked by the jealousy of Brooklyn politicians, and now Chicago comes boldly to the front with the claim, backed by facts and figures, that the census of 1900 will show her ahead of New York. The Times-Herald of Chicago, makes this assertion soberly, and supports it by letters from statisticians and public men all over the country. The progress of Chicago since the late Mrs. O'Leary's cow kicked over that lamp, has certainly never before been equaled in history.

THE Mail and Empire says that the stories "of red parlour subscriptions by persons who receive public favours in return, are fictions, for which Sir Richard Cartwright's inventive genius is responsible, and adds that "Sir John Thompson, than whom a purer man never lived in Canada, branded them as false." We do not believe that Sir John Thompson did anything of the sort. If he did, his testimony is of no value, for the "red parlor" election fund was established before he entered Dominion public life. Sir Richard Cartwright never invented any "red parlor" story, nor did anyone else. The story is a perfectly true one, the fact being that just before the first general election, after his protective tariff went into operation, Sir John Macdonald summoned a number of Ontario manufacturers to meet him in his usual Toronto headquarters—the red parlour of the Queen's hotel. Sir John reminded these men that his policy had been the means of putting a large amount of money in their pockets, and constrained them into granting large contributions to an election fund by representing to them that the protective system was in danger. The plan was perfectly successful, and it was repeated at two subsequent general elections. Now that the device has lost its virtue as a means of raising money, it suits the Mail and Empire to deny the whole affair. But there are in this province too many disappointed contributors to the red parlour fund to allow the denial to have any weight. By the way, it would be quite proper to have the red parlour operations investigated by parliament.

THE CHINESE MASSACRES.

Eight Women, One Man and One Child Were Killed.

London, Aug. 5.—The Globe publishes a despatch from Hong Kong, saying that the massacre at Whasang, near Kucheng, commenced early on Thursday. The mob set fire to three houses of the missionaries and killed eight women, one child, and the husband of one of the women. Several Christians were wounded, two of them probably fatally. The bodies of those who were killed are expected to arrive at Foo-Cheo to-morrow. Chinese troops have been despatched to the scene.

The British and American Consuls will interview the Viceroy of the province in regard to the outrage. All the foreigners who were killed were British; the Americans all escaped. The members of the attacking party belonged to a Chinese sect.

Heavy Rains Raise Japan's Crops.

Yokohama, Aug. 5.—Continuous heavy rains throughout Japan have ruined the crops. It is feared that the failure of the rice harvest will cause a famine.

THE TIDE TURNS.

Great Improvement in the Health of a Well-known Peterborough Lady.

Peterborough, Aug. 5.—General satisfaction is expressed here at the greatly improved condition of health of Mrs. K. Stephens, the well known music teacher of this town. Her friends have been much exercised over her condition for a long time and a number of remedies have been tried during the ten years that she has been a martyr to a complication of complaints, which recently became very severe. She suffered frightfully with pains in the back, nervous prostration and swelling of the limbs. She has been taking the new remedy for kidney troubles, Dodd's Kidney Pills, and has already experienced the most beneficial results.

MANITOBA'S ACTION INEXPLICABLE.

Hon. J. A. Ouimet Outlines to Discuss It—Nomination for St. Ann's—Gauthier As an Artist

Montreal, Que., Aug. 5.—Some 75 representative gentlemen of St. Ann's Division met at the St. Lawrence Hall to-day to tender the Liberal-Conservative nomination to Mr. C. A. McDonnell.

Mr. McDonnell accepted the nomination in a brief speech, stating that he came out as an independent Conservative, and did not intend to be responsible for past Ministerial mistakes.

Hon. J. A. Ouimet, Minister of Public Works, arrived in the city this morning to act as pallbearer at the funeral of the late Mrs. Hurteau, and was seen concerning the attitude of the Manitoba Government with regard to the school question, as expressed by the leading article in The Winnipeg Tribune (printed in another column).

"I scarcely know what to say," said the Minister of Public Works. "It is a situation so unexpected that one is scarcely prepared on the spur of the moment to express a lengthy opinion, but I may say that the action of the Manitoba Government organ is totally unexpected and quite inexplicable. No one could foresee that the action of the Government would be received in Winnipeg in such a manner." Hon. Mr. Ouimet returned to Ottawa this evening.

It is understood that the Canadian Pacific Railway has a couple of surveying parties at work just now in sections of the Crow's Nest Pass, British Columbia, but it cannot be learned if it is the intention of the company to begin operations on this line in the near future.

Axrie Gauthier, the murderer, is considerable of an artist, and his drawings on paper have attracted the attention of the jail authorities. It seems that the refusal of the Roman Catholic church authorities to allow the assassin's victim, Celina Costigny, to be buried in consecrated ground has given him a good deal of mental worry, and Gauthier's latest drawing represents a long-robed priest holding a crucifix above a fallen woman, and pronouncing the malediction upon her head. The accused appears to be quite resigned to take what comes, and yesterday expressed a wish to see a clergyman.

William Larocque, who is an old penitentiary bird, has again been arrested, charged with forging the name of a cattle dealer to a $500 cheque. He however, tried to pass it off on a man who turned out to be a constable in civilian's clothes, and hence his arrest.

Two hundred years ago to-morrow mass was said for the first time in the Mother House of the Ladies of the Congregation of Montreal, and consequently an anniversary fete will be observed.

HAMILTON POLICE BLAMED.

For Not Acting Promptly and Arresting John C. Emory.

Buffalo, Aug. 5.—The local police authorities are much exercised over the carelessness or incapacity of the authorities in Hamilton, Ont. John C. Emory, whose right name is Emory Strong, is wanted here for the abduction of O. O. Cottle, an aged lawyer, who, it is claimed swindled Emory in collusion with Emory's brother, Carlton Strong, a local architect, and others of over $17,000. To force Cottle to disgorge, Emory and an accomplice, named McDonald, alias Allen, enticed Cottle to a vacant house in the western section of the city, tied him up in the cellar, and forced him to write to his family to pay a large sum of money. Before this was obtained Cottle, at the end of two days, secured his freedom, and Emory and Allen who had been conducting negotiations with Cottle's family from Fort Erie, decamped.

Police in all the Canadian towns were instructed to keep a look-out for the pair, but nothing came of it. A few days ago, Allen, or McDonald, came to this city and renewed his attempt to secure money from Cottle. He was arrested at the hotel and at once sent a message to Emory at Hamilton. Police Superintendent Bull learned of this.

He sent telegrams to the Hamilton police, giving a complete description of Emory, and also telling them to trace the address to which Allen sent a telegram, and to arrest the man who received it.

The Hamilton police were unable to do even this, so Emory, who had doubtless learned through the press dispatches of his partner's arrest in Buffalo made good his escape. There is no doubt he is in Canada now.

MOST INVALUABLE.

The New Specific Remedy is Being Extensively Used at Ottawa.

Ottawa, July 29.—The marvellous recovery of Mr. G. H. Kent, of this city, from Bright's disease by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills is still fresh in the memories of Ottawa people, and the remedy is being freely recommended both by druggists and private citizens. The similar wonderful cures of Dr. A. G. McCormick, of Richmond, Quebec, and Mr. Arthur Coley, of Somerset, Manitoba, to say nothing of many others, are generally quoted in favour of the assertion that no remedy of modern times has gone so successfully through a severe trial, and been so efficacious in all cases of kidney trouble. It is also proving itself invaluable in the milder forms of sickness which appear during the summer.

Minard's Liniment cures Dandruff.

TO BLOW UP ROOSEVELT.

An Infernal Machine Discovered in Transit Through the Mail.

New York, Aug. 5.—Police Commissioner Roosevelt was probably saved from a sudden and untimely death through the discovery this morning by Miss Daisy James, a clerk in the General Postoffice, of a box adressed to "Theodore Roosevelt, Central Police Office, New York," and supposed to contain a small dynamite bomb.

The package contained a wooden jewelry box, with a sliding lid, and contained a sealed cartridge and fuse. The fuse was covered with gun powder, and on it was placed a block, on which three matches were placed, a short distance apart. Beneath the matches a piece of coarse sand paper was fixed so that as the lid was opened the matches would pass over and be ignited by the sand-paper, and thus set fire to the fuse connecting with the cartridge and explode it.

Miss James opened the box to discover its contents, and as she did so one of the matches was immediately ignited and flared up. She promptly extinguished the flame. Superintendent Campbell said he thought the box had been probably mailed in Brooklyn or Jersey City.

At 5 o'clock the supposed bomb was taken apart. It was found to contain sawdust.

"Mamma, was that a sugar-plum you just gave me?" asked little Mable. "No, dear, it was one of Dr. Ayer's Pills." "Please may I have another?" "Not now dear; one of those nice pills is all you need at present, because every dose is effective."

A Marvellous Result.

Mr. A. R. took out ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy No. 6332 in Canada Life Co. for Five Thousand Dollars in the year 1868. He was then 25 years of age.

The Premium paid was $181 a year for 10 years.....$1,810.

Notice the Result.

The total profits added to the Policy to end of 1894 and for which he holds a certificate amounts to the enormous sum of.....$3,281

The holder therefore has been credited not only with every cent paid for premiums, but also Fourteen Hundred and Seventy One Dollars in addition, besides receiving a fully paid up policy for the original Five Thousand Dollars, which still participates in profits.

Now This is What we Want to Know!

This is a Peterborough Policy! Is there any citizen of Peterborough with an ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy either in Canadian, British or American Co, which shows anything like as large profits as this one?

If there is, we should esteem it a great favour if we are allowed to see it, as we have been looking for such a one for years and so far have not been able to find it.

The Case Dismissed on Payment of Costs.

The case against Mr. Martin Connors for not having sufficient stabling accommodation in connection with his hotel, was dismissed this morning on payment of costs amounting to $4.80. The case has been enlarged a great many times, and was dismissed this morning, as the bylaw regulating the matter of stabling was so altered at last night's meeting of the council, as to bring the Hub stables within the requirements. By the change the stables do not have to be in "immediate connection" with a hotel, but "within reasonable distance."

Happily Incorrect.

The rumour which gained currency in town yesterday to the effect that Mr. J. J. Crowe, License Inspector for East Peterborough, had been seriously injured on Saturday would have been suddenly squelched had the citizens had the opportunity of seeing him enjoy himself at Stony Lake, sailing about the lakes apparently as happy as if he was on a deer hunt. Mr. Crowe's name got somewhat mixed up with that of the License Inspector for East Northumberland, who is said to have fallen from his buggy on Saturday evening, near Hastings, and received such injuries as caused his death a few hours after the accident occurred.

The address which follows, was happily, replied to by Mr. Matthews, on behalf of himself and bride, and the pleasant relationship that has always existed between the firm and the employees was even more firmly cemented by kind and generous hospitality:

Mr. George Matthews, Esq.:

UNSANITARY QUARTERS.

The Police Court Needs Attending to Immediately.

Magistrate Dumble has repeatedly drawn the attention of the Town Council to the fact that the apartment used for a Police Court is in a most unsanitary condition, consequent upon the easy access gained to it by the foul aroma from the cells and fire department stables.

He has pointed out that the insertion of a door at the foot of the staircase would obviate the difficulty, and the matter has been referred to the Property Committee with power to act, but no action has been taken.

This morning the stench was something unbearable, and the Magistrate came to the decision that the only way to bring the matter to a focus was to solicit the interference of the Provincial Medical Health Officer. The matter will probably cost the town a snug sum before it is settled, whereas if the door asked for had been supplied the cost would not have amounted to more than a few dollars.

A Little Excitement.

On Monday evening about 8.30, a farmer from Monaghan drove his team up to the watering trough in front of English's canoe works to allow them to have a drink. While doing so the neck yoke caught on top of the hydrant, and had it not been for the assistance of several who were standing on the bridge a general smashup would have occurred. As it was only a little excitement was created and a neck yoke broken.

Honesty is the Best Policy.

Little Lena Mowry, daughter of Mr. John Mowry, Lake street, picked up a lady's gold watch on George street at noon to-day, just in front of Mr. J. D. Tully's drug store, and meeting Mr. J. H. Roper, asked him what he should do with it. Mr. Roper brought the little girl into the EXAMINER office as the best medium for advertising of which he knew, and she explained how she had found the watch. The honesty and frankness of the little girl in the matter is most commendable, as most children of even more mature years would have pocketed the find without more ado.

'Twas a Radical Departure.

But the enormous success attending it justified its trial. Only the few in this country could place wine on their tables. It was a luxury. It was very costly. It was beyond the reach of the poor man. The Bordeaux Claret Co. has placed a good, wholesome, healthful wine, which aids in the assimilation and digestion of food, upon the tables of the whole people. $3 and $4 per dozen quarts, this is a bagatelle. Yet the wine is good. It has its age. It has its body. It is as good as that which other dealers ask $8 a dozen. The best judges have approved. And the orders cannot be filled quick enough which are received from all parts of the country. Address—Bordeaux Claret Co., 30 Hospital street, Montreal.

It was decided to offer the make of the first half of July first and Mr. Madden opened the bidding by offering 7⅞ cents for selections. Mr. Jones raised 7 9-16c and named North Smith. The salesman asked to have more time to consider the offer. Cedardale, Stony Lake and Fraserville accepted. Lakefield refused, as did Central Smith, Peterborough, Bobcaygeon, Lakeview, Manchester, Blackstock, Perrytown, Cherry Grove and Hope.

Mr. Jones then offered 7⅞c for further selections and named Central Smith, North Smith and Lakefield, which all refused.

Mr. Madden bid 7⅞c for further selections and called Keene, Warminster, Shearer, Warsaw, Missing Link, Melrose Abbey, Peterborough, Otonabee Union, Maple Leaf, Myrtle and Ormonde. All refused.

It was then proposed to put up the whole month's make for sale.

Mr. Madden opened at 7⅞c and Mr. Jones raised to 7 11-16.

Mr. Hodgson offered 7⅞ for the last half of July, but the salesman would not sell in this way.

Mr. Jones at 7 11-16 called Fraserville, Lakefield, Peterborough, Central Smith, North Smith and Cedardale, which refused. Stony Lake accepted, as did Treewern. All of the rest of the factories refused the offer.

North Smith and Pine Grove sold their first half to Mr. Jones at 7 11-16c.

Bensfort finally accepted Mr. Jones offer of 7 11-16 for the whole month's make.

Mr. Middleton thought that the whole Board would sell at 7⅞, and asked the buyers to make this offer.

Messrs. Spence and Anderson moved that the Board adjourn for two weeks, and the salesmen be given an opportunity to sell the make of the first half of July off the Board.

Messrs. Middleton and Barnes moved in amendment that the Board adjourn for two weeks with permission to sell the whole make of July

The amendment was carried and the Board adjourned.

CARD OF THANKS.

H. I. Smith, Esq., Asst, Supt., London Life Insurance Company, London.

DEAR SIR,—Please accept my thanks for the prompt manner in which your company has paid the death claim of $73.50, endowment plan of Industrial Insurance, upon the life of my daughter, Glennie Isabella, aged 12 years, who died August 3rd. Your payment to me to-day, August 6th, through Mr. D. E. Hopkins, your local agent, is satisfactory proof of the prompt manner with which your company pays all claims. Industrial Insurance in this case was of much benefit to me at this time.

Yours truly,

THE TOWN'S FINANCES.

Mr. Cahill, chairman of the Finance Committee, at the regular meeting of the council, last evening, presented the report from the Finance Committee to the council, which contained the estimated receipts and expenditures for the current year. From it we gather that the expenditure for 1895 is estimated to be $84,172 as against $95,322 for last year. In preparing the estimates for 1894 provision was made for $14,000, which was the estimated amount required to wipe out the over expenditure accrued from previous years, which it did, leaving a small balance on hand after placing to the credit of the town the proceeds from the $10,000 debentures voted by the people in connection with the Smith street bridge, etc. This explains the great difference between the estimated amount required for 1894 over that of 1895. From the report it is also to be seen that the Finance Committee will be in receipt this year, from some sources of revenue, a greater amount than was received from the same source in 1894. It will be observed that from the sale of market fees a larger revenue by about $200 will be received, and $1,000 additional from the issue of licenses. In addition to this $1,200 the council of this year will apply from the moneys voted for the outfall sewer $2,400, replacing in current expenditure this amount, which was paid by the council in 1894, awaiting the receipts from this source, which have since been provided by debenture. Ashburnham is also to be made to pay over to the town her indebtedness to the amount of $800, and $850 are to be collected on the arrears of taxes. These sums will give the Finance Committee $5,250 that will not require to be levied in taxes. Having provided for the over expenditure of the two or three years previous, it is anticipated this year's council at the close of the year will have a small balance on hand, unless expenditures unforseen at the present time are made before the close of the fiscal year. The rate on the dollar has been fixed at 16 mills which should be satisfactory and is probably as low as the ratepayers may anticipate seeing it for some years to come. The Nicholls estate have taken already $17,000 of the debentures issued in connection with the sewerage bylaw at 5 per cent., no provision being made for a sinking fund, as the estate are looking for a permanent investment for the moneys left the town by the late Mrs. Nicholls for the care of the parks, which she so generously provided. This will required to be legalised by a special act of the Legislature at the coming session, as previously done by the legislature when the same estate took over some school debentures on similar conditions. The Town Trust Commissioners provided for the debentures recently issued in connection with the alterations to the South Ward School. Both the estate and the commissioners taking the debentures at par. It is satisfactory to the citizens to see that funds are so easily come-atable for the placing of their debentures on such favourable terms, and the chairman of the Finance Committee and the council as a whole are to be congratulated, if, at the expiration of the year, the finances are in as favourable a condition as the estimates would lead us to believe.

THE SEWER TO GO ON.

It was moved by Councillor Best, seconded by Councillor Sproule that the Mayor and Clerk of the corporation be and are hereby authorized to execute on behalf of the town and affix the seal thereto, a certain contract between Robt. Grant, contractor, and his sureties for the performance thereof, and the said corporation extending the time for the completion of the contract for the construction of the main outfall sewer for the said town from Aug. 1st to Dec. 1st, and that the Mayor and Clerk sign this resolution and affix the seal thereto to give it the effect of a bylaw.

The balance of the matter under discussion was referred to the Sewerage Committee.

FROM THE FINANCE COMMITTEE.

Mr. Cahill, chairman, reported that they recommended that the following accounts be paid:

M O'Brien	$ 0 50
P L & P Co	150 64

They also recommended that the agreement for the renewals of the incandescent lamps be cancelled, and that from this date lamps be furnished only on the order of Jas. English, pending the making of a new agreement.

They reported also "that the school debentures amounting to $6,500 to be issued under the bylaw recently passed for the addition to the south ward school, which bear interest at the rate of four per cent., had been sold to the Town Trust Commissioners at par.

As payments have been made on the outfall sewer account and the work is to be proceeded with, four of the debentures issued under the outfall sewer bylaw amounting to $17,000, have been sold to the Trustees under the will of the late Mrs. Nicholls in accordance with a resolution of the council passed on July 9th, 1894.

The report was adopted.

LICENSE COMMITTEE.

Mr. Geo. Sproule, chairman, reported that the License Committee recommended that the bylaw in reference to tavern licenses be amended so as to provide that the stables and sheds must be within reasonable distance of the tavern.

The report was adopted.

Mr. H. Best reported for the STREET AND BRIDGE COMMITTEE

that, in reference to A. E. Dixon's letter in regard to the land he gave to the town in trust for a park, they found that in addition to the money expended in the Park itself there was an expenditure made on the streets approaching and in the vicinity of the park which should be taken into consideration. They recommended that John Hill's account of $2.35 for damage done to his buggy by the watering cart be paid.

Report adopted.

The Property Committee, through its chairman, Mr. Adam Dawson, reported having asked for tenders for forty tons of coal, and received two tenders—one from Rufus Stevenson of $5.50 per ton, and the other from the Rathbun Co. at $5.55 a ton. They recommended the contract to be given to Rufus Stevenson.

The report was adopted.

CHIMNEYS TO BE CLEANED.

Councillor Sproule's bylaw to enforce the proper cleaning of chimneys was given its first reading. When the second reading was taken up Councillor Stone objected to the bylaw as it would lead to expense. He thought it was a fad.

Councillor Sproule stated that it was not a fad, as the large cities in Canada and the United States had passed such laws. Half the fires in the town were caused by defective chimneys.

Councillor Stone moved that it be read three months hence, seconded by Mr. Mason.

The motion was lost, but Mr. Sproule consented to allow the bylaw to stand over till next meeting.

SEWERAGE.

A bylaw to provide general provisions for sewerage in the town was given two readings, and the third reading was left over till next meeting in order to enable councillors to enquire into the matter.

WEDDING BELLS.

Celebration of the Brown-Brown Nuptials Last Week.

A happy event took place on Tuesday evening, July 30th, when Mr. J. E. Brown, of North Dummer was united in marriage to Miss Ethel M. Brown, at the residence of her father, David Brown, of South Dummer.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. R. Peake, pastor of South Dummer circuit, in the presence of a number of relatives and friends.

The bride was assisted by her aunt, Miss Lillie Crawford, of Norwood, while the groom was ably supported by his brother, Mr. Geo. Brown.

The bride and bridesmaid were charmingly attired in cream silk and cashmere, and carried bouquets of white and pink. The bride received a handsome array of presents.

After the ceremony the bridal party sat down to a well prepared breakfast.

Miss M. Brown, of Peterborough, sister of the groom, was amongst the guests.

The happy couple will visit many of their friends in different parts, after which they will take up their residence in Peterborough.

Their numerous friends wish them all happiness in their new home.

The Marriage of Mr. Amos Train and Miss Lillian Soward

St. James' church, Kinmount, was the scene of a large and gay assembly on Wednesday last, when Mr. Amos Train led to the altar Miss Lillian M. Soward, eldest daughter of the Rev. E. Soward. The ceremony was performed by the bride's father, at 5:30, a.m. The bride, who looked charming in a dress of cream cashmere, trimmed with cream satin, was attended by Miss Nellie Smith and Miss Jennie Train. The bridesmaids were attired in cream nun's veiling trimmed with satin. Mr. H. Soward and Mr. Geo. Cottingham performed the responsible duties of groomsmen. The church was beautifully decorated with flowers and evergreens and was crowded, even at such an early hour, with friends of both families. After the ceremony, breakfast was served at the residence of the bride's father, when over fifty invited guests partook of the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Soward. It is needless to say that the bride was the recipient of many useful and ornamental presents, attesting to the high esteem in which she is held by those who know her. The happy couple left on the morning train for Peterborough and other points and will take up their residence in Kinmount upon their return from their honeymoon. That heaven's richest blessings may follow Mr. and Mrs. Train through life is the hearty wish of the Echo.—Minden Echo.

THE PORTE AND THE POWERS.

Turkey Declines to Accede to the Armenian Demands.

London, Aug. 5.—The Daily News prints a despatch from Constantinople giving what professes to be an accurate summary of the Porte's reply to the powers. According to this despatch the answer consists of a criticism of the proposals, which virtually amounts to a refusal on the part of the Porte to comply with them.

The Anglo-American Society of London states that England has induced the powers to send a collective note to the Porte to the effect that inasmuch as it is unable to protect the Christian residents of the country the powers have decided to appoint forthwith a European High Commissioner with vice-regal authority to administer in the Eastern Asiatic Provinces in the Sultan's name. This commissioner, however, will be solely answerable to the powers, through a Board of Control sitting at Constantinople. Baron Dekallay, the Austro-Hugarian Finance Minister, is mentioned as likely to be appointed to the position.

She is 300 feet in length, 54 foot beam, 25 feet deep and will carry 28 loaded cars. She has special machinery for crushing ice, to enable her to navigate the year round.

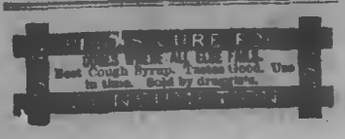
Texas State Silver Convention.

Fort Worth, Texas, Aug. 5. — Delegates to the Democratic State Silver Convention, which meets here to-morrow, are beginning to arrive. About 2000 delegates have been appointed. In a conference to-day the silver Leaguers agreed that the platform should be confined to the money question, should favor the remonetization of silver at the present ratio; declare antagonism to the bond issues of the National Administration, and that the hope of silver lies in the Democratic party.



A BOY'S DISCOVERY.

Is It a New Force—Rubber Ball Defies Pressure of Air and Water.

"It's a new physical force. Wonderful discovery. Nobody can explain it. Scientists all throw up their hands and say 'I pass.'"

As he spoke Dr. W. H. Smith fished from his coat pocket a curved rubber tube with a hollow metal cone at one end, and a black rubber ball. A party of friends stood about the doctor and waited expectantly for further explanation.

"It's something that the fellows who think they know all about natural philosophy have overlooked," he continued. "This dufunny, or, more scientifically speaking, dingus, utterly knocks out every law of capillary and interatomic attraction, dialysis, osmose, and the rest of those simple things that you all know about."

"Have you got the franchise yet?" asked a bystander.

"No, but this discovery has a future. Now watch. You see, I put this little rubber ball in my hand, place the funnel over it, and will blow through the tube. When I blow I'll remove my hand and you'll expect to see the ball drop. Well, that's where you show your ignorance. Look!"

A DEMONSTATION.

And the doctor put the ball in the palm of his hand, placed the funnel over it, and blew through the tube. Then he removed his hand and blew again; blew till his face was as red as Chicago when Debs left it.

The ball didn't drop.

"There, if anyone can explain that his fortune's made," continued the doctor. "I picked this up in New York. Of course nobody there could tell why the ball remains in the funnel when I blow through the tube. The result is the same with water as with air. I saw one of these funnels placed on the nozzle of a hose. A pressure of water 150 pounds to the square inch failed to remove the ball. So I do not think vacuum has anything to do with it, at least the sort of vacuum they have in Gotham hasn't. It may be that we will yet evolve a style of vacuum here that will enable us to solve the mystery. Vacuums should be kept away from the air and from osmose as much as possible, otherwise they will spoil and be unfit for use as tests in settling this business.

"The way this new law was discovered was by accident. A boy in Des Moines, Iowa, was sprinkling a lawn with a funnel-shaped nozzle. He had a ball in his pocket, and to see what the effect would be, took the ball and placed it over the funnel. The ball stuck. He turned the water off and the all fell to the ground. It is an apparent contradiction of the general law that a body which gets into the path of moving air or water will go along with the air or water. But the faster the air or water goes through this tube the more determined the ball seems to be to go against the current. It's one of the things we'll have to pass to the next century for solution."

The Smallest Commonwealth.

The smallest Commonwealth of the world is the little republic Tavolara, upon the little island of the same name, situated some seven or eight miles south of the Island of Sardinia. Tavolara is an island about one mile in diameter and inhabited at present by 55 people, men, women and children. In 1836 Karl Albert, then King of Sardinia, bestowed the supremacy over this little isle upon the Bartleoni family, and for 46 years "King" Paul I reigned in peace in his domain. He died on May 30, 1882, and shortly before his demise called all his faithful subjects to his bedside and declared it to be his earnest desire that none of his relatives could succeed him at the head of Government in the island, but that he considered it for the best that the good people of Tavolara should govern themselves. After this last wish no candidate for the vacated throne could be found among the family of the deceased, who were used to consider their "King's" wish law, and the little island remained ungoverned for four years. At last, in 1886, it was declared a republic. Their constitution gives elective franchise to both men and women; a president is elected to serve six years. None of their officers receive any compensation.—Philadelphia Record.

"SUN" LIFE Assurance Co'y of Canada.

Explanation of the Company's System of Profit Distribution.

The method of profit distribution of most companies is to give a bonus or profit on the sum assured, irrespective of the premiums paid. The Sun Life of Canada allots its profits to policies in proportion to the premiums paid, which is considered to be the more equitable system. This accounts for the variations in the percentages of the accompanying results. The lower rates given below are, in most cases, on young lives. The examples are taken from the Company's claim register as at the end of 1894, for the first 5 years.

BIG PROFITS ON Small Investments

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful Speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our Systematic Plan of Speculation

originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well-known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plain are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

WRITE FOR CONVINCING PROOF, also our Manual on successful speculation and our Daily Market Report, full of money-making pointers. ALL FREE. Our Manual explains margin trading fully. Highest references in regard to our standing and success.

'I was troubled a long time with sick headache. INSECTS IN MEXICO.

A Town Where Deadly Ants Terrify the People.

In Guerrero the tarantula is sometimes found there as big as a man's two fists. Scorpions are of all sizes, but the one which does the most harm by its bite is a smallish gray creature. The larger ones bite so hard that the blood flows freely, and the injected poison flows off. There is a little snake called the coralillo, which is particularly fond of getting indoors and nesting in one's boots. Its bite is fatal. Boots should always be inspected for coralillos before they are put on—in Guerrero. If a scorpion creeps on the face or hands the person so visited should carefully refrain from making any movement. He should allow the horrible insect to crawl just where it will. If it is not disturbed, in all likelihood it will do no harm; if it is attacked it is quite sure to sting.

The worst terror of the people of Guerrero, says the Boston Herald, is neither snakes nor scorpions but the red ants. Before these insects the people flee in terror from their houses. They leave nothing behind if they can help it. An Indian woman rushed out of her cabin with her children on the coming of the ants being announced. In her terror she left her baby behind the house swinging in a hammock. It was hoped that it would escape, but when the ants had departed the mother found that the insects had crept down the cords of the hammock, and had left of the unfortunate child nothing but its bones. On some of the Guerrero sugar estates great lazy-looking snakes are kept in the storerooms to keep rats and mice away from the sugar loaves. These snakes are repulsive in appearance, but harmless to human beings. Not all the places in Mexico, however, which have an agreeable climate are cursed with insects and reptilian pests. Such places as Cuernavaca, in the state of Morelos, are too high above the hot plains to suffer from venomous insects, and yet so much below the cold table land that the climate is a perpetual summer. Cuernavaca unites many of the advantages of the temperate zone with all that is delightful and alluring in the tropics.

The Smallest Jersey.

Herewith is an illustration of the smallest Jersey cow in the United States. She is owned by Archie Dayton of Prunedale, Cal., is a Jersey four years old, 38 inches in height, and weighs about 40 lbs. Two months ago she dropped her second calf, and now gives on medium grass ration from eight to nine quarts of extremely rich milk, yelding over one pound of butter daily. This diminutive cow, as will be seen from the photograph printed herewith, is perfectly formed and sows the good points of a first-class milker.

SAFETY GASOLINE CAN.

Several Features Which Make It Non-Exploding.

Here is a safety gasoline tank of peculiar and novel construction. In the cut shown a corner of the can is broken away, revealing the interior construction, from which it will be seen that there is a perforated cylinder extending from the top to the bottom of the can and held securely in place by collars fastened to both the top and bottom. Within this cylinder is a spring which presses the valve shut, the valve being made of leather and brass, and is said to be very durable and efficient. In using the can it is necessary to press down the spindle shown just back of the nozzle. While this is kept pressed down the gasoline will flow, but immediately on releasing it the spring closes off the flow of gasoline completely. In filling the can the screw cap is removed In addition to the automatic closing of the nozzle a special feature of safety in this can is the perforated cylinder mentioned above. Even if the spindle is pressed down so that the nozzle is open and enough gasoline is in the cylinder to make vapor, on touching a match to the nozzle the flame issues from it, but it will not light back further than the cylinder. They say it is impossible to communicate the fire to the inside of the can, the perforated cylinder acting the same as a wire gauze in a miners' lamp, and which it is known prevents the passage of flame.

Celery Culture.

Celery grows naturally in splendid condition on the black muck of the meadows or bottom lands around Kalamazoo, Mich., and it is this richness of soil that has developed a great industry. The soil is the result of decayed vegetation that has been accumulated there for ages, and in appearance and analysis it does not differ much from ordinary swamp muck. This, when properly worked and moistened and prepared for the celery, gives the remarkable results that are so well known. The growers are mostly Hollanders and their descendants, sturdy, hard-working farmers, and they have settled on their small holdings for a life time. Every square foot of soil is used by them, and four plantings are made in one season, so that the land is kept pretty well occupied. Everything is celery, and very few other crops even for home use are raised. The farmers attend very little to the business end of their work. The middle men generally contract for the whole crop each season, and the growers receive their pay whether the market prices are good or not. The only thing that makes them lose is a poor crop, and this rarely occurs, so careful are they in their cultivation. Most of the celery bottoms are divided into five and ten-acre holdings, and with such a small farm each man keeps his crop under complete control. Severe droughts are avoided by irrigation and watering, and early or late cold spells of unusual severity can be kept from injuring the celery. Although the soil is naturally a rich, black muck, the farmers fertilize every crop liberally. The manure is obtained chiefly from the stables of the city, and this is spread freely over the land and into the trenches every season. The bunches of celery are packed in wooden boxes and sent to all parts of the country.

Neither calomel nor any other injurious drug is contained in Ayer's Pills. They are composed of the active principles of the best vegetable cathartics, and their use is always attended with marked benefit. For a sluggish liver or for constipation, nothing surpasses Ayer's Pills.

Deadly Cancer Cured By B. B. B

HERE IS THE PROOF.

Messrs. T. Milburn & Co:

SIRS,—About four years ago I was taken sick with stomach trouble. I consulted several leading local physicians, all of whom pronounced my disease incurable cancer of the stomach, and told me I had not long to live. Two physicians attending me gave me up to die. Through reading your advertisement, and by advice of friends, I tried your Burdock Blood Bitters and I am happy to say that after using one bottle I was able to leave my bed which I had been confined to for a long time. I am thankful now to state that B.B.B. cured my disease which baffled the doctors, and I am firmly convinced saved my life. Gratefully yours,

A LADY OF WATERFORD COMPLETELY CURED.

Suffered for Two Years from Indigestion and General Debility.

Unable at Times to Attend to Her Household Duties.

Treated by Nearly All the Doctors in the Town Without Relief

"Six Bottles of South American Nervine Cured Me," Says Mrs. D. A. Gray, of Waterford, Ont., Over Her Own Signature.

MRS. D. A. GRAY, OF WATERFORD, ONT.

Certain dates are epoch making. They mark transitions in the individual life that are never forgotten. Their impress may be pleasant or sad, or both. As Mrs. D. A. Gray, of Waterford, Ont., an estimable and highly respected resident of that community, goes back in memory to the year 1893, her recollections are not of the most roseate character. Can there be anything rosy to one who is a victim of indigestion? All is sombre and sadness. But there was a silver lining to the cloud, as we shall see. Previous to 1893 Mrs. Gray tells us she had been troubled very much with indigestion and general debility for a period of nearly two years. Hers was no ordinary case. At times she was prevented altogether from attending to her household duties. Waterford has a number of skilled physicians in its midst and their services were called in, but in her own language, "I cannot say that they relieved me in any way." An era of joy was ushered in when her mother read the story of a cure by South American Nervine in a case where the symptoms, as Mrs. Gray says, "seemed to be exactly like her own. I bought a bottle and found much relief. After taking six bottles I was cured." The date was an epoch making date in this lady's life.

What the symptoms of Indigestion are, too many know. What the trouble is in its worst forms thousands know. People lament the spread of insanity in the present day. How far removed from loss of reason is a case of aggravated indigestion? The world to every such victim is blue enough, black enough, so uninviting and depressing that no wonder they are beside themselves. And yet the remedy is within the reach of all. That great discovery, Nervine, will cure the most desperate case of indigestion, debility or nervousness. You ask for evidence. A cloud of witnesses in the Dominion of Canada are saying, amen, and amen, to the testimony of Mrs. Gray. Why suffer, fellow-citizens, friends and brethren?

LACROSSE.

The following team will represent the III Peterboroughs in their match with Millbrook to-morrow morning. The team will be slightly changed in the afternoon against Port Hope:—Goal, Moncrief; point, McDonough; cover point, Shambo; 1st defense, Butler; 2nd defense, Knapp; 3rd defense, Guy; centre, Savigney; 3rd home, Lannin; 2nd home, E. Sawers; 1st home, Costello; outside home, Green; inside, W. Sawers.

Mr. Tuer, of the Ontario Lacrosse Club, Port Hope, came up to town last night for the ostensible purpose of completing arrangements for the playing off of the tie between the lacrosse teams of the two towns, each having won a game. The proposition was that the teams be composed of precisely the same men, and the match be played in Lindsay. Mr. Tuer, however, had an entirely new arrangement which he wished to make. Port Hope wished to strengthen its team by playing three new men and wanted the match to come off in Toronto. Of course this changed the complexion of things entirely, and the boys dismissed the idea of ever coming to terms with Port Hope, as the idea of permitting the Ontarios to look up three crack men could not be entertained. This is Port Hope all over again. It would be strange, indeed, if it kept faith about anything.

THE WHEEL.

At a meeting of the Bicycle Club last night it was decided to close with the offer of the curlers, and occupy apartments at the rink, as most satisfactory conditions have been secured. The rooms will be furnished at once and probably another meeting of the club will be held on Thursday next. Mr. Robt. Fair, who has laboured hard in the interests of the club since its organization, was unanimously elected treasurer, and Mr. Ewing, who has also proven himself very active in working for the club's welfare, was appointed secretary. Messrs. H. S. Macdonald, Gus Gough and Frank Dobbin were selected to act as executive committee.

Sells Brothers' Enormous United Shows

Coming to Peterborough in all its overshadowing vastness, with an exclusive array of new sensational features, champion circus celebrities, and congress of curiosities from every clime, simply bewildering. In fact, there is scarcely room to mention separate departments, let alone the hundreds of all-amazing novelties that go to make up a sterling show, embracing every notable variety of rare wild beasts in the Mammoth Fifty Cage Menagerie, including the only pair of monster Hippopotami, valued at $100,000, which are positively and emphatically the only male and female blood-exuding River Horse ever exhibited on this or any other continent. Introducing the rarest of features, a school of Alaska Seals and Sea Lions taught to perform marvellous feats, so wonderful as to defy description; they play banjos, mandolins, cymbals, drums, sing, fire off guns, and do everything but talk. Another matchless and unique feature is a giant flock of full-grown Ostriches, the first ever publicly exhibited. Fully one thousand living curiosities are displayed in the fifty cage Menagerie. The colossal three ring Circus, Royal Roman Hippodrome races, huge elevated stages, gladiatorial combat, Australian aviary, African aquarium, Arabian caravan, spectacular pageants, and Trans-Pacific wild beasts exhibition, as chaste and edifying as it is stupendous and pre-eminent. Absolutely the best equipped, most ably conducted, most stupendous and faultless union of great railroad shows the world has ever seen. Watch for the grand, gorgeous street parade at 10 a. m. on the day of exhibition. No postponement on account of weather. The biggest show in the world. Seating capacity, 12,000. NOT HIGH PRICED BUT FAIR PRICED

We're at the end of the first half of our year's business. Its been good, we know it. Buyers know it. The good feeling that comes from a successful trade is the best incentive to a merchant to do better by his customers.

That's the way we feel about it. Our goods are never high priced. Always Fair priced. Frequently low priced. We couldn't live and succeed if all our prices were low. Our prices are always what others call low, but a real low cut down price with us means selling without a profit—except the profit we have in clearing our shelves. There is a little profit in this sort yet for us in keeping our Summer Sale going for a little time. In a few weeks New Fall goods will be pouring in. We must have room. Help us. TURNBULL'S.

The builders are now busy making extensive alterations in our premises making 3 stores into 1. All the interior is being changed, both in plan and fixtures from cellar to garret and will be when completed one of the most handsome and convenient shops to do business in, in the Dominion. We will have room for seventeen different departments on the ground floor and any lady will be able to purchase anything she wishes without having to ascend a stair.

The Counters for the Millinery and Small Wares Departments in the centre of the store are now being made at the Dominion Art Woodwork Coy's, Toronto, they have oak frames, plate glass tops and double diamond glass fronts and glass shelf in centre. They are very handsomely gotten up and are useful as well as ornamental, showing everything in a department without being asked for. They will be the first of the kind in use in Canada and similar to those being put in one of our city stores lately destroyed by fire.

We do not expect to be through our alterations until 1st Sept. but in the meantime business will go on as usual when we will clear out the balance of our summer stock at prices that will be a benefit to those who visit our noisy and dusty store. Our fall purchases are now coming forward direct from the different manufacturers in Europe where ever desirable and will be opened in due season.

KILLED IN THE BUSH.

Brutal Murder of a Hired Man Near Preston.

THE VICTIM ALMOST BENEADED.

A Dispute Over the Right to Pick Berries in the Bush Said to Be the Origin of the Crime—Jury Returns a Verdict of Murder—Accused Jailed

Preston, Ont., Aug. 7.—One of the most brutal murders ever committed in Waterloo County took place here Sunday afternoon, in the bush on the farm of Joseph B. Hagey, four miles north of here, and about the same distance southeast of eBrlin. The victim is an old man named Henry Albert Jeanerette, who has lived for a number of years in the neighborhood, and who has been employed during the past 10 years by Mr. Hagey, doing odd jobs around the house.

On Sunday afternoon Jeanerette left the house abortly after 1 o'clock, and not returning home that night a number of neighbors and friends went in search of him on Monday. After going all over the farm they entered the bush, which contains a berry patch, situated about a mile from the house.

Here they found the object of their search lying on the ground, with his head resting against the roots of a cedar tree. His vest was pulled up over his head, which on being removed, presented a sickening sight. The man's throat was cut from ear to ear, every organ in the neck being severed. Everything pointed to murder.

After an examination it was discovered that the right hand was broken, as if it had been struck with a club, theleft arm was bruised and swollen, showing that theblow had been struck before death; the face and head were fearfully battered and bruised, the ears being almost driven into the head.

A constable was notified, and, after a short delay Coroner Lackner of Berlin opened an inquest in the bush.

The first witness was Thomas Wilson the man who first saw the body in the woods. He testified that he found deceased in the berry bush on Monday, about 3 o'clock p.m. He was lying with his head against the root of a tr eethat had blown over. His face and clothing was covered with blood. A number of others also gave evidence as to the finding of the remains.

Mrs. Osburg, a sister of Mr. Hagey, stated that while ni the bush last Tuesday week, she heard a neighbor, August Kurshinski, a Pole, tell the deceased thta if he could not pick there he would not either. She was frightened of him and would not go to the place again.

Charlotte Wiles said she heard a conversation between the deceased and Kurschinski on Tuesday last. They were quarrelling about the berries. It appears the old man, who has charge of them, told Kurschinski and his wife they could not have any more berries that week, but they might the next. The latter said he would turn his cattlein if he was not allowed to take beries. The old man then said he would shoot the cattle.

Several others testified regarding the bad blood between the two after which the jury brought in a verdict of murder.

Kurschinski was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Joseph Springer this afternoon charged with the murder, and taken to Berlin jail.

Where the body was lying were found six pieces of a tamarac stick covered with blood. The stick would have been about five feet long and four inches thick. It is supposed deceased's injuries were inflicted by the accused using the stick. There was no knife or instrument found that would have cut the throat. A pocket book containing some change and papers and also a pocket knife were found on the body. The prisoner's farm of 25 acres is next to Mr. Hagey's.

Canadian Fish Smugglers Fined.

Buffalo, Aug. 6.—Four Canadian fishermen conveying a boatload of fish across the Niagara River were recently arrested and the boat and cargo seized. The fishermen to-day paid a fine of $40 on the charge of smuggling fish into the United States, and their boat was released.

A POLITICAL BOMB.

Hon. N. C. Wallace Expected to Throw One Ere Long.

CONTROLLER TO ISSUE A MANIFESTO

This Is the Topic in Orange Circles in Montreal But Details Are Not Given as to When the Manifesto Is Looked For—It May Not Be for Some Weeks.

Montreal, Aug. 7.—Some of the echoes of the recent Orange meeting at Halifax have reached the city and are the subject of a good deal of comment amongst members of the Montreal lodges. Mr. William Galbraith, the leading Orangeman of Montreal, and perhaps of this Province, states that Hon. N. Clarke Wallace may be expected to throw a bombshell into the political arena in the near future, but when any details are asked regarding the nature, size or character of this promised projectile that is so soon to come from the Grand Master Mr. Galbraith becomes as dumb as the proverbial oyster, and no further details can be gathered.

It is believed, however, by the Montreal Orangemen that Hon. N. Clarke Wallace will resign his position as Controller of Customs, and at the same time issue a manifesto telling his friends why he has seen fit to do so.

The only difference that exists in the minds of Mr. Wallace's friends here is that a certain portion believe that the hon. gentleman's resignation is only a question of a very few weeks, while others are of the opinion that the crisis will not come so soon.

There is likewise a good deal of talk amongst the brethren regarding the strained relations that exist between the Grand Master and ex-Mayor Clarke. It has only leaked out to-day in fact, that Mr. Clarke was the only gentleman of the Grand Lodge delegation who was not invited to occupy a place in the car allotted to the Grand Master and his friends when the Orangemen were leaving Montreal for Halifax. There can be no doubt that the Deputy Grand Master felt the slight very keenly and was not slow in expressing himself in this sense to any o who might come along.

The report of the Government engineers who were appointed to enquire into the state of the Montreal Harbor improvements and report thereon is to-day made public. The harbor commissioners had asked the Government to assist them in raising the sum of $4,000,000 in carrying out and completing the work. The commissioners advise that the guard pier be continued out, but that the immediate future does not warrant the expenditure of two millions in this part of the work, as proposed. They advise that the scheme of high level wharves be reconsidered, as no great need exists for the same. It is also stated that, whether the aid given to the Montreal Harbor Commissioners be a direct loan, purchase of bonds, or a guarantee of interest, is a matter for Government consideration. The commissioners, in fact, consider the extension eastward preferable, and also hint that the dry-dock at Maisonneuve will be a necessity in a few years. They consider that in the event of their construction the cost should be borne by the Dominion Government and the work placed under its control, not because the revenues of the port of Montreal would prevent the commissioners from undertaking them, but because the natural importance of the trade warrants its assumption by the Dominion. On the whole, Messrs. Thomas Munro, Louis Coste and William Anderson, the commissioners in question are of the opinion that $3,000,000 will be sufficient to do all the necessary work.

A very strange case is about to come before the courts in Terrebonne County, and this is only another proof as to the people's eagerness to go to law. It appears that quite a number of the faithful, both sexes being represented, were waiting their turn to enter the confessional when a dispute arose between a man and woman as to who had the first right to enter. The lady was about to claim that it was her turn when, as is alleged, she was taken roughly by the hand and pushed back. In fact, a finger was broken during the scrimmage, hence the action for damages that is about to be instituted.

Messrs. Fred J. Birchard and A. E. McFarlane, second-year students of Toronto University, rolled into Montreal to-day on bicycles. They left the Queen City Thursday week, and after wheeling into Kingston, 180 miles, they took the boat to Brockville, and thence to Ottawa by the road. The bicycles were also used from the Capital to this city, the young gentlemen leaving for Quebec by the North Shore this afternoon. Messrs. Birchard and McFarlane will travel back on their wheels from Quebec to Toronto, expecting to reach home about the 22nd of August.

The N P. Lost $750,000 at Sprague.

Spokane, Wash., Aug. 5.—Among the losers at the fire at Sprague, Wash., are Northern Pacific, $750,000, made up as follows: 24 locomotives and 54 freight cars, $350,000; machinery, etc., $50,000; freight and freight warehouses, grain warehouse, oil and oil warehouses, $75,000. There was also half a mile of track destroyed and about seven tons of coal and five thousand cords of wood, with the coal bunkers and wood sheds.

FATALITY IN TORONTO

Two Men Killed, a Third Seriously Injured.

THE ELEVATOR BRAKE GAVE WAY.

Awful Fatality at the Warehouse of W. J. Gage & Co.—Charles Howe and James Welch Receive Injuries Which Result in Their Death.

DEAD.

CHARLES HOWE, deaf mute, aged 40, 178 Dovercourt road.

JAMES WELCH, aged 20, 10 William-street.

INJURED.

CHARLES McBRIDE, 40 Major-street, fracture of one leg and one arm.

Toronto, Aug. 7.—An appalling accident occurred at the warehouse of W. J. Gage & Co., 54 Front-street west, yesterday afternoon, by which two of the employes lost their lives and a third was seriously injured.

The elevator, which is operated by an electric motor, had been hoisted to the top flat to enable Howe and Welch to make some repairs. The cable had been detached, and lay in coils in the basement, the elevator being held in position five stories above by a patent brake.

Engineer McBride was engaged with the cable in the basement, while Howe and Welch stood in the elevator working at the cage. The brake gave way, and the cage, with its human freight, went crashing down to the basement, 50 feet below.

McBride had no warning, and when the hoist began its drop the cable at which he was working spun out with great rapidity. He was caught around the shoulders and legs in the twirling coils, and carried upwards to the ceiling.

His left shoulder was broken in the collision with the floor, which released him from the spinning cable. Twelve feet of a drop caused a fracture of one leg.

When the elevator struck the bottom, young Welch flew out of the doorway as though shot from a cannon. The back of his head came into violent collision with the basement floor, and rendered him unconscious. Howe followed him in like manner, and landed squarely across Welch.

Fellow-employes had heard the crash and flocked into the basement to learn the cause. The serious condition of the unfortunate men was at once apparent and Doctors King, Riordan and Elliott were summoned.

When the police ambulances arrived the men had been prepared for removal. It was seen that the condition of Howe and Welch was alarming, and Ambulance Driver Geddes removed them to the General Hospital.

Both men were unconscious at the time of their arrival. It was feared that Welch would die before the hospital could be reached. He succumbed to his injuries at 5.50, without having regained consciousness. He had a bad scalp wound, a fractured skull and internal injuries.

Howe died at 9.20. His injuries were a fracture of the right thigh, right knee-cap crushed almost to fragments, several bones in the right foot broken, cuts on the sole of the left foot, and injuries to the spine. There was also a fracture of the base of the skull. Neither of the men regained consciousness.

P. C. Beatty, with No. 2 ambulance, removed McBride to his home in Major-street. Dr. Riordan accompanied the injured man, and, with Dr. Barrick, is attending him. His injuries are a fracture of the left arm near the shoulder, fracture of the left leg, involving the ankle joint, and a severe scalp wound. Dr. Riordan was seen late last night, and he said his patient was resting quietly, and that here were reasonable hopes of his ultimate recovery.

McBride, who is a married man, is chief engineer for the firm, and has been in their employ for 25 years. Mr. Gage went in person to break the news of the accident to Mrs. McBride before the ambulance had reached the house.

Howe lived with his aged parents, had had been in their employ for 20 years. He was spoken of by employers and fellow-employes as an honest and trustworthy workman.

Welch was the son and chief support of a widowed mother. He had been working for the company for some months.

Coroner Powell has issued warrants for inquests on both bodies, to be held at the General Hospital this evening.

W. P. Gundy, secretary-treasurer of the Gage Company, said that the three were engaged in repairing the hoist. The cable had become detached, and this locked the hoist firmly at the top flat. McBride was in the basement preparing to rewind the cable.

Howe and Welch got on the hoist, and in some way or other loosened the safety brake, with the result that the hoist, carrying these two poor fellows, fell to the bottom, drawing the cable up, in which McBride became entangled.

The hoist is of modern construction, run by electric power. Two engineers are employed in the premises, McBride being chief. Gates are on every flat, and on reaching each flat the hoist locks automatically. A man is especially employed whose sole duty it is to attend to the hoist, and no person is allowed to use it, except the man in charge. Others are warned by printed notice to this effect.

MASSACREING WOMEN MISSIONARIES.

The recent massacre of Christian women and children at the Chinese missions has roused all Christendom. The apathy and indifference, if not actual connivance, of Chinese officials have encouraged these excesses and a terrible reckoning will will undoubtedly be meted out to the Chinese nation. The result, we have no doubt, will be the adoption of such measures as will ensure the utmost freedom not only of trade, but of foreign life and property, hereafter, in the land of the the Celestials. The massacre suggests the idea that, as it is at present conducted, there is a great deal of foreign missionary work being carried on in a most unscientific and almost, we might say, unreasonable manner. In connection with the outrages the Ottawa Free Press thinks that the age is hardly one which will read with anything but indignation and disgust that women have been sent to face a lot of barbarians, whose contempt of what those women go to teach is aggravated by absolute detestation of all "western methods" whatever. It is, of course, very noble and very heroic, and the zeal kindled by some flowery speech of a missionary fund agent, is worthy of profoundest admiration, but it would be decidedly better for young and gentle women to apply their zeal on behalf of the savages in Borri-boo-loo-gah or semi savages in China and elsewhere, at home. They could make collections, aid in bazaars, missionary meetings, and of each of them it could then with force and truth be said, "she hath done what she could," all that could be expected, and quite enough. To endeavour to evangelize the heathen is, of course, the bounden duty of a sincere Christian. But there is a right and a wrong way to do this, and it is not the right way to send young and inexperienced women among people such as these who have just destroyed so many bright and promising lives. Unless a gunboat is to form part of the equipment of these expeditions, it seems, as we have said, that it would be better to constitute the missions of the future on a different basis, and conduct them more scientifically than at present. At present the desired effect of much of the noble self-sacrifice made by heroic men and women in this respect is lost, while enormous sums of money are wasted.

Whilst acknowledging the carelessness with which these lives were placed in danger, reprisal, it is hoped, will be none the less severe or speedy. China has just been taught a severe lesson by Japan, and her recent action in connection with the massacre goes far to show that she is badly in need of one in which even more severity should be exercised.

THE CANADIAN FLAG.

Suggestions for a new Canadian flag continue to come in. The Montreal Witness has presented eight designs as prepared by various persons. Design No. 1, the idea of Dr. S. E. Dawson, Queen's Printer at Ottawa, is in accordance with all the rules. It preserves the Imperial ensign, and has a heraldically correct defacement which is not intended to be larger than one-quarter of the Union Jack which is all that has been hitherto permitted by the authorities who rule in such matters. No. 2 is a design by Mr. Sandford Fleming. The star in the corner is to have as many rays as there are provinces. No. 3 is a combination of the star and the maple leaf. The suggestion is Mr. D. M. Bayle's, of Montreal. In No. 4, by Mr. E. Cox, illuminator of Montreal, a small star rests on the centre of a large maple leaf. Mrs. Sandys sees the idea of one Wm. who thought a beaver rampant might be a good emblem of Canada as its national animal, or better still, perhaps, a pyramid as a token of the country's stability. Design No. 7, by J. G. Adams of Adamsville, Que., and the one that has taken the fancy of all who have seen it, shows in the centre of a Union Jack a wreath of roses, shamrocks and thistles, surrounding a white ground, in the centre of which lies a maple leaf, on which is Canada's little beaver busily chewing the butt end of a maple bough. No. 8, by Geo. Adam, of Winnipeg, shows on the lower corner a circle of maple leaves over a beaver conchant.

THE Philadelphia Ledger says that the coal barons are "considering," something after the manner of our government. Of course the subject receiving consideration is the keeping up the price of coal. Winter is approaching and the poor "public" will have to be made to suffer, as usual, for the benefit of rings.

THE reputation which ladies almost universally bear of being bad marks (wo)men has got Miss Flagler, daughter of General Flagler, of Washington, out of a pretty bad scrape. She felt annoyed at the constant raid made by boys on the fruit garden surrounding her home, and the other night shot and killed a negro lad who was caught flagrante delicto. She promptly gave herself up to the police authorities, and the coroner's jury has just acquitted her on the ground that she did not mean to kill the intruder. Had she meant it, the boy would certainly not have had a hair of his head harmed.

HAMILTON proposes to make its bicyclists carry lighted lanterns at night—a regulation which some of the riders are disposed to protest against as increasing the confusion and danger. One thing at least should be insisted upon, and that is that wheelmen, and wheelwomen as well, should be kept off the sidewalks after dark. If this is done it is immaterial, so far as the public is concerned, whether they carry lights or not. In Peterborough, on all kinds of nights, bicycle riders may be found riding on the walks to the very great danger of the limbs, if not the lives of pedestrians. This sort of thing should be stopped in a most peremptory manner.

IN violation of all decency, and notwithstanding the statement of the Postmaster-General that the expenses for the administration of his department would be lessened by about $18,000 during the coming year, the Government of the Dominion has voted, by order in Council, an additional allowance of $100,000 a year to the Canadian Pacific Railway, the grant being designated a "mail subsidy." In this connection the Globe says:—"Grants by orders in Council are excusable only to meet sudden emergencies—cases in which submission to Parliament is impossible, and delay is likely to affect public business injuriously. During recess emergencies may arise in which the expenditure of public money on matters not foreseen during the session becomes necessary. The power of the Cabinet to anticipate the vote of Parliament by an order in Council is intended to meet such emergencies. But in the granting of public money it should only be adopted when the necessity of the case is beyond question. It is simply a gross abuse of power to grant this allowance to the Canadian Pacific Railway at the present time."

Mr A. Weese, while out driving with a restive young team of Mr. T. Wilson's, it became unmanageable in the dark and shied off the road, running one wheel over a log that lay on the roadside, and throwing Alfred out of the buggy. He received severe injuries to his left foot, but his many friends will be pleased to learn that he is able to be out again. The young lady who accompanied him escaped unhurt.

Great improvement in the Health of a Well-known Peterborough Lady.

Peterborough, Aug. 5.—General satisfaction is expressed here at the greatly improved condition of health of Mrs. K. Stephens, the well known music teacher of this town. Her friends have been much exercised over her condition for a long time and a number of remedies have been tried during the ten years that she has been a martyr to a complication of complaints, which recently became very severe. She suffered frightfully with pains in the back, nervous prostration and swelling of the limbs. She has been taking the new remedy for kidney troubles, Dodd's Kidney Pills, and has already experienced the most beneficial results.

TORNADO IN NOVA SCOTIA.

A Wide Section of Country Laid Waste in the Short Space of Fifteen Minutes.

Bridgeport, N.S., Aug. 7.—A terrible storm of wind, accompanied by rain, struck about three miles east of here Sunday evening. It lasted 15 minutes, doing damage to a portion of the districts of Clarence and Paradise, through which the storm passed, amounting to thousands of dollars.

Large elms and other shade trees were snapped off like pipe stems; chimneys were blown down; window panes broken, and sashes driven into the rooms; orchard trees torn up by the roots and hurled incredible distances; fences levelled to the ground and stone walls demolished.

Barns and stables containing quantities of hay were torn to pieces and destroyed.

The top story of one barn was carried a mile and a half.

A piece of scantling two by three inches and about five feet long was found driven vertically three feet into the earth.

Daniel Messengeder' farm was struck by the full force of the tornado. The house was wrecked, the furniture broken, and lamps, crockeryware and glass were smashed to atoms. The ornamental and shade trees surrounding the house were levelled to the ground, twisted and torn. The cow stable, which contained a large quantity of hay and three cows, is a wreck.

The cows were buried under six tons of hay, bnt were dug out of the debris without injury. The top story of a new stable was torn off, scattering the hay it contained in all directions, but leaving the lower part, in which were several horses, comparatively uninjured.

His orchard contained 250 trees, well grown, and in bearing. Some of the trees, a foot in diameter, were completely destroyed. His potato, root and cereal crops were ruined.

Edgar Bent had 70 orchard trees torn up, blown down or otherwise destroyed.

MADE BOGUS NOTES AND COIN.

Four Counterfeiters Arrested for Making Spurious Canadian Currency.

New York, Aug. 6.—The expert counterfeiters who for two years have been engraving and printing $500 and $100 United States gold certificates, and flooding Canada with notes of other denomination, have been discovered by Secret Service detectives, and four of the gang of five are now locked up in Jersey City. The fifth member, the backer of the plant, was arrested, but escaped from the officers.

Brockway, the most expert forger and counterfeiter in this country, is probably the principal of the gang. He is now 73 years old. When caught he had in his possession a $500 gold certificate and $390 in Canadian money, supposed to be counterfeit.

The man who supplied the funds for the plant was Dr. O. E. Bradford, a dentist, who heretofore has managed to escape suspicion.

The other members of the gang are Libbie Smith, a cousin of Bradford's, and Sydney Smith, the engraver of the party, who is said to be Libbie Smith's husband, and William S. Wagner. Smith was arrested last night with counterfeit plates in his possession.

The plates and paper captured by the detectives show this to be the most skilful gang that has operated in this country for years.

Besides valuable plates for both United States and Canadian notes, $200,000 in Canadian currency, with the reverse side all printed, was discovered. The plate for the front side was found last night in the possession of Smith when arrested at his home.

A sufficient amount of fibre paper to print $400,000 more of Canadian money was also located in a secrt closet. The paper, according to experts, is even superior to that prepared by the Hoyt gang in Connecticut. Uncompleted plates for $500 and $100 United States gold certificates were on the tables.

For ten days the detectives have had the place under surveillance in the hope of capturing the entire gang.

Brokway was known there as Col. Spencer, but the detectives had no difficulty in recognizing him.

The detectives hoped by postponing the raid to get Redford with the other four. Chief Hasen of the Secret Service, who in person was directing the proceedings, ordered the detectives to enter the house on Saturday night. Libbie Smith, a female confederate, and Wagner were the only members of the party there.

They were locked in jail and the reason for their arrest kept a secret from them while a search was made for the rest of the gang.

THE MASSACRED MISSIONARIES.

The British Government Demands Immediate Reparation.

London, Aug. 7.—A despatch from China states, with reference to the massacre of Christians at Wasang, that the Chinese Government has issued imperative orders to the provincial authorities to search out and punish the persons guilty of the outrage. The Government deplores the event, which is most unfortunate for China.

The Daily Telegraph prints a despatch from Shanghai saying that Rev. H. S. Phillips of the English Church Missionary Society witnessed the atrocities at Wasang, but was powerless to do anything to prevent them. The Chinese magistrate, the despatch also says, waited until the foreigners were murdered or had fled before he appeared. The massacre was carefully planned. There are about 1000 Chinese soldiers stationed at Kucheng, and they could have stopped the riot had the officials chosen to do so.

The same dispatch states that the American mission at Shashi, near Hankow, on the Yang Tse Kiang, has ben destroyed and its former occupants are fugitives. The American consul here has advised the missionaries in other parts of the country to retire.

A meeting of the foreign residents of Shanghai of all nationalities was held yesterday afternoon, under the auspices of the China Association. Foreigners were urged to apeal, direct to the Governments of the various countries to secure reparation for the many outrages committed in the Chinese empire, especially for that at Wasang. Some of the speakers at this meeting declared that no confidence was to be placed in the diplomatic representatives at Pekin.

The American residents desire the appointment of a committee to enquire into the outrages in Szechuen and other inland provinces, apart from the British commission, and to be under the control of American Consul Jernigan. Mr. O'Connor, the British Minister, has given his assent to the proposition. The existing commission is composed of British Consul Tratman of Chung King, one missionary, the native prefect at Chengtu, the provincial treasurer and the provincial judge. All of the latter are regarded as having been implicated in the attacks upon foreigners.

These Canadian Methodist missionaries have been removed from Kucheng to Shanghai on account of the massacre: Rev. Dr. V. C. Hart, Rev. George Hartwell, wife and family; Rev. Jas. Endacott, wife and family; D. O. L. Kilborn, wife and child; Dr. D. W. Stephenson, wife and family; Dr. H. M. Hare, Misses Brackbill and Ford.

Plans Carried Out With Diabolical Cruelty

Foo Chow, Aug. 6.—The survivors of the massacre at Wasang, in the course of an interview to-day, said that the work of the mob had evidently been carefully planned, and all the arrangements made for the destruction of the mission stations and the killing or driving out of the foreigners were carried out with diabolical cruelty. The first attack was made while the missionaries were asleep and the charred bodies of some of the victims were found in the ruins of their burned homes.

A rumor was current in the city at midnight last night that further riots had occurred nearer to Foo Chow than Kucheng.

The foreign colony at Foo Chow will hold an indignation meeting this evening to protest against the commission of outrages upon foreigners, and to demand protection by the authorities. A similar meeting will be held to-morrow.

Hostile Feeling Towards Europeans

Shanghai, Aug. 6.—The Foo Chow correspondent of The Shanghai Mercury telegraphs to-day that the position of the Europeans there is critical, owing to the openly expressed hostile feeling of the natives towards them. The Chinese officials declare that in the event of an outbreak directed against foreigners they will not be able to help them. The province of Fo-Kien, in which are situated Kucheng and Foo-Chow, is in a state of rebellion.

The American mission house at Fung Fook has been burned, and gunboats have been telegraphed for to protect the foreign settlement there.

England's Demand for Reparation.

London, Aug. 6.—A despatch has been sent from the Foreign Office to Mr. O'Connor, British Minister at Pekin, instructing him to demand of the Government of China that it secure the safety of British subjects residing in that country. Mr. O'Connor has also been instructed to demand a full inquiry into the recent massacre at Kucheng, and the punishment of those found to be guilty of the crimes. In addition to the instructions sent to Mr. O'Connor, her Majesty's Consul at Kucheng has been ordered to make an independent inquiry into the massacres.

Britain's Demands Acceded To

London, Aug. 6.—Intelligence was received here this afternoon from China, stating that the Emperor and the Government had agreed to the demands made by Lord Salisbury, through Mr. O'Connor, the British Minister at Pekin, and that an Imperial proclamation had been issued ordering the capital punishment of the murderers. A military escort has also been ordered to protect the British Consul at Kucheng during his inquiry into the outrage.

Further Outrages

Washington, Aug. 6.—The State Department this afternoon received a despatch from Consul-General Jernigan, reporting further missionary outrages in China. The despatch follows: "Hixon (Consul) wires that American missionary property at Yungsuh burned. Details of Kucheng massacre horrible. Houses stealthily surrounded and sleeping ladies and children speared to death. Situation unsettled."

A Marvellous Result.

Mr. A. R. took out ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy No. 6332 in Canada Life Co. for Five Thousand Dollars in the year 1868. He was then 25 years of age.

The Premium paid was $181 a year for 10 years.....$1,810.

Notice the Result.

The total profits added to the Policy to end of 1894 and for which he holds a certificate amounts to the enormous sum $3,281

The holder therefore has been credited not only with every cent paid for premiums, but also Fourteen Hundred and Seventy One Dollars in addition, besides receiving a fully paid up policy for the original Five Thousand Dollars, which still participates in profits.

Now This is What we Want to Know!

This is a Peterborough Policy! Is there any citizen of Peterborough with an ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy either in Canadian, British or American Co, which shows anything like as large profits as this one?

If there is, we should esteem it a great favour if we are allowed to see it, as we have been looking for such a one for years and so far have not been able to find it.

Big Attraction on Band Night.

Mr. R. M. Roy has kindly consented to give a free lime-light exposition of all his beautiful series of views from Toronto to Niagara Falls, on Friday evening next, the night of the band rehearsal in Inverlea Park. This exhibition is given to illustrate the sights and scenes along the route to be taken by the Foresters' Excursion on Civic Holiday. There will be a big crowd—wind and weather permitting.

It Will be Welcome.

The Lindsay Post says that one of its representatives Tuesday morning had the pleasure of visiting the round house. It had been newly whitewashed, and that by machinery, after the style of the World's Fair buildings. A patent spraying whitewasher did the work, and it is done fully as well as if it had been done by hand. The machine has been sent to Peterborough and will be operated in the sheds down there.

They Enjoyed Themselves.

Those taking in the excursion of the choirs to Burleigh yesterday had a most enjoyable time indeed. After embarking on the Columbian, at Chemong, a pleasant trip up the Lakes was experienced and a short stop made at Burleigh, after which the steamer passed on and those inclined were treated to a sail through the islands of Stony Lake. On the return trip a number of choruses were sung on the boat, and Chemong was safely reached at nine o'clock without an accident or disagreeable incident to report. The train was in waiting at the wharf, in charge of Conductor Heiskell, and the excursionists were brought back to town thoroughly delighted with the day's outing. The Sons of England Band was in attendance and acquitted itself admirably during the day.

Not Satisfied With the Measurement.

Last Night's Excursion.

The members of the Mark street church Epworth League held a very successful moonlight excursion on the Otonabee last evening. True the moon did not make its appearance, but the night was an ideal one for an outing on the water, and the large number that boarded the North Star thoroughly enjoyed themselves. The excursionists were taken as far as Hale's Bridge. A musical programme was carried out by the members of the League, and the boat returned to the wharf at an early hour, all being satisfied with the outing.

Married on Credit.

A good thing is told on a clergyman who resides not a great many miles north of Brockville. Not long since his residence was visited by a nice looking young man, accompanied by a well-dressed young lady, who wished the parson to say the word that would make them one. The groom pressed into the clergyman's hand a small envelope. It would be rude to open it in the presence of the blushing bride and her new found treasure, but as soon as they were out of sight the envelope was opened. No wonder the parson swooned as he read on a slip of paper enclosed: "Strapped; will meet you at prayer meeting Wednesday night; God bless you."

The Prospects for Apples.

Messrs. H. M. Peterson & Co., Toronto, have issued the following circular:—"We have recently returned from Great Britain and the continent. When we left, there was every promise of a large crop of good quality. We have not yet gone through the apple producing districts of Canada and the United States, but from reports so far received we are inclined to think the yield will be heavy in Kansas, Arkansas, Missouri, Iowa, Illiois and the Western States to the Pacific coast. Michigan and Wisconsin leave us in doubt, as reports vary. In New York the yield will be considerably heavier than last year, while in the New England States and Nova Scotia the yield will be somewhat lighter. We believe the exports from Ontario will be heavier than last year and the quality better. We have no reliable reports from Quebec.

Canadian Forestry.

Mr. F. J. Jameson, member of the Executive Committee, Canadian Order of Foresters, returned on Saturday from Brantford, where the Executive Board had been in session last week. The reports from all parts of the Dominion are very gratifying—new courts being organized and the membership of the older courts largely augmented. Organization work in Quebec and the Maritime Provinces is being vigorously pushed forward, while in Manitoba, British Columbia and the Northwest Territories this purely Canadian society occupies a forward position among the fraternal beneficiary institutions of the country. The surplus for payment of death claims is rolling up steadily, and on the 1st of August had reached the sum of $400,670.25. Members of the Order in this section will be interested in learning that $20,000 of this fund was placed on special deposit in the Bank of Montreal here, this morning. The balance is invested in the leading monetary institutions of the Dominion—$100,000 being invested in the Dominion of Canada Stock.

HOLBROOK TURNS UP.

He Gives Evidence, and is then Taken in Charge by Constable Moore.

Yesterday the Holbrook case, which has awakened considerable interest in Havelock, came up for hearing at the Court House. Mr. Dumble acted as County Police Magistrate, on account of the law firm of Messrs. Edmison & Dixon being solicitors in a civil suit in which Holbrook is interested. Mr. R. E. Wood, County Crown Attorney, prosecuted, and Mr. W. A. Stratton defended the case.

The charge against Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Sampson was for forcible entry upon the lands of Mrs. Henry Weese, daughter of Mr. Jas. Holbrook.

It appears that Mr. Jas. Holbrook in July last sold his farm in Belmont to Mrs. Sampson, she paying him $2,600 for the place by giving him a mortgage. Subsequently she went to take possession, but Mrs. Weese ordered her off the premises, asserting that her father had given her a deed some five years ago.

There was some altercation on several occasions between Mrs. Weese and Mr. Sampson and some of his friends, and as a result the criminal law was invoked.

The defence produced Mr. Jas. Holbrook, whose disappearance created some sensation a short time ago. He was submitted to a cross examination of over an hour. There was a charge of insanity pending against him, and a warrant for his arrest as a dangerous lunatic was in the pocket of County Constable Moore. Mr. Holbrook gave himself up to answer both charges. Throughout his examination—although sometimes eccentric—he displayed a remarkably sound memory.

The Police Magistrate committed Sampson for trial at the fall assizes.

Holbrook was then taken in charge by Constable Moore, and taken before Mr. W. Mathison, J.P., at Havelock, who remanded the prisoner until Friday next.

THAT HARVEY ASSAULT CASE.

The Magistrate Reserved Judgment Until Saturday.

County Police Magistrate Edmison has reserved judgment till Saturday in the case in which Fred Bennett preferred a charge of assault against Geo. Trainor and his wife, and their two sons, George and Thomas. All of the parties concerned reside in Harvey on adjacent farms, and the case originated through the cattle of the Trainer's trespassing on the Bennett property, and a quarrel arising therefrom. Mr. E. B. Stone appeared for the prosecution and Mr. A. P. Poussette, Q.C., for the defence.

It appears that after Bennett had laid the information against the Trainor's, the senior Trainor called on Mr. Edmison and wished to get a warrant for the arrest of Bennett. The magistrate informed him that if the evidence adduced warranted the issue of the warrant he would take the necessary proceedings.

This, it appears, did not satisfy Mr. Trainor and he forthwith procured a warrant from the local magistrate at Young's Point, who had Bennett arraigned and fined $1. Trainor was then fined a like amount, with costs, amounting in all to about $7.

When Trainor appeared before Police Magistrate Edmison he informed the court that he had already been punished.

The case was a very interesting one, and was fought out to the very end.

SAID TO BE ROBBERY.

Mr. Scriber had $23, but he Hasn't them Now.

Mr. J. B. Scriber, Murray street, called at the EXAMINER to-day, and stated that sometime during the night an entrance was made to his residence, and his pants containing the sum of $23, taken from a chair near the door of the room in which both he and his wife were sleeping. The pants were found this morning in the woodshed with the pockets reversed. Mr. Scriber and his wife heard no noise of any kind during the night, and is of the opinion that an entrance was forced into the house during the day, and that the burglar had secreted himself until an opportunity was presented to carry out his plans. The burglar left the back door open in taking his departure.

CARD OF THANKS.

H. J. Smith, Esq., Asst. Supt., London Life Insurance Company, London.

DEAR SIR,—Please accept my thanks for the prompt manner in which your company has paid the death claim of $73.50, endowment plan of Industrial Insurance, upon the life of my daughter, Glennie Isabella, aged 12 years, who died August 3rd. Industrial Insurance in this case was of much benefit to me at this time.

Yours truly,
MARGARET ANN DOBBIN.

MOST INVALUABLE.

The New Specific Remedy is Being Extensively Used at Ottawa.

Ottawa, July 22.—The marvellous recovery of Mr. G. H. Kent, of this city, from Bright's disease by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills is still fresh in the memories of Ottawa people, and the remedy is being freely recommended both by druggists and private citizens. The similar wonderful cures of Dr. A. G. McCormick, of Richmond, Quebec, and Mr. Arthur Coley, of Somerset, Manitoba, to say nothing of many others, are generally quoted in favour of the assertion that no remedy of modern times has gone so successfully through a severe trial, and been so efficacious in all cases of kidney trouble. It is also proving itself invaluable in the milder forms of sickness which appear during the summer.

EMERALD BENEFICIAL ASSOCIATION.

Nineteenth Annual Conventon Opened in Toronto Yesterday.

The nineteenth annual convention of the Emerald Beneficial Association was opened in McCaul street hall, Toronto, Tuesday morning, there being present the Rev. Father Hayden, C.S.S.R., the Grand Lodge officers, and representatives from Ottawa, Hamilton, Peterborough, London, Lindsay, Stratford, Almonte, Toronto Junction and elsewhere.

Rev. Father Hayden eloquently welcomed the visitors to the city, after which the various committees were appointed.

The Grand President then presented his annual address, which reviewed the progress made during the past year, and contained a number of valuable suggestions for the development of the work during the present year.

The reports of the secretary and treasurer gave detailed accounts of the affairs of the Grand Lodge, and were referred to the Committee on Finance. Among other communications read was one from Bishop Dowling, of Hamilton, speaking encouragingly of the good work of the E. B. A. in that city.

A subject that is likely to cause an interesting debate during the session is that of the proposed centralization of sick benefits in the Grand Lodge. The session adjourned at noon, and the members spent the afternoon at a picnic at Island Park, on invitation of the local branches, and participated in an interesting programme of games.

Messrs. J. J. Lynch and J. Daly are the representatives in attendance from Branch No. 21 of Peterborough.

They are extra value at 75c, 85c, $1.50, $1.75, at Grafton & Co.

THIS MEANS WORK AND WAGES.

So mote it be. Anything to clear the stock in a few days! If you're too busy, send your wife to buy the stuff, then come yourself and leave your measure at Dolan's corner store. We're going to quit 'mid a blaze of glory!

THE WHEEL.

The bicycle track at the Driving Park is being put in magnificent condition under the experienced eye of Mr. Sam Ray. It was well harrowed and has been scraped down until it is as firm as a board, and even in better shape than it was last year. Geo. Hopkins confidentially expects to see some records smashed on the 15th and 20th of this month, on which dates races will be held. The local riders are training hard and expect to keep some of the prizes at home. Unfortunately Lytle's accident to his knee will bar him from participating, when there was every reason to suppose that he would make a remarkably good showing.

Some of the officers have been selected for the race meet on the 15th. Amongst them are :

Judge—A. H. Stratton, Peterborough.
Referee—Geo. H. Orr, Toronto.
Timers—E. W. Gaudrie, Campbellford; Hope McGinnis, Belleville.
Starter—Will Lech, Peterborough.
Clerk-of-the-Course—S. D. Ewing, Peterborough.
Official Scorers—Will Buchanan and Alf Terrill, Peterborough.

Mr. Hopkins and Mr. Ewing leave on Saturday for Toronto to make arrangements for the appearance of all the fast men of that city here on the Civic Holiday. The Sarnia racing men may also be expected.

LACROSSE.

A despatch received at noon to-day from Millbrook states that the III Peterborough were successful in defeating the Millbrook juniors by 4 goals to 1.

A number of the admirers of the national game in town are anxious to see a match arranged between the Athletics and the Orillia team. They are of the opinion that the local club can successfully compete with the old-time rival this season and if the two teams could be brought together a large number would certainly turn out to witness the game. If Orillia cannot be induced to play, why not communicate with Bradford? They are sweeping everything before them this year.

The Athletics have made arrangements with the Tecumsehs of Toronto, for a game here on Aug. 19th, Toronto's civic holiday. The Tecumsehs are considered one of the swiftest teams in the province, and Peterborough defeated them a number of years ago on the P.A.A.A. grounds. This will be the game of the season.

On Friday the Athletics go to Cobourg, where they cross sticks with the team of that town. The local team will go by boat to Harwood, where they will take the Grand Trunk to Cobourg. The citizens of Cobourg are quite enthusiastic over lacrosse this season, and no doubt a large number will witness the game. Arrangements will be made to have the Cobourgs play the return match on Aug. 15th, Civic Holiday.

POACHERS IN HUDSON'S BAY.

American Whalers Ruining a Valuable Fishery.

Ottawa, Aug. 7.—Governor Shults has just sent a communication to the Government here, drawing attention anew to the actions of American whaling vessels at mouth of the Mackensie River. The information which he forwards is gathered from the letter of a misionary who spent last winter in that inhospitable region. It is to the effect that no less than 100 United States whaling vessels wintered at Herschell Island. Complaints have frequently been made of late years by the Hudson Bay Company, who have protested to the Government against the unfair competition to which they are subjected by the operations of these intruders in the far north. All the Hudson Bay supplies which are brought into the country pay duty upon entry, while the goods which the whalers trade to the Esquimaux pay no customs tax whatever, there being no organization in these districts.

Another objection is that by means of the traffic Indians are supplied with spirits, with the usual demoralising effect.

Apart from these objections there is the further consideration of which the Government is bound to take notice, sooner or later, namely, the destruction of the very valuable fisheries by these foreign intruders. American whalers have a station at Point Burrow on the Behring Strait. From this point, however, they are unable to enter Arctic waters in time to benefit by the early fishing, whereas, by wintering at Herschell Island, they can commence operations almost with the first breaking up of winter, as the immense body of water going out of Mackenzie River clears the estuary of drift ice for many miles out to sea. It is during this early period of the year, especially, that great numbers of whales and other sea animals are captured by the visiting foreigners.

In view of the value of these fisheries and the harmful effects upon the native population which this illicit trading involves, it is more than likely that before long the Government will be induced to send an expedition to the mouth of the Mackenzie River. As a matter of fact very little is known concerning the resources of that great section of country and of the waters which flow through it or wash its lovely shores during summer months. The Hudson Bay Company have never been very communicative on these subjects, although it is well known that a very considerable portion of their valuable stock of furs and the like comes from the Mackenzie River country.

Hon. John Wood, Controller of Inland Revenue, leaves to-morrow for Montreal and Quebec on a tour of inspection.

Sir Adolphe Caron and Hon. J. A. Ouimet left this afternoon for Montreal. The Postmaster-General will return to-morrow evening. The object of his departure was to bid farewell to his sister, a nun, who is going to African Missions.

Hon. John Haggart went west again to-day, and will not return till the 9th.

Chief Engineer Schreiber is inspecting the works at the Soo Canal. He will make a thorough examination of the channel, to be certain that it is entirely free from obstructions before the canal is formally opened for navigation.

Now that the question of imposing a duty of 25 per cent. on Canadian dressed lumber has been taken up by United States authorities, the Canadian Government is being generally congratulated by lumber men on this side of the line for their foresight in last session imposing a duty of 25 per cent. on dressed lumber imported from countries where similar Canadian lumber is not admitted free. The matter of imposing duty upon Canadian dressed lumber is now before a board of appraisers in the United States and is being watched with interest by Canadian lumbermen, and especially those of Ottawa, as the consignment upon which the question arose was shipped from this city recently. It was a car-load of planed and tongued and grooved red pine destined for New York. It was claimed by some American authorities that the lumber was more than "dressed," according to ordinarily accepted meaning of the term. They contended that the fact of it being tongued and grooved displaced it from the category of "dressed" lumber, as "dressed" simply meant lumber planed on both sides. This contention was upheld by the board of arbitrators, but the shippers afterwards appealed to next higher tribunal, the Board of Appraisers, by whom the matter is now being considered. Lumbermen here regard it as a case of hair-splitting. It is understood Canadian custom authorities decided not to take any immediate action in the matter of levying reciprocal dues on imported American dressed lumber, pending decision of the Board of Appraisers in New York.

IN THE ELECTRIC CHAIR.

Richard Leach, a Wife-Murderer, Executed Eight Months After Sentence.

New York, Aug. 6.—Richard Leach was electrocuted yesterday for the murder of his common law wife, Mary H. Leach. He was a young man, and by occupation a florist. He met the woman whom he murdered at a resort in Twenty-sixth-street. She was no better than the police of that part of the town said she was. She went to live with Leach. It is said she was very much in love with him. If she had confined her attentions to loving him it would have been all right, but unfortunately she thought more about whisky than she did about him. Leach, led by her, soon fell into a habit of drinking too much, and in a fit of drunkenness, it is said, he killed her. The murder took place December 11, 1894. A little more than a month later, January 16, 1895, Leach's trial began. The defence was that the woman committed suicide. The jury, however, found Leach guilty of murder in the first degree, and the date of his execution was fixed by the court. His counsel appealed the case, but the Supreme Court affirmed the decision reached in the lower court.

Leach's case is remarkable, inasmuch as his execution took place about eight months after his crime, an almost unprecedented period in these days of stays and appeals.

British Wheat Crop.

London, Aug. 6.—The Mark Lane Express, in an article upon the wheat crop in Great Britain says that reports from the various districts in England show the yield this year to be 78.4 per cent. of the average. The yield in Wales is 80 per cent. of the average and in Scotland 83.1 per cent., making the entire crop for Great Britain 22 per cent. behind that of last year.

The harvest is now in progress, but the weather is unfavorable.

Five Killed in a Fight With Incendiaries.

Berlin, Aug. 6.—A despatch from Kreuzburg says a number of field laborers in Argenau, having become discontented, for some reason, and desiring to be revenged for their grievance, set fire to the buildings upon an estate there. The authorities were called upon to arrest the laborers, who resisted the officers, and in the fight which ensued five persons were killed and six wounded. The buildings upon the estate were entirely destroyed and all the horses and cattle were burned to death.

BIG PROFITS —ON— Small Investments

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful Speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our Systematic Plan of Speculation

originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.
It is a well-known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.
It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plain are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.
Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.
WRITE FOR CONVINCING PROOF, also our Manual on successful speculation and our Daily Market Report, full of money-making pointers. ALL FREE. Our Manual explains margin trading fully. Highest references in regard to our standing and success.

THE YOUNG CZARINA.

SOMETHING THAT NICHOLAS II. HOPES TO SEE SOON.

Ceremonies at the Christening—Anointment With Oil Brought From Constantinople—Baby Grand Dukes Shown Without Clothes at Their First Public Function.

The young Czarina of Russia is superintending just now the preparation of a layette, and all the world is interested in the expected advent of an heir to the Russian throne.

Elaborate ceremonies always surround the birth of a royal child in Russia, perhaps more conspicuously than elsewhere. The christening, according to the ritual in the Greek Church, must take place as soon as possible after the birth. The baby's christening robes are marvels of the needleworker's art. The first godfather, who is always a high and mighty person, gives the child a gold cross inlaid with jewels, and the godmother provides the little white shirt which is used before the ceremony is completed. The occasion requires gifts from all persons connected with the court. These gifts are often the toys most likely to amuse a tiny infant, although many are suitable for a grown child. Other gifts may be bands or jewels.

At the christening the child is carried in the arms of the godmother to the church or chapel. A crowd of royalty and nobility glittering in brilliant uniforms and gala toilets, fill the body of the church and stand grouped round the font. The priests wear magnificent robes, with gold crosses, and sacred banners are bourne before them. Two deacons carry portraits of Christ or the Virgin Mary.

The godfathers give the priests nine wax candles, which are lighted and fastened across the font. The priest incenses, the godfathers and godmothers and consecrates the water with many ceremonies. Then a procession is formed round the font by those taking part in the ceremony, each one bearing a lighted wax taper. The name of the child is given in writing to the priest, who puts the paper on an image which he holds on the child's breast, meanwhile saying a prayer. When the priest asks if the child forsakes the devil and his works, the godparents turn their backs to the font to show their horror and aversion to the question and answer "yes." They again face the font, and the priest takes the child, which is quite naked, and, holding it by the head, so his thumb and finger stop the ears, dip it three times in the water, pronouncing the words: "I baptize thee in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost."

The chrism, or baptismal unction, which is called the seal of the gift of the Holy Ghost, immediately follows baptism. In performing this ceremony the priest annoints the child with holy oil; on the eyes, in order that it may see only good; on the ears, that these may admit only what is pure; on the mouth, that it may speak as becomes a Christian; on the hand, that it may do no wrong, and on the feet, that they may only tread in paths of virtue. At the end of this ceremony, the shirt, which the godmother has provided, is put on the child by the priest, who says "Thou are as clean and as clear from original sin as this shirt; thou art baptized; thou art sanctified, thou art washed in the name of the Trinity." The cross, which has been given by the godfather, the child is under obligations to wear all its life. If this cross be not found upon the child at death, the priest says to the godparents, the child may not have Christian burial, even though he be the son of a hundred kings. A particular saint is also assigned to the child, whose image he is charged to cherish with special devotion.

Holy oil, or chrism, which is used at royal baptisms, coronations and consecration of churches, is prepared with elaborate ceremony. There is a copper vase, overlaid with pearl and called the alabaster, in which is kept the original oil sent from Constantinople when Christianity was introduced into Russia. A few drops are taken to prepare the chrism and are replaced with other oil, so the quantity never decreases. Wine, roses, lavander, balsams and spices are mixed with the oil.

Forty days after the birth of the child, its mother, the Empress, is churched, and the infant is received visibly into Christ's church by the giving of its first sacrament. When the royal gates are opened during mass, the deacon appears with the chalice. The baby is carried to the steps, and the priest, coming forward, puts a drop of wine into its mouth with a spoon, saying: "The servant of God communicates in the name of the Father, the Son and the Holy Ghost."

There is no such ceremony as confirmation in the Russian church, but the child continues to receive the sacrament from its baptism, twice a year, at Easter and on its saint's day, until it is seven years old, when it is brought to the confession on Good Friday.

The social functions attendant upon a birth in the royal family are very elaborate. They last several days. All the riches and magnificence of the court and nobility are displayed. At night the illuminations transform the capitals. Lamps are removed from the street posts, and in their places shine illuminated stars and circles. All house fronts, roofs and chimneys are outlined with lights. The trees are full of festoons of Chinese lanterns, and from every limb hang globes of glass in red, yellow, blue and green, each formed and hung so as to resemble fruit. The houses of the nobility look like fairy palaces. The gardens are ablaze with light, and everywhere appear the burning monograms of the Emperor and Empress.

On the day the child dons its first shoes the Czarina gives 300 or 400 pairs to be distributed among the poor children of St. Petersburg. These are ordinary shoes, of course, not a bit like the royal baby's, which are of white leather, embroidered with gold.

The nurse of a royal Russian child is always gorgeous in her apparel. She wears a rich velvet skirt with two broad bands of gold round it, a bodice of black velvet, fastened with silver buttons, and round her neck a golden chain. This is the dress for ordinary days. For state occasions there are other costumes even more elaborate.

That Tired Feeling

Is a common complaint and it is a dangerous symptom. It means that the system is debilitated because of impure blood, and in this condition it is especially liable to attacks of disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the remedy for this condition, and also for that weakness which prevails at the change of season, climate or life.

Hood's Pills act easily, yet promptly and efficiently on the bowels and liver. 25c.

Deadly Cancer Cured By B. B. B

HERE IS THE PROOF.

Messrs. T. Milburn & Co:

SIRS,—About four years ago I was taken sick with stomach trouble. I consulted several leading local physicians, all of whom pronounced my disease incurable cancer of the stomach, and told me I had not long to live. Two physicians attending me gave me up to die. Through reading your advertisement, and by advice of friends, I tried your Burdock Blood Bitters and I am happy to say that after using one bottle I was able to leave my bed which I had been confined to for a long time. I am thankful now to state that B.B.B. cured my disease which baffled the doctors, and I am firmly convinced saved my life. Gratefully yours,

Y.P.S.C.E. NOTES.

BOSTON, '95—14TH CONVENTION.

Report Culled from the Golden Rule by an Absentee:

A great convention, by far the greatest of all Christian Endeavour conventions.

The most prominent feature, though not the most important, is the majesty of overpowering numbers. The young Christians of the world have held the largest religious assembly ever convened in the world's history, there being 56,435 delegates present.

Looked at a little more deeply than the surface, the main feature was its splendid exhibition of patriotism, inspiring a love for all that is noble and worthy in one's native land, and arousing a burning indignation against all that would pollute her or fetter her progress. One speaker said that "C. E." stook for "Cities Emancipated," "Country Evangelised," and "Christ Enthroned."

Another element in its greatness was the fact that never before in a C.E. convention was there so full a "Parliament of Nations." They came from all parts of the globe. This resulted in the formation of a World's Christian Endeavour Union. Triennial World's Conventions are to be held, the first at Washington next year. No student of the C. E. movement will fail to see the immense significance of this step. May God bless the World's Society of Christian Endeavour.

The convention was great in the fourth place because, more than all previous conventions, it was evangelistic—in this lay the supreme greatness of this mighty gathering.

No previous conventions exhibited so fine an interdenominational fellowship as this. Misunderstandings of the C. E. spirit and purposes have almost passed away.

It was a convention of high aims, an inspiring convention, a far-seeing convention, a fearless convention. In short, it was a convention of Christian Endeavor. That includes everything.

As we gather in Washington next year there will certainly be shown such splendid results from this fourteenth convention of Christian Endeavour societies as will make joy in earth and heaven. To that end let us all work and pray.

WEDNESDAY.

Mechanic's hall,—Tent Endeavour and Tent Williston, each holding ten thousand, were packed to the doors at the first meeting and so all through the convention. Such a sight is never to be forgotten. Dr. Dille described the meeting in a sentence. "What are you going to do at your convention?" some one asked him on the way. "Do? Do? Why we will do what they do in heaven. We'll sing and pray, and pray and sing and tell the glories of the Lamb."

Secretary Baer reported a gain of 7,750 new societies in the past year, making a total of 41,229, with a membership of 2,473,740. Great Britain has 2,645, Canada 3,105, Australia 1,509, India 117, the smallest number reported was Mexico, 25. England has again won the banner for the greatest absolute gain. Assiniboia takes home two banners leading in greatest proportionate increase with both seniors and juniors.

After careful inquiry we find that the societies in the United States and Canada have given $425,000 for home and foreign missions.

In the United States the Presbyterians lead in number of societies. The Baptists lead in Great Britain, and the Methodists in Canada and Australia.

302,185 associate members joined the church last year.

On the temperance question the report said: "We believe the liquor traffic is the implacable enemy of righteousness and purity, and of Christ and His church. The saloon must go."

THURSDAY.

The afternoon was devoted to denominational rallies. These were the most successful of any yet held, and will strengthen the loyalty to denomination of every member.

The evening meetings were all packed. The speakers at the three meetings were three giants, Moody, Conwell and Woolley. President Clark's annual address was read at each of the meetings. Mr. Moody said, "I have no fear for the Christian Endeavour movement, if it keep close to the Word of God."

A favourite at every convention and a prince among temperance orators was the speaker at Tent Endeavour. If there is one man in this country, the flash, the stroke, the quiver and out of whose tongue makes the devil tremble, cringe and cry out, that man is John G. Woolley, whose sword has been forged and sharpened in the hot flames of Satan's own alcohol. As the result of his eloquence, "Down with the saloon" will be re-echod in thousands of deeds.

The appropriate title of Dr. Clarke's address was "The Responsibilities of Success." He urged five things on the Endeavour host:

1st Humble, unselfish devotion to the cause of Christ.

2nd. Loyalty to the Bible and earnest study of it. Loyalty unswerving to all denominational interests.

3rd. Clear appreciation of and loyalty to the distinctive Christian Endeavour principles. To be an Endeavour Society you must have a pledge, consecration meeting, the principal committees, maintain the standard.

4th. Follow the providential paths that God has marked out for the movement, along lines of better citizenship and missionary efforts.

5th. Seek fuller fellowship. So far as we have been allowed by our superiors, we represent the undivided evangelical Young People of America. Never again will the devil laugh because Christians are busier fighting one another than they are fighting him. The proposed World's Christian Endeavour Union will still farther cement our unity.

FRIDAY.

The morning was devoted to discussions of C. E. principles, the afternoon to committee conferences, and the evening to a parliament of nations, when the wide field of the world was heard from. "All ye are brethren," we have said over and over again, but none of us ever more fully realized it than on Friday evening, the "fellowship night" of the convention. Every corner of the earth gave up its best to these meetings.

The three meetings of Saturday morning discussed that scheme so close to the hearts of all of us—Christian Citizenship.

The mighty throng on Boston Common were treated to a heavy rainstorm Saturday afternoon. After singing a verse each of "America" and "God Save the Queen" an adjournment was made to the hall and tents, where eloquent, patriotic and Good Citizenship addresses were given.

Saturday afternoon was an eventful hour for the Juniors. (We have no space this week for the Juniors.)

The various city pulpits were filled with visiting C. E. pastors, no regular session of the convention being held Sunday.

CONSECRATION SERVICE.

Monday, the last night, pen cannot picture the scene. Words are impotent to describe the mellowed hearts, the vows of consecration, and the eloquent hush and stillness of the last sacred hour. After the roll call of states and countries, Dr. Hoyt makes audible the prayer of every heart, the tender strains of "God be with you," are sung, "Mizpah" is softly repeated, and the convention has left the great halls to take up its abiding place in the lives of Christian Endeavourers everywhere.

[The above is but a very condensed and imperfect attempt at reporting such a great convention, but space forbids any fuller account.—[C. E. EDITOR.

"McCRACKEN'S."

"For they do such things,
And they say such things,"
—At McCracken's."

—Old Song.

To the unobservant there is little, possibly, in the bald exterior of this famous "summer resort" to attract more than passing notice.

I refer of course to "McCracken's"—"McCracken's," of Stony Lake.

The average camper on these lakes will tell you that it contains the best spring of pure cold water between Lakefield and Eels Creek. He knows, too, that all sorts of provisions may be obtained there. And he is surely not unaware of the fact that this "very desirable parcel of land," to quote the beautiful imagery of the auctioneeer's sale bills, is for a mile on either side of the Landing the property of Robert—better known as "Bob"—McCracken.

As to the origin of the irregular cluster of little frame buildings which balance themselves uncertainly on boulders just back of the wharf, he is usually divided.

Viewed duuring a rainstorm, when the white, narrow road, which twists upward from them, is fissured and seamed with running water, they suggest the possibility of their having originally been the outbuildings of some up-country farm, and of having slid down hill in a freshet and providentially stuck fast just short of the water. Seen when a nor'wester is abroad and the white-caps are chasing each other across the eel weeds toward shore they have the appearance of having come ashore with the driftwood and been bumped against the hill. I have only met one person yet who claimed to have been impressed with the idea that they were built here. Yet Mr. McCracken tells me they were. They are the boathouse, the ice house, and the "store" house of the said McCracken. The one other building, an amphibious, ark-like structure, which swings at anchor near the wharf, is known as "the float." It was once a raftsman's crib, but having been divorced from the raft on which it once perched was towed into the landing one dark night last summer. It has since served as a sort of summer residence and depot for camp supplies. Across the weather-stained front a simple legend tells the story of its hopes and aspirations: "Home-made Bread And buns Sold here, also new-laid Eggs and milk. Also Fish-worms and minneys when Ordered."

Such is McCracken's. Up over the hill squats the little log "farm" house in which four generations of McCrackens have lived and loved, dodged rain water and wrestled with frost. And all around it are the ancestral pines and cedars and the rocks upon a thousand hills. And leading to it and to the Landing runs a marvelously crooked road. A road which, limping in and out for miles among moss-covered limestone and granite, finally terminates a stone-bruised, solitary existence by plunging down hill with suicidal desperation straight into the water. Aside from the vast amount of fish fiction which one may gather any evening in the week by joining the little groups which come together in canoes and punts down at the wharf, the place is not without its more poetic legends. One of these latter tells of a certain "Captain Tom," who, once upon a time, pitched his wigwam where our camp stands.

"Me father of'en seen 'im, sor," said an aged man with weak eyes and a salival infirmity, to me to-day. "Some sayed he had Injun blood in 'im, but me father says no. However, he always wore a bright coloured sash an' sword, an' on bright moonlight nights you'd see 'm walkin' up an' down, walkin' up and down, all night, mutterin' to himself an' callin' out to 'stan' back,' an' to 'keep aff.' Some sayed," continued my informant, "that he hed been a pirate chief in his own country an' hed escaped to Dummer here for fear of th' law. A good many folks sayed no, that him an' a brother first come here from England for th' trappin' an' fishin', an' huntin', an' hed warrum words one night about a good-lookin' squaw they knowed, an' he kilt th' brother an' buried him sacret th' same night, an' was always a little beside himself after. He was on th' point yous is campin' fur more 'n a year," concluded the old gentleman, knocking the ashes out of his pipe, as he gazed thoughtfully around to where Mr. McCracken was bailing out his punt, the "Undine." "In the year '32, and just about this time o' th' year, we had a storrum here that done a turrible dale of damage. Trees was blowed down an' cattle killed by th' lightnin'. He disappeared that night, an' on th' white ash down there forneent ye—a purty small three it was then—he hed pinned up some po'try on birch bark about his heart it was broke, and his mem'ry had woke—but I misremember th' words—and was never seen afther."

I give this "Captain Tom" story for what it is worth, but I desire to say right here that I don't take much stock in a legend which alleges that a man was ever buried on this farm.

He might have been cremated here, but no man was yet born who was so thin and flat as to make possible his burial here. To those who have tried to drive tent pegs or get down deep enough for fishworms in this rock-ribbed soil this statement must always serve to cast discredit upon the entire narrative. But that there was a man called Tom here once we dare not doubt, for is it not yet known among the old settlers as "Tom's Landing?" And, finally, is it not true that an empty square-shouldered bottle with a half obliterated label marked Old Tom, was found here two seasons ago. As Mr. Miscampbell, M.L.A., would say, we trow so.

The weather during the past two or three days has been rough and squally and the waves have not once doffed their white caps for two days. Previous to that fishing was fairly good and both bass and 'lunge have been taken freely. Down at this end of the lake we heard of a 27 pound 'lunge, which was taken near Burleigh last week. Up to Burleigh there is a story current among the American guests at at the hotel that a 36-pound 'lunge was killed here. As soon as I locate the scene of carnage and view the remains, I will report at a greater length. I caught one myself last week weighing something less than that, but I can produce no evidence. We had him for breakfast, together with a smaller bass the following morning. But a 20-pound 'lunge was certainly killed here Saturday.

Owing to the continuous rains the lake has risen over a foot during the past seven days, and is still rising.

Few small boats are to be seen on the lake; and the camper who has a good waterproof tent, with plenty of books to read, may felicitate himself. Otherwise he might as well be in Toronto on Sunday. To-night the rain has ceased, but the sky is dark and full of hurrying clouds and the wind is driving a mist before it which penetrates like rain.

Across the bay a light shines on the "float," sending a long broken reflection deep into the water, and a voice, which seems choked with emotion, and fog, is wailing out a dirge-like Irish song, with two hundred and fifty verses in it at least.

Across the clearing a whip-poor-will, urged to emulation doubtless by the singer on the "float," started up bravely once, but there was neither encore nor answering note, and so he stopped. A damp and melancholy owl overhead roused up a little later and demanded "Who? who?" but no answer was vouchsafed him and he, too, subsided.

But that good old lullaby of the wind in the pines, and the lapping of the water on shore, is gathering in strength.

It may not drown the melancholy singer but, as we test the guy ropes and prepare to turn in, we try to hope it may outlast him.

But it is good betting.

S. HUNTER.

Summer Comes

With the flowers and sunshine. The pour out their melody and the chirp of the grasshopper will soon tempt the fisherman to stretch forth his hands and grasp the shadow of his flight. The playful mosquito will do her nicest to soothe weary pleasure seekers into the realms of slumber, and the stinging, aching corns will remove every semblance or comfort, make sad the songs of the birds, and evoke chaudiness in the soul, that even the brightest sunshine cannot dispel. Corns are thorns in the flesh, but Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor removes them in twenty-four hours.

NOT HIGH PRICED BUT FAIR PRICED

We're at the end of the first half of our year's business. Its been good, we know it. Buyers know it. The good feeling that comes from a successful trade is the best incentive to a merchant to do better by his customers.

That's the way we feel about it. Our goods are never high priced. Always Fair priced. Frequently low priced. We couldn't live and succeed if all our prices were low. Our prices are always what others call low, but a real low cut down price with us means selling without a profit—except the profit we have in clearing our shelves. There is a little profit in this sort yet for us in keeping our Summer Sale going for a little time. In a few weeks New Fall goods will be pouring in. We must have room. Help us. The builders are now busy making extensive alterations in our premises making 3 stores into 1. All the interior is being changed, both in plan and fixtures from cellar to garret and will be when completed one of the most handsome and convenient shops to do business in, in the Dominion. We will have room for seventeen different departments on the ground floor and any lady will be able to purchase anything she wishes without having to ascend a stair.

The Counters for the Millinery and Small Wares Departments in the centre of the store are now being made at the Dominion Art Woodwork Coy's, Toronto, they have oak frames, plate glass tops and double diamond glass fronts and glass shelf in centre. They are very handsomely gotten up and are useful as well as ornamental, showing everything in a department without being asked for. They will be the first of the kind in use in Canada and similar to those being put in one of our city stores lately destroyed by fire.

We do not expect to be through our alterations until 1st Sept, but in the meantime business will go on as usual when we will clear out the balance of our summer stock at prices that will be a benefit to those who visit our noisy and dusty store. Our fall purchases are now coming forward direct from the different manufacturers in Europe where ever desirable and will be opened in due season.

BRISK FALL TRADE.

Looked for by the Montreal Wholesale Houses.

THE PROSPECTS VERY BRIGHT

Country Dealers Are Meeting Payments Promptly and Buying Freely and There Is a General Revival of Business — Harvesting Commenced in Manitoba.

Montreal, Aug. 8. — The other day when your correspondent asked the Montreal bankers how the fourth had been passed, they said: "Wait two or three days, and then interview the wholesale men and they will give you a good idea as to the state of trade throughout the country." This advice was carried out and the following is the opinion of representative houses in the leading branches of trade.

Gault Brothers, drygoods, said: "The outlook is very hopeful, and although the returns are not all in it can be already said that payments have been well met. There is also one thing to note, and that is the rise in values. Cottons are on the rise and woolens are stiffer, so people are keener to buy on a rising market. Purchasers have become quite conservative in their dealings and we do not apprehend any trouble, in fact the outlook is much more hopeful. One of our men has just returned from British Columbia and the Northwest and he reports that the new feeling has taken hold of the people. Better ddys have certainly dawned."

Crathern, Caverhill & Co., hardware: "We have a great deal to be thankful for in Canada," was the senior member's reply to the question. "Payment have been very well met by us, and our advices are to the effect that a new courage has taken possession of the country traders. Quebec Province, so far, holds the lead, but Ontario is better than last year, and a large batch of orders from the Northwest would indicate things are much better up there." Mr Crathern complains however, that the bad laws of the Lower Provinces place the Montreal creditor at a disadvantage, and strongly advocates one insolvency law for the whole Dominion. The Montreal Board of Trade had done their best, but politicians want votes, and so far such efforts had been unavailing.

John McLean & Co., millinery: "Payments have been well met, and indications are that there will be a larger number of buyers at the opening sales this fall than ever before. Quebec Province is in the best condition financially, although Ontario is all right. The Ottawa Valley is likewise good, and in looking over the entire field I do not see that we should find very much fault. It looks as if the country trade would be better this fall and winter than that of the city, unless some heavy works are started."

Laporte, Martin & Co., grocers: "Paper has been well met, and we find that the people in the country are much better off than in former years. We can see this by largely increased sales of canned and fancy goods; our Province, especially, is in good condition. The big rise in hay and the dairy industry will make Quebec very comfortable this fall.'"

A despatch received here to-day states that harvesting will be pretty general throughout the Mennonite settlements next week, and everything points to a magnificent yield. If the farmers of Manitoba get 70 cents for their grain this year they will be rich, said a gentleman from the west to-day.

WILLED AWAY HIS WIFE.

The Friend Who Received the Legacy Accepted It Cheerfully.

Bridgeport, Conn., Aug. 7.—About a year ago James Nugent arrived at Stratford, poor and friendless. James McElroy, up to the time of his death, owned a saloon in Stratford. He amassed a fortune. It was to McElroy's place that Nugent came a short time before the death of the former. A friendship was formed between the two men, which was so strong that on his deathbed McElroy gave his wife to Nugent and requested that he marry her at once. Nugent says:

"Her husband died in my arms, and he willed her to me, so I lost no time in marrying her after he was gone. McElroy said to her with his dying breath, 'I give you to Nugent, and I want you to be his wife when I'm gone.'"

The widow obeyed her husband and soon became the wife of Nugent.

WANT OUR MUTTON.

The United States Will Admit Our Sheep and Lambs.

QUARANTINE RULES ABOLISHED

The Animals Must Be Slaughtered on Arrival and a Veterinary Must Certify That the Flock and District Is Free From Any Contagious Disease.

Washington, Aug. 8.—Secretary Morton has announced that sheep and lambs intended for immediate slaughter may be admitted to the United States from Canada when accompanied by certificates as specified as follows, instead of those provided for in section 3 of the regulations of the Department of Agriculture, dated Feb. 11, 1895:

1—A certificate from the official veterinary inspector of the port of export, or the province, or district, in which the sheep or lambs were raised or fed, stating that no contagious disease affecting sheep has existed in said province or district during the past three months.

2—An affidavit from the owner or importer, that the sheep or lambs offered for importation are from the district covered by the certificate above mentioned, that they were not outside of that district during a period of three months preceding shipment, and that when not driven they have been shipped direct from said district to the port of import in clean and disinfected cars.

REALLY A TRAITOR.

Justin McCarthy Issues a Manifesto Denouncing "the Irish Party."

Dublin, Aug. 8.—The Freeman's Journal publishes a manifesto from Mr. Justin McCarthy, addressed to "My Fellow Country men."

The manifesto says that the dissensions in the ranks of the Irish party are ruinous to the Nationalists' cause, and that the disasters can only be repaired by the restoration of discipline and by the party acting loyally together. The elections would have gone better but for the action of so-called Nationalists openly trying to bring back the coercionists to power, and the more lamentable blows aimed at the Irish party by one of Mr. McCarthy's own colleagues at the most critical moment of the elections.

Continuing, Mr McCarthy says: "It would be impossible to overestimate the disastrous effects of Mr. Healy's unfounded charges at the Omagh convention, which were grossly and ludicrously untrue. I am compelled to describe Mr. Healy's action as disloyal to the party and as a breach of the ordinary code of honor. I feel bound to warn my countrymen and colleagues on the eve of the opening of Parliament of my views, which, if I am elected to the chairmanship of the party, I will enforce to the utmost of my power."

HEALY REPLIES.

No Human Authority Can Make Him Retract His Words

Dublin, Aug. 8.—Mr. Timothy Healy has adressed to Mr. Justin McCarthy, in reply to the latter's manifesto, a two-column letter, in which he details minutely his position, justifies his actions, repudiates the charges made against him, and declares that what he said at Omagh he will fully adhere to. In the letter Mr. Healy says: "Neither you, nor the Irish party, nor any human authority will secure from me either a withdrawal of the words I used at Omagh or an apology for them.

Pan-Irish Congress in Chicago.

Chicago, Aug. 7.—Committees are being selected to make arrangements to entertain the representatives of the Irish race from every part of the world, who will assemble on September 24, 25 and 26, in this city, to decide on a policy to be pursued respecting Ireland and her people. Over 1000 delegates are expected.

SELF-MUTILATION BY A MANIAC.

George McMillan's Horrible Death at Battle Creek, Mich.

Battle Creek, Mich., Aug. 8.—George McMillan, 22 years old, went insane on a Grand Trunk Railway train from Chicago on Monday night and was confined to jail here. There he mutilated himself most horribly with a knife, and to such an extent that both legs had to be amputated.

He could not survive the shock of his terrible injuries, and died in the St. Nicholas Hospital last night.

Before his death, however, he recovered his senses sufficiently to give the address of his sister in Toronto.

In his pocket was found a railway ticket from Chicago to Oakville, Ont., and a membership card in the Plumbers' Union of Chicago.

CHARGED WITH MURDER

Laurence Walsh Arrested for a Crime Committed 20 Months Ago.

Halifax, N.S., Aug. 7.—Laurence Walsh, who came here some time ago from St. John's, Nfld., was arrested last night, charged with the murder in January, 1894, of an aged St. John's shop-keeper named William McCarthy. The crime was a brutal one, the victim's head being crushed by an iron bar. McCarthy lived alone, and was said to be worth considerable money. Robbery was the motive of the deed.

Walsh does not seem to be disturbed over his arrest.

The Hired Man Again.

ALLEGED PLEURO.

A Consignment of Canadian Cattle Declared Diseased.

LANDED JULY 10 FROM MONTREAL

Local Veterinaries Declare the Animals Diseased, But No Canadian Expert Had an Opportunity to Make an Examination.

London, Aug. 8.—A claim has been made by the officials at Deptford that a number of head of cattle landed there on July 10 from the steamer Hurona from Montreal were affected with pleuro-pneumonia. The fact that the cattle were diseased was not discovered until they had been killed, when local veterinary surgeon reported that the lungs of the animals were diseased. An examination was at once ordered by the Board of Agriculture, which resulted in the confirmation of the report. Sir Charles Tupper, Canadian High Commissioner in London, was not notified of the facts of the case until recently.

No opportunity for an examination of the cattle by a Canadian expert was afforded.

THE PROHIBITION APPEAL

Close of the Argument—Judgment Reserved.

London, Aug. 7.—There was a further hearing to-day before the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, of the Canadian prohibition appeal.

Mr. Maclaren replied for the appellants.

Lord Herschell said: One of your opponents contends that the Canadian Temperance Act implied the repeal of the Prohibitory Act of the Ontario Legislature. Supposing the Temperance Act was in operation at the time the Ontario Legislature passed its restrictions, were the two acts so inconsistent that the Canadian Act repealed the Ontario Act?

Mr. Maclaren proceeded to quote the Maine Liquor Law, with a view to showing the interpretation generally given it by persons of the highest authority, when Lord Watson, interrupting, said:

"There is little good to be gained by these quotations; we are dealing with the meaning to be put on a general statement that can be obtained only by recourse to the statute, and a consideration of the meaning which the Legislature which passed it intended it to have."

Mr. Maclaren maintained that the local option law passed by Ontario was not prohibitory, as Mr. Blake had stated, but was merely a restriction of the traffic.

Lord Watson said he agreed with Mr. Blake that it was prohibitory to a certain extent and asked whether under that law a number of workingmen could not form a club so as to obtain liquor.

Mr. Maclaren replied that he thought in such a case the matter would have to be submitted to the county judge.

This closed the argument and the committee reserved judgment.

LEE-METFORD RIFLES.

The War Department Will Send an Experimental Supply to Our Militia

London, Aug. 7.—Major Wilson of the Canadian Artillery, who, with several other Canadian officers, in April last, came to England to train with the Imperial forces, has finished his course and passed his examination. He will sail for home to-morrow. The officers who accompanied him will remain a few weeks longer.

The negotiations with the War Office have resulted in an offer by that department to supply the Canadian militia with several hundreds of Lee-Metford carbines and rifles, for purposes of experiment, on favorable terms.

SUBSIDIES FOR STEAMSHIPS.

Sir Charles Tupper Addresses an Important Memorandum to Mr Chamberlain.

London, Aug. 7.—Sir Charles Tupper, Canadian High Commissioner in Londo, has addressed to Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, Secretary of State for the Colonies, an important memorandum, regarding the steamship service between England and the Dominion, and recommending thta Government assistance be given the lines running between Canada and English ports.

ROYALTY AND A CRACKED CROWN.

The Latter on a Boat's Furnace Endangered the Prince of Wales.

London, Aug. 8.—The Portsmouth Mail says that after the run of one of the torpedo boats there last week, on which occasion the Prince of Wales and the Duke of York were on board, it was discovered a few minutes after their Royal Highnesses had landed, that the furnace crown was badly cracked. If the crack had occurred when the boat was at full speed her boiler would have burst.

The Pall Mall Gazette says that the boat was the Charger, and that the break occurred last Thursday. There were a number of distinguished officers on board of her at the time. When driven at full speed the boat made 27 knots. Gun trials were to have been made aboard of her on the day the accident occurred, but they were postponed.

Terrible Condition.

I lost flesh and became depressed in spirits. Finally a friend who had been benefited by Hood's Sarsaparilla advised me to try it and I did so. THE LAW OF LIBEL.

In Canada, as elsewhere all over the world, efforts have been made, and with some degree of success, to place the public press on a footing more satisfactory than it at present occupies, as regards the law of libel. For many years the press has been in a position which can only be described as intolerable, and although the law has been somewhat amended, it must be acknowledged that much has yet to be done of a progressive character. The law bearing upon newspaper libel still requires much improvement. In Illinois the Legislature is at present called for a special session to deal with the subject. They seem to have moved slower in this respect in that State than elsewhere, for they are now apparently struggling with the most elementary principles at stake. The newspaper publishers appear to be striving to obtain such legislation as will do away with the inference of malice where mistakes are made from misinformation and misapprehension. It is obviously in the interests of publishers that wilful or mendacious newspaper work should be checked, but the law should certainly apply the doctrine of reasonable good faith to newspapers, leaving them responsible for the careful and just exercise of the liberty of publishing news. No respectable paper wishes to shrink responsibility. But from the danger of vexatious and blackmailing and "sand-bagging" prosecutions it should be protected to a greater extent than it is at present. No one but a newspaper proprietor can thoroughly understand the annoyances and loss which has been caused at times by the loose condition of the law, and the facilities it has afforded to blackmailers, assisted by some "shyster" law man who has taken up a case on spec, like Messrs. Dodson and Fogg in Pickwick, to levy blackmail on an innocent publisher. It is time the spirit of reform in this respect was abroad.

THE ORDER IN COUNCIL.

A general denunciation is going up from all Canada concerning the recent grant to the C. P. R. for mail subsidy by means of an order in council. It is not our intention to denounce the "readjustment" itself. A proposition to increase the Canadian Pacific Railway subsidy may be entirely reasonable. This is debatable ground, and it might have been covered before prorogation; it should have been so covered, and it would have been if the Government had any fit conception of its obligation to Parliament or a grain of respect for its following. To have asked for $200,000 at a time of financial stringency would have provoked a question as to the ability of the revenues to support the additional strain. This question would have provoked, in turn, an inquiry as to how the stringency had been brought about in a land flowing with National Policy milk and honey. Accordingly the Government, knowing that the majority would see it through next session was not slow in making up its mind to say nothing about the "readjustment" in Parliament, and to get around the difficulty by a convenient application of Government by Order-in-Council. The Government had no need to dread the adverse judgment of its majority in the House. Throughout a long and peculiarly trying experience, that majority has shown itself ready to accept any position that the Government may choose to take. The Government can afford to treat its followers in Parliament with a contemptuous disregard. But the deficit sits always like a nightmare on its chest, and the timorous, wavering, wobbling indecision which has marked its conduct for years past, and which incapacitated it for the honest and capable treatment of any matter in the discussion of which the awful failure of its revenue policy might be exposed.

MINISTERIAL JUNKETING.

The report has gone out from Ottawa that a cabinet quarrel has occurred over the government's allotment of palace cars to the ministers who have decided to take an outing. "As there was not enough cars to go around," says the report, "there was a grand scramble to see who would get possession first." Is there anything in this statement? It is hoped not, although appearances indicate that there is. The country pays each cabinet minister a liberal salary for the public service he performs, and allows a reasonable, sometimes liberal sum for expenses, but the country has no right to provide him with palace cars, equipped and stocked, and hauled about by the public expense. Some of these ministers could get along comfortably in private life with the ordinary first class coach and Pullman car, and to indulge in government cars, and the extravagance and luxury which accompany them, is in the nature of a scandal. The Ottawa Journal, conservative, calls the practice, report being correct, discreditable, and says it should be stopped, if the impression is not to spread that the people are being made suckers of.

THE latest claim for the bicycle is that it has cured a man of paralysis. It is to be regretted that bicycling never has cured anybody of lying.

THE Chicago Times-Herald has obtained opinions from 15 national committeemen, eight Republicans and seven Democrats, on the question of early or late conventions and finds that nearly all of them favour a late convention and a short campaign.

A STARVING mob at Tabres, Persia, asked and received protection against the Shah's soldiers from the Russian consul. Russia would be highly pleased to have the Persians look upon her as a protector and a friend. That sort of feeling would help her game in Central Asia.

Two Louisiana factions, having a blood-feud on, agreed to meet at church and fight it out. Feuds are frequently fought out at churches in the South. This choice of a rendezvous is odd, to say the least.

THE centenary of house numbering is about to be celebrated in Berlin. It is probably not generally know that this useful practice originated in that city, and that it was not until ten years later that Vienna, London and Paris followed suit. There are less valuable matters which are the subject of centennial celebrations.

ELECTROCUTION may kill men, but it will not kill snakes. The experiment was tried at Rochester, Pa., on a big horse-snake, and, though the current from an electric light station was passed through its body twice, the reptile still lived. This seems to confirm the old-fashioned idea that the only way to kill a snake is to cut off its head and then watch it till after sundown.

MR. TARTE writes in the last number of the Le Cultivateur: "The Manitoba press is unanimous in advising resistance to all intervention by the Federal power. It is undoubtedly the faithful echo of the sentiments of the people. The mad and imprudent policy of the Ottawa Cabinet has excited public opinion to such a point that for men of reflection and experience the situation of our fellow-countrymen may become full of peril at almost any moment. The nonentities and corruptionists whom accident has placed at the head of the country are incapable of conducting to a satisfactory conclusion this school question, which has almost risen to the proportions of a national problem."

SOUTH MONAGHAN.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

This summer the Porter estate placed a stone foundation under a barn on the farm occupied by Mr. John Fry, South Monaghan, and added an addition of about 30 feet to one end, which was to have been used as mow and threshing floor. In raising the barn nine feet, the floor, although apparently laid substantially, was not properly supported, and one day last week, while Mr. Fry was engaged in drawing in peas, and having placed three or four loads in the barn and in the act of unloading the fifth, the supports gave way and the floor doubled, precipitating wagon, load, team, man and all to the bottom. The floor had to be cut away and the horses taken out from beneath. Outside of the horses being somewhat scratched no serious injuries were received.

Mr. James Lang, of Centreville, on Monday last drove to Bailliebero and tied his horse in front of Mr. Buller's shop. Mr. Stewart Doan, of Garden Hill came along at a rapid pace and the wheel of his cart locked with the wheel of Mr. Lang's buggy, damaging the latter's buggy and harness to the extent of twenty dollars, which Mr. Dean promised to make good. Outside of the damage done the rigs no one was hurt, although Mr. Dean was thrown to the ground.

THE TIDE TURNS.

Great improvement in the Health of a Well-known Peterborough Lady.

Peterborough, Aug. 5.—General satisfaction is expressed here at the greatly improved condition of health of Mrs. K. Stephens, the well known music teacher of this town. Her friends have been much exercised over her condition for a long time and a number of remedies have been tried during the ten years that she has been a martyr to a complication of complaints, which recently became very severe. She suffered frightfully with pains in the back, nervous prostration and swelling of the limbs. She has been taking the new remedy for kidney troubles, Dodd's Kidney Pills, and has already experienced the most beneficial results.

Sick Headache and Constipation are promptly cured by Burdock Pills. Easy to take, sure in effect.

CHEMONG PARK POINTERS.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Quinque Club is a jolly lot of Toronto young men, who are out for a good time, and they are having it, too.

Mr. Ben Ostrom caught two fine lunge on Saturday. They would average about nine pounds apiece.

Messrs. Kells and Knapman do not pretend to be fliers, but they struck a good record for green riders the other day. They reached town from the park in 23 minutes.

Mr. Alex. Gibson has rented Mr. Rush's cottage. Mr. Gibson goes to his business house in the morning on his wheel, returning in the evening.

Mr. Thos. Fuller captured a good lunge yesterday.

Rev. B. Canfield Jones on Monday surpassed everybody on the lake by getting two lunge ahead of the many other wielders of the glittering spoon. Mr. Jones was accompanied by Judge Chisholm, who was obliged to assist Mr. Jones to land one of the finny beauties.

Physicians

prescribe Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil and Hypophosphites because they find their patients can tolerate it for a long time, as it does not upset the stomach nor derange the digestion like the plain oil.

Scott's Emulsion is as much easier to digest than the plain oil as milk is easier to digest than butter. Besides, the fish-fat taste is taken out of the oil, and it is almost palatable. The way sickly children, emaciated, anæmic and consumptive adults, gain flesh on Scott's Emulsion is very remarkable.

CATHOLIC ABSTAINERS.

"The Saloon the Foulest Enemy of the Church and Country."

New York, Aug. 7.—The formal opening of the Catholic Total Abstinence Union of America took place this morning in Columbus Hall.

Father J. M. Cleary, general president of the organization, called the convention to order. About 600 delegates were present.

Archbishop Corrigan made a brief address in introducing Archbishop Ryan. Archbishop Corrigan welcomed the delegates to New York and told them what great interest the clergy took in the total abstinence movement. After the mass, luncheon was served at the residence of Archbishop Corrigan to the distinguished ecclesiastics. The afternoon session of the convention began at 3 o'clock. The president, Rev. Mr. Cleary, then read his report in the course of which he said:

"What a mighty revolution this Catholic organization for the uplifting of the unfortunate has wrought during a few years! It has silenced the suspicion of the weak. It has covered with confusion the criticisms of the cowardly. It has rescued the church from any suspicion of unhallowed alliance with the saloon, the foulest enemy of the church and our country. It has won fairly the lasting admiration and confidence of wise and conservative men in state and church. It has shamed from the festive board of all assemblages of self-respecting Catholics intoxicating drink in any form. It has earned the warmest commendation of the greatest pontiff who has sat in St. Peter's chair for centuries.

The practical problem for the American workman to solve is not the amount he may be fortunate in earning, but the sum he may prudently save to provide for happiness and plenty in a contented home. Excessive drinking is not the only cause of dependence and poverty, but it far outstrips all other sources of these misfortunes.

It is not the sin of drunkenness alone that our organization is prepared to combat. Our purpose is to aid in correcting the foolish drinking customs of society, to make practises of total abstinence popular and to brand with odium the indefensible and dangerous social customs that are a stumbling block to the weak and a temptation to all.

Our church has again and again voiced its convictions in no uncertain terms. There can be no affiliation between the church and the saloou. The church will not and can not permit that the drinking den shall flourish beneath the shadow of the consecrated house of prayer. A man cannot be a good Catholic, a faithful and docile child of the church and continue in the unbecoming business of conducting a liquor saloon.

An Oak Knot Thrown From a Buzz Saw Strikes a Man in the Face

Buffalo, Aug. 7.—August Faght of No. 114 James-street, a car-repairer in the Erie shops at East Buffalo, was walking through the shop yesterday morning, when a knot from an oak plank was thrown by a buzz-saw against his chin, tearing away part of his jaw and passing through his mouth and cheek. Six or seven teeth were carried away and all the rest loosened.

Mary Voll Under Arrest—Her Erstwhile Lover Has Fled.

Port Huron, Aug. 7.—Mary Voll, a 17-year-old girl from Newton, Perth County, Ont., was arrested here yesterday on the charge of elopement, it being alleged that she eloped with James Gies, a married man, on July 9. When Gies' funds ran low she secured employment in this city, and the past two weeks has supported him with her wages. Gies left a wife and several small children in Canada, and now has disappeared.

Another Australian Bank Collapses.

London, Aug. 8.—A despatch from Melbourne states that the City of Melbourne Bank closed its doors this morning. The London branch of the bank has not received any notice to this effect, but the officials here express surprise at the closing of the bank. The branch here has been in liquidation for some time. The assets are protected, but the doors have not been closed. There have been differences of opinion for some time between the London and Australian officials respecting the details of a reconstruction scheme.

OPENING OF THE SOO CANAL.

Delayed by Boulders in the Upper Channel.

Ottawa Aug 7.—N. A. T. Boyd, M.P. had an interview to-day with Hon. Mr. Costigan on the subject of sending a steamer to Hudson Straits to ascertain the period of navigation in those waters. The Minister said no vessel could be spared this season, but next year an expedition would be going up any way, in the joint interests of fishery, geological and marine research.

All the stories about trouble in connection with the Soo Canal works appear to be utterly unfounded. The chief engineer of the department returned to-day, after having made a thorough inspection of the canal. His report as to the cause of the delay in the opening of the waterway is in accord with the reasons given in previous despatches. Mr. Schreiber says that the only obstacle to the opening of the canal is the existence of boulders in the upper channel. These will have to be removed to make the navigation of the canal absolutely safe from casualties to shipping. Removal of these obstructions has not been proceeding very rapidly of late, but Mr. Fleming, of the firm of Allan & Fleming of this city, who have the contract for this work, went west this evening to expedite its completion.

During his stay at the Soo, Mr. Schreiber paid a visit to the works of the Sault Ste. Marie Pulp Company, adjoining the canal. The concern is spending a large amount of money in erecting a pulp mill, with all the latest improved machinery. At present they are enlarging the raceways and head gates and expect to be in operation about the beginning of October. This enterprise is expected to be a big thing for that part of the country, the expectation being that the output will amount to about 20 car loads of pulp per day. The company has also erected a commodious wharf and is dredging out a dock basin. These works give a lively appearance to the Canadian Soo, and will no doubt prove of immense benefit to the locality.

Shareholders of the Tobique Valley Gypsum Mining Company assembled here to-day, but owing to the unavoidable absence of President Brophy it was decided to postpone the annual meeting. Action was taken, however, looking to the securing of offers for leasing the property, and with this object in view Mr. Costigan and Speaker White, two of the principal shareholders, will proceed to Montreal shortly, to interview the C.P.R. people.

Robert A. Chapman has been appointed returning officer for the election in Westmoreland County, N.B., which takes place on the 24th.

An Order-in-Council was passed to-day appointing John Francis Watters, M.A., of the State Department, secretary to Board of Civil Service examiners, in place of P. Lesueur, superannuated. Mr. Watters will perform the duties of the secretaryship in addition to his departmental work, the extra remuneration being $150 a year. Mr. Lesueuer's salary was $700 as secretary and $400 as member of the Board.

Dr. Montague returned to-day from the seaside to attend some important departmental business. To-night he left for the west to take his family home.

MANITOBA'S ANSWER.

Will Not Be Considered by the Greenway Cabinet for Two Weeks.

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 8.—The Tribune, which usually speaks with authority for Mr. Greenway's Government, says: "Regarding the reply to the rejoinder from Ottawa on the school question, it is not likely the Local Government will take it up for a fortnight yet, as nearly all the members of the Cabinet are out of town on their vacation, and they will scarcely be back by that time. In fact, it may be considerably later before they are all in town at one time, and it would require a session of the full Council to draft a reply. It is, however, hinted that the reply will be a New England one. They will answer one question by asking another. The Ottawa Cabinet has asked how far they are prepared to go; the Local Government will reply by asking how far the Dominion Cabinet think they ought to go. As the mater is one of the utmost importance the Local Government will not do anything hurriedly.

The Nor'-Wester, which is not Mr. Greenway's organ, has this to say on the same subject: From the scurrying of local Ministers hither and thither it is evident that there cannot be a Cabinet meeting to discuss the latest communication from the Federal Government on the school question at least for a week yet. No one who is up to the little devices of Mr. Greenway and his colleagues ever expected anything else. There cannot be a Cabinet meeting until the communication in question has been sent east and advise as to the action to be taken obtained from Mr. Laurier, Mr. Mills and Mr. D'Alton McCarthy. These are the gentlemen who are acting for Manitoba in this matter, and not Mr. Greenway and his colleagues. The latter have to put in the time until the advice comes, hence the scurrying.

A report is current to-day to the effect that on September 1 the present Lieut.-Governor, Sir John Schultz, will vacate Government House to make room for Hon. Mr. Patterson. The report comes from sources that are usually authentic and may explain why Sir John followed Premier Bowell to the coast to consult with him.

A Marvellous Result.

Mr. A. R. took out ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy No. 6332 in Canada Life Co. for Five Thousand Dollars in the year 1868. He was then 25 years of age.

The Premium paid was $181 a year for 10 years.....$1,810.

Notice the Result.

The total profits added to the Policy to end of 1894 and for which he holds a certificate amounts to the enormous sum of.....$3,281

The holder therefore has been credited not only with every cent paid for premiums, but also Fourteen Hundred and Seventy One Dollars in addition, besides receiving a fully paid up policy for the original Five Thousand Dollars, which still participates in profits.

Now This is What we Want to Know!

This is a Peterborough Policy! Is there any citizen of Peterborough with an ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy either in Canadian, British or American Co, which shows anything like as large profits as this one?

If there is, we should esteem it a great favour if we are allowed to see it, as we have been looking for such a one for years and so far have not been able to find it.

Nothing Impossible.

Just now a mite of money is worth a mountain of stock.

Just now, nothing seems impossible in the line of economy. But the TRUTH about low values is hard to comprehend. Anything less than ALL the facts concerning OUR goods and their values would be unjust to the public.

You cannot always buy so many kinds of goods at and below cost as we offer you now. Your best economy is to invest your money in wisely selected goods at present prices at this store. Listen :—

That Little Ad.

There was a little ad.

And sang it clearly, sweetly,

Peterborough Should get This.

The Russian Thistle.

Mr. John Whitney left at THE EXAMINER sanctum to-day a specimen of the dreaded Russian thistle, which is creating sad havoc in the western part of Ontario. Mr. Whitney states he found the weed growing by the roadside, near his residence. From appearances it is a rather harmless looking weed, and bears a number of small blue flowers on its stem.

An Expensive Dog Fight.

In the police court this morning "Jake" Ricketts appeared to answer to a charge of encouraging a dog fight on Tuesday. The fight was a very bitter one while it lasted. One of the dogs figured very conspicuously on the Driving Park last Friday evening, and caused more excitement for a time than the lacrosse match. The magistrate imposed a fine, with costs, amounting to $7.10 in all.

A Word of Warning.

Certain residents in the northern portion of the town seem to be ignorant of the fact that there is a bylaw regulating the running of horses and cattle on the public highways. The Chief of Police wishes to inform them that he intends enforcing the bylaw. In the north ward both horses and cattle are deliberately turned out on the streets by their owners and allowed to invade gardens and lawns in that locality. If the nuisance is not abated, the police will take action.

Came from Eglinton.

The noon express on the C.P.R. brought between forty and fifty of the officers, teachers and scholars of the Eglinton Methodist Sunday School to town. Mr. T. J. Douglas, the superintendent of the Sunday School, was in charge of the party, which was also accompanied by the pastor, Rev. Dr. German. The excursionists spent the day in sight seeing, viewing the beautiful parks, with which they were much delighted. They returned home on the afternoon express.

THE OUTFALL SEWER.

The Work has Recommenced in Reality and Will be Pushed Forward.

The work on the outfall sewer has recommenced in earnest and fifteen men are engaged on the big ditch.

Considerable sand has been washed into the opening at the north end of the 900 feet constructed last fall and after this has been removed, Mr. John Belcher, C.E., will make a thorough inspection of the work already done. Yesterday a partial examination was made and the result, it is understood, was very satisfactory. To-morrow, Mr. Belcher proposes to go through the sewer personally and make his inspection. It is 3x3 feet in size and can therefore be easily examined.

In a few days a steam pump will be put into operation to keep the drain free of the water, which flows in after a depth of about ten feet is reached.

As soon as the steam pump is put in position, a full force of men will be put on and the work pushed through as rapidly as possible.

The Other Fellow Got the Rake-off.

The London township man who was jilted by a widow will shortly petition the courts to make her return the plows and rakes and hoes he gave her during the courting days. These are all implements of husbandry, and the man who was to have been the husband seems to be entitled to them. He didn't reap any benefit from the rake-off as long as he couldn't binder, and while his hoes may have had something to do with removing the widow's weeds, it was another fellow who did the wedding. Isn't it all harrowing!—St. Thomas Journal.

Duck Poachers.

Already many complaints are being made in several quarters that the ruthless duck poacher is already engaged at his infarious occupation on the West Creek, near Little Britain, and also on McLaren's creek, in Fenelon. That this should be so is not all creditable to Victoria's two game wardens, Messrs. Bradshaw and Henderson. Mr. Bradshaw's commission comes from the Dominion Government; Mr. Henderson's from the Provincial Legislature, and a test case is at present before the privy council to decide whether the Dominion or Province rules the fish and game, but in the meantime each inspector should fulfil his duties according to his commission. The result should be thorough protection and numerous convictions. It smacks of absurdity to have two paid guardians of the laws in one district who blindly close their eyes to the depredations of fellows who year after year slaughter the young birds a month ahead of the legal date. It is not to be expected that town sportsmen, who obey the law to the letter, should have to put their hands in their pockets and pay out money to protect the game from these pot-hunters, as has been done in the past. —Lindsay Post.

ANOTHER BOLD BURGLARY.

THIS TIME THE CONVENT IS ENTERED IN BROAD DAYLIGHT.

Gideon Mercier Robbed of Twenty-five Dollars—Three Suspects Arrested in a Hotel.

A bold case of daylight robbery was perpetrated to-day at the Convent of the Congregation de Notre Dame, when burglers entered the apartment of Gideon Mercier, the hired man at the institution, and relieved him of $25.

About 10.30 this morning Miss O'Brien, an inmate of the Convent, noticed three suspicious looking characters loitering in front of St. Peter's Cathedral. She was under the impression at the time that they were tramps, and as a number of them had been supplied with meals on several occasions she resolved to encourage them no longer, and decided to refuse giving them anything.

Shortly afterward one of the trio walked to the rear of the convent, the other two remaining in front of the cathedral. She immediately notified Mr. Mercier, who determined to keep a sharp look out and watch the bold trio.

However, strange as it may seem, an entrance was forced into Mr. Mercier's room, and once in, the burglars securely fastened the door and proceeded to hunt for booty.

They espied a small trunk in the room belonging to Mr. Mercier, and they immediately cut away the lock and secured what money it contained, $25 in all. An exit was then made through the window.

Mr. Mercier was ignorant of the burglary until notified a few minutes afterwards by Chief Reazel, who had spotted the trio in the vicinity of the church, and had noticed signs of a burglary near Mr. Mercier's apartment.

A sharp look out was kept for the three men, and this afternoon Chief Reazel and Constable McGinty arrested four suspicious characters at Rountree's hotel. They were immediately taken to the police station, and gave their names as Duncan McCrea, Ned Summers, and Frank McDermott, the fourth name not being obtained.

On being searched a small sum of money was found on their persons, and they were immediately locked up as suspects to be held until it could be ascertained whether Miss O'Brien could identify them as the tramps who were hanging around the premises this morning.

At 3:30 County Constables Archie Moore and P. C. Stewart arrived at the station with five more knights of the road, who had been captured in the outskirts of the town. They were immediately searched and placed in the cells.

A message was sent to the Convent this afternoon requesting Miss O'Brien's appearance at the police station in order to identify the suspects, but up to the time of going to press had not arrived.

EMERALD ASSOCIATION.

Proposal to Change the Name of the Society—Members Entertained by President Carey — To-day's Programme.

The annual convention of the Emerald Benevolent Association was continued yesterday in their hall at the corner of Queen and McCaul streets, Toronto.

Grand President D. A. Carey occupied the chair, and there were present the following delegates :—D. A. Carey, Grand president; W. Lane, secretary-treasurer; P. J. Crotty, A. McDonald, D. Hurly, J. Delory, J. L. Woods, J. J. Nightingale, A. McGinn, W. P. Murphy, M. Mahoney, M. Ward, H. Neville, P. O'Connor, J. McCarthy, F. McGarry, and John Fahey, Toronto; J. Daley, J. J. Before the opening of the session the members attended mass at St. Michael's cathedral, where they were addressed by Rev. Fathers Ryan and Rohleder. When business was resumed at ten o'clock two rather important subjects were discussed. The first was in the form of a motion to centralize all the funds of the local branches in the hands of the Grand Branch for sick benefit purposes. The matter evoked considerable discussion and was finally laid over for a year. The second, a proposal to change the name of the order to the United Catholic Association was rejected by a unanimous vote.

At the afternoon session the major portion of the time was taken up in altering the constitution of the order. Rev. Father Rohleder was present during the meeting, and delivered a very interesting and encouraging address, for which he was tendered a vote of thanks.

After concluding the revision of the constitution at the evening session, the members were kindly entertained at the residence of President Carey, where a very enjoyable time was spent by all.

The convention resumed to-day at 9 a.m., and during the afternoon the delegates enjoyed a drive about the city. A keen contest is expected at the election of officers.

INCREASED LIVERY STABLE ACCOMMODATION.

Mr. Fitzgerald to Enlarge His Premises —Workmen Engaged on the Foundations.

Workmen are busily engaged in clearing the way for extensive improvements to Mr. T. Fitzgerald's livery stables. It is the intention of the proprietor to build an addition to his stables, which will take up all the available yard room together with the ground between the stables and the Queen's hotel.

A new harness room and office will be erected, and the stable will be considerably enlarged, and will extend out to Aylmer street, with an entrance from that thoroughfare.

The top story of the new addition will be connected with the Queen's hotel, giving that house increased accommodation.

Workmen are now engaged making excavations for the foundations, and in a few days the bricklayers will commence operations.

LACROSSE.

A team of the III Peterboroughs left town yesterday with the intention of playing the Millbrook juniors in the morning, and the Beavers of Port Hope in the afternoon.

When they arrived at Millbrook they learned that it was impossible to get a team together for a game. Accordingly they left for Port Hope with the intention of playing the juniors, but they were sadly disappointed when the Port Hopers lined up on the field. Sullivan, Crowhurst and Tutton, members of the mighty Ontarios, were noticed on the team. The local juniors objected to this, but objections are out of the question when you tackle Port Hope. It may be that the three seniors, feeling so small over the defeat of the Ontarios on Wednesday, July 31st, thought they could hardly be recognized on the junior team. However, they insisted on playing, and the least said about it the better. The first game lasted 53 minutes, the home boys holding them down in fine style until Friar scored. The next three games were then taken by Tutton.

The boys feel pretty sore over the treatment they received at the hands of the Port Hope team, but how could it be otherwise? Port Hope has a provincial reputation in this line, and takes to it as naturally as a duck does to water. After all it is, perhaps, better to give Pore Hope what little consolation they can obtain from their victory. If they can't beat the Athletics they can beat the juniors.

Following were the teams :—

Peterborough.		Port Hope.
Green	goal	Whitton
McDonough	point	Crowhurst
Butler	cover point	Raymond
Shambo	1st defence	Clegg
Knapp	2nd "	McLean
Guy	3rd "	Friar
Savigny	centre	Embelton
Costello	3rd home	Murphy
E Sawyers	2nd "	Crowhurst
W Sawyers	1st "	Sullivan
McCabe	out ide home	Tutton
Gerrans	inside home	Natrass
T Lannin	Field Captain	Croker

A gentleman who arrived from Port Hope this morning states that the lacrosse enthusiasts of that town are delighted over the result of yesterday's game. If Port Hope sports were possessed of a sense of justice and fair play they would certainly feel ashamed of their unsportsmanlike actions. Even the suggestion of placing the three seniors, Tutton, Sullivan and Crowhurst, on the team should have caused them to feel ashamed. Moreover, the three seniors themselves should go and hang their heads in consequence, or play with their equals in size. But it was ever thus. If you wish to witness anything fishy or crooked in the lacrosse line, visit Port Hope and see a game, either between a kindergarten team or a senior twelve. And so Port Hope is delighted! What a wonderful talent they possess for wind instruments.

The town of Port Hope is in mourning, the Bowmanville News says, because their lacrosse club was beaten by 4 straight, at Peterborough on Wednesday last. Business was paralyzed for the rest of the day when the news became known.

The Guide says: "Mr. Thos. Tuer, of the Ontarios, went out to Peterborough yesterday and talked over the matter of a return game with the representative of the Athletics. No definite arrangement was arrived at because those righteous upholders of justice and fair play, refused to accept the same terms which they were willing to force on the Ontarios. The representative of the Ontarios wished to have the match played on neutral grounds in Toronto, for $250 a side. The Athletics were willing to play on neutral grounds, but in Lindsay. They wanted the Ontarios to play the same men as those on last Wednesday, and if the Ontarios failed to do this they were to forfeit the $250. As one of the Ontario men even now is ill, and as no one knows what might happen to prevent their appearance on the day of the match, the Port Hope man would not sign the agreement. The Athletics are willing, though, if the Ontarios will play a match at Peterborough to give them a return game here."

The Guide man is evidently suffering from a motor in his cranium. The representatives of the Athletics were willing to play man for man in either Lindsay or on the Rosedale grounds, Toronto—not on Hanlan's Island, because the grounds there are too small. Port Hope wished to change three of their men, and to this the local representatives objected. Thus the negotiations fell through. The Guide says "no one knows what might happen to prevent their (the Ontarios) appearance on the day of the match, as one of their men even now is ill, and so the Port Hope man would not sign the agreement." There is a nigger in the fence somewhere and it is the general opinion of lacrosse enthusiasts in town that Port Hope has backed down, and that the game will never be played. Port Hope always did want the earth. When Tuer mentioned that one of the Ontario's was ill, Peterborough offered to drop off a man on the date of the match if the Por Hoper did not recover provided the Ontarios would drop a man if one of the Athletics was ill. Tuer, however, would not consent to any such arrangement.

The Athletics go to Cobourg to-morrow, where they play the team of that town. The City of Peterborough will leave town with the players—and it is hoped a large number of excursionists—for Harwood at 8.30, where the train will be taken for Cobourg. The following team will represent the Athletics: McMahon, goal; Lynch, point; Brown, cover point; Jno. McDonough, 1st defence; Thompson, 2nd defence; Jos. McDonough, 3rd defence; T. McDonough, centre; Hickey, 3rd home; Rubidge, 2nd home; Lipsett, 1st home; Galley, outside home; Glover, inside home.

THE WHEEL.

Zimmerman, by the terms of his Australian contract is to receive on his arrival in that country, on November 1st, the sum of $5,000, which is already on deposit there. He is also guaranteed one-half of what the first prize may be in every race in which he competes, providing he loses. If he wins he gets the full amount and is also to receive twenty-five per cent. of all net gate receipts. Travelling expenses for himself and wife are also allowed him from the time they reach Australia until they reach America after the trip. Zimmerman is required to start in races not less than three times per week, unless illness prevents. He will ride in the big Australia handicap there in December, and while he hopes to win it, thinks it will be the hardest race of his life.

Bearings, the chief United States paper devoted to bicycling, has this to say about the outlook for next year:

"The bicycle dealer and jobber will find it to his advantage to place his orders for 1896 wheels early. There is no plausable reason why he should not do so, and many an excellent one why he should. The changes in models for next year will be few, and such as there may be will be inconsequential. The principal one will be the more general use of tubing of large diameter. In the matter of weight there will be little change. Some new manufacturing concerns are preparing to lighten the weights of their wheels a little and others are planning to make them heavier than they were this year. They believe that the minimum weight has been reached in the matter of wheels for general use."

"In this opinion they are upheld by a vast army of dealers and riders who have learned by experience that with proper usage feather-weight wheels will do all that is asked of them but they will not stand the amount of abuse the heavier wheels will, and to which almost all wheels are put. With this state of facts the only reason why the dealer or jobber should delay in placing his orders is one of price.

"It may seem a startling statement to make, but it is, nevertheless, based on the best of reasons, that wheels will cost more before they cost less. The price of labour is advancing all over the country. Particularly is this so in the iron and steel industries. There is scarcely a smelting or foundry plant that has not already advanced the wages of its employees or has announced an advance in the near future. The price of leather has already almost doubled and the price of rubber is going up.

"All this will make the materials that into a wheel more costly, and, with the general advance in the price of labour, machines will cost a large percentage more at the factory in '96. Next season will be a big season and manufacturers realise it and desire to be prepared for it, but they do not care to go ahead making great quantities of wheels without some encouragement from the middlemen."

CRICKET.

There will be, the Packet says, considerable cricket in Orillia this month. Beaverton plays here on Tuesday. Bradford wishes to meet Peterborough on the oval, and there is a proposal to have three days' cricket, with matches between Orillia and Bradford, Bradford and Peterborough, and Orillia and Peterborough.

BASEBALL.

The Auburn baseball club left to-day for Lindsay, where they will play the team of that place. Lindsay has a good nine in the field.

The Park Nine baseball club is endeavouring to make arrangements with Mount Pleasant for a match at an early date.

The Crawfords of Toronto will play the Park Nine here on Aug. 19th, Toronto's Civic Holiday.

Twas a Radical Departure.

But the enormous success attending it justified its trial. Only the few in this country could place wine on their tables. It was a luxury. It was very costly. It was beyond the reach of the poor man. The Bordeaux Claret Co. has placed a good, wholesome, healthful wine, which aids in the assimilation and digestion of food, upon the tables of the whole people. $3 and $4 per dozen quarts, this is a bagatelle. Yet the wine is good. It has its age. It has its body. It is as good as that which other dealers ask $8 a dozen. The best judges have approved. And the orders cannot be filled quick enough which are received from all parts of the country. Address—Bordeaux Claret Co., 30 Hospital street, Montreal.

Summer Comes

With the flowers and sunshine. Birds pour out their melody and the chirp of the grasshopper will soon tempt the fisherman to stretch forth his hands and grasp the shadow of his flight. The playful mosquito will do her nicest to soothe weary pleasure seekers into the realms of slumber, and the stinging, aching corns will remove every semblance or comfort, make sad the songs of the birds, and evoke cloudiness in the soul, that even the brightest sunshine cannot dispel. Corns are thorns in the flesh, but Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor removes them in twenty-four hours.

SUMMER DRESSES ARE COVERED WITH ARTIFICIAL BEAUTIES.

Ribbons is the Smart Trimming—It is Very Much Used to Ornament Fancy Waists—Covert Cloth Coats for Mountain Wear—Notes on Style.

Some people have the flower craze so bad that they have all their gowns covered with them. One of the prettiest evening dresses I have seen has sleeves of gray silk brocade, with a wreath of yellow velvet buttercups twined around the vast expanse.

The gown here shown is a white dotted mull with a lace front. A wreath of flowers that is fastened around the neck falls down in front over the lace. Tiny bunches of flowers are set all over the immense sleeve puffs in fanciful fashion. The round hat is covered with flowers.

Some very pretty round hats are being worn at the summer resorts now.

WHITE SWISS AND FLOWERS.

A burnt orange straw is trimmed with red roses that stand up high on one side of the front, and a pair of black wings set on top of the crown. A black and white hat has the inevitable white mull rosette in front with a black bird on each side.

A fetching bow of one style or another is the great feature among waist trimming this season. Some dresses are made perfectly plain, with the exception of one smart bow, which is sufficient to give style to any gown. A green costume that has attracted considerable attention among the summer visitors at Atlantic City has a crepon skirt of delightfully voluminous cut. The waist is striped silk in two shades of green. It has a blouse front, with three rows of white lace insertion down the front. The collar and belt are green velvet with bows at the back. At one side of the front—just in front of the right shoulder, is a smart bow of green silk which gives character to the costume. The sleeves are immense to the elbow, but fit tight below and are hooked together at the wrists where they are finished with a narrow velvet band.

The waist pictured here has a lace collar and chemisette. The fullness from the shoulder is laid in small plaits for four or five inches, and is then brought down in one large plait to the belt. Black satin ribbon is knotted at the tip of the shoulder in a fetching bow, and is then carried down to the elbow, where it is finished with more loops. The lower sleeves are lace.

Folks who are spending their summer in the mountains find the weather very cool, and the cloth knock-about suits which they took with them are very comfortable.

Covert cloth makes a pretty mountain suit. It is much better than rough goods because it does not catch on the bushes and stones that one encounters in mountain climbing.

A costume with a jacket and a loose waist underneath is preferred to a tight-fitting dress. The one here shown is of brown covert cloth. The seams in the skirt are trimmed with straps of the material stitched down at the edge. A strap is also stitched around the bottom.

The ox jacket may be worn buttoned or unbuttoned. The sleeves are large enough to wear over one's city clothes, and that is sufficient. The round hat has a band and standing loops of striped ribbon.

Of all the waists worn this summer the most satisfactory are those made with a yoke. They admit of endless variation, and for this reason they are an economical investment.

A black silk waist may be made to do duty for almost any occasion. A certain black waist that was cut low in the neck and worn at an evening party, was converted into a church dress by inserting a black chemisette and high collar. The same waist was brightened up by a green ribbon collar with a chiffon flounce that was wide enough to cover the decollete neck.

The dress shown here has a yoke of white mousseline de soie laid in horizontal plaits. Primrose flowers are set on around the edge of the yoke. The black hat has high loops of mousseline de soie.

The problem of what to wear on a bicycle is almost settled. It has come to be a sort of go-as-you-please affair, and whatever is worn nobody is surprised or shocked. In spite of the opposition from the pulpit and from the people who do not ride a wheel, and do not know the discomfort of trying to keep petticoats out of the spokes of the wheel, the bloomer continues to roll on and nothing can stop its progress. It is a costume born of necessity, and was never adopted for its beauty. Moreover there is nothing new about it, for our Oriental kinswomen have worn it for many a year.

One is almost disposed to envy the Oriental damsel who first essays to ride a bicycle. She will not have the anxiety and mortification to undergo which we unhappy children of civilization have suffered. Bloomers differ as to length and fullness. American girls seem to prefer the scant variety that reaches only to the knee with a short skirt and legging to the knee.

French women wear them quite full, to the top of the high boot. The bodice worn with this costume has a couple of Norfolk plaits ornamented with smoked pearl buttons. This was one of the costumes seen on the streets of Paris during the flower festival.

BIG PROFITS ON Small Investments

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful Speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our Systematic Plan of Speculation

originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well-known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $60,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plain are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

WRITE FOR CONVINCING PROOF, also our Manual on successful speculation and our Daily Market Report, full of money-making pointers. ALL FREE. Our Manual explains margin trading fully. Highest references in regard to our standing and success.

Sick Headache CURED PERMANENTLY BY TAKING Ayer's Pills

"I was troubled a long time with sick headache. It was usually accompanied with severe pains in the temples, a sense of fullness and tenderness in one eye, a bad taste in my mouth, tongue coated, hands and feet cold, and sickness at the stomach. I tried a good many remedies recommended for this complaint; but it was not until I that I received anything like permanent benefit. A single box of these pills did the work for me, and I am now free from headaches, and a well man."—C. H. HUTCHINGS, East Auburn, Me

BUILDING SILOS.

They Are Usually Constructed in Two Ways—Description of the Most Approved Mode.

Silos are usually built in one of two ways, either by what is known as the double-boarded, or the single-celled way, and generally in either case out of pine lumber, as that seems to be the handiest and least expensive, although oak, hemlock and other woods, if sound and free of knotholes or cracks may be used. Many silos are built in some part of the barn, to cheapen cost, because then the barn walls become the outside protection and roof, which reduces the silo to a big box in the barn, this being about as handy a place from which to feed the stock as can be found. In the barn the silo needs no stone foundation. All that is required is to dig a trench the size of the silo, large enough to receive a 10-inch square sill, and bed it in mortar underneath and on the sides to firm it. Set up the 2x6-inch studding 18 inches apart from center to center, and line up on the inside with inch lumber, 10 inches wide, cross-looked at the corner, and so securely that it will be impossible to pull apart. Cover on the inside of this first lining with cheap tarred paper, then run on another layer of the same kind of lumber; put it on with a half lap, so as to break the joints in the first layer, and nail well with 10d wire nails. To make sure that the corners are tight, have a 3x3 inch scantling sawed through cornerwise and nail these halves into the corners, with a backing of paper well painted in with gas tar.

In place of two thicknesses of boards single-surfaced No. 1 flooring boards may be used, and the grooves filled with paint, but in this case there must be more studding used so as to make the walls extra firm. Now and then a man builds a single-celled silo six-cornered, and puts the scantling round the pit like hoops, locking them well at the corners. In this case the lining boards must go on up and down, and be jointed with extreme care. The silage is taken out by having manholes in the sides, with small doors—unhinged—set in from the inside. The pressure of the silage holds them securely in place, and these are taken out one by one as the feeding of the silage progresses.

When the walls of the silo are finished and painted with a paint made of three quarts of gas tar and two quarts of gasoline well mixed—taking care that no fire comes near it in mixing or applying—the floor may be made by drawing the soil from the center of the silo up to, and pounding down against, the side walls until the floor is in the form of a kettle. If well pounded down and dampened in the operation, it makes one of the best floors. The double-boarded silo, with a clay floor, is the equal of any silo made for the proper keeping of silage. Two silos of this kind built eigth years ago, are still in perfect condition. They hold almost 200 tons of silage and did not cost $100. They fill all the requirements of a cheap and yet durable silo. By double-boarding the walls with tar—red paper between—and by having a clay floor much lower in the centre the walls are absolutely air-proof. In the last six years I have not lost by mold or decay 1,000 lbs. of silage along walls, or in corners; and since I stopped covering and weighting the top and simply wet the surface, when the heat begins to show itself, with 10 or 15 palls of water evenly distributed over the top surface, the spoiled silage on top has shrunk to less than a wagon box full.—American Agriculturist.

"Mamma, was that a sugar-plum you just gave me?" asked little Mabie. "No, dear, it was one of Dr. Ayer's Pills." "Please may I have another?" "Not now dear; one of those nice pills is all you need at present, because every dose is effective."

The best cough cure is Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam. It heals the lungs and cures coughs and colds.

TO BUILD A CEMENT SILO.

Wood Silos Cost Less in the Beginning but are More Expensive in the End.

If your site requires any excavation or drainage, see that it is thoroughly done, for no wall will give much service on a shaky foundation; then a good way to build is to get some 2 1-2 x 5x16 spruce pieces. When the site is all leveled and ready, first lay down spruce boards long enough to reach one foot further than the width of the intended silo from outside of the walls. Then take the two spruce pieces above mentioned, nail a board across eight feet below the first one nailed on, measuring from top, also laying a board on the others. Now set these two pieces upright, placing the end upon these boards that have been laid down to receive them. These pieces should be placed 21 in. apart. Fasten to these boards and stay lathe the tops. Be sure to make them fast and absolutely plumb, for upon these depends the accuracy of the wall.

Now draw a line from this point to the end of the desired wall and set up two more upright pieces at this point, the same as you did first. Be sure you get them straight and plumb; set these pieces every eight feet around the silo. After this is done get some spruce plank planed on one side, 1 1-2x2x14 in by one-half the length of the silo; square the ends and let these form a box around the silo, having the plank reach the center studs which have been placed there to receive them; also having boards across on the ground under the desired wall to fasten these upright pieces to and having the top well plumbed and stayed. Now we have a box around the silo 14 inches high and 18 inches wide. We will now fill this box half-full of stones, taking care not to force any stones into the box that is more than 17 inches wide, but it is no matter how long the stone is. Be sure to get all the stones you can into the box, for the more stones you get in the less cement is required. Any stone that you can get the cheapest is the kind for this purpose.

Mix one barrel of the best Rosendale cement with two barrels of good, clean sand free from dirt. Have your box large enough to mix this amount at one time, and have plenty of water at hand. Now fill the box one inch above the stones that have been placed in the box, taking care that the cement is thin enough to run all through between the stones so as to make your wall air-tight and solid. Then fill in more stones and cement until the box is full. We are now ready to raise the planks and fill again and again until the wall is as high as you desire. In fixing the planks in position always place a shingle or some thin piece against the upright piece behind the planks, and when you desire to raise the planks, first remove the shingles or thin pices. This will loosen the planks so that they can be raised easily without disturbing the wall.

A silo of the dimensions of 30x15x15 feet in the center, with thickness of wall 18 inches will require 60 barrels of cement to build and make a three-inch bottom which is of sufficient thickness; but be sure and have perfect drainage. The roof can be made as one desires. I think wood silos cost less in the beginning but are more expensive in the end, but it is far better to build with wood than to go without the benefits of the silo.—Farm and Home.

the point desired, and the animal driven out at the other end. Such a contrivance is specially valuable in handling calves, which in many cases can neither be led, driven or coaxed along. The crate should be made light but strong, spruce being the very best wood for such constructions, as it is light, but exceedingly tough.

Deadly Cancer Cured By B. B. B

HERE IS THE PROOF.

Messrs. T. Milburn & Co:

SIRS,—About four years ago I was taken sick with stomach trouble. I consulted several leading local physicians, all of whom pronounced my disease incurable cancer of the stomach, and told me I had not long to live. Two physicians attending me gave me up to die. Through reading your advertisement, and by advice of friends, I tried your Burdock Blood Bitters and I am happy to say that after using one bottle I was able to leave my bed which I had been confined to for a long time. I am thankful now to state that B.B.B. cured my disease which baffled the doctors, and I am firmly convinced saved my life. Gratefully yours,

DAVID DOIG

A Constantly Growing Force.

Every Day Gives Momentum to the Success of South American Nervine.

Canadian Citizens from Every Quarter Tell of the Extraordinary Results Following the Use of This Wonderful Remedy.

MR. C. G. CHAPIN, OF BURK'S FALLS, ONT.

There is encouragement in the knowledge that even after the skill of eminent physicians has failed, and many medicines have been used, a certain cure for the diseases of life is to be found in South American Nervine. This is a remarkable medicine, especially when the trouble is nervous debility, indigestion, dyspepsia, sick headache, or a general breaking-up of the system. It has made thousands of cures of Canadian citizens all over this beautiful Dominion, and they have not been slow to sing its praises.

The strength of South American Nervine rests in its being something more than a mere tonic. A tonic will give temporary benefit, but if disease is in the system something more is needed to remove it. South American Nervine possesses all the virtues of a tonic, but more than that, it is a disease-healer. It has been discovered that certain nerves have entire control over the stomach, liver, heart, lungs and indeed all internal organs. When disease comes upon the individual, if a careful analysis is made of the trouble, and things are not gone about in haphazard fashion, it will be shown that the disease has its origin in a derangement of these nerve centers. South American Nervine goes at once to the nerve centers and removes the disease. Then strong, rich, pure blood runs through the veins and gives health and exhilaration to all parts of the system. This is one secret of the power of South American Nervine. But it does not stop here. There is no medicine that is so great a nerve-builder, nor flesh-producer as Nervine. It purifies the system. It imparts to it health and vigor, and builds up the constitution.

Now, this is exactly what was done in the case of Mr. C. G. Chapin, a well-known jeweller, of Burk's Falls, Ont. He says: For years I had been much troubled with nervous debility, and believe I had tried all proprietary medicines, but none seemed to relieve me, until I used South American Nervine. To my surprise the first bottle gave me great relief. I am still taking this great remedy and must say I have not felt so well in years. I highly recommend it to all suffering from nervous disease, for it has made a great change in me."

PLANNED TO KILL MRS. PITEZEL.

The Woman Tells How Holmes Plotted Against Her Life.

Chicago, Aug. 8.—Mrs. B. F. Pitezel said yesterday that Holmes had given her a number of dresses, two or three pairs of shoes, and one or two hats, with the remark that they had once belonged to his cousin, Minnie Williams, who, he said, had gone east to live and did not need them.

He advised Mrs. Pietzel to cut the dresses up at once and remodel them to fit her daughter, who was then 15 years old.

She also told a detailed story of her narrow escape from death by a dynamite plot which Holmes had fixed up for her on the long chase which Holmes led Mrs. Pietzel in the vain hope of meeting her husband.

The last point they reached in their chase after B. F. Pietzel was Burlington, Vt. There Holmes engaged rooms for Mrs. Pietzel with a Mrs. Richardson at No. 26 Winoeski-avenue, and there, she says, he planned a murder more diabolical than anything he had attempted before.

He had hardly been in the house a day before he expressed a desire to visit the basement for some alleged trivial purpose, and secured a lamp to make his explorations. Mrs Pitezel had begun to grow suspicious of Holmes' mysterious actions, and decided to go to the basement to see what he was doing.

She found him working with his coat off. He had torn up the flooring and was digging in the soft black earth with some tool he had found in the cellar. When he saw Mrs. Pitezel he appeared disconcerted. He told her he was digging a hole to bury a box of valuable papers, and asked Mrs. Pitezel not to mention the circumstances to any one.

A few days afterwards Holmes suddenly started for Boston on the strength of a telegram from Chicago.

In Boston the detectives finally ran him down, and almost the first act he did was to write to Mrs. Pitezel. He told her if she would look in a certain place under the flooring in the cellar she would find a bottle of nitro-glycerine. He said it was in a dangerous place, and directed Mrs. Pitezel to carry it up to a room in the attic.

Holmes had arranged a trap door to fall on the bottle if it was disturbed on the approach of any one. Mrs. Pitezel, however, started to search for the bottle from the opposite direction, and by doing so missed the trap he had laid for her.

Mrs. Pitezel afterwards related the incident to Mr. Perry of the Fidelity Insurance Company, and he had Detective Geyer investigate the matter. The detective found the nitro-glycerine and the place where Holmes had first placed it. But he saw at a glance what Mrs. Pitezel had overlooked, the trap which would have fallen on a bottle and exploded it if Mrs. Pitezel had followed Holmes' directions more carefully.

New Foresters' Ritual Sanctioned.

London, Aug. 7.—At a meeting to-day of the High Court of Foresters at Brighton, the Atlantic subsidiary executive applied for the court's sanction to a new ritual. The American delegates claimed that they should have the right to conduct the international affairs of the order in the United States as they thought necessary. The future success of the order there depended on the question of a ritual.

The sanction was granted.

Ambassador to Turkey.

London, Aug. 8.—Truth says it is almost certain that Lord Salisbury will offer Sir Philip Currie the British Ambassador to Turkey, the post of Ambassador to Germany, in succession to Sir Edward Mulet. The paper adds that Sir Philip will probably refuse the offer, as its acceptance will greatly defer his chances of obtaining the Ambassadorship to France.

Belleville, Ont., Aug. 7.—Samuel Kyle, the oldest man in town, while sitting in his chair last night, aged 96 years, died suddenly.

FOURTEEN MEN ON THE JURY.

Durant's Murder Trial the First Under California's New Law.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 7.—Fourteen jurors will be empanelled to try Theodore Durant Authority for empanelling 14 jurors comes from an act passed by the Legislature at its last session providing for alternate jurors in cases that are likely to be protracted. The alternate jurors will have all the privileges of regular jurors, with the exception of casting a vote or deliberating upon the verdict. Their presence is simply a provision against possible delay in the case, which might be caused by the sickness or death of a juror.

COAL AT $2 A TON.

A War in Fuel That Would Be Welcome

New York, Aug. 6.—The Morning Journal says: As a result of the daily increasing demoralization in coal rates caused by the coal carrying railroads, the individual anthracite operators have decided to take matters into their own hands.

It is anounced that they will forthwith place 1,000,000 tons of anthracite on the market at $2 a ton unless prompt action is taken by the coal carrying lines to restore prices and limit the output.

Stratford Malpractice Case.

Stratford, Aug. 8.—Dr. J. C. Yemen, the alleged abortionist, appeared in court this morning for a preliminary hearing. He sat close to his counsel, G. G. McPherson, and at times appeared to be very nervous. Alice Dunn, the young girl whom it is said Yemen performed a criminal operation upon, was also in court, looking very pale and haggard, owing to the terrible ordeal through which she had recently passed. Mrs. Alex. Robertson of Mount Forest, with whom the young lady makes her home, testified as to Alice Dunn leaving her house, presumably to go to work in Mr. Ireland's grocery store on the morning of the 21st, having worked steadily there for a year, up to the 20th. She did not return until 10 o'clock the evening of the 21st, and then went direct to her room. The witness learned from Drs. Reynolds and Jones that an operation had been performed upon her.

ANGLERS AND ALIENS.

Meeting of the St. Lawrence Anglers' Association Yesterday.

Clayton, N. Y., Aug. 7.—The St. Lawrence River Anglers' Association held its annual meeting at the Walton House to-day, with W. C. Browning, president, in the chair. William Smith, Deputy Minister of Marine and Fisheries, and George Taylor, M.P., of Gananoque, were present in the interest of the Canadian Government.

The subject of an International Park was fully discussed. Messrs. Smith and Taylor insisted that the alien contract law be not enforced against Canadians within the boundaries of the proposed park. Mr. Browning, Senator Mullin and others replied that such a proposal could not be considered, but that the Canadians misunderstood the law, as any foreigner can come to this country and make contracts here. The association promised to protect Canadians within their rights. A committee of five was appointed to confer with the Senate Committee.

THE WATERLOO MURDER.

Gustav Kurschinski, the Accused, Takes Matters Coolly—A Detective to Be Sent From Toronto.

Berlin, Aug. 7.—Gustav Kurschinski, who lies in Berlin jail awaiting trial on charge of murder of Jeanerette, seems quite self-possessed. He, however, bears some scratches and cuts about his face, which some say happened on Sunday, the day of the murder, and which may play an important part in the drama. Crown Attorney Bowlby has wired the Attorney-General's office to send up an experienced detective to work up the case. In the meantime the prisoner stands remanded for a week. A four-bladed jack-knife, in good order, was found on his person, which had some indications of lately being cleaned.

MOST INVALUABLE.

The New Specific Remedy is Being Extensively Used at Ottawa.

Ottawa, July 29.—The marvellous recovery of Mr. G. H. Kent, of this city, from Bright's disease by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills is still fresh in the memories of Ottawa people, and the remedy is being freely recommended both by druggists and private citizens. The similar wonderful cures of Dr. A. G. McCormick, of Richmond, Quebec, and Mr. Arthur Coley, of Somerset, Manitoba, to say nothing of many others, are generally quoted in favour of the assertion that no remedy of modern times has gone so successfully through a severe trial, and been so efficacious in all cases of kidney trouble. It is also proving itself invaluable in the milder forms of sickness which appear during the summer.

NOT HIGH PRICED BUT FAIR PRICED

We're at the end of the first half of our year's business. Its been good, we know it. Buyers know it. The good feeling that comes from a successful trade is the best incentive to a merchant to do better by his customers.

That's the way we feel about it. Our goods are never high priced. Always Fair priced. Frequently low priced. We couldn't live and succeed if all our prices were low. Our prices are always what others call low, but a real low cut down price with us means selling without a profit—except the profit we have in clearing our shelves. There is a little profit in this sort yet for us in keeping our Summer Sale going for a little time. In a few weeks New Fall goods will be pouring in. We must have room. Help us.
